Four Fraternities Institute Rushing in First Semester

The scholastic grind at Ursinus will be interrupted this week by the campus social fraternities, who will hold a new first-semester rushing season from Oct. 30 to Friday, Nov. 3.

During this week the customary parties and secret meetings will be held for the purpose of selecting suitable candidates to fill some of the vacancies in the respective frats.

Several important changes concerning the rushing procedure will go into effect this year. The greatest difference is the fact that rushing will take place each semester, rather than just the second semester. Freshmen will not be bid until the second semester. Because of this year's decreased enrollment, the maximum membership of each fraternity will be cut to 37 men, 7% of total male enrollment. Despite the two-semester method of rushing the heavier season is expected to be during the spring rushing to obtain freshmen members.

Under Inter-Frat Council

The rushing will be under the supervision of the Inter-Fraternity council. This group, headed by Steve Muench, consists of the president and an elected delegate from each of the five fraternities.

The council has assigned nights for the respective parties at which the prospects will be observed and later voted on. On Monday, Nov. 6, those men who were invited to the various parties are requested to report to the library either to be given acceptance ballots to sign or to be turned down.

The meetings will be held as follows: Monday, Alpha Phi Epsilon; Tuesday, Sigma Rho Lambda; Wednesday, Delta Mu Sigma and

Forum to Present English Economist Next Monday Night

Wilford King, prominent English economist and editor of the British monthly, "The Banker," will discuss the topic "England's Economy since 1945" at the forum to be held in Bomberger hall Nov. 6 at 8:00 p.m.

A decisive year in British economy was 1945, since it was in that year that the Labor government was elected to office and the program of socialization got under way with the nationalization of the Bank of England.

This is Mr. King's first visit to the United States, and he is surveying the various phases of American economy. His past experience includes work on the Lend-Lease program and the dollar economy of Britain. Mr. King is also the author of "The History of the English Discount Market."

This forum should be of particular interest to business administration majors, since a clear insight into the British program of socialization will be presented by a noted economist.

OMWAKE GOES TO VIRGINIA

Stanley Omwake, who has been assistant treasurer of Ursinus College for a number of years, has relinquished his duties on the local campus to begin work as the treasurer of Sweetbriar College, Sweetbriar, Virginia. Last week the department heads and administrative officers of the college gave a farewell banquet in his honor.

SPORTSMEN MEET IN GYM

The seventeenth annual booster meeting of the Perkiomen Valley Sportsmen's association was held Friday night in the Thompson-Gay gymnasium.

Participating in the program were Wilfred Moll, of Norristown, state forester for this district; District Game Protector Ambrose Gerhart, of Souderton; and Harry Z. Cole, Norristown, fish warden.

MASQUERADE POSTPONED

The Senior Class Halloween Masquerade, scheduled to be held Saturday night, Oct. 28, in the Thompson-Gay gymnasium, was postponed because of the prospects of a small attendance.

Dr. Miller Speaks To IRC on Value Of United Nations

Ursinus commemorated United Nations Day, October 24, with a meeting of the IRC at which Dr. Eugene Miller, faculty member, spoke on the value of that world organization.

Dr. Miller pointed out that the UN has perhaps already averted war on the Berlin blockade question alone. The issue of the blockade was settled as a result of informal contacts and talks of the delegates at Lake Success. The UN succeeded by sheer public opinion alone in forcing Russia to withdraw from Iran and Syria.

Several outside agreements caused by the cold war almost wrote an obituary of the United Nations organization. The Chinese question led to UN boycott by the Soviet Union; however, as a result of this boycott Russia could not veto the final decision of the UN on the Korean situation.

U.S. Needs Organization

Dr. Miller said that even though the United States is the greatest country in the world and also the richest, it is not big enough to handle all the world problems;

Junior Class to Sponsor 'Shipwreck Ball' Friday

Avast m'hearties! Hoist anchor and set sail for the T-G gym this Friday evening where a night of fun and frolic awaits you at the Juniors' Shipwreck Ball.

Following the title theme, the order of the evening will be very informal attire — beachcombers should feel right at home. Life preservers will be provided for all landlubbers and the galley will be open with chow for one and all. Castaways will dance to the mellow music of Charles Berret and his orchestra.

An energetic decoration committee headed by Marie Jansen and Tom Shaw predicts the emergence of a desert island complete with "cannibal"-istic atmosphere and the derelict itself. The evening's entertainment is under the capable direction of Mary Jo Lucas and Norm Cohen, who have promised a full and varied program. Admission charge will be seventy-five cents per couple. Grab a shipmate and cast off for the Shipwreck Ball — Bali Hai was never like this!

IRC SPEAKER — Representative John C. Kunkel, who will address an open forum sponsored by the IRC at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in Bomberger hall.

MSGA Takes Steps Toward Setting Up Dorm Government

The Men's Student council approved the proposed intra-dorm government and meted out punishment to participants in a recent water fight at its meeting Monday night in the Library.

The Council adopted the intra-dorm program as a whole, and then announced that individual portions of the projected plan would be open for revision at the next meeting, to be held at 7:15 tonight in the Library.

After this meeting the program will be put into the form of an amendment to the Council constitution, and will be presented to the entire men's student body for discussion and approval or disapproval.

Also Acts Judicially

Besides discussion and voting on the intra-dorm program the Council, acting in its judicial capacity, also heard and passed judgment on a water-fight that took place recently in Derr.

Intra-dorm government is a new venture at Ursinus. Under the proposed plan each major dorm would send two representatives, and each minor dorm of ten men or less would send one representative to an Intra-Dormitory council.

This council would regulate dormitory life. All violations of dorm rules would be tried by this quasi-judicial body, which would have full power to punish all offenders, this power being very similar to the power the Student Council possesses. In fact, the Intra-Dorm Council will serve as a student's court, trying all student breach-of-peace cases. The Student Council would hear only reviews and appeals.

To Serve Dual Purpose

The creation of an Intra-Dorm Council will serve a two-fold purpose. First, it will lessen the amount of judiciary work the Men's Student council will have to do, thus leaving more time for consideration by the council of more important tasks concerning the Discussion of Domestic and Political Problems Features Rally

Ursinus' Pre-Legal society sponsored a political rally last Wednesday with outstanding representatives of the two major parties as featured speakers on domestic and foreign problems. Mrs. Lois Forer, Democratic candidate for the State senate from Montgomery County stressed the need for a two party system as the basis of a Democratic government.

Citizens Must Work

Conrad Moffett, Philadelphia lawyer and Republican president of the Commission of Upper Moreland township, stated that citizens must work for the type of government they want and that action of office-holders should be brought into the open for scrutiny. Intelligent voting based on facts will insure the desired type of democratic government.

Philadelphia Doctor Presents Program At Pre-Med Meeting

Always remember that nature is still the best doctor. Dr. John H. Dugger, director of obstetrics and gynecology at Jefferson hospital, Philadelphia, said to a large audience in S12 Tuesday at the Pre-Med society's first meeting of the year.

After presenting a film and lecture illustrating "Caesarean Birth," Dr. Dugger pointed out that his knowledge was an accumulation of all that had been learned down through the years, and which had been handed down to him by his teachers.

Dr. Dugger, a graduate of Jefferson Medical school, is a member of the staff of Jefferson and Episcopal hospitals and a member of the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology. He is well-known in the medical world for this work, in which he is responsible for the birth of approximately 120 children a month.

He also presented a film sponsored by the American Cancer society on breast cancer.

Pete LeRoy '51 presided over the meeting.

YOST TO PRESENT READING

Dr. Calvin D. Yost, Jr., will read selections from Robert Frost in the faculty room of the Library at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

The program is the second in a series of English literature readings to be presented by members of the English department.

Mr. Geoffrey Dolman read Hanson Baldwin's "The Sinking of the Titanic," a descriptive journalistic essay, in the first program on October 17.

Food for Thought

Decisions reached at a meeting held Friday afternoon in Mr. James Morrison's office can offer to each of us who eats in the Ursinus dining hall "food for thought," both literally and figuratively.

At a meeting attended by Floyd Justice, MSGA president, Mary McPherson, WSGA president, Dan Bomberger, headwaiter, Mr. Morrison, and your author, representing the Weekly, important changes were agreed upon for the kitchen, but at the same time stress was laid on the important part students must play in making such changes effective.

Beginning Tuesday morning, coffee will again be available in the kitchen from 8:45 to 10 a.m. This popular privilege was abused last year by the students, who were so careless that the practice could not be continued. Now the program will be under the supervision of the student councils, who will halt the practice if students do not cooperate in keeping the kitchen clean and orderly.

Changes will also become noticeable in the meals themselves. Seconds on milk are to be available at every meal except Sunday noon; peanut butter will be available every noon; and catsup and mustard will be available at all times. Chipped beef and fish will be discontinued, and parsley will be eliminated from soups. Waiters will be asked to return food that is not being consumed at their tables so that more seconds will be made available in this manner.

These are but some of the many changes that were discussed at the meeting; space does not permit the enumeration of all of them.

Along with the attempt of the kitchen to adjust itself to the wishes of the majority of the students, however, must come cooperation with the kitchen by the students. How can any of us expect cooperation from the kitchen if we go on inconsiderately showing bad manners and immature conduct? And this is not an academic question, either. In the first place, it is the obligation of each student to get to meals on time. This is not only an obligation, but a practice that can produce as a direct result better food. Meals are served during the week at 7:15 a.m., 12:05 p.m., and 6 p.m. Doors are open from 7:10 to 7:20 for breakfast, from 12 to 12:05 for lunch, and from 6 to 6:05 for dinner.

Furthermore, we should be considerate of the waiters and waitresses. Think of what an improvement it would be for everyone concerned if we would stack the dishes at every table? And that is our duty. Think of what an improvement it would be if we refrained from all foolish conduct in the dining rooms and eliminated useless spilling of coffee and things of this nature. And this is our duty.

Manners at the table have steadily degenerated during the past several years; let's reconsider—they do have some benefit, do they not? After all, college graduates are supposed to exhibit good table manners. Let's quality for this characteristic. This is our duty.

The important thing to note about Friday's meeting is that it was the first in a series of meetings of the group, which decided to meet at regular intervals in the future. At these meetings the food situation will be discussed, student opinions aired, and changes made.

In line with this arrangement, people who wish to register complaints, compliments, or comments should contact a member of the student councils, the headwaiter, or your author. These people will then present them at the meetings.

In our opinion this is in itself a large step toward improving not only the food situation, but also student-administration relationships in general. The kitchen certainly has indicated that it is trying, and trying hard, to cooperate with the student body. Will the student body now cooperate with the kitchen in carrying out some of the above suggestions?

We as students who eat in the dining halls must always remember that we must think of the situation corporately. Certainly not every individual desire can be fulfilled; but the will of the majority can be effected.

If we as students live up to such challenges we can expect the kitchen to do the same; otherwise we cannot. That is food for thought.

It's an Ursinus Fact . . .

- ... that the Ruby, our school yearbook, is named in honor of Dr. Samuel Vernon Ruby, one of the first professors at Ursinus.
- ... that the first editor of the Ruby was Robert Means Yerkes who, during the First World War, was president of the American Psychologists association and who is a leader in his field.
- ... that the class graduated from Ursinus in 1873 consisted of five men.

From the Files

This week in 1902 the Ursinus football team defeated Swarthmore 16 to 10.

This week in 1920 Ursinus College held a fiftieth anniversary celebration with over 1200 people attending.

This week in 1935 the Senior Class prepared "A Bill of Divorcement" for Senior Week.

This week in 1945 it was discovered that the enrollment included 132 men and 402 women. (Lucky guys).

This week in 1945 marked the end of customs and the following prayer echoed over the campus:

The Freshmen's Prayer

Now I lay my banner aside
 By no more rules should I abide,
 'Cept those by lawful teachers made,
 To give us knowledge and gainful aid.
 No noon time meeting to help digestion,
 Please let me make my own suggestion
 On the shade of green I wish to wear,
 And the style and ribbons for my hair.
 Mayn't I put makeup on my face?
 That shine on it, Oh my disgrace!
 Don't take this prayer as a complaint,
 'Cause after all I'm not a Saint!
 Amen.

Campus Chatter

With a bumper crop of cold days setting in, perhaps we ought to talk about the weather . . . were reminded of the seasons this week in History 21 class when Dr. Miller called on Mr. Winters, only to find that the gentleman's name was Sommers . . . but we can't fall for things like that . . . we should spring our own jokes . . . we certainly had our share of accidents on campus this week . . . first the Ruby photographer came down with appendicitis and then Joanne Hitchner fractured her jaw in the JV hockey game . . . hope they both recuperate quickly . . . talking about sports, the Lincoln soccer squad which performed so ably in subduing a good Ursinus team 5-4 this week, has an interesting background . . . Only two of the players are Americans . . . two are from the British West Indies, and the rest from Nigeria . . . they showed much evidence of the training they had received in Africa, where soccer is the major sport . . . all of them plan to go to grad school, and then return to their native countries . . . they like this country, except for its segregation.

DONKEY SERENADE

Lloyd George was once making a public speech when some heckler in the audience shouted:

"Listen to 'im! And to think that his father used to drive a wagon led by a donkey!"

Lloyd George, who was a very able man on his feet, quickly replied:

"You are right, and today my father and the wagon are gone. But I see that we still have the donkey with us!"

Other Person's Job . . .

Bud Buchanan is Official Doughnut-Maker

by Mary Yost '52

That classic question, "How does a doughnut get its hole?" can only be answered by Bud Buchanan, official doughnut-maker of Ursinus.

Bud turns cook twice a week and each Tuesday and Thursday makes from 80 to 100 dozen doughnuts for breakfasts. Any cook would scoff at his working hours, from 3 a.m. to 8 a.m., but Bud wants his pastries to be really fresh.

There's no slaving over a hot oven for this cook. It seems that these days there is even a machine that will make doughnuts. First Buchanan mixes the batter in a huge bowl; the recipe calls for 40 pounds of flour for each batch. The batter is poured into a tank in the machine and compressed air forces it into doughnut-shaped molds. The contents are then dropped into a tank of hot fat and soon the round pastry emerges from the machine, a finished product. Each process takes eight seconds.

Bud lets the doughnuts dry, then rolls them in 4x sugar, using ten pounds for each batch. They are now ready to be served.

Being this modern kind of cook has only one drawback, Buchanan asserts. Like a Rube Goldberg contraption, when one thing goes wrong in the machine—bedlam breaks loose, and the doughnuts are apt to come out looking either like a wet marshmallow or a charred fried oyster.

How does the cook like his own cooking? "Ugh! After making the eleventh doughnut of the ninety-ninth dozen, the hole is the only appetizing part," he admits.

Antiques Are Prime Hobby Of Mrs. Donald Helfferich

Students who visit Super House will sooner or later eye furtively or gaze openly at the articles of one size and another which comprise the furnishings of the reception room. This interesting assortment is part of the collection of Pennsylvania-Dutch antiques owned by Mrs. Donald L. Helfferich. Encouraged by her father-in-law, Mrs. Helfferich started her collection about seventeen years ago.

The antiques were only a hobby until 1938, when Mrs. Helfferich was requested to give a talk on Pennsylvania-Dutch art. This first talk was the starting-point for a series of speeches extending through Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Interest grew and more requests were made for the talks. With the growing demand an arrangement was made for taking admission, the proceeds of which were turned into the Nora Shuler Helfferich Scholarship for women students at Ursinus.

In giving her talks, Mrs. Helfferich showed exemplary antiques which today rest quietly in the reception room. Illuminated baptismal and birth certificates, hand-woven linens, quilts, samplers and the ever-famous Dutch pottery are among the objects used as illustrations. One of Mrs. Helfferich's most interesting antiques is the foot-warmer which was filled with hot coals and used in church.

Keeping company with Mrs. Helfferich's Pennsylvania-Dutch dowry chest (now a table), dough trough (now a coffee-tray) and all the other pieces, are more formal rooms finished in the Victorian style. Mrs. Helfferich has a clock with wooden works, a Victorian feather-and-flower filled glass dome, handsome Victorian furniture and a unique shadow-box containing hair of five generations of Helfferichs. Her collection also boasts many pieces of glassware, including spatterware and a Stiegel bottle.

Antiques, then—particularly Pennsylvania-Dutch antiques—are one of Mrs. Helfferich's prime interests and they have a place in nearly every room in the house.

"Certainly," answered the clerk. "We have some very nice steak. Shall we deliver it?"

"Yes, I wish you would," was the reply. "And if we aren't home, just push it through the keyhole."

of 1892. As a result of twenty years of teaching in the Overbrook School for Blind she decided that there was no place for the retarded child in the ordinary school for the blind, and she has spent the last twenty-five years building up an institution which would allow the retarded child to develop. The school, located on the South Valley Road, Paoli, is the only one of its kind on the continent.

On the 13 acres of school ground at Paoli are three large buildings, where approximately 40 pupils ranging in age from seven to twenty years live in a home atmosphere and attend daily classes on a schedule like any other school.

Chesterfield Announces Contest For Campus Photographers

Campus camera fans are being offered a $50 inducement to change an avocation into a vocation in a new college contest announced recently by Campus Merchandising Bureau of New York.

Wainwright Diehl '51, Chesterfield Campus Representative, has posted contest rules in prominent location on campus and can answer all inquiries. All entries will be considered for future Chesterfield advertising and the winning photographer will receive national recognition both for himself and his campus.

Photographers have a chance to submit a series of three photographs of student models taking the Chesterfield Mildness Test: "Open 'em; Smell 'em; Smoke 'em." Pictures should be taken on campus, and poses should duplicate those appearing in the current series of Chesterfield ads in the Weekly. Entries, glossy prints (either 5x7 or 8x10), will be judged on photography technique, reproduction quality, accurate illustration and adaptability for advertising purposes.

Among the library's recent acquisitions are several volumes of more than passing interest.

A new reference book particularly valuable to writers and to those who read a great deal is A Dictionary of Slang and Unconventional English. Written by Eric Partridge, who is a well-known philologist, the dictionary is in its third edition, revised and greatly expanded. The material has been culled from a great many sources among speakers of British, American and South African English—in sum, from all English other than standard and dialectal. The dictionary, with ample cross-references, is made up of slang, cant, colloquialisms, solecisms, catch-phrases, nicknames and vulgarisms. Nothing has been spared to make this work as complete as possible—not even those delicate little four-letter words not ordinarily found in any work of reference.

An old member of the classic literary staples, The Complete Short Stories of Saki, has been placed on the library shelves in a new volume. Introduced by Christopher Morley, this Viking Press edition presents all 136 of H. H. Munro's delightful stories about Reginald, the Chronicles of Clovis, Beasts and Superbeasts and the rest.

Noveltes Are Unusual

Unusual in the line of fiction is a collection of novels—noveltes, actually, by Ronald Firbank, most of whose life was spent traveling in Europe and the Near East with occasional visits to his native England. The library has a new copy of Five Novels by Ronald Firbank.

The settings of these novels and the characters found in them are quite different from those in the writings of Firbank's contemporaries; the types depicted are due, probably, to the egregious and Bohemian sort of life which Firbank led. As a child he had suffered a sunstroke while traveling in Egypt and was left in a rather precarious state of health. He drifted into unconventional ways when he grew older and began to drink a good deal more than he ate. His health, of course, did not benefit by this treatment, and Firbank died before he reached the age of forty.

The five novels were written between 1919 and 1934 and boast a most peculiar assortment of characters. Mrs. Yajnavalkya from Valmouth is a fascinating study, among others, of an Eastern mas-seuse with a sense of humor and an artful way of getting off epigrammatic speech. The Prancing Nigger and The Artificial Princess are continental and full of rapid, subtle and often caustic conversations. The Eccentricities of Cardinal Pirelli are colorfully recounted in papal surroundings with the appropriate reflections on character. The quotation with which Firbank introduces The Flower Beneath the Foot is from St. Laura de Nazianzi and is well adapted to the tenor of the tale: "Some girls are born organically good; I wasn't."

There is always present in these five novels of Firbank an element of grotesquerie, but a consistently attractive one—"attractive" in its literal sense; that is to say that it has a great "pull toward."

Hockey Team Falls To Bryn Mawr, 2-1; JV Belles Tie, 2-2

Scoring once in each half, Bryn Mawr defeated the Ursinus varsity by a 2-1 count last Wednesday on the victors' field. Marge Merrifield, freshman left wing, scored Ursinus' lone tally in the first half.

Ursinus played a defensive game during the first half, later going on the offensive. Their play marred by many fouls, the Belles broke through the strong Bryn Mawr defense when Merrifield drove for a score, ending the first half at 1-1. Probably the finest play of the game was made by Nancy Vadnar when she backed up goalie Jean Leety on what would have been a sure goal.

Left inner Blackwood and center forward Thompson scored for Bryn Mawr to give the home team the margin of victory. The Ursinus jay-vees tied, however, with Sally Lumis and Marion Kurtz scoring in the first stanza.

F & M to Provide Strong Opposition For Bruin Eleven

The gridders of Ray Gurzynski will invade a foreign field for the second time in two weeks when they travel to Lancaster this Saturday to engage the Diplomats of Franklin and Marshall college. In F & M, the Bears will meet an aggregation that compares with any opposition Ursinus has faced in recent years. The Diplomats, who have won their first five starts this season, have not only a high-scoring team but also an almost impregnable defense.

F & M's coach, Woody Sponagle, is rather pessimistic about the upcoming game with the Bears, however, as he fears that along about this time his Diplomats may be a bit over-confident. The F & M series is one of the oldest on the Ursinus card, dating back to 1894. In that span the two teams have played 46 games, with the Dips holding a 26 to 16 edge. Four games have ended in ties.

Bruins May Upset

Although F & M has predominated the series in recent years, the Bruin eleven has thrown more upsets at the Diplomats than any other team on the Blue and White card. This has been especially true in a year such as this when the Dips are riding the crest of a win-

FRANK SCIRICA '51

"Chicky" Scirica, chunky half-back, was one of the Bear's big hopes for this season. However, fate intervened and in pre-season scrimmage "Chick" sustained a serious knee injury.

For the past three seasons "Chicky" has set Patterson field "on fire" with his running, but since his injury Chick can only "eat his heart out" waiting to play. However, he has taken such good care of his limb that he might play several games before the season is over. We sincerely hope so!

In addition to football, "Chick" is president of ZX fraternity, president of the Newman club and a Varsity club supporter.

Burly Don Stauffer, first string fullback, is one of the heaviest men in the Bear backfield. Don tips the scales at 170 and has legs like truck pistons. His performance against Swarthmore will never be forgotten. He "lugged the leather" twice into paydirt and was a big factor in the Bruin victory. This is "Stauffs" last year with Ursinus but it promises to be his greatest!

In addition to his football prowess he is also captain of the baseball team. Don was president of the junior class, is a member of the Varsity club, a staunch APE member and assistant sports editor of the Weekly.

Bears Beat Seahawks 25-6 to Continue Surge

by Ford Bothwell '51

You can thank a big, rugged Bruin line for presenting us with a day off, the first football holiday in many years around this campus. For if ever a forward wall played a bruising game of football, the Bears did on Saturday at Staten Island.

The Ursinus backfield performed as admirably as ever, but Wagner had some fine backs too. They had a potent one-two punch in Paul Perfette, deadly freshman passer, and Milt Grosz, 200-pound steamrolling fullback. But Wagner just couldn't get their offense rolling against a hard-charging team. Again and again it was the mauling Bruin linemen who broke through to stop the Seahawks in their tracks, rushing the passer every time he faded back to toss and teaming up to stop the runners before they could get past scrimmage.

The Collegeville fans who made the trek to Grymes Hill were well-rewarded, for they saw a Bruin aggregation well-heeled in fundamentals. It is indicative of fine coaching when a team tackles cleanly and blocks sharply, as the Bears did on Saturday. Wagner wouldn't even have scored if they hadn't intercepted one of Gene Glick's aerials in Bear territory and uncorked a 23-yard pass of their own to set up their only score. Otherwise our defense was impenetrable. As for the blocking, just look at Bill Fischer's two scoring runs. You don't spring a back loose for long jaunts like those when the blocking isn't perfectly timed.

Fischer Ran Wild

Against Wagner the Bears used the T formation very effectively. Our plays clicked as if they were being worked out on paper. The Seahawks had a 6-0 lead in the second quarter when Bill Fischer took a handoff from Gene Glick and literally exploded through the left side of the line. As he hit the secondary, the 170-pound halfback cut to the right, picked up blocking and raced down the sideline.

For a moment everyone in the stands held their breath as the Wagner pursuers closed in, but the driving halfback, legs churning like pistons, outraced everyone 85 yards to pay dirt. In the second half it happened again on the first play from scrimmage. Fischer took another handoff, but as he hit the line it looked as if he would be stopped. But the hole opened, Fischer slashed through and was off to the races, this time for 66 yards.

Young Broke Loose

Although Fischer's runs were the most striking feature of the game, some other backs broke loose for sparkling gains. Don Young was as hard to stop as ever. Besides scoring once, he made a 36-yard dash for another touchdown in the third quarter, which was nullified on a clipping penalty. And he put on a beautiful exhibition of broken field running in the second quarter when he took a Wagner punt on his own 30 and weaved through most of the Seahawk team to their 32. As usual, numerous tacklers had shots at him but he either spun away or side-stepped them. Again the play was nullified due to a penalty, but even so, Young looked great. You just have to see this halfback perform to believe some of the things he does, and even then you don't.

Fullback Paul Doughty played well, especially his 11-yard rush around left end for our last touchdown. Once he turned the end Paul didn't receive much blocking so he used sheer speed to reach pay dirt. Glick called a nice game at quarter, and Al Miglio and Bob Davis ran well.

Linemen Played Bang-up Games

But most of the share of this victory goes to that line. There are too many to list — Ehnnot, Reich, Davis, and others, but they all played bang-up games. Whenever a crucial situation arose they were there to meet it. Bill Helfferich played a fine game on the line besides getting off beautiful punts all

Ursinus Rally Falls Short In Close 5-4 Loss to Lincoln

The Lincoln College soccer team held off a fourth period rally to hand Ursinus its third straight defeat on Price field Wednesday. Lincoln, who has a 5-1-1 record so far this year, was out-played throughout the second half, but Ogba Okorie's third period tally proved to be the clincher.

Egbert McNeil, Lincoln center forward, paced the victors with a total of three goals. The Bears took an early lead on John Edleman's score in the first period, but the visitors came back to score two goals in that quarter and two more in the next frame, after which they were never again headed.

Harry Light netted a goal in the third period, but it was in the fourth when the local booters really came to life. After Don Hetzel sliced a tally for the Bakermen, the Bruins kept the ball in enemy territory most of the time. Ken Mammel caged the final score, but the losers threatened until the final gun.

afternoon. Guard Steve Muench ran like a fullback when he intercepted a pass in the fourth quarter and ran 20 yards to set up our final score. It took more than one man to bring Steve down too.

Our ends were exceptionally strong with Dick Sharpe and Bob Swett offensively and Ed Sella defensively. Sharpe pulled off one of his patented circus catches and Swett presented a constant threat to the Wagner defense. Freshman Sella played a stand-out game, nailing passer Perfette for losses several times throughout the contest.

Garnet Romps Over Bears For 10-0 Rout on Home Field

Winter is on its way, and maybe the Bears should have gone into hibernation instead of journeying to Palmer field, Swarthmore, where the Garnet romped to a 10-0 victory Saturday.

Swarthmore completely dominated every aspect of the game, both offensively and defensively and the Bears never even got so much as a decent shot at the goal. If one member of the Ursinus eleven were to be singled out for having played a good game, it would be "Rip" Christensen, whose great saves kept the score from being much more lopsided than it was. He made 32 saves.

The parade started at 3:20 of the first quarter when George Place got a goal. In the second period Arabian center forward Ali Yasir tallied twice and Place once. Carl Spock, inside left, made two goals and Yasir one in the third quarter. Place scored twice more in the final period and Dick Hall, substituting for Yasir, put one into the net.

JV's Lose

The junior varsity squad made a trip to Hill School last Friday and were defeated 3-1. Curt Frambees scored the Cubs' lone goal.

Next game is with Haverford at home next Saturday.

Belles Get 5-0 Win At William and Mary

The Ursinus Girls' Field Hockey team traveled to William and Mary college in Williamsburg, Virginia, this week-end, to defeat their hostesses, 5-0.

A more experienced team than their opponents, the Belles, however, exhibited their best hockey so far this season. Audrey Rittenhouse and Adele Boyd each countered twice while marion Kurtz scored the last goal of the game a few minutes before the final whistle.

Both teams displayed excellent spirit. William and Mary, although on the defense the majority of the game, remained a constant threat every minute.

Next week-end the Belles will compete in the annual all-college tournament held at Swarthmore college.

Fischer Paces Grizzlies With Long Scoring Runs

The Bruin juggernaut continued to roll Saturday when the growling Bears tore into Wagner College at Staten Island and racked up a decisive 25-6 victory over the Seahawks. It was the Collegeville eleven's second straight triumph and the first win over Wagner in the series which began in 1948.

After falling behind 6-0 early in the game, the Bears spurted late and overtook the Seahawks behind the brilliant running of halfback

Albright Registers Big 17-40 Victory Over Bear Harriers

A strong Albright team marred Horace Ashenfelter's debut at the helm of the Bears' cross-country squad by taking a 17-40 victory last Friday in the first meet held on the Ursinus campus in many years.

The Reading harriers, who had previously beaten Gettysburg and Muhlenberg, and lost to Franklin and Marshall, took the first four places in Friday's meet.

Charles Zellner finished first in 20:42. He was trailed by Dave Fulmer, Frank Houser, and Rock Tashel.

Scheirer Places Fifth

Paul Scheirer led the Ursinus squad, finishing fifth, immediately ahead of teammate Gerald Barrett.

Coach Ashenfelter reported satisfaction with the team's performance in its first meet of the year. More work is what is needed, he added.

The harriers have a meet with Haverford Friday.

Then, in the fourth quarter, with the outcome of the game still in the balance, Don Young and Paul Doughty both lugged the leather across the double stripe to assure victory for the visitors. Fullback Milt Grosz scored the Seahawks lone tally.

Bears Punt

In the first quarter Ursinus took the kickoff but couldn't gain; so they punted. When Wagner couldn't gain against the rushing Bruin line, which played havoc with the Seahawk's offense the entire afternoon, they were forced to kick. The Bears blocked the punt and were set up for business on the loser's 36. The Grizzlies drove to the 15 on two first downs with the running of Fischer and Al Miglio, but at that point they were halted and Wagner took over.

Late in the same quarter one of Gene Glick's passes went awry, and Paul Perfette intercepted on the Ursinus 47. The Seahawks scored three first downs and drove to the one, mainly on a slick pass play from the freshman Perfette to Bob Winkler. Milt Grosz, hulking 200-pound fullback, took one shot at the goal, missed it, but bulled over on his second try. Joe Lauro missed the extra point try, and the Grymes Hillers led 6-0.

Things looked brighter for the visitors in the second quarter when Don Young ran back a Wagner punt 38 yards, but a clipping penalty called it back. Wagner then intercepted another Glick pass, which was deflected, on the Bear 48. The losers drove to the 10, where Young intercepted an aerial and sped back to the 15.

Fischer Scores

On the first play Glick handed the ball off to Fischer, who was stopped trying to buck the left side of the line. Glick called the same play, but this time it wasn't stopped. Fischer blasted through the line, cut back and raced down the sideline. No one laid a hand on him, and the speedy back went the route. Johnny Ehnnot's placement was wide, and the score was deadlocked.

Ursinus took the kickoff to open the second half, as Bob Davis ran it back 12 yards to the 34. On the first play Fischer again hit the left side, found a hole and skipped the distance in a carbon copy of his previous scoring play. This made it 12-6 after Ehnnot missed the point.

Loomis Intercepts

In the same quarter Will Loomis grabbed one of Perfette's tosses on the Wagner 47, and the visitors began to drive. When they reached the 36, Young went all the way, but a clipping penalty hauled it back to the 22. Doughty fumbled on the 18, and Al Tosi recovered for the Seahawks. Perfette's running and passing moved Wagner to the Bear 32, where they lost the ball on downs after Joe Walker, Bruin end, threw passer Sal Mitri for a loss.

In the final stanza Young took a Wagner punt on his own 35 and ran it back to mid-field. A penalty against the Seahawks moved the Bears to the loser's 34. Two first downs moved it to the 11, and on last down Young shot around right end from the six. He made it and the score read 18-6.

In the closing minutes a Perfette pass was intercepted by Steve Muench, on the Seahawk 40, and the guard lumbered 20 yards. Young raced eight yards to the 12, Fischer picked up one and Doughty hopped around left end for another TD. This time Ehnnot split the uprights, and the game ended at 25-6.

However, the collective security we are now seeking is the only bet for a secure foundation for world peace.

college and the student body. Secondly, it will give students a greater amount of self-government. Since election to the Intra-Dorm council is by dorms rather than classes, the representative will be much closer to each student, and in that way the intra-dorm council will be the most representative body on the campus.

The Student council also tried three persons accused of taking part in a water fight at Derr October 19 at about 11 p.m. The three were charged with destruction of property, since water leaked from the third floor, where the fight took place, to the second floor. All three pleaded guilty and were sentenced to three hours work with Mr. Godshall.

COMPARE CHESTERFIELD WITH ANY OTHER CIGARETTE!

BEFORE YOU SMOKE THEM

...you can tell Chesterfields will smoke milder, because tobaccos that smell milder smoke milder.

AFTER YOU SMOKE THEM

...you have no unpleasant after-taste.

WHILE YOU SMOKE THEM you get more pleasure than any other cigarette can give you—that's why millions of smokers say: THEY SATISFY.
