Rev. Flynn to Speak Tonight

"One God—As Worshipped in the Catholic Faith" will be discussed tonight by the Rev. Dr. Anthony Flynn. Dr. James L. Boswell, professor of Economics, will be the moderator.

Rabbi Harold L. Kramsley, of Norristown, spoke to an attentive audience at the first interfaith seminar last Monday night at 8:00 o'clock in Bomberger chapel. Dr. Allan L. Rice, professor of German, was the moderator of the "One God—As Worshipped in the Jewish Faith" seminar.

Rabbi Kramsley's talk covered the foundations of the Jewish faith and left more specific queries to the audience in the question period. He discussed the history of Jewish people and pointed out the basic similarities between the Christian and Jewish religions. Rabbi Kramsley explained the origin of many Jewish and some Christian ceremonies and stressed the fact that the Jewish relation places strong emphasis on conduct rather than on particular belief in the hereafter. Both Jews and Christians, the Rabbi said, are told to love their God and to love their neighbor as their chief commandments.

In the question period which followed, Rabbi Kramsley was asked about Jewish beliefs concerning marriage, divorce, congregational worship, life after death. He also clarified the three branches of Jewish worshippers — reformed,

Margie Changes from Practice Teaching to Teaching Position

by Jean Hain '56

How would you feel if suddenly you found that you were no longer an Ursinus student but an instructor, and your classmates didn't quite know how formally to address you? This is the situation Marjorie Fretz found herself in last year when she returned to Ursinus as assistant to the late Dr. J. Harold Brownback, Professor of Biology.

Miss Fretz found the transition a hard one to make, but she says, "It's not nearly as hard now that most of my classmates have been graduated."

Miss Fretz completed her college work in three years and received her bachelor's degree in science in 1951. She was requested to return as Dr. Brownback's assistant last year and this year was appointed an instructor in biology. The young scientist is one of 21 persons on the Ursinus faculty who have done their undergraduate work at Ursinus. This is about 40 percent of the total.

At present the young instructor is busily scheduling activities on the activities calendar. Her own schedule includes lecturing, assisting in laboratories, doing office work, helping to schedule students' courses, and taking courses at night for her master's degree which she will receive in June.

This ambitious young lady would like to get her doctor's degree because without it she says, "I'll be sixty before I'm a professor".

Miss Fretz seems to like the atmosphere of books and formaldehyde in which she works at Ursinus. She is certified to teach in the high schools of Pennsylvania, but she prefers to stay with her Alma Mater. The young scientist didn't pursue industrial or laboratory work because she would rather work with students than technicians.

With all of this work to do, it hardly seems possible that Miss Fretz would have time for anything else, but in her spare time she manages to squeeze in a smattering of the fine arts and other arts. Last December was the sixth time she played the clarinet in the orchestra which accompanied the singing of The Messiah. This instructor also enjoys attending the theater and concerts, knitting argyles, painting landscapes, dancing and delving into photography.

The Fretzes have their own dark room at their home in Souderton, Pa.

Miss Fretz is the second of three Fretz girls to attend Ursinus. Her sister Helen was graduated in 1950 and her sister Kay is a freshman this year. Helen and Marjorie both spent their entire stay in Collegeville at Shreiner hall where Kay is now living.

While she was a student at Ursinus, Miss Fretz was president of Alpha Sigma Nu, a permanent Rosicrucian, head of the Intersorority Council, a member of the Canterbury club and a member of the Pre-Medical society in which she is still active.

Students Examine Kimberton Farms Teaching Methods

On Thursday evening, February 12, a small caravan of cars set out for a visit to Kimberton farms. No one knew exactly what to expect, and most of us thought we were going to visit an ordinary open house evening in a good traditional school. The evening turned out to be an inspiring one for many future teachers and one which will be long remembered.

As we were soon to learn Kimberton farms is no ordinary elementary school, but one unique in every respect. Located in farm country the school is built to blend with the beauty of nature. Beauty and nature were the focal points on which the learning experiences by the school are based. The children under this new philosophy are taught academic subjects for an hour and a half in the morning, and spend the rest of the day in cultural classes such as music, arts and crafts, and physical education. The stimulation of creative ability is the central theme in the teaching. Academic subjects are taught for three week periods and then that particular subject is not taught again for awhile to permit the "sinking in" process. French and science are begun in kindergarten and taught in every grade. The same teacher stays with the class for at least five years. The entire curriculum is an emphasis on beauty. Even the spelling papers are colored. The results have been amazing. The work of the children on display was excellent. Still dubious, we asked how the children adjust themselves to traditional high school. After leaving Kimberton we were told that more of the children who had entered high school were honor students. By this time we were extremely interested in finding out the philosophy of this new type of education. We had the pleasure of attending a thoroughly interesting lecture by Mr. Harwood, a British teacher.

Mr. Harwood gave a fascinating explanation of the "Waldorf" system of education which was founded by Rudolph Steiner and which is popular in Germany and England. The natural rhythmic instincts of the child are used in education. In this manner the creative ability of each child is

Ursinus Men "On the Rocks" As Sirens Comb Their Locks

by Joan Higgins '54

Well, gals, leap year has come to an end and 1953 is well under way, but there remains one chance in the new year for you to turn the tables on the male population of Ursinus. The Lorelei is the answer and its date is February 27 at Sunnybrook.

The WSGA, MSGA, ISC, and IFC have planned an attractive theme of decorations for the Lorelei featuring an old fashioned setting. Music for the occasion will be supplied by Larry Miller. All that is left to do is get a date, create an atrocious corsage and arrive at Sunnybrook at 9:00 p.m.

The Lorelei is a personified rock on the Rhine. The maiden Lorelei sits on the rock combing her long stimulated. The Kimberton Farm school is an excellent illustration of how well the new philosophy can be utilized in practical application. The traditional classroom becomes the environment of exciting experiences for boys and girls.

After the lecture we toured some more and then enjoyed delicious refreshments. We were introduced to Mr. Marene, the founder of the school, and the very gracious principal, Mrs. Kuhrt Wieneke. We were acutely aware that as future teachers we had a challenge to meet. The progressive forms of teaching are being proven far superior and depend entirely on the ingenuity, enthusiasm and ability of every teacher.

tresses and singing so ravishingly that boatmen forget their duty and are drawn on the rock to perish. I don't know what female Ursinus chicken has the magnetic power to drive men "on the rocks," but they do manage the Lorelei. That's the origin of the name, Lorelei, but the origin of this affair on the UC campus is rather vague. One of the February issues of the Weekly in 1930 gave a report of the Lorelei, but no report was found in the '29 issue, so perhaps we can say the female Ursinus trap was set in 1930. It's rather a nice trap, though, wouldn't you say, fellows?

This year begins something new with the traditional Lorelei dance. It's the Lorelei King. The petitions that have been completed are for Rocky Davis, Dan Gianguilio and Harry Toy. May the prettiest boy win!

Drexel Rallies in Last Period to Triumph 62-52

Score Tied at 41 After Three Periods; Gene Harris Tallies Twenty Points

by Roland Dedikind '55

Gene Harris took over where he left off against PMC two weeks ago, but his 20 points were not good enough as Drexel defeated the Bears in the last quarter, 62-52, last Wednesday evening. The Bears played a brilliant game for three periods but suddenly found the basket impregnable for they were only able to connect for five field goals in 18 attempts in the final ten minutes. The hosts took the lead from the start and were never headed until the beginning of the third period.

Many of the onlookers expected a one-sided game when they noticed that the familiar numbers of 77 and 22, of Bob Swett and Andy Carter respectively, were absent when Ursinus took their warm-up drills. As soon as the opening whistle sounded, the partisan crowd was pleasantly surprised. Herb Knull led off with a quick basket and Walker dropped in a foul for Drexel. Ralph Schumacher's push shot from the right corner and Gene Harris' set gave the hosts an 8-4 lead, and they maintained the four point lead until the end of the quarter.

The floating zone employed by both teams took its toll on the scoring in the next period. Only 15 points were scored in the ten minutes, seven by the home team. After Gene Harris missed two foul tries to open the quarter, the visitors pulled up to a 21-21 tie on two fine set shots by Jones and Roman's foul shot sandwiched around Burny Eddy's jump shot. Before the quarter was over, Eddy's foul shot and lay-up and Harris's jump goal gave the Bears the lead, 26-23, as the half ended.

When play resumed, Drexel made a supreme effort to gain the lead. They held the lead briefly until goals by Eddy and Knull knotted the score at 30-30. Drexel's Walker tied the score for the fourth and last time as the quarter ended, 41-41.

The Bears had been playing superbly up until now. They were holding their own in rebounds and percentage of shots made. Sparked by Gene Harris, Ursinus had put on a fine, aggressive show. Burny Eddy was doing a magnificent job under the boards. Suddenly without warning the hosts' attack stalled. Carl Smith's foul shot gave the Bears a short-lived lead to open the fateful fourth period. Goals by Jones, Roman, Walker, and Seidel put Drexel ahead, 49-42, and after Schumacher's goal, seven more straight points added to Drexel's lead. All the Bears could muster up was a flurry of six consecutive markers with 2:15 to go in the game. A freeze by the visitors ended the jinx quarter.

The whole Ursinus team had only nine tries from the foul line as opposed to 28 for the visitors, 16 made good. The hosts also took 76 shots for baskets to Drexel's 52. Rebounds told the story of the game. The Bears snagged 23, most of them in the first half, to the visitors 39. Promiso grabbed 12 and Walker 10 for Drexel. Eddy led the losers with seven.

Belles Topple Garnet 42-24

by Kay Hood '54

Once again the girls' basketball team came home victorious when they beat Swarthmore 42-24 last Monday. Starting forwards Joan Hitchner and Jo Kuhn scored ten points in the first quarter. In the second quarter Ruth Heller, Liz Mason, and Jo Friedlin came in to score sixteen points more. Ruth Heller led the scoring during this period by tallying twelve points. Jo Friedlin set up several shots for Ruth by some neat handoffs.

In the third quarter Jo Kuhn, high scorer for the day with a total of eighteen points, tallied Ursinus' lone six points for this period with three field goals. In the last quarter Hitchner, Heller, Kuhn, and Friedlin divided the scoring between them.

Marj. Merrifield sparked the play defensively for the local belles. She, along with the other starting guards, Sal Parent and Adele Boyd, did a nice job of lightening the lid on any Swarthmore attempts at rallying. During the third quarter of the varsity game Edie Seifert, Ellie Unger, and Marj Abrahamson came in and held Swarthmore's scoring down to only four field goals.

The Ursinus jayvees also turned up with a victory by defeating Swarthmore's jayvees 36-18. Jen Price, at long last reaching the peak of her athletic career, was high scorer in this nightcap and rang up fifteen points.

Grapplers Edged Out by Fords in Last Bout 18-15

by Dick Bowman '55

One second away from a tie and one bout away from victory! That was the story behind Ursinus' 18-15 loss to Haverford, the third team loss in five matches.

George Aucott came within one second of a victory by holding 59 seconds time advantage in the 167 pound bout, and "Rocky" Davis was unable to snap a 15-15 team tie in favor of the Bears, losing 10-2 to Haverford's fast and classy Jack Strotbeck. Aucott's bout with Fordian Jim Baker was declared a draw, although the newcomer from Bearville seemed to be the master all the way, just missing a near fall in the third period.

The brilliant Ed Dawkins, perhaps the finest wrestler in the Middle Atlantic, upended Haverford's captain Harry Bair in 4:10, to remain unbeaten and unthreatened in five bouts. "The Little Atom" has pinned four of five opponents, the only person to escape this fate being Swarthmore's Jim Laws, who has never been pinned in intercollegiate competition.

After Ursinus forfeited the 130 pound class to the Ford's Hugh Sangree, Al Paolone notched his third straight win with an impressive 6-2 decision over 137 pounder Jim Johnson of Haverford. "The Bear" thoroughly worked over his lanky opponent and was never in trouble, almost pinning his victim in the third frame.

In the 147 pound class Bob Guth came out on the short end of a 4-0 score, following a rolling nine-minute scramble with Haverford's Lou Miller. Two points were awarded to Miller for a first period take down, and the only other two points were for time advantage.

Wrestling his most impressive bout of the current season, captain Dick Gellman rolled and pinned Bob Matteson in 4:59. Gellman had to overcome a first period eye injury which stopped the match for several minutes.

In the 177 pound class the Grizzly's Nick Chapis showed keen aggressiveness, but became the victim of Ned Hollingsworth's half-nelson body press in 5:39. What Chapis lacks in experience he makes up for in determination and fight; this was only the second interscholastic bout of his life, so he should go places.

Dawkins Wins But Bears Drop 21-5 Match to Bucks

Losing Streak Continues as Fords Hold Off Desperation Rally

by Dick Bowman '55

Ursinus started off on the right foot against the matmen from Bucknell, but once past the 123 pound class the Bruins were unable to conquer. That's the story behind the 21-5 drubbing which gave the Grizzly grapplers their third straight loss and fourth defeat in six contests. All the bouts were close, but Bucknell decisions—seven of them to be exact—made the difference.

The inimitable Ed Dawkins finished his day's work in 1:31 at the expense of George Sylvester to put the Bruins five points to the good, but that was the last local win of the afternoon. The mighty 123 pound ace from Bearville is a six-time winner, five by falls. As desirable as this may seem, Dawkins faces one drawback—he has no competition until he reaches the Middle Atlantic championships. This accounted for his loss to Don Woods of Gettysburg in last year's finals. Dawkins had only gone the route once and was not in shape to wrestle a tough opponent for nine minutes.

Ursinus lost some close bouts to some outstanding competition. Rocky Davis spotted his man 35 pounds and lost 2-1 to Ron Lloyd, Bucknell heavyweight, who tipped the scales at 230 pounds. The gigantic up-stater proved too much bulk for the lighter but aggressive Davis. In the 167 pound class George Aucott lost a 3-0 heartbreaker to undefeated Don Kelso, who has six victories on his string. The visitor combined an early take-down and a second period neutral to cop the win. Al Paolone faced the toughest of the Orange and Blue grapplers and came off the mats a 5-3 loser to Middle Atlantic runner-up Bart Capellini whose three minutes riding time broke a 3-3 tie. Paolone went down to 130 for the bout. Bucknell played a smart move by sending Capellini down to tangle with the scrappy sophomore, for the Bruins had forfeited the last two bouts at that weight due to the illness of veteran Paul McCleary who has the flu.

Wrestling his most impressive bout of the current campaign, Bob Guth fought fast and furiously but dropped a 9-6 decision to 137 pounder Ray Cunningham of Bucknell. The match was a nip-and-tuck free scoring, rolling, twisting affair which saw the score change six times. Riding time increased the final tally from 7-6 to 9-6. One notch higher at 147 pounds, Howard Roberts lost an endurance test to veteran Carl Miller of Bucknell. Roberts looked strong in the first two periods and showed the fans some clever wrestling, not to mention some humorous clowning. But inactivity brought about by temporary ineligibility told the tale, and Roberts was just not in good enough shape to maintain the fast pace at which he started. Net result: 7-4, Bucknell.

Captain Dick Gellman lost 6-4 despite the fact that he had riding time. His opponent, 157-pounder, Bob Davinport, combined agility and spurt-like drives to notch the win. In the 177 pound class beginner Fred Godshall worked hard but was vanquished 8-3 by the experienced Fred Gehring of Bucknell. Godshall's determination and guts brought ovations from the on-lookers when he bridged and fought his way out of what looked like a sure pin-hold in the second period. With a little more experience to go with his tremendous strength and determined spirit, Godshall should really develop into a top-flight contender for Middle Atlantic honors.

Blood Disease Sidelines Swett

by Dick Bowman '55

What is wrong with basketball captain Bob Swett? When the big man fails to produce those needed points and can't seem to grab his share of rebounds, the rumors usually fly thick and fast. Everybody has the "inside" and thinks he knows the answer. The real answer was learned this week when a doctor's report showed that the towering pivot man and scoring mainstay is suffering from a blood disorder, somewhat resembling a minor form of leukemia. The big center has seemed to lack endurance and has been weak as a kitten for the past several weeks. Things came to a head in practice last week when Bob ran up the court, half way back, and collapsed. Coach Harry Spangler was quite concerned and ordered his captain to see a physician. Dr. Platte, school physician, was called and he diagnosed the ailment as a blood disorder, and one that has been at work for some time. Swett is now taking iron pills and other medicines to try and restore his strength. It is feared that he might be out for the remainder of the season.

When Coach Spangler was asked about Swett's value to the team he answered, "We sure do miss him. A team can't lose a man who scores thirty points a game and not feel it. The boys have been playing their best, and Bernie Eddy has been doing an outstanding job of filling in, but nevertheless that big scoring punch is missing. Our whole offense has had to be changed."

Let's not forget that Bob Swett was at one time leading the Philadelphia area with 29.3 points per game average, surpassing even All-American Ernie Beck. Now he may never again tread the hardwoods for Ursinus college. Illness has stricken an individual and a team. Maybe next time the rumormongers will not be so quick to criticize and will look deeper for the true answers.

Ed. Note:- Due to the alertness of Dick Bowman, the above story is being printed for the information of many who up until now did not know the true and underlying reason for Bob Swett's absence in the Ursinus line-up.

I, and I'm sure everyone else that knows Bob, am taking this opportunity to congratulate him on a fine season and extend hopes for a speedy and complete recovery.

—Ted Wenner

Wednesday in the T-G gym the Belles face another strong Catholic squad when Rosemont invades the local court to try to snap the Belles winning streak. Then Saturday Wagner visits the Ursinus campus for an encounter with the varsity.

Haverford Edges Bears 81-77 Despite Late Surge

by Dick Guldin '55

Continuing an embarrassing losing streak, the Ursinus Bears showed good examples of well knit plays against Haverford Saturday night, but fell prey to the Fords second quarter surge and finally lost by an 81-77 count.

Scoring began when Burnett Eddy swished the nets with a one-hander. Herb Knoll and Ralph Schumacher combined to add eight more points to the Ursinus score in the first period. Although leading by a score of 13-10, Ursinus fell completely apart in the second quarter as the Fordmen sliced the visitor's defense for 27 points. Herbie Knoll led the scoring attack in the second quarter with six points.

In the third period Ralph Schumacher and Burnett Eddy shone as they scored 15 of the team's total of 22 for the quarter. But misfortune struck when Herb Knoll committed his fifth personal in the third quarter.

Despite a few jostlings by Haverford defenders, Burnett Eddy continued to add to his high-scoring efforts during the period.

In the final period, the Fordmen faced a determined and dangerous five as the Bears singled the nets for a very convincing 27 points. Thirteen of the twenty-seven points were made from the foul line. The Fords were desperate to keep their precious lead and tried anything to slow the fast tempo of the Bearmen.

New hope surged through the Bear rooters as the local players pushed to within two points of the hosts with only thirty seconds remaining, but two foul shots shot the lead out of the visitor's grasp.

for 13 points in their last surge of the game.

Adele Boyd was forced to leave the game at the start of the last quarter with an injured ankle. She was replaced by aggressive Eddie Seifert. Near the close of the period Sal Parent sustained a cramp in her leg, but remained in the game after a short rest period.

With only a short time to go, Ursinus' Joan Hitchner, Ruth Heller, and Jo Freidlin controlled the ball after icing the game with two field goals and a free shot. Several times violations gave the ball to Immaculata, but the alert guards regained possession. The opponent did break through for two field goals in the period and two Ursinus fouls offered them two points on foul tosses.

But Jo Freidlin and Joan Hitchner added six points on floor shots and two on free throws and the Belles won the thriller, 42-38.

Mermaids Dunk Drexel; Lose to Powerful Garnet

The Ursinus Mermaids captured their first victory Tuesday under the tutelage of their new coach, Sis Bosler, when they defeated Drexel at the Norristown YWCA by a score of 36-21. Several newcomers were in the Ursinus line-up, among them some promising freshmen. Several jayvee events were run off also, though Ursinus came out on the short end when the score was tabulated—Drexel jayvees 20, Ursinus jayvees 18.

The first few events were all close contests and the score was tied before Ursinus took a definite lead after Joans Leet and Strode took first and second in the diving contest. At the end of the first 3 races, the mermaids were ahead by only one point, 14-13.

Co-captains Joan C. Jones and Sallie W. Lumis won in their respective events and also helped to add the 2 relays to the winning column. Bev Syvertsen, who has been fighting off the "flu bug", took a close third in the freestyle race and helped the winning freestyle relay, but she was unable to place in the breaststroke event.

Swimming in her first meet for Ursinus, Ginny Stecker placed second in the backstroke event. With a little more experience, she will be a threat to future opponents. The freestyle and medley relays were taken with Ursinus well out in front in both events.

With a difference of only a fraction of a point, Joan Leet out-pointed teammate Joan Strode, giving Ursinus the two top places in the diving event. Miss Howe from Drexel was close behind in third place.

Thursday the Ursinus mermaids came up against their toughest opposition when they met Swarthmore. The rivals proved to be too strong as they won by a score of 41-16.

Captain Sallie Lumis was barely beaten out of first place in the 50 yard freestyle by .5 second as Elliot of Swarthmore took first place with a time of 32.3 seconds. In the 50 yard backstroke Ginny Stecker was the sole entree for Ursinus and took third place. Bev Syvertsen and Jane Skinner respectively took second and third places in the 50 yard breaststroke event. Both Ursinus' freestyle relay team and medley relay team took second place.

In diving little Joan Leet took third place for Ursinus to score another point for her team.
