Petitions for May Queen to Start Feb. 2

Petitioning for candidates for the roles of May queen and manager will begin on February 2 and continue until February 9. To avoid duplication, petitions must be checked at the office of the Dean of Women before being circulated. When completed, petitions should be given to either Miss Camilla B. Stahr or Jean Ostermayer, chairman of the Central Nominating committee.

Any woman student may start a petition, on which she must get fifty signatures. Each girl may sign only one petition for queen and one for manager. Elections for queen, manager and attendants will be held during the week following completion of the petitions.

The May queen will reign over the pageant on May 9, attended by two representatives of each class. Attendants are nominated and elected by the girls of each class at elections conducted by the Central Nominating committee. The manager will be responsible for the production of the May pageant. Mrs. Connie Warren Poley will act as faculty adviser.

All women students at Ursinus will have an opportunity to participate in May day as members of the dance groups and committees. The Central Nominating committee urges all girls to consider carefully the selection of queen and manager and to start petitions for their choices immediately after semester vacation.

Members of the Central Nominating committee are Jean Ostermayer '53 chairman, Sara Parent '53, Helen Lightfoot '53, Jo Friedlin '54, Joan Strode '54, Kathy Wagner '54, Sue Sadler '55, Gwen Hockenbury '55, and Mary Gillespie '55.

The deadline for the handing in of May Day pageants has been set for Wednesday, February 25. This date was set at a meeting on January 8 by the committee on May day consisting of Miss Camilla B. Stahr, Miss Mildred Morris, Mrs. Connie W. Poley, Jane Gulick '53, and Ila-Jane Lynn '53. The date of May day was confirmed as May 9.

As has been their custom, the

Lucas, Scott Join Cast of Alpha Psi

Initiation of new members was held last night by the Ursinus chapter of the national dramatic fraternity Alpha Psi Omega, Delta Tau cast. The initiation took place in Bomberger hall, after which a reception was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. D. L. Helferich. Carol Lucas '53 and Jim Scott '53 were accepted as members of the cast and H. Lloyd Jones, Jr., was made an honorary member.

The people chosen for Alpha Psi membership must have a well-rounded background of experience in all phases of play production. This includes directing, appearing on the stage, and participation in backstage committee work. New members are chosen, by the cast, with these qualifications in mind.

Pettit Discovers Fire In Bomberger Chapel

A small blaze which might have resulted in a serious and costly fire was discovered by William Pettit, the Registrar, on Tuesday at approximately 10 a.m., in the chapel choir robe room.

Mr. Pettit, accompanied by several others, smelled smoke and started to investigate. He noticed it particularly around the robe room, and when Barbara Koch '55 opened the door, smoke billowed out from two robes smoldering on the floor. Mr. Pettit immediately stamped out the fire, preventing any further damage.

Later Mr. Pettit and Geoffrey Dolman searched the room for cigarette butts and, finding none, decided with Dr. William F. Philip that the blaze had started from a gown which had been hung over a lighted electric bulb.

Over 200 People Hear Earle Spicer Sing Ballads Wed.

Mr. Earle Spicer, noted ballad singer and entertainer, delighted an Ursinus audience of more than two hundred students last Wednesday night with a program of traditional English ballads, excerpts from Shakespeare and Gilbert and Sullivan, and American folk songs. Mr. Spicer prefaced his first numbers with short explanations of the background and development of folk songs and ballads. As he explained, the narrator of the ballad never injects his personal feelings into the story but folk songs, on the other hand, are highly personal. To illustrate this he sang two contrasting songs — "Barbara Allen" and "Because I Were Shy".

One of the numbers that met with the greatest success was a parody on "When I Was a Lad" from H.M.S. Pinafore. Instead of telling of his success in the navy the singer describes his huge success in institutions of higher learning due to his apple polishing and ends by giving this advice:

"Stick close by your professors and follow after me
And you'll all be wearers of the Phi Beta key"

The singer's evident pleasure in his work added greatly to the enjoyment of the audience. His enthusiasm and exuberant wit were most welcome. The program ran considerably overtime but the audience was reluctant to leave and Mr. Spicer was generous enough to grant many encores.

Library Has New Collection of Great Books of Western World

The library has recently added Great Books of the Western World to its reference shelves. This set of books includes 100 or more books which are considered to be the greatest of western civilization.

The purpose of the Great Books of the Western World is its use as a guide to living in the twentieth century. Since the individual of our time is so specialized and his knowledge restricted to his specific field, it was felt that there was a need for the further liberal education of adults. This further education is to be brought about by the

CAMPUS CHEST TOTAL IS $955.23

The total amount of money collected during the Campus Chest drive was $955.23. $720 of this money was collected from the students in person to person solicitations. The rest of the sum was received from the following: the Student Faculty show, $154.23; Y Workday, $46.00; and the record dance $35.00.

Y Commission Holds Vespers

Traveling to Albright college in Reading, the Student Worship commission of the YM-YWCA offered an exchange vesper service last evening. The topic Stop Kidding Yourself was given by speaker Jack Westerhoff '55. A special vocal solo was rendered by Dottie Schulz '54. Ethel Lutz '55, chairman of the music committee accompanied Dottie. The participants were accompanied by several other Y members. It is expected that Albright will lead an exchange service here at Ursinus next semester.

On the local scene Betsy Ault '55 led the vespers in which Olin Evans '55 was the speaker. Next Sunday Dr. Calvin D. Yost, an advisor for the Student Worship commission will be the speaker. Jim Bright '53, co-chairman of the commission, will lead and Howie Roberts '53 will sing The Lord's Prayer. Everyone is particularly invited to take a break from exams and attend this last vesper service of the semester.

Some coming Y events of next semester are a visit to Schwenkfelder church, February 8; the Y dinner, February 11; and a Seminar on the Three Faiths, February 16 and 23 and March 2.

Frosh Class Discusses Plans; Sets Tentative Dance Date

The tentative date of April 10 was selected last week by the freshman class executive committee for the Frosh dance. The dance, which is given every year by the members of the incoming class, will be held in the T-G gym. Committees, a band, and a theme will be selected at some future meeting.

Also decided at last week's meeting were plans for a freshman class party or an informal dance open to the entire student body sometime during second semester.

CHEM GROUP TO HEAR SPEECH

The Beardwood Chemical society will present Mr. Austin G. Edison who will talk on nylon Monday, Jan. 12, at 7:15 in S12. Mr. Edison is from the E. I. duPont de Nemours and company.

Turkish Speaker Addresses Classes Tuesday Morning

Mr. Nezh Manyas, assistant director of Turkey's information office in New York, addressed a group of political science and economics students in a special class session last Tuesday.

Mr. Manyas emphasized his nation's boldness and determination to aid our cause despite intimidation by her northern neighbor, Soviet Russia. He said that, despite the Russian threat along Turkey's 360 mile land frontier and in the Black Sea, the Turks are mentally and militarily prepared.

Turkey has one of the largest armies in NATO, the speaker pointed out. A country of 20 million people, Turkey has 5000 men fighting in Korea. These troops have been highly praised for their bravery, Mr. Manyas said.

He continued by saying that traditional mistrust of Russia characterizes Turkish dealings with the present Soviet government. Since establishment in 1923 the Turk government has outlawed communism. Those suspected of subversive activity are dealt with severely and given capital punishment.

Mr. Manyas said the Turks are well educated by a system that provides unlimited education to those who are qualified. All young Turkish men are subject to 24 months of military training. College students are given a chance to complete military service upon completion of their education, the speaker said.

Frats Hold Meetings, Set Date for Dances

Since returning from Christmas vacation, most of the fraternities on campus have had meetings to discuss plans for second-semester. Beta Sigs have decided on May 24 for their dinner-dance to be held at the Reading Country club, and the Sigma Rhos have tentatively chosen May 1 as their dinner-dance date. Apes will hold a meeting Tuesday night, January 13, at 7:00 in Bomberger, Beta Sigs will have a meeting at 10:30 on Monday, January 12, in the Freeland reception room, and Delta Pi will hold meetings on the first and third Tuesdays in February.

MOVIE TO BE SHOWN IN S-12

The movie, The Ghost of Mrs. Muir, will be shown this Friday evening at 6:20 in S-12. The movie stars Rex Harrison as the dead sea captain who returns to haunt his former house—a mixture of comedy and mystery.

11 Students To Graduate This January

This year eleven Ursinus students will be graduating in January after exams. These students are: Bruce Anderson, Fred Baas, Lois Carbaugh, Edwin Chantler, Harry Feulner, Carl Hedstrom, Mary Lou Henry, Ivan Leaman Jr., Roy North Jr., Joseph Phillips, and Joseph Totino.

The activities of each show a varied interest in Ursinus affairs. Mr. Anderson, a chemistry major, served on Men's Student council, was treasurer of Demas fraternity and is a member of the Beardwood Chemical society.

Mr. Baas, a business administration major, is a member of both the French and German clubs.

Miss Carbaugh, a German major was a member of the band, sang in the Messiah, worked on the Weekly, belonged to both the German club and IRC, and is a member of Omega Chi sorority.

Mr. Feulner, also in business administration, plays football and runs for the track team. He also was a member of the Men's Student government, Curtain club, Varsity club, Cub and Key, Business Administration club, and the APE fraternity, plus serving as sophomore class president and freshman class treasurer.

Mr. Chantler, another business administration-economics major, is on the basketball squad and a member of Demas, the Business Administration club and the Varsity club.

Mr. Hedstrom, a social studies-

Ruby Wants Snaps Brought to Hobson

Anyone having snapshots he would like to have printed in the Ruby is asked to bring them to Hobson hall. Bring the pictures in an envelope and enclose the name of the owner on a separate slip of paper. Do not write on the backs of the pictures if you have not already done so, as these marks may show on the finished copy.

Orders for the Ruby must be placed before the end of February. There will be no reduced rates at the end of the term, and no extra copies will be printed for the benefit of those who did not order before the deadline. A deposit of $2.00 must accompany each order.

New Rules Regulate Use Of Alumni Office Machines

Students who wish to use the machines or the alumni files in room 13 should do so only when Mrs. Wagner or Jean Austin is on duty, during the following hours:

Monday, Wednesday, Friday—9-11 a.m.; Monday and Wednesday—2-4 p.m.; Tuesday and Thurs.—9-12 a.m.; Friday afternoon on special request.

Students should sign up in the book on the door of room 13, stating what machine they want to use and how many copies they are going to make.

AMIDST THE MADDING CROWD

Goodbye H.S.T.

by Richard Richter '53

Nearly eight years ago a capricious Hand gently seized Harry the Irascible by the neck and set him, kicking and cursing, into the middle of a violent tempest. And the Hand commanded, "Control this storm!" For a moment Harry cringed, and his whole life whirled before his weak eyes—his piano, his Independence, his oh-never-to-be forgotten cronies, his necktie store.

Sense of History

But Harry had a sense of history, and he realized that this was his chance to become a heroic part of it. So, lowering his brow, he resolved: "I will do what is right and control this storm. I will be famous forever." And Harry began doing the "right" thing. He remembered all his old friends and invited them to help him. He battled against those irritable S. O. B.'s on Capitol Hill. He spoke what he thought was right whenever he felt the urge, whatever the consequences might be. And for seven long years he made sure that his people knew that he was doing the right thing.

And now Harry is abdicating, confident of greatness, confident he has won his historical pedestal. He will no doubt live out his life completely unaware that he has been one of the most buffoonish, tactless, partisan, irritating little pettifoggers that the American people ever suffered to crawl upon the surface of the White House stairs. "A boner a week" . . . that might yet be Harry's claim to fame.

The Right Thing

Yes, he was a little, narrow man. But let's pay him his due. Even ignorant men accidentally do the right thing sometimes. And Harry was one of them. If he could do one thing, he could stand unflinchingly for what he thought was right—fortunately. With unthinking obstinacy he stood up for NATO, Point Four, ECA and such things. It's certain that the triumph of internationalism was assured by this obstinate little fellow standing thick-skinned and unfeeling in the tossing tempest—the perverse irony of which is that this might win him his gilded pedestal in history after all.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

December 18, 1952

Dear Editor:

I just received nine copies of the Weekly and were they welcome. I don't think the student body realizes how much we alumni like to keep our eye on the pulse of things back at school. And the thing that really gave us a shot in the arm was to see the job the Spirit Committee is doing. When we started the committee back in '49 we had hopes that it just wouldn't be a fly by night affair. And through the leadership of men like Bob Armstrong it gives us a nice feeling to see that our baby is growing up. It's pretty tough going to a school where winning teams aren't the everyday episode. But it is gratifying to know that guys are willing to put their time into something which they play for the love of playing. And the thing that keeps them going is your support. I think the rooters must get discouraged sometimes also when it seems like you're the only one cheering. And that's why I'm writing to tell you that we are behind you and waiting with plenty of support. Don't be afraid to ask us for it because we're in love with the Red, Old Gold and Black because it is the kind of place that grows on you.

Never get the idea that school spirit is "rah rah". It takes guts to get up and shout and do things you wouldn't do except in a ball game. And that is pride in your school. And you are the ones who make the school what it is. Our congratulations to all of you who made possible what we feel was a winning season even in defeat. And a special pat on the back for Spirit Committee president Bob Armstrong.

Bearly yours, The '51 Spirit Committee

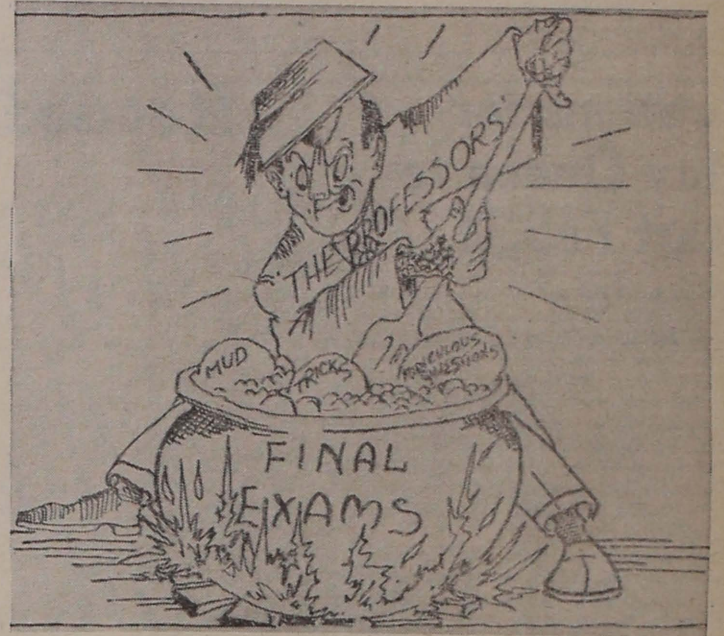

To the Editor:

Many thanks for the cooperation, hard work, and individual effort by so many students which made this year's performance of The Messiah the most successful one in its fifteen-year history here at Ursinus.

Sincerely, Dr. William Philip and the Ursinus College Music Club

WHITEY'S WIT

by Bill Wright '55

"Double, double, toil and trouble; Fire, burn; and, caldron, bubble!"

By the Way

by Evelyn Scharf '53

We're back from the hectic holidays to face the specter of finals, while our ex-practice teachers lol in the dorms catching up on their knitting and magazine installments. Rather depressing—and so tempting to help them kill time!

Ursinus really racked up a winning week-end, what with the basketball, wrestling, and girls' basketball teams bringing in the laurels. And special recognition is obviously due Herbie Knoll for his sparking court work in setting a new school record for individual scoring in a game with a rousing 46 points.

The test of a cast-iron stomach these days—combine a liberal portion of shrimp with coke and lemonade. There were a few survivors of this self-imposed ordeal, we hasten to add.

We've always wondered somewhat about how Beaver girls compare with the home-grown Ursinus variety. But now we understand there are a few Ursinus males who are qualified to expound on the subject. Stimulating intellectual company, we're sure.

Room 7 of Shreiner is the location of a very special chair. As a matter of fact, its owners are conferring on the possibility of imposing a fee for its use before popular use wears it out.

We're convinced that the company sponsoring the ad on page five must be laboring under the misapprehension that Ursinus is a strictly female institution. But then, what more practical gift than a sunburst long-haired fur muff with matching collar and hat, boys, as a small token of your admiration for your favorite coed or coeds. (Just be careful you don't wind up in debtor's prison).

If you see a haggard fellow with 5-o'clock stubble in the supply, don't become alarmed—it's only a new father. Incidentally, he had a character sketch to do on George Washington, the Father of our country. Umm . . . no, we guess there's really no connection.

Well, when February 2 rolls around, we'll be minus a few familiar faces at Ursinus. Sincerely, though, we want to wish them all luck. And good luck, also, to everyone in the forthcoming battle of wits!

Navy Offers Future

The Navy—and the country—need young college men to volunteer for the Naval Officer Candidate program. This program affords an opportunity for college men to apply the perseverance and intelligence which earned their college degrees to the challenging task of naval leadership. The requirements are: 1. You must be able to pass the mental and physical requirements set forth by the Navy. You must attain a score of forty in the Navy Officer Qualification test. This examination is given at the Office of Naval Officer Procurement at 13 South 13th Street, Philadelphia, Pa. 2. You must have a baccalaureate degree from an accredited college or university. You may apply four months prior to graduation. Your degree may be in any field, but some special fields may qualify you for a specialist's commission.

As an officer you agree to serve three years on active duty after you receive your commission and five years in the Naval Reserve. If you are inducted by Selective Service you serve two years on active duty and six years in the Army reserve.

Write or apply to Office of Naval Officer Procurement, 13 South 13th street, Philadelphia, for additional information. Write to or ask for D. I. Jacobs Lcdr., Asst. Div. C. NRS/ONOP, Philadelphia.

We will now sing: "She's only a moonshiner's daughter, but with all her faults, I love her still."

EDITORIALS

A NEW YEAR SUGGESTION

The beginning of every year is a good time to look over the events of the past year and make resolutions for the future. It is a good time to consider new projects and new ideas.

One project which we have considered for a long time is the establishment of an art appreciation course at Ursinus. People who graduate from a liberal arts college like this one are supposed to have at least a listening knowledge of English literature, philosophy, history and science. By required courses such as History 1-2 and half a semester of some sort of philosophy, every Ursinus graduate is given an opportunity to get this knowledge. Through courses such as music appreciation and advanced composition, students who are talented in music or writing are given at least an introduction to these fields.

But no opportunities at all are offered for those students who are interested in the fine arts or who would like to be given better critical knowledge of sculpture, painting and architecture. We feel that there is a definite need for a basic survey in art appreciation. There is at least as much of a need for it as there is for a music appreciation or an advanced composition course.

The Innocent at Large

by William Lukens '53

I've had an uncomfortable feeling lately. The cleaning-woman has been giving me the compound eye. She has a reason for it, I suppose. My room is not the neatest place in town; but it is filled with interesting reading material. The cleaning woman doesn't really care about reading, so she goes off in a huff every time I try to explain that I'm not trying to beat the Collier brothers (Leslie and Homer) at collecting trash. But I do have reasons for keeping what annoys her.

There are a few stacks of Time magazines. (Time comes every week.) There is a stack of New Yorkers. (New Yorker comes every week.) There is a stack of Newsweeks, Harpers, Atlantics . . . (which also come fairly often.) It's hard to part with these magazines. How can I be so hard as to condemn a clever and witty "Talk of the Town" to the paper drive? And why throw out a colorful, interesting Time article on Bolivia? And the economic theories of Henry Hazlitt (Newsweek) are just too sound to be tossed away lightly—not to mention the keen observations of Raymond Moley's "Perspective."

But the cleaning-woman still doesn't care. The room's a mess; it must be cleaned; the magazines are a fire hazard; the magazines must go.

It's too bad I can't keep this brilliant array of literature (including ads by Steuben Glass, Hathaway Shirts, and Countess Mara) and live like the Colliers, or like a friend of mine who is over eighty and hates American waste; the result being that he throws nothing away (and the insects know it).

So the cleaning woman wins: the room will be neat, empty, and disgustingly lacklustre. No longer will I have to root through a pile of print to find that clever "easy chair" article by DeVoto; no more frantic searches for that long-forgotten Charles Addams cartoon (while guests wait in the living-room); no more hunting for that straightforward ad by Wamey-Swasey tools on the evils of socialism.

Incidentally, does anyone know where I can rent a spare room? I have some, er . . . things I would like to store.

What are Ex-Student-Teachers Doing with Their 'Free' Time?

by Helen Yost '53

Those of you who have been envying the ex-practice teachers because of their four hours of classes a week better take a closer look around. Do you find these lucky people sleeping soundly till the late morning hours? Have you seen them idling away hour after hour in the Supply Store or the Rec Center? Have you bumped into them celebrating their vacation at the local night spots? Are they restless and disconsolate for want of things to do?

The answer to these questions is a great big hearty, "No". With a few exceptions, the sad truth of the matter is that our future teachers continue to arise at 7 a. m. for breakfast, and now spend the long hours of the day in their rooms or in the library writing term papers. Whether it be history, English, political science or comparative anatomy, our practice teachers have been working as hard as the rest of us. And any inference on our part to the contrary shall be met with stony looks. As is usually the case, the term papers have been pitifully neglected during the semester and are now being written in one frantic week of inspiration.

Some Exceptions

The exceptions must be noted, of course. Two of our phys-edders have been taking advantage of the snow to don their skis. They have been sliding merrily down the slopes of the Valley Forge hills. These same young women have been learning to play squash at a nearby country club. Their description of the game sounds ghastly, but everyone to their own taste, thank goodness. Others have returned from the holidays with their ice skates, but as yet there has been no ice.

Like the other students, the practice teachers have been attending chapel on Tuesdays and Thursdays. They are dubious as to whether their attendance has been recorded, for most of them had no idea where they were supposed to sit.

Thus ends this short report on the secret activities of that notorious group, the practice teachers. The numerous vows they took during their teaching months about the tremendous celebrations they were going to have are all forgotten in the pre-exam excitement. I trust this change in plans will not seriously affect their morale.

The most recent poll taken to determine the main reason why men get up at night brought forth the following vital statistics:

- 10% to raid the ice box.
- 15% to visit the bathroom.
- 75% to go home.

In a kick it's distance, in a cigarette it's taste, and in a rumble seat it's impossible.

"Not if I can help it."

An employer was instructing a new secretary in the duties of her position. Said he: "There are two words I never want you to use in my presence. One of them is 'lousy' and the other is 'Swell.'"

"O.K. boss," said the girl, "What are the words?"

Men are most peculiar. A man who hadn't kissed his wife in five years shot a man who did.

January Graduates Reveal Variety Of Future Plans

by Bob Armstrong '54

Not everyone looks forward to their June graduation. This is for the simple reason that not all students are graduated in that particular month. This month, January, is a very special month for eleven Ursinus students. These privileged students will be leaving "The Fightin' College in the East" to seek either further education, or to seek their chosen career. Some of them will graduate this month because they attended summer school in order to accelerate, and others because they started their education in a Spring term. So that you may become a little better acquainted with these students, a synopsis of their past, present and future has been prepared for you.

Bruce Anderson: Germantown high; chem. major; age 24; vet; married and one child; hobby—photography; will accept a research fellowship at Purdue grad school.

Fred Baas: Bus. ad. major; vet; hobby—music; plans to study in Europe.

Lois Carbaugh: McCoskey high; hobbies—sports, records and knitting; will go to Japan as civilian secretary with the Army.

Edwin Chantler: Frankford high; vet; age 26; undecided as to future plans—something in business field.

Harry Feulner: Bus. ad. major; vet; age 28; married; hobby—National Guard; future in industry.

Carl Hedstrom: Norristown high; pol.-sci. major; vet; hobby—fishing; to enter U. of P. grad school.

Mary Lou Henry: Frankford High; history-social studies major; age 21; hobby—collecting place cards and menus; will teach.

Ivan Leaman: Pottstown high; chem.-bio. major; vet; engaged; hobby—music; hopes to enter dental school.

Roy North: Economics major; day student; will probably go into the business field.

Joseph Totino: Chester high; bio. major; age 21; hobbies—sports, music, and women; accepted at Jefferson Medical school.

Joseph Phillips: Atlantic City high; bus.-ad. major; vet; age 27; hobby—music; will enter industry or insurance.

Resolutions of Eager Frosh Contrast to 'Humble' Senior's

by Maxine Walker '54

"I firmly resolve",
The eager Freshman said,
"To study mighty hard
For a future far ahead."

"I'll avoid all the vices
Of those fools in years above
And I'll not desert my precious books
For things they seem to love."

"Perhaps if I should study hard
I'll get my dearest dream
To be an august member of
The Rosicrucian team."

The wise fool of a sophomore Smiled as he remembered when
He thought of getting "A's" and
"B's"
(He even studied then).

But he could make some firm resolutions
He thought would do some good;
He'd never touch another card
(He really thought he could).

"I'll study hard in chapel
And even sing the hymns,
And I'll look at the professors,
Instead of coeds' limbs."

Thus said the brilliant sophomore,
His resolutions were of worth;
But an overhearing Junior
Could scarce conceal his mirth.

Now Juniors must be respected
For all their years in school;
So it might do well to listen
To a Junior's New Year rule.

"Well first," again he started,
"Well d . . . it, it's to pass!"

"And then there is another"
And he hardly could be heard,
"I'll stay away from Rocco's Oops! that's a dirty word."

"They are my resolutions
I think they're really great
Because if I can keep them
I'll surely graduate."

A Senior staggered over
His eyes were bleak and red
His hands were cut from shuffling cards
And baldness bared his head.

His fingers were stained yellow
From Lady Nicotine
And too many meals at college
Had left him sadly lean.

He spoke, and awe hushed the crowd
A silence almost dead

He bowed his tired, wrinkled, brow,
And humbly, he said,

"My New Year's resolution
May not appeal to you,
I resolve to be no worse a man
Than I was in '52!"

F & M Routs Bears 90-65 With Second Half Splurge

Bob Swett and Ralph Schumacher Pace Attack as Ursinus Suffers Second Defeat; First Half Rally Nullified in Rout

by Dick Bowman '55

Throttled by a decided height advantage the Ursinus Bears played their hearts out and put up a fine showing against F & M—despite the 25-point difference in the final 90-65 score. Out-classed from the start, the Bears overcame an 18-4 deficit to pull ahead 25-23 in the second quarter on Bob Swett's jump shot from the foul circle. However, the Dips pulled ahead to a 37-28 halftime margin and were never seriously threatened after that.

Two offensive stars shone brightly for the Bruins as Big Bob Swett poured in 26 counters and Ralph (Shoes) Schumacher zipped the cords for 25. Swett holds a 29.3 points-per-game average, having tallied 176 markers in six games. Schumacher is second high with 83 points in six games for a 13.8 average. Both boys were sharp in the F & M contest. Swett dropped in hooks and jump shots from the pivot and Schumacher exhibited a whole repertoire of tricks and jump shots. Three of his goals were left handed drive-ins.

For the Diplomats, Dick Dunn with 21, Gus Lovett with 24 and Walt Lenz with 16 paced the victors. Dunn showed a variety of hooks and was a consistent threat. The giant six-foot eight inch Lovett scored mostly from under the basket on lay-ups, while the smooth-working Lenz drove and set for his points. Lenz was by far the coolest player for the winners. His ball handling and boardwork were enjoyable to watch.

Although he only had 1 point, Will Burger played one of the finest all-around games this reporter has ever seen. His quickness and alertness enabled him to steal the ball on numerous occasions, and his board-clearing was superb. Never have I seen such agility exhibited by one man so often in one game. Burger and fellow-playmaker Andy Carter were both important cogs in setting up plays and working the ball into Swett. Not too be forgotten is the performance of Bernie Eddy who played hard, aggressive ball throughout the game and was valuable under both boards.

Ursinus fans who might question Bob Swett's ability against a man his own height had that question answered in the F & M game. The Big Bear completely dominated the scene, especially in the first half, when he forced the visitors to move the giant Lovett out of the pivot. Swett also took the boards against his adversary.

The big reason why the Diplomats jumped to such a big lead was because they worked a fire-house pass down court to a fast break man who could pass off or shoot, once he had the jump on the Grizzly defender.

The Jayvees crumbled after playing brilliant ball for three quarters. The final was 83-63 in favor of the Diplomat's juniors. Paul Neborak was high man for the Little Bruins with 26 while Sanford Brown dropped 14 to take second honors.

Grizzlies Rally to Smother Alumni 96-75 for Fifth

by Roland Dediken '55

With Ralph Schumacher showing the way in the opening quarter, and Bob Swett taking over from there, the Bears tabbed their sixth win in eight starts as they thumbed the visiting Alumni, 96-73, last Wednesday night.

The contest was close all the way until the Bruins opened up with a 34 point spree in the final quarter. The Alumni was ahead only once in the game when Wimberg sank a foul to give the visitors an early 3-2 lead. Bob Swett's jump shot put the Bears in front, but Bronson quickly tied the score with a free throw. Swett's three following conversions provided a lead that the Bears never relinquished. From this point, Ralph Schumacher took charge as he made good on seven of eight tries for field goals for 14 points to give the Bears a 26-16 first period lead.

Carl Smith's foul started a 16 point flurry which swelled the host's lead to 13 markers before halftime. The spectators witnessed a fine display of foul shooting for the Bears did not miss a foul try until the second quarter was half over, and the Alumni missed their first try three minutes later. The final figures showed the Bears made good on 14 of 19 free throws, while the Alumni scored on 21 of 33 attempts.

Two quick lay-ups by the visitors narrowed the score to nine points as the second half began. Goals by Wimberg and Forsythe and a foul by Bronson chopped the Bear lead to six tallies. Minutes later Don Young's jump shot brought the Alumni to within four points, 51-47. Burny Eddy's two set shots sandwiched around Forsythe's hook shot gave the Bears a short lived breathing space. A goal and two fouls narrowed the margin to 55-53. Eddy's foul was matched by Young's, and Bronson dropped a push shot to pull the Alumni to within a point of a tie. However, the Bruins suddenly caught fire as Herb Knoll's two tap-ins gave the hosts a 62-56 lead as the three-quarter mark was reached.

Bob Swett added eight more points to his total, and six other Bears shared the scoring in the final period. It was during the last three minutes of the game that the Alumni astounded the audience by playing with eight men on the floor. Complicated passing, long runs from out of bounds, and ample foul attempts dominated the remainder of the game.

Grapplers Down Swarthmore Team

by Dick Gu'din '55

Starting a fast and promising season, the Ursinus grapplers defeated Swarthmore college 21-13 in thrilling manner last Friday.

To start, 123 pounder Ed Dawkins decisioned Mike Laws without any trouble and Paul McCleary, in the 130 pound class, pinned the Garnet's Phil Hawes in 1:32 to put Ursinus in a lead which they never lost. Al Paolone, 137 lbs., tied his opponent in the ensuing match but lost the decision because of time advantage.

In the 147 lb. class, Howard Roberts continued the Bear's parade by pinning John Strauss of Swarthmore in 1:39 with little difficulty to give Ursinus a 13-3 lead. In the 157 lb. class, Fred Godshall, a first year man, wrestled hard to gain an advantage, but was finally pinned in the second period.

Captain Dick Gellman brought his match into a winning decision for Ursinus by way of a decision. In the following match, George Aucott, another first year man, grappled well but was finally downed.

With the score reading 16-13, Swarthmore's last hope was a win in the heavyweight class, but "Rocky" Davis smartly pinned Ben Beattie to seal the verdict for the Bears.

hit in the third period with four flips by Liz Mason and six by Jo Kuhn as the second-tring guards held Moravian to one field goal and a free throw. Jo also dipped two charity tosses.

Miss Snell reinserted her rested front-liners who promptly went to town in the biggest Ursinus quarter with 21 tallies, by way of two free throws and 11 field goals. Moravian also hit for their most productive period as Jane Cannie sank four field shots and a free flip.

Little Audrey Rittenhouse skillfully raised her scoring total with four field goals and a free throw while Hitch and Jo Friedlin added three deuces apiece.

Herb Knull Tabs Record 46 as Ursinus Routs Fords

by Dick Bowman '55

The final score was not even close at 87-65 in favor of the Grizzly quintet over the Haverford basketweavers. Yet the fans were screaming their heads off throughout the entire last quarter. The object of their enthusiasm was a six-foot forward wearing number 99. His name—Herb Knull. His point total—46. The former school record—38. History was made as the blond-haired dead-eye, playing his first game after receiving a shoulder injury in November, poured twenty-two field goals through the cords. His two foul shots accounted for the remaining points in this tremendous spree of offensive wizardry. Second high for the Bears was sophomore star Ralph (Shoes) Schumacher who tallied 16 points. Schumacher played with an infected foot despite doctor's orders that he remain inactive. His floor play and board work were especially outstanding when one realizes that even walking was an effort.

Ursinus played poorly in the opening minutes, allowing the Fordians to jump to a 7-4 lead. Local shots were going in-and-out like a lid was sealing off field goals. Then Knull drove in for an underhand one-hander and added two fouls to give the Bears a lead which they never lost. The contest was the first league game for the Bears.

The game was a wide open driving contest with both teams dribbling in for lay-ups on numerous occasions. The Fords, paced by the driving of little Wayne Hurtubise and big Bob Feeser, came two points off of tying at 34-32 to end the first half. However, the home five poured it on in the second half and pulled ahead 61-45 at the end of the third quarter. From that point the main interest was in watching the exploits of the unstoppable Mr. Knull.

Although the Fords lost by twenty-two points, they showed some fine offensive play as three men hit double figures; Bob Feeser and Phil D'Arrigo were tied for scoring honors with 15 apiece, while Wayne Hurtubise had 14. Feeser was deadly off the pivot with jump shots and pivot push shots. D'Arrigo exhibited a deadly one hand push shot and a consistent corner set.

For the conquering Bears Will Burger played his usual sterling best as pass interceptor extraordinary and floor man. Bernie Eddy put on a defensive show that awed the fans. The giant junior blocked countless jump shots and showed great adeptness in snaring rebounds. Schumacher repeatedly pumped his deadly one hand push through the hoops for timely field goals. He also dunked several taps. Big Bob Swett was held to ten as the defenders double teamed and sometimes triple teamed him in the pivot. By choking up the pivot the defending Fordians left the corners and the outside wide open. Knull and Schumacher showed them the error of their ways. The visitors spent the entire week practicing how to stop Swett, which they did, but to little avail. Swett's average of 29 points per game suffered, of course. He was replaced for the area scoring lead by Penn's Ernie Beck during the Christmas holidays. But, of course, the big man of the evening was Knull, who scored on practically every shot in the book.

Belles Drub Moravian 75-22; Kuhn Scores 21

A new year, a new team, and a new opponent—but the result was the same Saturday when Coach Eleanor Snell's Belles opened the season against Moravian College for Women of Bethlehem with a smashing victory on the enemy's floor.

The final score was 75-22, accounted for by 34 field goals and seven charity shots.

Leading the scoring parade for the Belles was sophomore Jo Kuhn, using her 5 ft. 10 in. frame to its best advantage during her two quarter stint, as she rang up 21 points.

Jo Friedlin and Audrey Rittenhouse added 16 markers each for second place honors, while Liz Mason had 12; Joan Hitchner, 8; and Ruth Heller, 2.

But, as usual, the Ursinus guards did a remarkable job in holding the Bethlehem girls to only 22 points. It was the tenth out of 11 games in which no opponent has scored more than 25 points on this group.

Captain Sal Parent, Adele Boyd, and Marjorie Merrifield started and played one half of the game and Eddie Seifert, Ellie Unger and Marilyn Freeman thwarted the opponent the other half. All totaled they held Moravian to nine field goals and four free throws.

First quarter totals read 19-5, favor the Belles. Hitch had dipped a two-pointer, Audrey had netted three field goals and a free toss, and Jo Friedlin had added 10 counters via four hits from the field and two from the foul line as the starters salted away a comfortable lead, while their guard mates were holding the foe to two field goals and a penalty throw.

Inserting her second line forwards and guards, Miss Snell aimed for icing the game in the first half. Big Jo Kuhn did most of the scoring in the second stanza with four baskets and a foul toss, while Liz Mason added two deuces and Ruth Heller accounted for one.

At the first half whistle the Belles led by 34-10.

PETITIONS FOR MAY QUEEN

Ursinus circle is offering a prize of $25 for the best pageant. A committee from the Circle chooses the winner. Every girl is eligible to compete. Pageants should be turned in to Miss Stahr's office on or before the above date.

There will be a display of former May Day pageants in the library beginning January 13, so that every girl can see what has been done before. As can be seen by these, there can be a great variety of themes. It has been suggested that the writer keep in mind a single musical composition such as Tchaikowsky's "Sleeping Beauty" ballet suite, or "Swan Lake," which was used two years ago, or a similar composition. This is not a definite requisite, but it would facilitate the production of the pageant.

The committee would like to urge every girl to write a pageant and submit it in order to give the judges a greater variety from which to make their selection.

Locker Room Chatter

One of the most interesting aspects of being attached to an athletic team in any way is being able to be present in the locker room when groups of players are huddled together engaging in conversations that range from sports to almost anything. This column, a new addition to the Weekly, will attempt to bring to you a few such behind the scenes banter, a sort of gossip column if you would call it such.

Of course, now, the big topic of conversation is the torrid battle between Penn's Ernie Beck and Ursinus' Bob Swett for the Philadelphia area scoring crown, last year won by Temple's Bill Milkvy. "Big" Bob and Ernie are both hovering about the 29 points per game average.

There is a much improved ball player as of now. When this particular hardwood man entered into the first game of the year, it took him about two minutes to commit five fouls, but it's been a long time since he's fouled a man lately.

Coach Harry Spangler and his ball club welcomed back the return of sharpshooter Herb Knoll to the lineup. The Bears now have three big scorers and that could mean a little trouble when the league season gets under way. Speaking of the league, the Delaware Blue Hens are apparently the team to beat.

Turning our eye to wrestling, this Wednesday the grapplers clash with Lafayette in the season's first home match. This would be worth your while to attend because the "grunt and groaners" have several outstanding wrestlers. Captain Dick

FRENCH CLUB GIVES MOVIE

The French club, which annually sponsors a French movie, presented the film, Ruy Blas, an adaptation by Jean Cocteau of Victor Hugo's novel of the same name, on Thursday, January 8 in S12. The picture was shown at 4 and 8 p.m. and both showings were well attended.

Gellman, lightweight Ed Dawkins, and heavyweight "Rocky" Davis loom as contenders for Middle Atlantic Conference top honors.
