Miss Eleanor Frost Snell

Dear Miss Snell:

I have got to be one of the later arrivals on the massive scene of your admirers, but I'm there!

Your record in sports annals is awesome, and I'm certain that testifies to your exceptional skill and savvy. But I reach a bit beyond those abilities in assessing another clue to your enormous success. I was privileged to watch you lead several types of contests, and I feel certain the natural love and warmth and confidence you exude is the inspiration your gifted girls absorb to make their significant skills come to life.

It's good to join the salute to you this special evening, and I fondly cherish our new friendship!

Cordially,

Milton E. Detterline, Jr.
