Annual Lorelei Scheduled For Fri., February 15, 9 p.m.

On the first Friday of the new semester, February 15, the annual Lorelei will be presented. Successful in other years, it is the one opportunity the women of Ursinus have to choose their own escorts. Because this is a 'turn-about' dance, the girls are expected to supply corsages. These are usually original ones that reflect the interests, character, or major studies of the "preferred" male.

The Sunnybrook Ballroom will be the setting for this event, and the time will be from 9:00 p.m. until 1:00 a.m. Ben Napier will supply the music. Last Thursday, January 17, at the WSGA meeting, the council elected Barbara Olmo, senior, and Carol Schreiner, sophomore, as decoration chairmen. The theme, as yet, has not been chosen.

The MSGA participates in this affair by taking charge of the financial details. This includes contacting and making arrangements for the band. They also arrange to have printed programs as favors.

Each year the 'Lord' of the Lorelei is crowned at the height of the evening's activities. This person is chosen by popular vote, and every male student is eligible for this honor. Petitions which contain twenty-five women's signatures are necessary before any person may be nominated. After these nominations are collected, a secret ballot is held among the women of Ursinus, and the ruler for the evening is chosen.

Coll'ville Central Office to Change

According to the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania, the names of a number of telephone central offices in the Collegeville area will be changed on Sunday, February 3, at 2:01 a.m.

These changes will be as follows: Collegeville to Huxley; Center Point to Juno; Phoenixville to Wellington; Schwenksville to Atlas; and Valley Forge to Glendale.

Both the figures of the call numbers proper and the method of dialing will be affected also by these changes. A new telephone directory will be delivered for use on and after February 3. Telephone subscribers have been informed to be sure to consult it for the number changes.

Instructions for dialing local calls from Huxley (formerly Collegeville) telephones are as follows: (1) Dial the first two letters of the central office name and the five figures of the call number on all calls to Huxley, Atlas, Broadway, Glendale, Juno, and Wellington telephones. (For example, to call Huxley 9-9600, dial as follows: H, U, 9, 9, 6, 0, 0.); (2) To call Royersford telephones, dial 86 and give the call number to the operator who answers; (3) To call Information dial 113; (4) To call Repair Service, dial 114; (5) On all other calls, dial 0 (zero), Operator.

Die Germania Hears Poetical Works Read

On Wednesday, January 16, at 7 p.m., in the music room of the library, Die Germania held its first meeting since the beginning of the Christmas holidays. After the reading of the minutes, the group heard selections from the poetical works of Goethe, Gottfried Keller, and Stefan George, together with brief biographical sketches of the poets.

Although it has only held two general meetings, the club has already listened to German operatic selections and attended a Philadelphia movie theater which shows only German films. In the near future it is expected that films and slides from the German, Austrian, and Swiss consulates will be available as entertainment.

Die Germania has been placed on the students activities calendar and will hold bi-weekly meetings after the start of the new semester. The faculty advisor of the club is Dr. Hartzell. Officers are as follows: Emil F. Bretzger, president; Franz Peter Haberl, vice-president; Cherie Soper, secretary-treasurer. The purpose of the club is to acquaint members with the cultural and intellectual life of the German-speaking peoples.

Programs Planned By Newman Club

On Monday, January 13, the Newman Club, a group of Roman Catholic students, met to discuss the organization's plans for the second semester. Ben Houser, the president of the group, stated that the Communion Breakfast held on December 9, 1956, at the Collegeville Inn had been successful and that another breakfast would be held during the spring term.

Plans to hold a dance for the student body were discussed also. No definite plans have been made as yet, but the club hopes to hold the dance on Monday, February 11, the first day of the second semester.

Future meetings of the Newman Club will include a program on the life and works of its founder, Cardinal Newman, and open debates on Roman Catholic doctrines. The controversial topics of divorce, birth control, and the papacy will be discussed at these meetings.

The club is not only open to Roman Catholic students; any interested student is welcome to attend.

Pre-Meds Hear Briody Plan Future Programs

On Tuesday evening, January 15, Dr. Bernard Briody, a member of the board of admissions at Hahnemann Medical College in Philadelphia, spoke before the Brownback-Anders Pre-medical Society.

Dr. Briody discussed the factors governing admission to Hahnemann: scholastic achievements, scores on the Medical Aptitude Test, interview results, and recommendations. In addition, he pointed out that the preparation given to pre-professional students at Ursinus enabled them to rank high among students of the other regional schools in MCAT scoring.

On Tuesday, February 12, Dr. Frank Mercurio, a psychiatrist at the Veteran's Hospital (psychiatric) in Coatesville, Pa., will speak to the group on his specialty and of his work at the hospital.

A trip to the Veteran's Hospital has been tentatively planned for Friday afternoon, March 1.

Civil Service Tests for Biologists Scheduled

The State Civil Service Commission has announced competitive examinations for professional positions in the fields of entomology, poultry pathology and veterinary medicine.

Ralph D. Tive, SCSC Executive Director, said this will be the first in a series of examinations for technical and professional positions recently included in the classification service by executive order. The examination scheduled for March 30 will be held to establish eligibility lists for making appointments in the Department of Agriculture. Applications must be filed not later than March 8; applications will not be limited to Pennsylvania residents.

Positions and salary ranges are as follows: veterinarian III, $9011 to $11,501; veterinarian II, $7407 to $9454; veterinarian I, $6090 to $7772; veterinary Pathologist I, $6090 to $7772; Poultry Pathologist I, $6390 to $8163; Entomologist III, $6390 to $8163; entomologist II, $5007 to $6390; entomologist I, $4329 to $5529.

BELLS FOR FINALS

The school bell in Freeland Hall will be rung ten minutes before the beginning of the morning and the afternoon examinations.

Student Teachers Fete Advisors and UC Dept. Heads

On Friday, January 18, the student teachers for the present year, in co-operation with the college education department gave a banquet in honor of the critic teachers, principals, vice-principals, and superintendents from the schools where the Ursinus students taught, and of the department heads of Ursinus College.

A second purpose of the banquet was to discuss difficulties which arise in the present program. This was dealt with by a panel composed of student teachers and people already in the educational field. Betty Taves gave her views on the orientation program Ursinus provides for people going out to teach in the fall; Pat Jones talked about the aid given by the critic teacher; Charles Walker delivered his criticisms on the present program. Many of the student teachers requested that they be permitted to teach five full days instead of three full and two half days. Some asked that critic teachers not supervise their teaching activities so closely. The panel discussed various suggestions and criticisms with the purpose of improving and perhaps revamping the entire program.

Ex-practice teachers took part in a skit which depicted a "typical" day in the lives of six haggard student teachers. Barbara Olmo, the author of the skit, Jane Dunn, Carol Krohn, Marilyn Kuebler, Bruce Holcombe, and Dave Burger participated. Eileen Connor sang two songs.

The guests of honor were: Mr. J. Addison Allen, Mrs. Dorothy Balch, Miss Sara M. Berger, Miss Marion V. Bosler, Miss Mary A. Burkert, Mrs. Margaret Conrad, Miss Esther E. Dagnell, Mr. William Forsyth, Mr. L. Richard Head, Mrs. Leona P. Herr, Miss

Chi Alpha Has Speeches, Discussion on Evangelism

The Chi Alpha Society held its January meeting on Monday, January 14, in the women's day study. The society's vice-moderator, Fred Kurkowski, presided.

After the opening worship service, led by Barbara Althouse, the meeting featured a discussion on the topic "Evangelism on the Ursinus Campus," centered around two short talks by Bill Kenney and Larry Foard, two members of the society. It was decided at the conclusion of the meeting that a continuation of the program might be quite profitable for all concerned, with the result that on the following Tuesday a group met in the student union and carried on the discussion. This discussion session will continue tomorrow at 4:30 p.m. in the student union.

Dr. Donald G. Baker will speak at the group's next meeting on Monday, February 11.

The Meaning of Evaluation

by Joan Schaefer and Carol Robacker

On February 18, 19, and 20, Ursinus College is going to be visited by representatives of the Middle States Association of Colleges. This is being done as a follow-up for the self-evaluation program completed in the past year and a half by the administrative officers of Ursinus College. In order for the students to understand the purposes and benefits of the evaluation a summary of the program will follow.

Perhaps it would be best to first explain what the Middle States Association of Colleges includes. It is a voluntary organization of colleges, universities, technical and graduate schools in the Middle Atlantic area. It is one of six such regional organizations which, taken together, cover the United States and its possessions. Accreditation by this organization indicates that an institution has been found qualified for membership in the association after evaluation by its own staff and

Bosworth Talks to "Y" Meeting on Youth Delinquency

"Juvenile Delinquency" was the topic of a talk given by Mr. Francis Bosworth at a YM-YW-CA Association meeting on Wed., January 16, 1957.

Mr. Bosworth is director of the Friends Neighborhood Guild in Philadelphia. His work with this organization brings him in close contact with youth and the problem of youth.

In describing juvenile delinquency, Mr. Bosworth spoke of it as a "fever chart," a definite clue to the delinquency of modern society as a whole. Although the problem of juvenile delinquency is becoming worse, actually only six per cent of the youth of our country are arrested. Thus, juvenile delinquency is not a disease to which all young people are victim; the youth of our country share the "bad name" of the six per cent who are called delinquents.

Little, however, of effect is being done to prevent juvenile delinquency, and little is being done to reform the delinquents. Society's main aim is to cut the offenders off from the group by locking them away in so called "reformatories;" very few institutions make a real attempt at reformation.

Juvenile delinquency is a terribly serious problem, but the only way to attack the problem is to attack the diseases which are eating away at the general well-being of society.

Camping Group Invites Students to Workshops

College students looking ahead to summer jobs are invited to attend the "Camping in Action" workshops to be conducted by the Association of Private Camps at its annual convention next month.

The workshops are scheduled for Saturday morning, February 9, at the Hotel New Yorker in New York City. They will be a feature of the final day of the convention, which begins February 6.

The workshops are as follows: nature lore; arts and crafts; performing arts (dramatics, music, and dance); pioneering and out-post camping; evening and novelty program.

At the same time, interested college students (male and female) will have a chance to register with the APC's Counselor Placement Bureau, which will have a special booth at the convention.

Frosh Class Has "Showboat" Dance

At the T-G Gym on Friday, January 18, 1957, the members of the Freshman Class presented the "Showboat."

The gym was decorated with silhouettes depicting scenes from the 'Old South,' and "models" of a colored dock-hand asleep by a load of cotton on a wharf and of a decorous "Showboat" with a spinning paddle wheel. Refreshments of punch and cookies were served in "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Music for the dance was provided by the "Rhythmairs." During intermission, entertainment was provided by freshmen Julia Thacher on the guitar and Margaret Cramer on the harmonica, who played a duet version of "Old Black Joe." Julia sang to her own accompaniment. John Deisinger, also a freshman, sang "Old Man River."

The dance was attended by over two hundred people; it ended at midnight.

Phila. Museum of Art to Present Feature Films

According to a release from the Philadelphia Museum of Art, two feature films are to be shown at the museum during the month of February.

On Saturday, February 9, at 3:00 p.m., and on Sunday, February 10, at 1:00 and 3:00 p.m., the Swedish film Miss Julie (with English sub-titles), an adaptation of Strindberg's play, will be shown.

Another Swedish film The Great Adventure (with English sub-titles) will be presented on Saturday, February 6, at 3:00 p.m., and Sunday, February 17, at 1:00 and 3:00 p.m. The Great Adventure, a prize-winning motion picture, concerns a child's discovery of and response to the world of nature.

Admission to all feature films at the museum is free.

A program of events scheduled to take place at the Philadelphia Museum of Art is posted on the bulletin board in the Weekly office.

EXAM SCHEDULE

A schedule for the final examinations for the first semester appears on page 4 of this paper.

It is expected that the students in each course will seek confirmation from their instructor as to the time and place of the examination.

His first job was as a fire eater in a carnival, but he soon moved on. In 1933, he covered the famous World Fair as a photographer for The Chicago Tribune, and in the following year, he had his first opportunity to act. He became "Jack Armstrong - All American Boy" on the radio.

In 1939, after he had operated the Players' Theatre in Clinton, Connecticut, for some time, Terrell began his work as an organizer of musical and dra-

YM-YW to Sponsor 'Used Book Center'

On February 13, 14, and 15, the Y will sponsor a "used book center" in the Student Union. The "center" will operate in the following manner: those students wishing to sell books will turn in their names, places of residence, and the titles and prices of the books to be sold. When a student who desires a used book comes to the "center," this information will be used to refer him to the student selling the books. The actual transaction will take place between the buyer and the seller.

This center is trying to facilitate the buying and selling of used books on campus.

The Most Valuable

In some sports, it is customary for certain publications to choose one man as the "most valuable all 'round player." We should like to make a nomination for the "most valuable all 'round extra-curricular organization at Ursinus."

Practically every student at the college, whether or not he is an active member of the group itself, has had his life influenced in some way by, has been associated in some way with one of the many programs of the Ursinus YM-YWCA. The recently remodelled recreation center in the basement of Bomberger is a "Y" project; the 'Freshman guide' is a "Y" publication; the annual Campus Chest Drive had its origins in the "Y" organization.

Through its four commissions the association has sponsored any number of programs of value to a great many students. The second semester "Y" seminars, the speakers frequently featured at commission and association meetings, the forums and panel discussions on topics of importance to the whole college community—all these have served to encourage thinking and discussion and to strengthen the extra-curricular educational and cultural life of the campus. The weekly Sunday evening vespers programs provide an opportunity for every Protestant student to participate in a student-planned, student-conducted service of worship.

Too, the "Y" sponsors service projects, the "used book sale" scheduled for the first week of the new term, for example.

The over-all program of the "Y" association is practically indispensable to the extra-curricular student life of the college. This indispensability has come about because of the nature of the organization itself. It is not exclusive in any ordinary sense of the word; it is practically universal in appeal; and it permits every member to participate actively as much as he can.

The "Y" is fortunate, too, in having attracted to its ranks capable people who will work willingly, and faithfully, without any desire for praise—or even thanks. It has always had conscientious advisors and excellent officers, commission leaders, and committee chairmen.

The Ursinus Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations are representative of the very best of the principles for which the college stands: the preservation of "... the cultural and spiritual traditions which this generation has inherited ...," the cultivation of "... scholarship ...," understanding "...," responsibility "...," and "... Attitudes consonant with the Christian ideal of morality and service."

The Meaning of Evaluation . . .

istics which distinguish superior institutions of higher education in the view of the Middle States are:

Curricula which provide, emphasize, or rest upon general or liberal education. Curricula in technical, specialized, or professional fields must evidence recognition of the relationship between broad education and the understanding acquisition of techniques and skills.

Objectives and programs which develop power to form independent judgement, to weigh values, and to understand fundamental theory, rather than solely to amass facts or acquire skills. Every curriculum should substantiate the institution's desire to educate broadly for individual excellence and social awareness and interest.

An atmosphere which stimulates the student to continue and broaden his education beyond the point he must reach to obtain his credits, certificates, or degree.

Included in this are student activities, such as, student government, intramural and intercollegiate athletics, dramatics, journalism, music, social affairs and so forth. These are supplements to the formal instructional program. They should reflect student interests and student-faculty co-operation in planning and be integral parts of, and contribute directly to, the effectiveness of the total educational program.

The scholastic achievement of the student body is evaluated by comparing graduate tests, tests given by the co-operative test service, and studies of performance of graduates in graduate and professional schools with students' performance on the college board entrance exams. The result of this comparison will show to what degree the institution, in this case, Ursinus, achieves the objectives it has set for itself.

LORELEI ?

The Charge of the Pink Lemonade

by T. M. McCabe

Exams again, exams again, Exams again are here, All into Bomberger Hall
Crowded the eight hundred.
"Forward! Pink Lemonade! Charge for pretzels too!" he said: As into Bomberger Hall
Crowded the eight hundred.

"Forward! Pink Lemonade!" Was there a man dismayed? Not tho, the students knew Someone might blunder: Theirs was to make reply, Theirs was to reason why, Theirs was to do or die, As into Bomberger Hall
Plunged the eight hundred.

Questions to the right of them, Papers to the left of them— Proctors to the front of them Shouted and thundered; Stormed at with rule and bell Timidly they wrote, not well. Quickly o'er each question For delay their doom would spell Plunged the eight hundred.

Flashed all their pencils bare Flashed as they turned in air Writing all the answers there, Hurried the students, while All the profs wondered: Plunging through the cigarette-smoke

Never once their silence broke; Frosh and senior Relled from mental strain Shattered and Sundered. Then out they came, but not Not the eight hundred.

:: Letters to the Editor ::

To the Editor:

Through your column, we would like to express our concern about the lack of heat in the dormitories and classrooms. For the last week, we have been faced with temperatures far below necessary for efficient studying. Upon awakening in the morning and seeing his frosted breath, a student is immediately placed in a poor disposition for the remainder of the day.

We feel that after an increase in the comprehensive fee, we should at least receive adequate heat. We believe that the temperature should be kept fairly constant (above freezing) especially at this time, since finals are so near.

We would like to thank the Weekly for the use of this column to express our opinions.

The Eskimos of Brodbeck (Editor's Note: According to information that has reached us, Dr. G. Sieber Pancoast, the dean of men, has approached the superintendent of buildings, Mr. Russell L. Remig, on this matter: various possible solutions to the problem are being studied.

In general, complaints and suggestions concerning the dormitories should be taken either to the superintendent of buildings or to the dean of men.)

Memo on Dancing

by Art King

I once knew a man who claimed he had never gone dancing because no girl had ever asked him. That's not a bad reason for a backworldsman, who might be able to make such a statement honestly, But Noah Webster, the lexicographer, needed a better reason. When a lady asked him why he didn't dance, he had to reply, "Madam, I have not brains enough." Obviously, that sort of subterfuge suffices only if it isn't true. It needs a desperate man to defend himself by sacrificing his ego in a futile, rear-guard action.

Dancing seems to have developed originally from a natural human propensity for placing one foot in front of the other to induce locomotion. This antediluvian mode of travel, called walking, is still a prerequisite to learning to dance. It is also an integral part of all present kinds of dancing, and probably will remain so until the race abandons this conventional use of the hind limbs.

Dancing has rightly been assigned a high intrinsic value, both as a means of socializing and of just having fun. A famous nineteenth century philosopher wrote that philosophy ought to be able to dance; philosophers themselves, he judged by the quality of their laughter. On the face of it, the viewpoint is objective and commendable. Philosophy is full of beautiful theories that only need to be translated into action.

Again, Erasmus, that friend of college freshmen, placed these words in the mouth of the goddess of Folly: "Invite a wise man to a party, and he will spoil it with a morose silence or with loud disputations." Significantly, it was Folly rather than Erasmus who presented this interpretation of wisdom. The Dutch humanist had a wider vision of the human condition. For him wisdom and folly were blended in the wisest and most foolish of men until they became indistinguishable one from the other.

The Puritan viewpoint on dancing is seldom encountered today. The attitude doesn't need any defense—but then neither does dancing, which enjoys a wide and time-honored vogue and is even popular on college campuses. College professors, however, still cling to the belief that academic studies are at least of some or equal importance in the happy balancing of knowledge and life. College students are compelled to agree with them, whether they want to or not.

Oil for the Lantern

Here's oil for the Lantern

That Dose of Kerosene

by T. M. McCabe

In this time of evaluation at Ursinus, the majority of us seem to be laboring under the misapprehension that all individuals and organizations on campus are likewise in the process of evaluation. There will not be a "screening board" snooping into dark corners, prying into those fictitious fraternity "files," or dragging selected persons off to a "star chamber" for one-sided third degrees, but I did believe that everyone would attempt to out collective 'best foot forward'.

This mistaken concept received a rather hard jolt last Monday when I received the latest copy of the Lantern. I am not referring to the first copy for 1957, due sometime in February or March, I am speaking of the last copy of 1956, the Christmas edition. It was only through passing comment in the coffee room one morning last week that I even discovered that the December issue was off-the-press. By discreet inquiry, followed by a more direct line of questioning, and finally by threats to do bodily harm, I was able to procure a third-hand copy.

My first thoughts were that if the supply had been exhausted so quickly that even a worn third-hand copy was difficult to find, it certainly must have been a "slam-bang" issue that completely captivated the entire Ursinus reading body. So misled was I that when my gracious donor gave me his treasured copy the following day, I was amazed by the thinness of the edition. As I slowly twisted his long multi-colored scarf about his neck, I explained to him that I wanted the entire issue, not just the front section. Between gasps and wheezes, he tearfully sputtered that there "warn't no more." His statement was true—too true.

Horrified to suddenly discover that a magazine that usually managed to maintain at least a semblance of culture had suddenly fallen from 1st place in the sky and had come out with an abridged edition, I scanned it eagerly, confident that its high intellectual level would more than overcome its lack of pages. Life is very cruel, and I suffered a second severe blow before I was able to recover from the first. All four articles, excluding the poetry album, but including the shaggy dog story (heretofore Verboten) were in themselves excellent. "Diamonds and Mushrooms" is probably one of the best fiction stories the Lantern has printed in the past few years. Even with its merits, I feel it was unable to overcome the insurmountable odds against it. As the backbone of this edition, it kept the magazine from falling completely flat, but the brevity of this issue over-emphasized the length of the story to a distinct disadvantage. In a normal issue, with equally good articles on every side, this story would have reached its deserved pinnacle, but here—a shame, a shame!

Back to back with this fine story is another meritorious work of fiction. But the poor layout of the issue distracted from this story by placing it in close proximity with the former. It must be noted that this contribution is "from our files," as the title lines stated. This says immediately that there must have been a shortage of new material, requiring the desperate staff to clutch at any available straw. Perhaps we should feel sorry for the present staff, for they can only print that which is contributed. This staff is 'paying the piper' for the errors of the staffs of other years. In those years past, material was severely screened, not only on the basis of subject and style, but on the basis of author as well. This gave rise to a small group of select writers whose material was of the particular style and taste desired by the Lantern. Time and tide have passed, and so have the majority of that select group. As little thought was given then to future years, and many a potential contributor was nipped in the bud, little material is now forthcoming and the Lantern suffers.

The first six words of the first paragraph under "Talk of the Gown" very aptly describes this pathetic condition; "The limp and nearly lifeless Lantern" Too true, too true! !

Handwriting on the wall, in the men's day study: The Lantern

It seems, oh, such a shame To write of Elvis, even meekly, If later issues do the same I'll be forced to read the Weekly.

by Warren Rybak

The Ursinus matmen lost their first match of the season 18-16, to Swarthmore College's matmen last Tuesday, January 15th, as heavyweight Gene Gertler scored the winning and deciding pin over the Bruin's Bill Carson in 15 seconds. It was Swarthmore's first meet of the season, while Ursinus holds a tie with Haverford.

In the 123 pound class Swarthmore's Ken Meehan pinned lightweight Ed Marshall in forty seconds of the second period. Dave Teller ran up another five points pinning Ursinus' Don Durr, 4:50 in the 133 pound bout, with a cradle.

Ursinus Captain Dick Padula remained undefeated in college wrestling pinning 137 pounder Jim Heald in :45 seconds of the third period with a half nelson. Bruin newcomer Hal Redden won a close 2-0 decision over Deke Huyler in the 147 pound match.

One fifty-seven pounder Jack Prutzman gave Ursinus an 11-10 lead winning his second match of the season with a decisive 5-2 decision over Mike McMinn. Swarthmore regained the lead when Tom Stevenson decided Don Hartman, 3-2 in the 167 pound bout.

Ursinus matmen Don Knauf put the Bruins ahead 16-13 with a 177 pound pin over Dave Durkin using a split scissors in 8:40. Holding a small three point lead, Ursinus Coach Kurt Wieneke sent in heavyweight Bill Carson to replace injured Hooty Houser. Carson lasted only 15 seconds against the experience and strength of Garnet Gene Gertler, who used a body press.

Matmen to Meet Lafayette Tuesday

Tomorrow night the Ursinus wrestlers (1-1-1) go into their fourth team match of the season. They play host to the Lafayette Leopards from Easton, Pa. Lafayette succumbed to the matmen from Wilkes College last Saturday, 27-3, with 177 pounder Bob Stern winning the only bout for Lafayette. Stern will be the Leopards biggest threat, going against the Bruin's "rubberman" Don Knauf.

Ursinus Captain Dick Padula will be going for his fifty-seventh straight undefeated match in high school and college competition. The match will start at 8:00 tomorrow night in the New Gym.

A junior varsity match will precede the varsity match.

Mermaids Begin Early Practice

The Ursinus girls' swimming team, under the able coaching of Liz Bosler, has been holding its practice at the Norristown Y. M. C. A. since the Christmas recess. The girls hope to be prepared for the opening of their season, February 13, when they will hold a meet with Drexel.

Lucy Fay, freestyle swimmer, returns again this year as captain of the team. Jackie Robbins, a sophomore asset to the team, is back in the butterfly and freestyle positions. Also returning are: Berle Syvertsen, backstroke and butterfly; and Judy Berry, diving.

Some of the freshmen out for the team this year include: Julia Thatcher, diving; Linda Wolf, butterfly; and Debbie Davis, freestyle.

There is still a need for swimmers, and girls who wish to come out now for the team will be most welcome.

Two foul conversions, with 11 seconds left, by Doug Leaman gave Pennsylvania Military College a 64-63 Southern Division Middle Atlantic Conference victory over the Ursinus "Five" last Monday night at Chester, Pa. It was Ursinus' third league defeat, while the one point victory gave the "Cadets" their third victory in four conference games.

Sowers Picks Up Twenty

Don Sowers, Bruin high scorer with 20 points, had given the winless Bruins the lead 63-62, with a falling-away hook shot with 45 seconds remaining in the contest. With seconds remaining, Leaman sunk two free throws, handing Ursinus its second one-point loss of the season. John Dalgaard and Leaman, both freshmen, led P.M.C. in scoring with 22 and 21 points respectively.

Tied at Halftime, 29-29

The score was tied fourteen times throughout the contest, including a 29-29 stalemate at halftime. Following Sowers in the Bruin scoring department were Capt. Dave Burger with 19, and sophomore Wayne Williams with 17. Burger also dropped nine of ten foul shot attempts.

Home Thanks Beta Sig For Christmas Party

According to Barrie Ciliberti, the president of Beta Sigma Lambda fraternity, a letter has been received by the fraternity from the superintendent of Bethany Orphans' Home in Womelsdorf, Pennsylvania, thanking the group for the Christmas party which they and Omega Chi sorority sponsored for the children at the home.

The text of the letter is as follows: Dear Mr. Ciliberti, On behalf of all of our boys and girls who came to your party we wish to extend our deepest thanks to you. Our children had a wonderful time at the party and we want to extend our gratitude to the members of your fraternity and to the sorority that helped in this project.

The children are still talking about the fine time they had, and the houseparents who were present told me about how nicely things were arranged and what wonderful hospitality they received. We are indeed grateful to you for your kindness in helping our children to enjoy the Christmas season in this way. We send our best wishes to you and to all of our friends at Ursinus.

Vitro Offers Early Professional Recognition For M.E.'s, E.E.'s, Physicists, Mathematicians

Apply Your Knowledge At Once In One Of These Advanced R & D Fields

The Vitro Research and Development Laboratory in Silver Spring, Maryland, invites engineering and science majors to discuss a professional assignment in one of these important fields: Undersea Warfare. Vitro teams are responsible for all phases of research, development, design, prototype fabrication, testing, etc., for the weapons systems presently used in the most advanced Navy submarines. Vitro's work in this advanced region of the national defense program involves new concepts in Torpedoes, Mines, and Sonic Detection. This is a demanding area of study and development work for the graduating engineering or science major.

Guided Missile Ships. Vitro's work on Guided Missile Ships and Systems for the Navy's new fleet includes projects in Fire Control, Systems and Missile Engineering, electrical and mechanical. Most recent installations have been in the cruisers U.S.S. Boston and U.S.S. Canberra. Land-Based Guided Missiles. This is a sphere of new technology wherein the engineer can make invaluable contributions to Vitro's research in Land-Based Missile Systems for continental air defense. Vitro, out of full cognizance of the graduate's desire to begin work of a strictly professional nature as soon as he graduates, is making it possible for seniors to arrange for permanent and full professional positions with its Laboratory now.

Representative To Visit Campus Soon For Personal Interviews

Senior engineering and science majors are urged to make early arrangements to meet with the Vitro representative when he visits their campus. This will provide the best opportunity for them to learn firsthand about the Laboratory's work. Vitro offers unusual opportunities for consistent growth and professional achievement. After a brief orientation program, the graduate is accorded full professional status and his place in a project team.

VITRO LABORATORIES IDEALLY LOCATED

Each of the three Vitro locations offers its own wealth of attractions. The largest Laboratory is located in Silver Spring, Maryland, a delightful suburb of Washington, D. C. Within easy driving range are beaches, lakes, mountains, offering a wide variety of scenery and recreation. The city itself offers sports attractions including major league baseball, football, and ice hockey. Scattered throughout its parks are public golf courses, tennis courts, and bridge paths. Washington, D. C. offers over 1000 musical and theatrical events each year, many of them at no cost. Schools in this community are outstanding. Homes and apartments of all types and prices are readily available. Vitro's West Orange, New Jersey Laboratory is situated in the beautiful Orange mountains near one of the most attractive suburbs in the entire State. New York City is only 40 minutes away by automobile. An Armament Test Activity is maintained in Florida at Eglin Air Force Base. This installation is near Fort Walton Beach, a summer resort area on the Gulf of Mexico, with fine white beaches, and a multitude of other attractions.

Laboratory Visits Scheduled By Vitro Representative Personal inspection of the Vitro facilities, together with an opportunity to meet with staff members, enable the graduating engineer to evaluate more accurately the organization. The Vitro representative will provide interested seniors with details on how such a visit may be arranged.

Full Tuition And Lab Fees Paid By Vitro Vitro staff members desiring to work toward an appropriate degree or take individual, specialized courses in conjunction with their work assignment, are encouraged to do so by means of Vitro's Educational Assistance Program. Many Vitro staff members have taken advantage of this opportunity with full tuition and laboratory fees being paid by the Company.

NEW $2 MILLION LAB NEAR COMPLETION

The new building to house Vitro's expanding operations in the Washington, D. C., Area, will include engineering and drafting offices as well as a complete model shop and testing laboratory. Vitro has maintained laboratories in the Washington Area for the past ten years.

VITRO TECHNICAL REP ON CAMPUS TUES., FEBRUARY 12 Make Appointment Now

Interested M.E.'s, E.E.'s, math and physics majors are invited to make appointments now for a personal interview with a member of Vitro's engineering staff when he visits the campus to give firsthand information on available opportunities. Appointments may be made with the Campus Placement Officer who also has available copies of pamphlets outlining Company benefits, policies, and living conditions in the Washington, D. C., Area. Or write Vitro, requesting further information and pamphlets. Address: Personnel Department, Vitro Laboratories 962 Wayne Avenue, Silver Spring, Maryland.

Forum... (Continued from page 1) matic groups by starting the Bucks County Playhouse in New Hope, Pennsylvania. In World War II, he was a pilot in the US Air Force for three years. In 1945, he left the air force and went to the south Pacific with a USO unit. While with this group he tried to interest the Army in a new idea, the "music circus." It was his belief that the 'Broadway show' should be made available to those who were not able to see it on Broadway and that talented artists could be hired in the summer to work in musicals for the entertainment of such people. He visualized a big circus tent-replacing the theatre-in which all the people in a certain neighborhood would come to hear musicals they would not hear otherwise. In 1949, almost singlehanded, Terrell started and financed a new enterprise, the Lambertville Music Circus. To many people's surprise it was a huge success. In the eight years since its inauguration, great crowds have come to see such popular shows as Waitz Down the Aisle, Carmen Jones, Die Fledermaus, The Merry Widow, Kismet, and Wish You Were Here. Terrell has brought his "music circus" to city after city. Since the Lambertville Music Circus was started he has taken it to Miami, Florida; Neptune, New Jersey; Sacramento, California; and Dallas, Texas. Everywhere it has been successful. Terrell has also worked as an actor and a producer in various productions. In the 1930's, he acted in Small Miracle and Winterset on the stage as well as in Warner Brother's Tickets Please.
