MSGA Devises Penalty Plan For Cheating

On the Men's Student Government agenda Wednesday night was the cheating problem, the parking problem, the Lorelei, a proposed evaluation of teachers by the students and the campus meals.

A plan for dealing with cheating was decided upon and will be submitted to President Norman E. McClure for approval before it can be published. The plan, if accepted, should completely discourage all cheating on campus.

Students are to be reminded that parking is legal only in areas which are designated for the purpose. All offenders are subject to fines. The first offense will result in a fine of one dollar.

No couples will be admitted to the Lorelei free of charge unless at least one person in each couple is now attending Ursinus. Five Student Council members will be at the door to accept a fee of two dollars for each couple not represented by at least one student.

An evaluation of professors by students, which is held in many other colleges periodically, may be suggested here. No definite plans have as yet been made.

The problem of campus meals was discussed at length. Several plans were discussed. Nothing definite has been decided upon, but it was reported that many students are starting a drive of their own by asking their parents to write their complaints to the college.

Tom Davis '52 presided.

Chemical Society Lists Meeting

There will be an important business meeting of the Beardwood Chemical society Tuesday at 12:30 p.m. in S-312. All members are requested to attend.

Dr. Roy S. Hanslick will be the speaker at the society's next meeting, March 10, at 7:15 p.m. in S-12. Dr. Hanslick is a research chemist at the Wyeth Institute of Applied Biochemistry in Philadelphia, and he will speak on The Chemical Artist at Work. In the talk he will describe how a product evolves through the several stages of its development including the genesis of an idea, laboratory research, development, semi-pilot plan production, commercial production and marketing.

Lorelei Proves Success for Belles

February 29 was a profitable Leap Year day for Ursinus co-eds when the females hooked their men at the annual Lorelei. A colorful setting, enjoyable music, and original corsages were the settings for the turnabout dance at Sunnybrook ballroom.

The affair, sponsored by the Inter-fraternity, Inter-sorority council and the WSGA and MSGA had Woody Leigh and his orchestra to supply the music.

The Lorelei had been long-anticipated by everyone and deep thought and planning went into the designing of the men's corsages. New creations were devised and one saw the men wearing everything from vegetables to cigarettes to argyles as a boutonniere. Originality and gaudiness played a key part in these arrangements.

Y to Present Third Lenten Morning Watch Service

The Y will present the third of the current series of seven Lenten Morning Watch services Wednesday morning at 7:45 in the faculty room of the library.

At the two previous services Jack Westerhof spoke on The Triumphant Entry and Betty Lou Scheirer talked about The Last Supper. The subject for this week's talk by Margaret Hooper will be Christ in the Garden.

Petitions Concerning Student Union Being Circulated

Petitions are being circulated this week to determine whether or not students are willing to donate their $10 breakage fee to the construction of a Student Union in Bomberger basement.

The petitions will be signed by classes, each student putting his name to the petition of his class. In this way it will be determined if enough money can be raised to begin the project. The next step would be to present the idea to the Ursinus board of directors for approval.

'Sari' Committees Begin Work for Spring Musical

Committees to work out the details of the spring operetta, Sari by Emmerich Kalman, have been chosen, and respective committee heads have been announced. The operetta will be held in the T-G gym on Friday and Saturday nights, April 18 and 19.

Charles Summers '52 will be in charge of the publicity and Ken Weisel '53 is chairman of the business committee. In charge of properties is Thelma Mellnick '54, while Roberta Samler '54 heads the costuming group. Ed Abramson '54 is stage manager for the production, Marna Feldt '53 is in charge of programs, Ruth Fiedler '52 is taking care of seating arrangements, and Phyllis Bauman '52 is the Music club's artist for this production.

This week's operetta rehearsals will be held Wednesday and Thursday at 12:30 and at 8:00 Thursday night. All members of the chorus are urged to attend rehearsals promptly.

Soph Hop Planned For Friday Night

Fred Price and his orchestra will provide music for the Dancing Tambourine which will be held in the T-G gym from 8 to 12 p.m. on March 7. Sponsored by the Sophomore class, the dance will feature decorations in the gypsy theme and will be semi-formal.

A special attraction will be the Wheel of Fortune on which the dancers will be able to read their futures. At intermission there will be entertainment provided by Ed Sella, Chloe Oliver, Blair Holley and Marilyn Engleman. Refreshments will be available during the entire evening.

The chief attraction of the dance will be the big surprise, as yet undisclosed. It will be revealed sometime during the dance. Tickets and programs will be available at the Supply store this week.

Profs to Give 'Last Advice' At Y Panel

The Y will present its second Professors' panel Wednesday at 6:45 p.m. in Bomberger chapel. Speakers for the panel are Dr. Helen Garrett, of the Romance languages department; Dr. John Heilemann of the physics department; and Dr. Eugene Miller of the political science department.

The topic for the evening is My Last Bit of Advice to You is - - Chosen from student suggestions placed in boxes located at various points around campus, this topic is interpreted as the last bit of advice these professors would offer if they were never again to be able to speak to the students. All students and faculty members are invited to attend the panel.

Spirit Workers To Reorganize

The Spirit committee will hold a re-organizational meeting tonight at which time plans will be discussed for making the group a stronger and more efficient organization than it has been in the past. The main object of the meeting will be to admit as many new members as possible.

The Spirit committee is the campus organization which tries to create and maintain campus spirit. Some of its functions are as follows: pep rallies, aiding and working with the cheer leaders, bonfires for pre-game rallies, dances, campus decorations for all home games, arranging student tickets for away football games, arranging victory parades and arranging transportation for away games for both students and cheerleaders. These are only a few of the activities that they arrange and plan.

All students, especially freshman, are urged to attend the March 3 meeting. The group is anxious to expand as much as possible. If students are interested but are not able to attend the meeting, which will be held at 6:45, please notify anyone of the following members: Lenny Niesenbaum, Jack Weaver, Jean Ostermayer, Barbara Roeder, Mary Lou Killheffer, Howard Roberts, Frank Kehler or Bob Armstrong.

FTA TO SEE MOVIES

The Future Teachers of America will see two movies dealing with incidents in United States history at their meeting tomorrow night at 6:45 in Pfahler hall. The discussion will center on the problem of how to fit such movies into the course of study. All members of the FTA, as well as all freshmen and sophomores interested in teaching, are urged to attend.

Bauman, Matthews Named Attendants In May Day Court

Senior women elected Phyllis Bauman and Grace Matthews as May Day attendants in an election held Wednesday.

Miss Bauman, who was a candidate for May Queen, is an English major from Bergenfield, N. J. Her college residence is Studio Cottage. Among her activities have been Meistersingers and cheerleader. She is a member of Omega Chi and was a member of the May Day court her Freshman year.

Miss Matthews, from Easton, Pa., is a business administration major. Her activities include the Curtain club and Newman club. She is on the B List and is a member of Rosicrucians and Omega Chi. Her campus residence is Maples hall.

The pageants for May Day, written by members of the student body, have been turned over to the Ursinus Circle, composed of faculty wives and members of the administration, for judging.

Marriage Speaker Gives Warnings

Dr. Maurice Lindon gave his concluding talk at the Marriage Seminar last Wednesday.

The speaker mentioned 11 points to be aware of in choosing a marriage partner and five causes of the breakup of a marriage.

The last marriage seminar has been postponed to Wednesday, March 12, at which the Rev. Robert E. Horne will be the speaker.

Yesterday nearly 16 students enjoyed Sunday dinner at various Collegeville homes. The Y hopes that through this plan, the townspeople will become better acquainted with life at Ursinus.

At a recent meeting of the Political Action Commission, a questionnaire was approved to be sent to approximately 75 colleges similar to Ursinus. The purpose of this questionnaire is to acquire information about democracy at work on the different campuses, their Christian associations, and social attitudes. The Washington trip, to be conducted during spring vacation, was also discussed. The PAC extends an invitation to their meeting to any students interested in studying and furthering the work of democratic procedure on our campus.

Bids from the six Ursinus fraternities were presented to students in the library today.

Each fraternity that did not fill its quota will be allowed to give out alternate bids. Alternate bids are to be given out and signed by Friday, March 14. These bids may be given only to men who were rushed.

The six fraternities and their new members are as follows:

Alpha Phi Epsilon: Bernie Orsini, Bob Schwab, Ted Radomski, Bill Wright, Pete Hottenstein, Jim Bowers.

Beta Sigma Lambda: Jim Sheen, Ed Dawkins, Bill Zimakas, Andre Blanzaco, George Pauff.

Group Plays Set For Production

The second in a series of Curtain club group productions will be presented on March 11, at the Thompson-Gay gymnasium. The duo of one-act plays will consist of Period House, directed by Molly Hall and Ed Abramson and Don't Feed the Animals under the direction of Marna Feldt and Ivy Leaman.

Mr. Donald L. Helfferich does not expect the casting for the spring play, The Philadelphia Story, to be completed until some time next week.

Further casting will be done Tuesday from 7 until 9:30 for all those who are still interested in trying out for the play.

The committee appointed at the last Curtain club meeting to investigate the advisability of purchasing the long-needed cycloramas is at present contacting various yarn concerns and inquiring for price estimates.

Beta Sig Men Give to Bloodmobile En Masse

The Red Cross Bloodmobile, which visited Collegeville Thursday, received between 40 and 50 pints of blood from Ursinus students. The Bloodmobile opened at 1 p.m. and stayed until all 151 donors from the area had given blood. The donations from campus were quite low in comparison with those of previous years. All blood collected will be used for the armed forces in Korea.

The Red Cross committee was impressed by one group of donors. Eighteen of the 22 members of the Beta Sigma Lambda fraternity were present to give their blood. Eleven of the 18 fraternity donors visited the Bloodmobile in a group at three in the afternoon. Approximately half of the blood given by the college was donated by the Beta Sig party.

Fastnacht Party Given In Various Costumes

The French and German clubs combined last Tuesday night to present a Fastnacht Balmasque in the Women's Day study.

Students dressed as Chinese, French, Germans, and Japanese lent an international air to the party. Those not in costume were fined a quarter. On the program for the evening were charades, dancing to French and German records, and a grand march to pick the best costume. Ann Knauer, president of the French club, and Fred Owens, president of the German club, awarded a box of candy to Mrs. Donald Helfferich for the best costume.

Going no Way on a Bus

Does anyone get on a bus when he is not going somewhere? One certainly would not think so; it defies all reason and common sense to do such a thing. Yet a similar act is repeated almost daily here at Ursinus.

I have noticed in my more wide-awake moments while sitting in our week-day chapel services that we have what appears to be a chapel choir. That is, each morning at 8:50 or so, a number of people don long robes and set themselves at one side of the platform in chairs facing the student congregation. Everything is ready, but nothing happens—in the way of choir singing at least. What's more, nothing is expected to happen: neither the organist, the speaker, nor the music director make any allowances for, or show motions indicating expectation of, some music. Yet every chapel time the farce goes on—the robes are donned and the special seats are filled. Every morning a number of people follow a preparatory procedure but have no intent of travel.

I will admit that from the viewpoint of the choir member the position on the platform has its advantages. The view of fellow students is most interesting: someone cramming for a test next period; a few who did not get enough sleep the night before; and an occasional boy-girl relationship developing out of lack of an extra hymn-book. Also, attendance for this particular group is poorly recorded, if at all, making it obviously convenient. But this is relatively unimportant and beside the point, which is: "Are we, or are we not, to have a chapel choir?" Let us dispense with this faltering between preparation and performance, i.e., either carry it through or cut out the silly preparation and superficial structure.

In past years, the function of the chapel choir was to provide a call to worship and a three- or four-fold amen after a prayer. With a very small but consistent amount of practice this can be done in such a way as to add to the beauty and meaning a chapel service could have. It would take very little effort in the part of the choir and its director. The members take the trouble of getting specially dressed in cumbersome robes. The music director attends every service. Yet for some reason, no one seems able to break the lethargy, to get up enough momentum to carry the process a small step further by occasionally learning the harmony of a half-dozen lines of music, and hence bringing the choir out of this long-time farcical and rather hypocritical situation. The only other reasonable alternative is to stop that half-hearted pretense and scatter the choir members among the student congregation in their logical respective places, where they would at least be of some service in aiding the singing of hymns.

AMIDST THE MADDING CROWD

Egyptian Diplomat 'Gagged'

by Richard Richter '53

When Egyptian diplomat Saleh Mahmoud visited here recently and defended his country's position in its dispute with Great Britain, his remarks raised a question or two.

Among other things, he said that Egyptian nationalism has nothing to do with Communism and that the Communists are practically nonexistent in Egypt. Foreign correspondent Morley Cassidy, of the Philadelphia Bulletin, has some interesting remarks on this subject. Cassidy reports that the Communists in Egypt—and in the rest of the Middle East as well—operate unseen; they show themselves only as the standard-bearers of nationalism.

COMMUNISTS INFILTRATE MOVEMENT

Cassidy goes on: "They have infiltrated all sectors of the nationalist movement, from the 'Liberation Battalions' to the Socialist party and . . . Moslem Brotherhood to the student groups in the universities of Cairo and Alexandria." The Communists carry the mobs to "the point of no return"; they denounce any moderate plans; and they have seized control of the still smaller labor organization in Egypt. In short, according to Cassidy, there are Communists in Egypt, and they are mixed up in the nationalist movement.

It is impossible to determine how much truth there is in reporter Cassidy's picture, but it is not unsafe to assume that there is some truth in it. And if there is, diplomat Mahmoud's statement is necessarily fallacious.

PASHAS VERSUS PEONS

There is another consideration with regard to Mr. Mahmoud's talk. He was convinced that, although Egypt has its internal problems, as any nation has, the present Egyptian government would be capable of dealing with them and solving them once the British get out. Satisfy our appetite for nationalism, he seemed to say, and we will wax fat. But he seemed to gloss over the trouble that must inevitably arise from the economic inequality that exists in Egypt—from the conflict between rich pashas and poor peons (proletarians?). Once nationalism is no longer an issue, social unrest will seek another outlet; and that outlet will probably be desire for economic equality—which incidentally happens to be a Communist ideal. Egypt's leading Socialist summed it up this way, according to Morley Cassidy: "First the British, then the pashas."

All this is by no means an attempt to show that Egypt should not be allowed full independence. What it is trying to show, I suppose, is that Mr. Mahmoud was merely an official mouthpiece, and was not at liberty to say what he really knew.

They Say...

by Jonnie Graf '52

We are not extremely bright ourselves, but we know people who are and in some way or other we have become quite attached to the Rosy Crustaceans. We will be sorry to see their appellation other than it is. Hope the new one will be as provocative as the old.

Did you know that living expenses have increased in the past few decades, and that two can only live as cheaply as two? Well, unless you're retarded we expect you have already discovered these amazing facts. But let us be straight forward about this whole thing. The recent Marriage Seminars have been an outstanding disappointment. Students who are seriously making plans for marriage at the present time are quite aware that prices are rising, as is any student. Those who attend the lectures might find exact comparative percentages of price scales and wages in certain localities of interest, but the "glittering generalities" being tossed at them now are useless. It is a shame that the lectures cannot be a real help to the student who is planning marriage. We have the speaker, we have the audience, and we have one of the most important subjects possible. Why waste the entire situation.

You've heard of it raining "cats and dogs"? Well last Thursday at 2:05 it rained ice cream cones" on the east campus.

They say there are new late permissions on probation this semester. We know you've examined them, because we've heard you talking about them. Fact: few campus events other than basketball games (count them on your hand) and plays (there are two) last past 10:30. This rather "nulls and voids" the extent of the new privilege. Real interest seems to lie in the alteration of the late permissions extended on Friday. The major drawback: no available punishment for overstaying time limits and things can be remedied by many intelligent plans. We have heard you suggest such. They have been saying a lot, will anything constructive be accomplished?

All those who violate the campus parking laws will receive a set fine for the said violation. This action will be without discrimination. Is this the law? If it is, why were five faculty cars allowed to park illegally and receive no notice of fine. Those in charge of checking parking violations were quite aware of this particular violation, but did nothing about it. They have been quite active in passing out tickets to student violators. Perhaps they heard "thunder on high"?

The Lorelei — one of the nicest traditions at Ursinus. And we all had a good time too! Marianne, who is famous for forest-like corsages, didn't disappoint us, and Marie J. appeared with a two headed man. Spence and Gem created their intricate corsages out of paper mache and paint, and the entire third floor of Maples is now redecorated with red, white, and purple, and paper mache! They say Joan S. has a record of the entire evening, and did you hear that the APE's . . . ?

And then the snows came. March certainly ought to go out like a lamb this year.

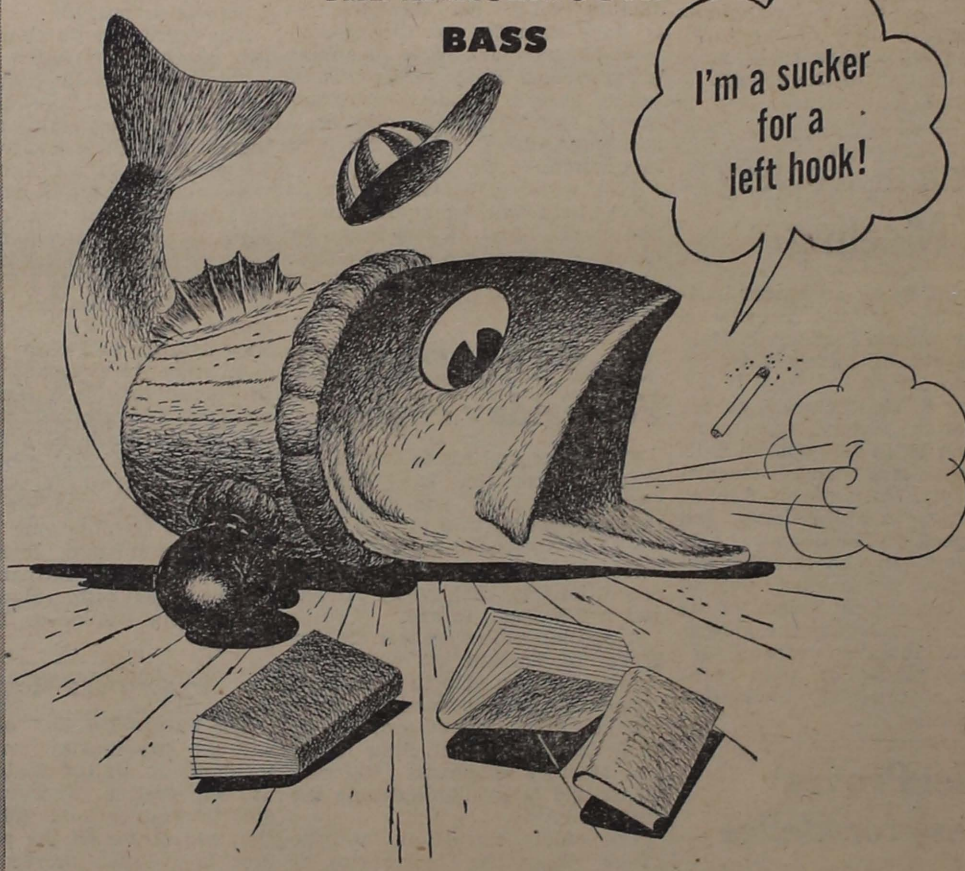

The snowman at Clamer is bigger than the one at Maples, but the girls of Maples claim more personality in theirs. After all, Mr. Jones helped to build it!

Don't forget the Professors Panel this coming Wednesday. They say it's going to be the last word.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 35..

THE LARGEMOUTH BASS

Always a sucker for attractive bait, our aquatic brother went off the deep end and got caught on the quick-trick cigarette hook! But he wormed his way out when he suddenly realized that cigarette mildness can't be tossed off reel lightly. Millions of smokers have found, too, there's only one true test of cigarette mildness.

It's the sensible test—the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why . . .

After all the Mildness Tests . . .

Spencer Tallies Thirty As Belles Triumph 47-23

Marguerite Spencer scored thirty points as the girls' varsity basketball team romped over an exceptionally tall East Stroudsburg squad by 47-23 on Wednesday, February 27 in the T-G gym. Spence tallied eleven markers in the first period and ten in the second while Ursinus defense was holding the opponents to four field goals. Spence and Joan Hitchner hit in the second half to continue in the scoring parade as Adele Boyd, Sara Parent and Marge Merrifield stalled the Stroudsburg offense.

The first quarter was all Spencer as she scored all of Ursinus' points of the 11-4 advantage. With Hitch and Margery Johnston playing an excellent floor game, the tall forward dumped lay-ups and push shots to gain the initial lead. Stroudsburg scored on one field goal and two fouls. In the second period Marge hit on a set attempt and Hitch and Shirley MacKinnon each dropped a lay-up to add to Spence's five field goals for a fifteen point half-time advantage. Only Jane Moffet could hit with any regularity for Stroudsburg as she garnered seven points in the first stanza, which ended at 27-12.

Close guarding and alert interceptions enabled the Ursinus defense to halt the Stroudsburg forwards so they could make only one shot in an excellent third quarter while Spence was flipping two more field goals and a charity shot. Joan Hitchner's hook and Shirley MacKinnon's push dropped for four tallies, and when each of the latter made good on a free throw the Ursinus lead had been increased to twenty-four points.

From the defensive standpoint, the contest was superb. Sal Parent and Adele Boyd manned the backboards completely while little Marge Merrifield roamed the court intercepting passes and exhibiting tricky dribbling and excellent passing. With Sal and Adele's height and Marge's agility, the Ursinus squad has an outstanding defensive combination. Eddie Seifert, Ellie Unger and Marge Abrahamson, second line guards, lack only the starters' height and experience, for they played with as much ease and held the Stroudsburg offense to two field goals in their term of action.

Brodbeck Upset Changes Standing

A 29-27 upset by Brodbeck I over League I leader Curtis I changed the intramural basketball picture considerably. Brodbeck I plays a make-up game with Curtis II to night and must win to avoid a tie and one-game playoff with Curtis I. The Brodbeck I cagers, by scoring a victory, can increase their lead from one-half game to a full game and would then face League II champ Off-campus II for the inter-dorm crown. Off-campus II rolled to the league pinnacle by crushing 724, 72-23 to complete an undefeated season with a record of 6-0. Bill Hedstrom, Paul Jones and Dick Feist registered 17, 18 and 19 points respectively for the winners in ringing up the high point total of the year. Dick Bowman led fourth place 724 with 8 markers.

Hootie Houser and Frank Ferry combined to put Brodbeck I in the League I drivers seat. With the score tied at 27-all, Houser stole the ball and passed to Ferry for the winning markers.

In other League II games, Off-campus I clinched second place by beating Fetterolf 51-41 as Els Faust accounted for 14 for the winners but was outscored by Floyd Fellows with 17 to keep the losers in the game.

Curtis III came up with their first win of the season by beating Derr II 61-33 as Roland Dekekind took scoring honors with 17 points.

In a League I skirmish Freeland defeated Brodbeck III, 49-42, as Al Sare had the high point total of 14 points.

Tank Team Beats Bryn Mawr, 32-25

The Ursinus Mermaids gave their all in the way of speed and talent Wednesday to overcome Bryn Mawr 32-25. The score was close all the way, alternately favoring each team until the final event decided the outcome.

Outstanding in the meet was the diving of Joan Strode and Joan Leet who won top honors in the diving contest and the sprinting of Captain Jean Cilley, freestyle anchor man in the medley.

The medley event went to Bryn Mawr by a margin of a few inches and Ursinus stood 4 points behind their opponents. However, the "Diving Joan's" commanded first and second places to put the girls back in the running with the score at 24-21.

Winning the freestyle relay meant winning the meet, and that's just what Ursinus did. Capt. Jean Cilley gave the quartet a lead on the first leg of the relay which resulted in the victory.

Summary:

- 40 yd. Freestyle—Cilley (U), Hickox (BM), Lumis (U). Time 25.4.
- 40 yd. Backstroke — Lebo (BM), Laidlaw (BM), Kiebler (U). Time 29.8.
- 40 yd. Breaststroke—Compton (U), Harvey (BM), Syvertsen (U). Time 31.6.
- Medley Relay—Bryn Mawr (Laidlaw, Harvey, Stehli), Ursinus (Kiebler, Compton, Cilley). Time 40.3.
- Freestyle Relay—Ursinus (Cilley, Hood, Syvertsen, Lumis), Bryn Mawr (Lebo, Tepper, Hickox, McCullough). Time 1:43.2.

Foul Shots Spell Loss to Bears, 64-63

Two foul shots by Bill Banks with only seventeen seconds to play gave Drexel a hard-fought 64-63 victory over the Bears here last Saturday night. The loss in the season's finale gave the locals a 3-7 league record and a 7-10 overall total.

Again it was the Grizzly's failure to freeze the ball which cost them the win. Bill Burger, who played the best game of his career, scored what should have been the winning two points on a set shot to hand his team a 63-62 lead.

After regaining possession of the ball, Ursinus began their freeze. It worked to perfection as both Reice and Swett were fouled but the locals kept control of the ball. But the stage was set for the villain (from a local point of view) to play his part. Substitute Banks, who undoubtedly had watched Burger's technique in stealing the ball five times himself, pulled the stunt and raced off for two points. He was fouled on his attempted layup and calmly sank both for the ball game.

The Bears were able to get but one shot in the remaining seconds as the Dragons then ran out the clock.

The game as a whole was as close as the final few seconds. Drexel took a 17-14 first quarter lead chiefly due to Basil Barno's work under the basket, but Ursinus pulled away to a 33-30 half-time margin. This margin came as the result of eight straight local points beginning with a three-pointer by Dave Reice. The score had been knotted six times in the closely contested half.

The second half moved along in the same manner as Drexel tied it up at 37-all. From then on no more than five points separated the two teams thus setting up the thrilling climax.

Bob Swett again led the local attack with 17 points and Dave Reice, continuing his new found scoring punch, hit for fifteen. Burger followed with 10. Barno of Drexel, however, led all scorers with 20.

Penna. Military College Takes 85-74 League Win Over Bears

"Give it the old college try" is an oft used expression in sports and never before was it more evidenced than last Wednesday night when a scrappy Ursinus five bowed to league leading PMC 85-74. The pressing Bears forced PMC to hustle all the way and inspired by the brilliant floor play of Captain Dave Reice held grimly on although at one point facing a twenty-point deficit.

Grizzlies Down Dragons, 18-12

The Bruin wrestling squad brought their curtain down on its 1952 season by downing Drexel, 18-12. Last Wednesday night's triumph gave the victors a seasonal log of three wins and four setbacks.

The Bruins entered the match with the Dragons sporting a five-point lead as a result of a forfeit. Lightweight Ed Dawkins, who had gone undefeated on his previous six encounters, witnessed the match as a spectator, since his opponent suffered a shoulder injury.

Co-captain Loren Zimmerman, 130, was bested by Sande Walton, 3-0. Walton scored on an early take down and added an escape later in the bout to clinch his victory.

Al Paolone and John Reineer thrilled the crowd with their lightning speed and power. The final buzzer found the score knotted at five, but a three minute riding time was credited to Reineer, thus giving the visitors a 2-point bonus and a 7-5 triumph.

Miller, Gellman Score Pins

With the score 6-5 in favor of the visiting club Teddy Miller pinned his 147 lb. opponent Lou Clarke with a body press in the closing seconds of the initial period. In the 157 lb. division Dick Gellman piled up a big score against Fred Shroeder and then pinned him late in the second frame. These twin pins put the Bears out 15-6.

Bob Guth wrestled 10 pounds over his weight in the 167 pound division. Guth put up an inspiring struggle, but the heavier Dale Kell outscored the scrappy redhead 6-2. Bob suffered an injured side; however, it was not considered serious.

The most exciting battle was to come next. Tap Webb broke a 1-1 deadlock in the closing seconds of the final period when he took down pesky Ted Peetros. This clinched the victory for the locals. Rocky Davis and Fred Ulmer closed the match with the latter gaining an 8-1 decision. The gap in the score was by no means indicative of the spirit of the bout.

The difference in the game turned out to be the outstanding accuracy displayed by the Cadets from the floor. High scoring Earl Wenzel took 28 shots and hit on 15 of them while center Bob Marks netted nine field goals in 16 attempts. As a team the cadets poured in 37 field goals in 86 attempts for a 43 percent average.

The Bruins had four men in double figures but their triumph came in actually outplaying the Cadets. Dave Reice whose floor game is always prominent teamed up with Herb Knull to continually harass the Cadets.

The first five minutes of the game was nip and tuck until Culver converted a foul to give PMC a 13-12 lead. It was a lead they never lost mainly on the shooting of Earl Wenzel. Earl's four field goals aided the Cadets in building up a 23-16 first quarter lead. Wenzel and Marks combined to score 18 second period points and PMC increased their lead to 47-35.

Ursinus battled furiously in the third period and played the Cadets to a standstill. The Grizzlies' zone defense forced PMC to shoot from the outside and the rebounding of Swett, Schumaker and Burger kept the Bears in the game.

The Cadets built up an 80-60 lead in the fourth period and with only three minutes left the Bears scored a flurry of points to cut the lead to 83-74.

Herb Knull, in addition to playing his best floor game of the year, paced the scoring with 23 markers followed closely by Reice and Swett with 19 and 17 points respectively. PMC's prolific scorer Earl Wenzel led all scorers with 33 markers.
