Juniors Schedule Prom, Show for This Weekend

by Edie Carter '53

Alice has been released from RKO Radio pictures to step through the looking-glass into Wonderland at Sunnybrook this Friday night. Saturday night Alice will stumble through the looking-glass and fall into Crazyland in the Thompson-Gay gym, at 7:45 p.m.

In Wonderland she will dance to Bob Harry's orchestra from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Along her journey she will meet courtly attendants and newly tapped Cub and Key men. Rene Schweitzer has arranged for Alice's visit to the prom, and Jane Hopple has arranged for Alice's visit to Crazyland, the variety show arranged for the night after the prom. The junior class is sponsoring both events.

The gatekeeper to Crazyland will be Hamilton Friday. Skits include Howard Roberts and Delores De Sola in "The Morning After," "One Born Every Minute," and "A Chip Off the Old Block," for which Bill Wright was borrowed from the freshman class. Jim Scott and Bill Lukens have written a sketch and there is to be a novelty dance act by a group of junior girls. Helen Lightfoot and a quartette will provide music. Tom Phillips has arranged other surprises for Alice throughout the show.

Chairmen of committees for Alice in Crazyland are: business, Bob Fisher; publicity, Jim Scott and Tom Phillips; programs, Sally Canan; make-up, Carol Lucas; lighting and staging, Lionel Frankel and Ed Sella; and prompter, Jane Gulick.

Chem Group Plans April 28 Program

The Beardwood Chemical society, in cooperation with the Norris-town Chemists club, will present a program entitled Opportunities in Chemistry on April 28 at 8 p.m. in S-12. Students from high schools and colleges of the Philadelphia area have been invited.

The speakers on the program are: Mrs. J. Harold Perrine, the Administrative Assistant to the Director of the Chemical and Engineering Division of the Sun Oil company; Dr. G. E. Landt, president of the Philadelphia Textile Finishing company; and Mr. Harold A. Helligman, Director of Research at E. J. Lavine company.

A tour of the laboratories will follow the program. Refreshments will be served. The program has been arranged by Mr. William S. Pettit, a member of the Norristown Chemists club.

The society's last meeting of the year will be a dinner meeting at Moorehead's on May 12 at 7:00.

On April 19, Dr. R. D. Sturgis, Richard Ludwig, Norman Cohen and Fred Owens attended the Intercollegiate Student Chemists convention at Lebanon Valley college. The program included the presentation of papers by students from various colleges.

Lit. Readings Held

Dr. Donald G. Baker read selected poetry of Sam Walter Foss last Tuesday night in the faculty room of the library. Selections included The Calf Path, which traces the origin of our well-paved streets to the wavering path of a calf; To See The Thing Go On, the picture of an old man watching the show pass in front of him; The Voices of the Tides, a poem depicting the various thoughts from abroad which drift in with the tides; and a humorous poem entitled No Hope for English Literature.

Juniors, Sophomores Plan Activities for May 2, 3

Activities for the week-end of May 2 and 3 are being planned by the junior and sophomore classes. Friday night there will be a dance in the gym and Saturday there will be a picnic.

NOTICE

Students of the college, whether or not they have made tentative selections for the Summer session, should bring to the Dean's office, "Course of Study" forms approved by their group advisors showing the courses finally selected.

Since the college reserves the right to withdraw courses for which there is inadequate registration, it is advisable to make your selections as soon as convenient, and certainly before the first week in May.

Operetta 'Sari' Judged to Be Great Success

by Joanne Heller '54

Under the baton of Dr. William F. Philip the combined Music club and Curtain club of Ursinus presented the operetta, Sari, by Emerich Kolman, to a near capacity audience.

In setting the stage for the presentation hardly a single detail was overlooked. The two scenes, the first outside of Pali Racz's house and the second in the ballroom of Count Irini's Paris residence, were perfectly contrasted. The furnishings of Act I were typical of those used by a gypsy and his family while the elaborate furniture of Act II most probably is the type characteristic of a Paris ballroom. Care was taken in the arrangement of the properties so as not to overload the stage with useless trinkets that detract rather than enhance a performance.

Charles Pritchard, who played the role of Pali Racz, displayed a superb poise when the curtain rose for the first time. His voice was extremely well suited to the part and in all of his solos he performed as a trouper.

Although Dorothy Schultz and Robert McCarty had secondary lead parts they deserve much praise for the manner in which they performed. In the duets they sang their voices blended with a quality that was unobtainable by many of the other members of the cast. They truly deserve a great round of applause for their magnificent performances.

Marilyn Engleman, who so aptly portrayed Sari, the gypsy daughter of Pali Racz, was the main spark of life to the whole production. Her vitality and enthusiasm could be sensed by all who watched her dramatize Sari.

Although the plot of Sari was extremely shallow the music and the acting made up for the insignificant story. The music by its variations in tempo told the story almost better than any words could have.

Dr. Philip and the members of the cast certainly deserve the highest praise for the way in which they executed the performance of Sari.

Spirit Group Meets to Plan For Next Year

The reorganized Spirit committee, expected to be the largest in the history of the committee's existence at Ursinus, held its second meeting last Wednesday night. Although attendance was depleted by operetta rehearsals, twenty members attended the meeting. On the agenda were pep tag slogans, cheer leaders' uniforms, posters for thirty college buildings, a plan for officers of the organization and their election, and plans for enlarging the band, which may be dissolved if more interest is not shown by students.

All members are urged to attend a meeting which will be held this Wednesday, April 23, to elect officers of the Spirit committee. The officers will consist of a chairman, a secretary-treasurer, and an executive committee of one member from each class. The duty of the executive committee will be to make reports to their classmates at class meetings on the progress and projects of the Spirit committee.

Pep tag slogans for next year's football games will be decided upon Wednesday. The committee will have the tags printed this semester so that they will be ready for next year. In this way the usual last minute confusion of pep tag printing will be eliminated. Posters for next year's football season will also be made in advance.

Dr. McClure turned the problem of the band over to the Spirit committee. The committee will try to make the band larger and better by contracting all students who are willing and able to join the band. If students do not cooperate with the committee, there may not be a band at next year's games.

Speaker Tells of Life In Africa and Pakistan

Mrs. Cochran, a cousin of Dr. Charles L. Chandler, spoke on conditions in Pakistan and Africa last Wednesday afternoon in S-12. Mrs. Cochran has become familiar with that part of the world through extensive travel there.

The speaker's interest was centered on the British crown province of Kenya, in which the old tribal organization is still used. Mrs. Cochran spoke of the moderate climate there, adding that the rainy season begins in March but is not detrimental to the extensive wheat and coffee crops.

In speaking of South Africa Mrs. Cochran pointed out that housing conditions, educational facilities and medical care have all improved since the British occupation. The race problem, although greater than in Kenya, is less controversial than in the United States.

Mrs. Cochran spoke of the eagerness for learning in Pakistan, despite the low literacy rate.

She also mentioned the low average income of the lower classes in Pakistan as being $7 a year. Snapshots related to the talk were circulated throughout the audience.

Quite an active question and answer period followed the speaker's talk.

Annual Campus Elections To Take Place Tomorrow

Intersorority Council Plans Freshmen Party

The Intersorority council will give a party for freshman women on April 28 at 7:00 in the upstairs dining room. Entertainment will be provided by the individual sororities and refreshments will be served.

The party will be the second given by the council this year. Sophomore women were entertained by the sororities last fall prior to rushing. An amendment to the intersorority constitution which would provide for this annual fall party for sophomores has not yet been approved by the faculty; consequently, the spring party for freshmen will be held this year instead.

FRENCH CLUB TO GIVE MOVIE

Wednesday night at 8:00 in S-12 the French club will present "Quai des Orfevres", the production that placed first in the International Film festival. The story, a mystery, takes place in post-war Paris. There are English sub-titles to the film, which is also known as "Jenny Lamour". A silver donation will be taken at the door.

HERBER AWARDED FELLOWSHIP

Bob Herber '51, presently studying at University of Bristol in England, was one of eight students awarded honorary fellowships by the School of Advanced International Studies of the John Hopkins university. Mr. Herber will use the fellowship to further his studies in the Far Eastern area.

Two Nominations Added For WAA, YWCA Offices

Two additional nominations have been made for the offices of WAA vice-president and YWCA president. Both were made through signed petitions.

Marge Abrahamson '54 is a candidate for the vice-presidency of the WAA, and Sarah Grater '53 for the presidency of the YWCA.

The complete list of nominees for the offices of the WAA, WSGA and the YWCA, the elections of which will be held tomorrow, are as follows:

Class representatives to the WAA, WSGA and YWCA will be elected on Thursday by the members of the respective classes.

Member of Board Of Directors Dies

The Rev. Henry J. Herber, a member of the board of directors at Ursinus and the pastor of St. Mark's Evangelical and Reformed Church in Lebanon since 1933, died last Monday, April 14.

Mr. Herber, who formerly held pastorates at Merion, O., Dayton, O., and Orwigsburg, Pa., was graduated from Ursinus College and Central Theological Seminary, Dayton. He received an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree from Ursinus in 1942.

Mr. Herber is survived by his wife, Blanche C., a son Robert C., who graduated from Ursinus last year, a daughter, Carolyn, who is a senior here now, and five brothers and three sisters.

He was a native of Grimsville, Berks county, and was active in the annual Community Chest drives in Lebanon and in the Family and Children's Service.

EDITORIALS

GET OUT AND VOTE

Much has been written recently in city newspapers about the coming presidential election and about the state primaries. Over and over again editors have admonished the citizens of the United States to get out and vote, to exercise the right of franchise which many of them neglect.

Tomorrow the students of this college will go to the polls in front of Freeland hall to elect class officers for next year. They will also decide who will head the Men's Student Government, the Women's Student Government, the Women's Athletic Association and the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Association.

We feel, however, that these campus elections are important enough to deserve the attention of most of the student body for at least tomorrow. We believe that the officers of next year's classes and the heads of the MSGA, WSGA, YWCA and WAA will be placed in positions of great responsibility from which they will have the power to directly influence next year's campus activities.

A QUESTION

Last week the MSGA voted for a system of professor evaluation by the students for May 19, 20 and 21. During these days the MSGA will receive signed written criticisms which they will turn over to the professors concerned providing that the professors are willing to receive them.

We believe that the idea behind this system is good. The student body needs an opportunity to legitimately air their grievances, and the professors should be given a chance to know how they stand with their students. However, we wonder how many students would dare to submit a signed criticism, and we ask whether, under these conditions, the evaluation might not turn out to be a flop.

The Innocent at Large

by William Lukens '53

WITH AN EYE ON THE NEEDLE

These warm spring days turn our attention toward some of the sporty cars that are crowding the highways today: new fish-tail Caddies, Studebaker V-8s, and Chevy convertibles. But right now we feel that the most enviable position to be is behind the wheel of a sleek, low, British Jaguar.

Jaguar is the magic word today, and we feel that it will continue to be the magic word for quite some time. The reason is simple: the Jaguar has been built the right way. A recent ad for one of these handsome cars tells us that the Jaguar steering is so positive that "you feel as though you could drive the car through the eye of a needle."

But here in America our automobile designers have gotten off on the wrong track. We glance at a Buick ad and we don't find the buoyant, assured attitude that we did in the Jaguar ad. Instead there is pictured a pretty, perspiring lass who is struggling with the wheel of a clumsy-looking Buick, trying to park the car. No assurance, or eye of a needle. Under this picture of toil and struggle the caption says, "Give the little lady a helping hand."

So there it is, Jaguar tells us to go ahead and floor the accelerator, take her up over a hundred, and not to worry about a thing (except the local gendarme, who's only driving a Chevy anyway) because the needle eye's positiveness is on our side. And then Buick accosts us to help the little lady park her ugly, chrome-laden hulk, that they have designed so clumsily and negatively.

We appologize to Buick for our vitriolic remarks; but we want to wish Jaguar all sorts of luck in the U.S.A. We're sure right now that competition should not be too stiff with American cars that admit their own inadequacies. That's why we're so hopeful: Jaguar's eye is on the needle, and not on the curb.

AMIDST THE MADDING CROWD

Presidential Race Changing

As New Jersey voters went to the polls last week, the political scene continued to shift almost daily, especially in the Democratic camp.

Adlai Stevenson, Governor of Illinois, has generally been regarded as the best possible candidate the Democrats could put up. He has been sought by the party regulars as an opponent to the indiscreet but increasingly powerful Senator Kefauver. It would appear now, however, that Stevenson is just about out as a contender for the Democratic nomination, for last week he said he "could not accept" the nomination.

KEFAUVER STRENGTHENED

Stevenson's definite withdrawal has made Senator Kefauver that much stronger. Without a definite opponent, the Tennessee senator continued to irritate the party machine, which opposes him because of his revelations as crime investigator. The lack of opposition to Kefauver was indicated in the New Jersey primary, in which he was unopposed on the Democratic preferential primary ballot.

Kefauver's opponents are not idle, however. As the Stevenson boom fizzled out, another highly significant one shot off to a start for W. Averell Harriman, Mutual Security Administrator and experienced foreign diplomat. Harriman is a fairly consistent New-Fair Dealer, although his special province is, of course, foreign affairs. He "reluctantly" declared that he was available for the Democratic nomination recently, but only after he was fairly certain that Stevenson did not choose to run.

What makes Harriman's entry so significant is the fact that he is from New York. Even if he had no chance for the nomination itself, he could use his influence with the delegation from the most important state in the nation to choose a candidate to his liking.

The fact remains, however, that the Democratic race is wide open. The only candidate who has shown any real strength—Kefauver—is not supported by the party bosses, who are having a tough time finding anybody at all to support.

MINOR CONTENDERS IMPORTANT

On the Republican side, Eisenhower "groundswells" have abated somewhat, and Taft's "inability to win" has not yet been fully borne out in primary returns. The strength of the two major candidates has tended to effect an equilibrium, so that more importance is being attached to the less imposing candidates, namely, Warren and Stassen. Warren looms more and more as a compromise candidate, while it is generally agreed that Stassen's withdrawal from the race would strengthen the Eisenhower cause considerably.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To all Students:

As one long acquainted with cheating, it behooves me to decry the maligning now under way at Ursinus in its concern. This is, indeed, a foul and dastardly campaign and should fan to wrath all self-respecting prestidigitators, not to mention sleight-of-hand artists. In addition, I am certain that most Alumnae will vehemently protest this attack upon their former solace and succor.

As president of the Churlish Chompers and Chess Cheaters of America, (CIO), I receive your proposals concerning the abolition of cheating with the ejaculation made famous by the late W. C. Fields: "Godfrey Daniel!"

If this strike you as odd, consider a moment the time we oldsters devoted to semester sudatories. On one hand, picture the professor, armed with text books, knowledge, a jaundiced eye, incomprehensible terms and freedom of disposition. On the other hand, note the poor student, armed with only the weapon of cribbing. Take away cheating and you take the student's only weapon for the fray, the only raiment in the naked glare of erudition.

To you who wish to cast off cheating as one would shed a Hollywood wife, I say Fie. Fie! I say Fie R squared. A Plague of F's upon you.

But, wait! What of your own interests? What, for instance, of your social time? Would you spend hours with the musty, mutilated museum pieces in that tome tomb called Library? While grass bursts from the earth with growing, while trees assume colors all in harmony with a new-blue sky, while even old folks' blood runs young at summer garb, what of you? Would you miss tasting the sweet nectar of the changing season for the dubious and erotic passions of literature's lechers? Don't you like girls? (Or boys, as the case may be.)

Would you discard without tears the friendship of looking from paper to paper, the comradeship of exchanging erroneous answers? Tosh! I repeat, Tosh! Lack you initiative? Feel you faint at the thought of the contest. Zounds! Have you not the imagination to better dupe the Docs and plague the proctors? Come, I beg you, and reconsider. Think of friendship. Think of tradition. Think of GRADUATION.

By the Way . . .

(Audrey Harte is pinch-hitting this week for Evelyn Scharf—Ed.)

A bouquet to the cast and chorus of Sari with special blooms for Charlie Summers for the laughs he furnished, to Marilyn Engelman for effective delivery of her lines, to Dorothy Schultz and Bob McCarty for two fine duets, and to all for a noticeable revival during the second act.

It may be the result of hard work, but whatever the cause, I've heard that several cast members are suffering operatic after effects—in the form of spots, I believe.

The weather turned definitely warmer this week—almost too warm for clothes for a select group of males.

The sun also brought out the girls in their shorts and other summer gear, all of which are so much more becoming to the female form than to fraternity brothers. But watch those preceptual eyebrows, girls. This is the time of the year they shoot higher than ever.

Now that Spring has finally come, do we wake to the singing of birds or doze to the chirping of crickets? No. It's typewriters clattering day and night, endlessly spouting their thousands of term paper words.

Here's a greeting for Grace Matthews, recovering from an appendectomy. You're missing a lot of sunshine and Spring, so hurry back.

Many people have been praising Jane Hopple for her work in putting and holding together the Junior class show, but I'd be willing to bet that Jane would not be averse to trading some of that admiration for a little more support.

Alice in Wonderland seems to have inspired some botanical wizardry among the girls. If you can't identify any of the flowers decorating Sunnybrook, just ask the clever ones who made them. Chances are they don't know, either.

Don't be surprised at any new installations around here. Chalk them up to the Campus Improvement Movement initiated by the fraternities.

And don't forget the French film this Wednesday evening. There are English subtitles, so unless you're illiterate, you should be able to follow the story.

Lampeter Hurls Eight Hit Victory Over Temple, 6-3

Right-fielder Hal Feist Delivers Game-Winning Sixth Inning Circuit Clout as Anderson and Harris Lace Five Hits

A towering sixth inning home run by right-fielder Hal Feist provided the winning margin as the Ursinus Bears copped their first victory of the season. The 300 foot drive broke a 2-2 deadlock and provided pitcher "Lumps" Lampeter with a margin which he protected for a 6-3 victory.

Lead-off hitter Dick Glock reached base when Temple's shortstop fumbled his grounder and after the next two men were retired, Gene Harris worked Couchara, Owl hurler, for a walk. John Anderson followed with a clean single to right which drove home one run and Gene Harris followed across the plate on a bad throw by McCreary, Temple second-base man.

Temple deadlocked the game with single counters in the fourth and fifth. The first tally was produced by three singles. Disaster threatened in the fifth when Temple's lead-off batter drilled a double to center and Couchara's infield single put runners on first and third with only one away. McCreary followed with a whistling liner to second base which Bill

Mermaids Choose Future Captains

At the close of the season the Ursinus mermaids selected Sallie Lumis and Joan Compton to head the 1953 squad. Leading point winners for Ursinus, Sallie and Joan will have much to offer the team not only in swimming ability, but also in spirit and leadership.

Swimming varsity since her freshman year, Joan received much of her swimming experience on the Maple Grove team in Lancaster. During her first year at Ursinus, Joan was undefeated in dual competition in the 50 yard breaststroke and placed first in this event in the Intercollegiate meet. A strong member of the medley relay team, she has also contributed her speed to the free-style relay. As a member of the badminton squad, Joan has filled one of the doubles positions for the past two years.

Starting as a novice speed swimmer in her sophomore year, Sallie placed first in the 50-yard freestyle in a number of the meets and took a second place in the 100-yard freestyle in the Intercollegiate meet. Winning many firsts for Ursinus this season, Sallie also swam a speedy anchor for the free-style relay team. Playing varsity badminton and softball, this versatile athlete also plays junior varsity hockey and tennis.

Track Team Drops

Mamel was only able to vault eight feet, while Haverford's Don Kern took the event with a very low 9 ft. 6 in. Mammel cleared 10 ft. 6 in. in the practice meet against West Chester. Despite the fact that some excellent times were run by the Fordians' distance men, the boys had to fight a strong wind and showed it. Fatigue was on every face.

Burger quickly converted into the first double-killing of the year by doubling the runner off first. Faust scored from third on a wild pitch.

The Bears got these two tallies back in the sixth when Hal Feist delivered his game winning clout with John Anderson on first and two away.

Temple reclaimed one of these runs in their half of the sixth on a walk, hit batsman, sacrifice, and fly ball to center.

In the seventh inning Jack Popowich delivered a two-out, run-scoring single with Hal Henning on second base. The Bears added another insurance marker in the eighth when, with one out, freshman Gene Harris socked a double to center, his second hit in three official trips to the plate. John Anderson followed with a sizzling scorcher past third to score Harris with the final run of the game, his third hit of the game.

Temple made a final threat in the last inning when they placed two runners on base with two away. Pitcher Lampeter ended the game, though, by fanning pinch-hitter Charters, his sixth strike-out of the game. Lampeter thus became the first hurler to twirl the full route this year.

set 7-5, he came back strong to win 6-4, and had a 5-4 lead when his fall occurred.

Jones, playing Haverford's first man Chessie Winston, was subdued by his opponent's fine net game. The two players battled to a 5-5 first set deadlock after Winston had taken a 5-2 lead. But he then turned on the power to win the next two hotly contested games. In the second set Chessie again pulled the set out after a 4-4 tie, winning 7-5, 6-4.

The rest of the matches also came out on the wrong side of the ledger. Jack Humbert, playing two, was shut out 6-0, 6-0, although many of the games were close. And the lower three, Lane Dewees, Jay Ely, and Joe Benenati, were defeated 6-3, 6-1; 6-2, 6-1; 6-1, 6-1, respectively with the doubles matches following a similar pattern.

Summary:

Singles — Winston (H) defeated Jones 7-5, 6-4; Protrow (H) defeated Humbert 6-0, 6-0; Caskey (H) defeated Kenney 7-5, 4-6, 7-5; James (H) defeated Dewees 6-3, 6-1; Harrison (H) defeated Ely 6-2, 6-1; Burge (H) defeated Benenati 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles — Winston and Harrison (H) defeated Jones and Humbert 6-2, 6-1; Burge and Perry (H) defeated Dewees and Westeroff 6-0, 6-1; Wheaton and Wolfe (H) defeated Ely and Markley 6-3, 6-1.

Netmen Lose In First Outing

Haverford's masterful netmen defeated the Bears last Wednesday, thus racking up their 26th consecutive league victory. The easy 9-0 win gave them a good start toward their sixth straight circuit title.

Only Paul Jones, in the number one position, and Charlie Kenney, playing number three, were able to extend the 'Ford players in overtime matches.

Kenney was the only local to win a set and actually was within two points of winning his match. But an unfortunate fall at that time hurt both his leg and his chances for victory. After losing the first (Continued on column 2)

Track Team Drops First Dual Meet to Haverford

Led by powerful long and middle distance runners Haverford romped over the Ursinus Cindermen 80-46 at Walton Field Friday. A very strong wind hindered the runners and field event competitors.

The Fordians swept the mile, half mile and the first two places in the two mile to insure victory. Joe Stein led the Main Liners to the tape in the mile and the 880 while the Bears' Will Loomis copped first notch positions in the 100 and the 220. Loomis, who was handicapped by an injured back, exhibited courage and grit in both races, but was too racked with pain to enter the 220 lows. Sophomore sensation Dick Eshbach hurdled his way to a first in the 120 highs and a second in the 220 lows. Eshbach ran a splendid 15.8 to tie the Ursinus record in the former, nosing out runner-up Fred Tabbutt in a photo-finish.

Herm Lintner's kick in the last lap of the two mile was a sight to behold. The stock senior, trailing by forty yards mid-way around fell just two strides behind second-place Ephriam Klotz at the finish. Bob Seeley was not even pressed as he romped home the winner by fifty yards in 10:28.2.

In the field events the Red, Old Gold and Black took the discus and shot and placed second and third in the broad jump. Ed Mewing leaped a good 20 ft. 1 in., followed by Bill Fisher, one-inch behind. Bob Swett bagged firsts in the discus with a toss of 136 ft. 4 in. and the shot, putting the 16 pound sphere 41 ft. The big boy was runner up in the javelin, throwing the spear 160 ft., 10 in. In the high jump Ken Mammel and Jack Weaver grabbed second and third slots respectively. Mammel also garnered a third in the pole vault.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 39...THE FLYCATCHER

"THEY HAD ME BACKED UP TO THE WALL!"

He's fast—he's smart—he covers ground—he's a real varsity outfielder! The 'quick-trick' cigarette mildness tests were almost too hot to handle, but he didn't make an error. He realized that cigarette mildness can't be judged in slam-bang fashion. Millions of smokers throughout America know, too, there's a thorough way to judge cigarette mildness!

It's the sensible test...the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

After all the Mildness Tests...

Navy Announces New Policy - For Third, Fourth Year Men

The Navy Department recently announced a new policy to permit third or fourth year college men interested in Naval Aviation to complete their current semester before receiving orders for active training duty at Pensacola, Florida, the Navy's Annapolis of the Air.

Captain J. G. Howell, Commanding Officer of the Willow Grove Naval Air Station stated that the station is now ready to process applicants through their physical and mental examinations and will complete their enlistment at this time if they are found qualified. They would then be placed on inactive duty to finish their school year.

Young men who expect to possess the minimum requirements of 60 semester hours or 90 quarter hours at the end of their current school year may also be processed but cannot be enlisted until they have obtained their minimum requirements.

The Navy Department is anticipating a rush of applicants in June and is spreading out the work load and in this way, catering to the convenience of those who wish to become Navy or Marine Corps pilots.
