West Chester Choir Sings at Vespers

A Christmas musical Vesper program was presented last evening in Bomberger Chapel at 7:30 o'clock by the choir of the Student Christian Association of West Chester State Teachers College. The choir was under the direction of Barbara Beissel, a junior music major, and was accompanied on the organ by Ferree LeFevre, also a junior music major. The program included a variety of vocal ensembles—entire choir, girls' trio, solos, and men's choir—spaced between appropriate Scriptural passages. Some of the numbers were "O Little Town of Bethlehem," "Angels, We Have Heard on High," and "We Three Kings". In addition, the choir rendered several numbers from a Christmas cantata which they will present this week at West Chester.

Following the program an informal reception was held for the visiting choir and those who attended Vespers in the Girls' Day Study. Doughnuts and cocoa were served.

The Advent morning watch service program was launched this morning in Freeland Reception Room immediately following breakfast. Richard Hause spoke this morning on the need for the birth of Christ. There will be morning watch services every morning this week. The remaining program includes: Tuesday—Lawrence Foad, "The Prophecy"; Wednesday—Lee Lawhead, "The Hope"; Thursday—Joseph Atkins, "The Fulfillment"; and Friday—Richard Wincester, "The Summary of the Birth of Christ".

Junior and senior women are urged to attend the annual Christmas party given by Dr. and Mrs. N. E. McClure at their home tonight immediately after dinner.

Complete plans for the renovation of the Rec Center have been made. It is hoped that work can begin in January. Students are urged to offer their help in painting their Rec Center.

How I See It . . .

DOES URSINUS HAVE ADEQUATE PARKING FACILITIES?

We have been accosted recently by a number of people in regards to a serious shortage of parking space on our campus. It seems that on an average class day, the present facilities are completely filled and consequently, the cars that must be parked along the campus roads are creating additional traffic hazards.

The lots located near the tennis courts and behind the boiler house and library are large enough to handle the majority of cars that belong to students who live on campus. The lot located near Pfahler is also used by students living on campus and by the faculty members who commute daily. When the day students arrive each morning, these lots are already filled to capacity and therefore the day students must find other parking space. The students who crowd the filled lots create hazardous conditions by partially obstructing the roads. Then too, overcrowding prevents easy access to and from the lots.

The problem could easily be solved by having larger parking facilities or by parking along Route 422. However, these solutions are not as feasible as they first appear. The first solution is out of the question because of the fact that there is no ground immediately available for the construction of new lots. The second solution could work, but we hardly think anyone would care to leave his car parked overnight on such a heavily

CANDLELIGHT COMMUNION TO BE HELD DEC. 9 IN BOMBERGER

The Chi Alpha Society invites everyone to attend the annual Christmas Candlelight Communion, to be held in Bomberger Chapel on Thursday evening, December 9, at 7:30 o'clock. This is one of the highlights of Christmas time at Ursinus, which helps the students to keep Christ in the center of the Season's festivities.

Students Sign for Degrees

All students who will complete their work for a degree at end of this semester, will please report to the Dean's Office and sign in the register provided for this purpose.

Improper Procedure Key in MSGA Trial

At a special meeting on November 24, the MSGA held a trial. A charge was brought by a member of the faculty against one of the students for improper procedure during an examination. The student had left his notes open on the arm of the chair next to him during an examination. The teacher suggested that he lose all credit for the first question on the examination since the notes were not removed until after the first question was on the board.

The student, in stating his case before the government, was evidently sincere and truthful in giving his answers to various questions. It seems that he had merely flipped his notes carelessly aside when the order to put books away was given. He had had no intention of cheating, but was simply in a hurry to begin writing out the examination. He had not even realized his notes were open when he thrust them aside. They were a reasonable distance away from his seat. However, the teacher, seeing the notes open confiscated them and reported the case to the MSGA.

Consideration was given the fact that the student had witnesses to prove that he had been up until two o'clock the morning before the test studying the material. Also, as he told the government, and as he told the teacher, he "knew the material cold".

It must be remembered that the charge was not cheating, but, rather, improper procedure during an examination. Accordingly, he was given a warning that if a recurrence of this situation ever came before the MSGA this case would be considered. However, as the council members were unanimous in deeming it an error of omission rather than of commission, a recommendation for no further punishment was given to the teacher. This would mean that the student should get whatever grade he earned on the test rather than being

Rosicrucians Add Members At After-dinner Dessert

The Rosicrucians held an after-dinner dessert for women students who attained an average of 87.5 last semester on Tuesday, November 30, at 6:45 p.m. in the Girls' Day Study. Eight new permanent members this semester are Marilyn Durn, Fayne Elsesser Weiser, Jean Hain, Ruth Heller, Joan Kutzer, Lois Leonard, Ann Wertz and Elsie Belz.

DR. DUGGER SPEAKS, SHOWS SLIDES TO PRE-MEDICAL GROUP

On Monday night, November 22, the Brownback-Anders Pre-Medical Society heard a talk by Dr. John H. Dugger, prominent obstetrician and gynecologist at the Episcopal Hospital in Philadelphia. Dr. Dugger also showed a colored film of a Cesarean section in which he performed the operation.

Because of the length of the Winter vacation, the next regular meeting of the society will be held Monday evening, January 10.

FRENCH CLUB

Don't forget the French Club's Christmas Party tonight at 8 p.m. in the Women's Day Study. Games will be played and refreshments will be served.

Christmas to Visit UC in Many Forms

by Jean Hain '56

There's something about Christmas at Ursinus that you just can't escape. Even when Christmas is as early as December 8 there is a certain something in the air that you can't help but notice. Perhaps it was the singing of the Messiah that set you off or the Carols resounding from the tower of Bomberger. Or, if you're not easily affected by music it may be that the brightly lit Christmas trees and other Yuletide decorations convinced you that Christmas could come in the second week of December, after all.

But it takes something more than music and decorations to make Christmas. One picture the festive holiday season as being highlighted by a whirl of social events. If you're a social butterfly or even if you're not it may have taken the Senior Ball and party to convince you that Christmas is here. This evening Mrs. Norman McClure will add to the festivities by entertaining the junior and senior women at her home with the annual Christmas party.

By Wednesday evening something will surely have filled you with the spirit of an Ursinus Christmas and you will be ready for an evening of gaiety—a banquet, a dance, an all-night party, and early morning caroling. December is rivaled only by Spring in its wealth of social activities.

But you will really miss a very important part of Christmas at Ursinus if you don't attend morning watch services and Christmas Communion service. Bomberger Chapel is transformed by candlelight at this service and perhaps you have found (or will find) that the service has done something to transform you.

Perhaps you may not love just every minute of this Christmas season or maybe you think you might like it if you had time to look up from your books and see what's going on. But if you can manage to snatch a minute to think as you're tying your shoelaces, consider the beauty of it all. Here, in your own little community away from the Christmas rush of the city you can have Christmas on December 8.

Beta Sig Presents Bill Haley on Jan. 7

On Friday night, January 7, the Beta Sigma Lambda Fraternity will present "Shake, Rattle and Roll Night", starring Bill Haley and his Comets, from 8 p.m. until midnight. This event of musical merriment will be held at the L.A.M. Hall, Main and Arch Streets, Norristown, Pennsylvania. This is the first time that a big-name group has been presented at a social function here. It is hoped that this will set precedent for future affairs.

The comets have been appearing for the past two summers in Wildwood, New Jersey, and are currently preparing for a tour to Las Vegas and the West Coast. Three of their recordings, "Shake, Rattle and Roll", "Rock Around the Clock", and "Dim the Lights" are currently listed in the top seven best sellers on the Decca label. The former is presently eighth on the national hit parade. The group is rated second in the small outfit class, topped only by Les Paul and Mary Ford.

This should be the highlight in the social calendar this semester, and it is hoped that the students will give it their heartiest support. Tickets sell for the donation price of $3.00 a couple. They may be obtained from any of the brotherhood of Beta Sigma Lambda.

CHARLES HUDNUT WINS AWARD IN NATIONAL POETRY CONTEST

"In Quiet Darkness," a poem by Charles D. Hudnut, has been accepted for publication in the annual Anthology of College Poetry, published in Los Angeles, Calif.

The anthology is a compilation of the finest poetry written by college men and women of America, representing every section of the country. Selections were made from thousands of poems submitted.

DRAFT DEFERMENT TEST

The draft deferment test will be given Thursday morning, December 9, 1954. All those men who are planning to take this examination are expected to be in Room S-12 at 8:30 a.m., promptly, with their tickets of admission. No one will be permitted to start the examination without first presenting his ticket.

Seniors Hold Prom; Elect Lord and Lady

The biggest social event of the year at Ursinus was the senior prom, held December 3 at Sunnybrook. The theme was "Frosted Fantasy". Everyone enjoyed the smooth music of Bud Rader's Band. The band featured four male and one female vocalists. The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the Lord and Lady of the Ball. The class had elected Joan Fisher the Lady and Larry Zartman Lord, and their crowning helped to make the evening a grand success.

At the senior class meeting last Tuesday night the class elected the following alumni officers: Gene Harris, President; Chet Frankfield, Loyalty Fund Chairman; Ethel Lutz, Secretary; and Larry Zartman, Reunion Chairman.

The Senior class climaxed their week-end with a party which was held Saturday night at the Mill. There was dancing to the music of Hal Singley's Campus Combo. Refreshments were served, and this informal party was an enjoyable ending to the busy senior week-end.

300 Attend Seventeenth Annual Messiah Performance

Approximately three hundred persons witnessed the opening of the Ursinus College Christmas tradition with the seventeenth annual performance of George Frederick Handel's Messiah presented by the Music Club Thursday evening, December 2, at 8:15 o'clock in Bomberger Chapel. Dr. William F. Philip, Music Director at Ursinus, conducted the chorus of 250 voices and the orchestra which included members of the Philadelphia Orchestra. Piano accompanists were Ethel Lutz '55, Barbara Althouse '57 and Karl Schmidt '58.

Guest soloists featured Martha Wilson, soprano, Gladys Kriese, contralto, Marvin Worden, tenor, and Chester Watson, bass. The soloists come from the New York City area and are well-known for their solo work.

Harold Singley '57 and Francis Scheiber '55, president and vice-president of the Music Club, together with Dr. Philip would like to express their appreciation to anyone who in any way made possible the 1954 rendition of the sacred oratorio. Special thanks are extended to Georgia Thomas '55, alto sectional leader, who had charge of roll-taking and seating arrangement.

CHESTERFIELD HOLDS CONTEST "HOME FOR THE HOLIDAYS"

Chesterfield is sponsoring a "Home for the Holidays" contest. This contest will run from December 1 through December 10.

Write 25 words or less (poetry or prose) on the back of an empty Chesterfield wrapper completing this statement: "My idea of a happy holiday at home is . . ." Enter as many times as you wish. Write your name and campus address on each entry and drop them in the official ballot boxes at the upstairs dining hall entrance and at the supply store.

The winners will be published in the next issue of the Weekly. The prize will be a carton of Chesterfield cigarettes. There will be three campus winners.

LOST AND FOUND

For the information of baffled students, the Lost and Found department is located in the Dean's office. This should be looked into immediately.

Dr. Oliver Gogarty Discusses Poets

Last Wednesday, Ursinus College students and faculty members had the pleasure of meeting Dr. Oliver St. John Gogarty, the greatest living Irish poet and renowned wit. Dr. Gogarty spent a good part of the day in the English office where he spoke to the many students who came to chat with him.

In the evening, Dr. Gogarty ate dinner in the President's Dining Room with Dean William Pettit, Mr. Robert Sutton, Dr. William Phillips, Dr. Calvin Yost, and other professors of the English Department. During the course of the meal, Dr. Gogarty gave evidence as to why he is known as a famous wit. He related short stories about James Joyce, W. B. Yeats, Robert Bridges, George W. Russell (A.E.) and many others. He also told several humorous anecdotes. Dr. Gogarty did not confine his dinner conversation to the field of literature for the discussion involved climate changes, the ocean path of the Gulf Stream, and the effect of the Atom Bomb on weather conditions.

At eight o'clock in Bomberger chapel, Dr. Gogarty spoke to a large gathering. He discussed and compared the poets and writers he has known of Ireland, Scotland, and England. Lest he forget to recite several of his own poems, Dr. Phillips, who introduced Dr. Gogarty, brought along a volume of the Americanized Irishman's collected poetry.

After reciting several poems, among which was "Non Dolet," a poem that Dr. Phillips said will be in every future anthology of fine poetry, Dr. Gogarty answered questions from the audience for ten minutes. In this brief time, Dr. Gogarty answered queries about Rudyard Kipling, George Bernard Shaw, and his own early days of flying.

Abstractly Speaking

by David Garlich '55

Although this column usually features aimless abstractions I would like to give a purpose and direction to my words for just this one pre-Christmas issue.

To speak today of the brotherhood of man or of "Peace, goodwill among men", will bring, in some quarters, a raised eyebrow or a questioning stare. If this statement contains even a grain of reality the extension of this type of fear thinking into the message of Christmas, itself, leads our traditional holiday worship out of the light into darkness.

What then is the avenue of approach to the wondrous message of Christmas?

Could it be through the ties of family and home?

As college students you will soon be leaving for your own homes and your parents welcome back into the family circle. This may seem quite funny or a bit overdone to some of you reading this but consider that in the span of a few years you too may be welcoming into your home a returning son or daughter. Whether the home to which you are returning be in the present or of the future it can be a permanent symbol of the Christmas message. I am sure that to a lonely man, irregardless of his speech or color, that the home to which he returns on Christmas eve is to him the symbol of the Christmas spirit.

Band Practicing for May Day; Marches at Basketball Games

Every Monday night from 6:30 to 8:00 o'clock a group of band members is practicing many selections for the concert to be given on May Day. The group is also working on marches to be played at the basketball games this winter. For the May Day performance the band is rehearsing pieces such as "Oklahoma", "Washington Greys", and "Light Cavalry".

Students are urged to submit names of favorite pieces that they think the band could play to Patricia Jones, John Hottenstein, Mr. H. Lloyd Jones, or any other band member. Any student instrumentalist interested in participating in a concert band are invited to join.

Test of Time

by Shirley Boyle '58

(This story has withstood the test of time. Rather than change the dates to fit the time of year, we are printing the article as it was originally written.—Ed.)

It's a lazy Sunday afternoon in mid-November. For the first time since classes started, you've no homework that just has to be done. Unfortunately everyone else is either studying madly for an important test or has gone home for the week-end. So you sit and gaze out the window and wonder if there is anything you can do to make the long hours 'til dinner pass quickly. There is a solution to this weighty problem. Why not make your own tour of the historic land marks in and around Collegeville? I realize that probably the only place you know of around here that has historical significance is Valley Forge, and I know that you've probably been there many times. So I'm going to attempt to tell you about the other old places in the vicinity which, although they are not as important to historians as Valley Forge, are just as interesting to visit.

The Collegeville locality has more of these sites than would ordinarily be expected. One reason for this is that this place was one of the first to be settled in Pennsylvania. Then the Trappe-Collegeville vicinity became the center of Lutheranism in America. This plus the rapid cultural growth of the settlement accounts for quite a few of the quaint buildings scattered about the countryside. Finally, the Revolutionary War raged through Pennsylvania, and there are still a great many reminders of that struggle here in this small corner of Montgomery county.

The landmark which is probably most familiar to Ursinus students is the old Perkiomen Bridge, which was erected in 1798. It is a copy of the bridges over the Seine river in France and is very sturdy. Having survived great floods and ice jams it is silent proof of the durability of colonial architecture. Near it is the Bridge Hotel, the oldest building of historical interest in Collegeville. It is said to be the oldest hotel in the United States. In 1698, Edward Lane, one of the first landholders on the upper side of the Perkiomen, built his home where the hotel now stands. As travel in the district increased, his home became an inn which is now known as the Perkiomen Bridge Hotel.

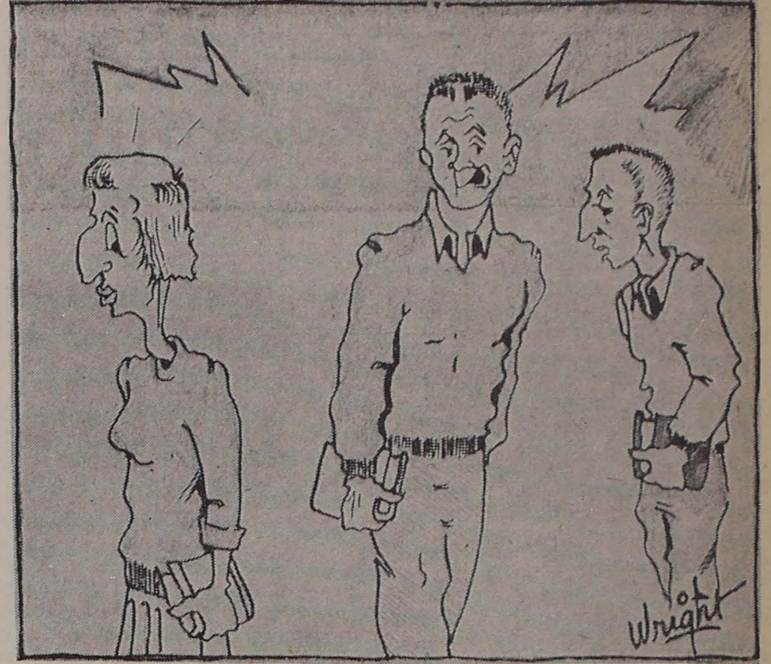

Natives of Trappe are proud of the fact that the first Lutheran church erected in America is still a part of the local scene. The Augustus Lutheran church, founded in 1743, has been the scene of many an American "first". Its founder, the Reverend Heinrich Muhlenberg, compiled the first Lutheran hymnal published in America. The first pipe organ in Montgomery county was erected there, and the church members became noted for their knowledge of great church music.

A little farther away from Collegeville, but just as interesting is Pottsgrove Manor in Pottstown. The large stone home was erected by the founder of Pottstown and is considered one of the outstanding examples of colonial architecture in Pennsylvania. It is even more famous, however, because when it was owned by Colonel Frederick Antes, the commander of an American militia, it served as headquarters for Washington and his aides in the fall and early winter of 1777-1778.

Of course there are many other interesting places in and near Collegeville, but by this time your Sunday afternoon has been pleasantly but thoroughly spent in looking at the ones I've already mentioned. So it's back to the books, games and parties for you, with still another pleasant memory of Ursinus to add to your store. I should think that a walk to Pottstown and back would take up a lazy Sunday.

WHITEY'S WIT

by Bill Wright '55

"For a long time we thought she probably had hidden talents but she's pretty well exploded that theory."

EDITORIALS

In two of our Weekly issues thus far there has appeared a column known as "Looking and Listening." This column is written by one who escaped being thrown to the lions in ancient Rome only to be cast before Ursinus students—Harold Smith.

Mr. Smith's column is a play review column in which he does not always see eye to eye with the actor's opinion of his own acting. A history major and pre-Theo student, Mr. Smith does not fear to incur the wrath of actors because he reviews a play as he sees it.

This column was initiated for the benefit of the actors themselves. It will be more to their advantage to read a review such as Mr. Smith's than the efforts of the "mutual admiration" play-reviewers of the past.

Some Ursinus students may remember several of these lines (stolen from past Weeklys) written by Weekly critics of an unbiased eye, "It would be difficult to single out any one facet of the production in order to bestow credit, for the play was excellently done on all sides," "every member perfectly suited to his role . . .", ". . . character parts, all well handled," and on and on. The little constructive criticism was lost among the glowing phrases.

We have been asked in threatening tones, "What do you expect from an amateur group?"

True, the Curtain Club is only an amateur group, but if that is the excuse—"An amateur group"—to fall back upon when a play is presented below par performance, enough said. However, if the actors are in any way concerned about improving their acting ability, they should strive on the stage to diminish the criticism in the audience.

Remember, every member of the Curtain Club is an amateur. The stars are those whose acting can rise above that confining term.

(This article is in no way intended to disparage or discourage members of any acting group on campus. It is simply to explain the purpose of "Looking and Listening."—Ed.)

Matmen Boast 7 Lettermen; Two MAC Champions Return

by Jack Townsend '57

Ursinus' wrestling coach, Kurt Wieneke, has a right to be optimistic about this year's mat season. With seven returning lettermen and experience at every weight, the Bears are looking forward to one of their finest seasons in recent years.

Two MAC Champs

A turnout of some thirty candidates reported for the first scheduled practice last Monday. Heading the list of returnees are co-captains Ed Dawkins, 123 pound Middle Atlantic champ from Upper Darby, Al Paolone, 130-pounder from Drexel Hill, Pa. Ed is undefeated in three years of wrestling competition in dual meets. He has won the Middle Atlantic crown twice, losing a close decision in his freshman year. Last year he was voted as the most valuable wrestler in the Middle Atlantic tournament held at Gettysburg.

Co-captain Al Paolone, last year's sole captain, will be in his fourth year of varsity wrestling. Al sported a 4-3 record last season and hopes to improve upon that mark this year. Al is a real hustler and a wonderful leader who sets a fine example for the other wrestlers.

The other Middle Atlantic champion on the squad is sophomore Dick Padula who wrestles in the 137-pound slot. Dick was undefeated last year and also undefeated in three years of dual-meet wrestling at Upper Darby High. Once again this year, Dick has his eyes glued on the 137-pound crown.

Two Reading Dutchmen

Reading High School is well represented with sophomore Dutchmen Dick Heydt and Dick Briner. Heydt, wrestling at 167, chalked up a 3-3 season last year and almost walked off with the Middle Atlantic title. Briner, at 147 pounds, hopes to improve upon last year's 2-4 record after gaining some valuable experience.

Veteran George Aucott, a much better wrestler than his 2-5 record indicates, is looking forward to a more prosperous season this year. He is being pressed by freshman Lee Rigler for the 177 berth. Heavyweight is a question mark due to a shoulder injury to Jerry Nunn. Bill Boger and Nunn are leading contenders. In the 157-pound class eight men are competing for a starting berth, with Fred Godshall and Jack Townsend leading the pack.

Gridmen Elect Neborak MVP, 1955 Captain

At a recent election held by the football team, PAUL NEBORAK was chosen to captain the 1955 Ursinus eleven. Paul, a quarterback for three years, was also named Most Valuable Player; he was the team's passing ace and signal caller, and did the punting as well.

Zartman All-Opponent

High scoring soccerman LARRY ZARTMAN was named to the All-Opponent First team by Middle Atlantic Southern titlists Drexel Tech. Zartman, inside left, who countered 14 times to pace the Bakermen to a 7-3 season's log, scored twice against Drexel. The Bears won that one 3-2. Ursinus booters are anxiously awaiting other honors to be bestowed on the talented senior. The consensus among the soccer players is that Zartman should easily fit into the All-Middle Atlantic team, as yet unchosen. It is also believed that the dark-haired, stocky business administration major might possibly be considered for All-America honors.

Dawkins, Cox Honorable Mention

Named to the Drexel All-Opponent honorable mention column were center forward Ed Dawkins and left halfback Gerry Cox. Dawkins scored one goal against Drexel.

Stars of the Week

by Dick Bowman '55

Star of the Week is senior basketball high scorer RALPH SCHUMACHER, stellar court ace who has posted a 24-point-per-game average in three contests. Ralph opened the current campaign with 35 points against National Aggies, then connected for 19 and 18 points on foreign courts at Juniata and Susquehanna on Friday and Saturday, respectively.

Last season Ralph was elected to the first string Middle Atlantic Conference All-star team. Again this year he is recognized as one of the most prolific scoring stars among small eastern college players. His favorite shot is a jump-push shot, a one-hander, from anywhere around the foul circle. Ralph is also a proficient "driver", a jump shot artist, and a hook shot ace (this can be verified by all who saw his famous corner hook against the Aggies).

Heller, Bauser All Phila. 3rd Hockey Team

Ruth Heller, brilliant center halfback, and next year's captain and goalie Ricky Bauser made the All Philadelphia Third Hockey Team which enabled them to go to Ann Arbor, Michigan to play in the National Hockey Tournament over Thanksgiving vacation. Jen Price, former Ursinus goalie and present coach, was selected as All Philadelphia First Team goalie and also went to the tournament.

The first four All Philadelphia teams were eligible to compete for All American positions. Jen was named to the All American reserve squad. Nine players from the Philadelphia area were chosen to be on the All American team.

Susquehanna, Nat. Aggies Bow; Juniata Mars Record by 78-56

by Ralph Schumacher '55

Having captured two of three games during the past week, the Ursinus basketball team tangle with F & M's invading hardwood warriors tomorrow night at the new gym. The Bruins split a week-end brace, downing the Susquehanna Crusaders 80-63 on Saturday afternoon, and bowing to Juniata Indians 78-56 Friday night. National Agricultural College became the Bear's first victim 80-77 last Wednesday.

The loss to Juniata marked the third straight year the Huntington Indians had pulled away in the second half as their superior depth told the story. At the quarter mark the hard fighting Bears trailed only 18-17. Juniata, led by set shooting Jake Handzelak hit on better than 50 percent of the shots while the Bears hit for a respectable 33 percent. Early in the game, Juniata's fast driving attack was stymied by Ursinus' switching man to man defense. However, the Indians slowed down, worked the ball nicely, and pulled away.

The Susquehanna game was an entirely different story as the Bears outran, outjumped, and outfought their weaker opponents. The starting five piled up points at will and played only the first and third quarters. The rest of the game saw the substitutes hold their own to complete the rout, with Ron Owen scoring 14. The Bears could not miss from the foul line where they hit on 32 of 40 shots.

During the road trip all ten men tallied in the well-balanced attack. Leaders for the two games were Ralph Schumacher, 37; Jack Schumacher, 26; and Art Ehlers, 21. Co-captains Gene Harris and Carl Smith, outside men in the Bears' offense, were instrumental in setting up many scores.

Against the National Aggies, the Schumacher brothers teamed up to fire 53 points through the hoop. The contest looked like a rout until the visitors cut a 17-point Bear margin down to 76-75 with one-minute remaining. At that point co-captain Gene Harris dribbled down-court for a game-clinching lay-up and popped in two fouls to make it 80-75. High scorer for the evening was Ralph with 35, while brother Jack bucketed 18 and Harris hit for 14.

This year's UC court aggregation has four of five starters capable of hitting consistent double figures. They are the Schumacher brothers, Harris and Ehlers (who had 14 against highly touted Juniata). Carl Smith, although a deadly shot and drive-in artist, is used mainly as a playmaker and defensive ace.

Westerhoff's Proposed Revisions Passed by MSGA

At a special open meeting of the MSGA on Monday, November 29, Jack Westerhoff presented his plan for revision of present voting procedure at Ursinus to the student body and to the government. His plan plugs many of the loopholes in present procedure and promises to make future elections run very smoothly.

The meeting had been publicized, but only about 60 students were present.

After Mr. Westerhoff's presentation of the new plan, President Al Paolone put the plan to a vote. Many MSGA representatives went out to the dormitories to explain the new plan and to acquire proxy votes. At the final count, the measure became a new rule by a vote of 125 for it and 5 against it. The revisions were printed in the last regular issue of the Weekly.

 penalized by loss of credit on the first question.
 In order to avoid similar embarrassing situations, students are reminded, and warned, that no books or papers are to be in sight during any examination. It was recommended to the faculty through the Dean of Men that all books and notes be placed in the front of the room, away from the students, during all examinations.
