Y Schedules Chats, Conducts Retreat

"What to do about chapel exercises and America's role in the defense of Western Europe" have been announced by Carolyn Herber and Paul Scheirer, Y vice-presidents, as the topics to be discussed Wednesday night at two Y fireside chats.

All persons interested in either topic are requested to meet in Room 2 of Bomberger at 6:30. The group discussing chapel exercises, with Mabel Faust as student leader, will proceed to Mr. and Mrs. Staiger's home, while the other group will be led by Bill Beemer at a place to be decided. Both chats will be concluded by 8 o'clock, in time for the Forum.

Dr. Miller to Give IRC Summary of Department Of State Conferences Attended in Recent Weeks

Washington Trip Planned by PAC

Plans for the annual Washington trip were discussed by the Political Action committee of the Y at their meeting last Wednesday night in the library. The Washington trip has been planned for March 28, 29, and 30, during spring vacation. The Y members attending will visit Congress and see other places of interest in Washington, D.C.

Plans for the establishment of an Ursinus Atlantic Union chapter were also discussed.

Meistersingers Give Concert

The Meistersingers presented their first public concert of this year at Royersford Methodist church, Sunday evening, Feb. 11.

The group sang eight selections: Listen to the Lambs, Dett; The Creation, Richter; God Is a Spirit, Scholin; Holy Lord of All, Welsh-Williams; A Hymn of Brotherhood, Ramsey; and three selections from the Messiah by Handel: Surely He Hath Borne Our Griefs, and With His Stripes We Are Healed, and All We Like Sheep Have Gone Astray. Kathryn Haney '51, Jack Christ '51, and Bill Van Horn '51 were featured in solo selections.

DISCUSS DINNER-DANCE

A short business meeting of the James M. Anders Pre-Medical society was held last Tuesday night in Pfahler hall.

Plans for the coming dinner-dance sponsored by the society took up the major portion of the meeting.

Paynter-Keller Production Scores Hit In Curtain Club Group Presentation

by Mary Ann Simmendinger '53

The first Curtain Club group production, The Old Lady Shows Her Medals, by J. M. Barrie was presented last Tuesday night by the Stage Trotters, a group headed by Marjorie Paynter and Jackie Keller.

Well known on the Ursinus stage is Jackie Keller '51 who presented a near convincing performance as Mrs. Dowe, an overly eager old Scottish charwoman living in London, who, wishing to contribute something to the war effort, writes letters and sends cakes to a Scottish infantryman, Kenneth Dowe, whose name she chose out of a newspaper.

In the third scene to the satisfaction of the audience Jackie accomplished Mrs. Dowe's utter despair and desolation after Kenneth Dowe's death, by her pantomime performance.

A promising performance was Ed Sella's '54 who played the Scottish soldier going off to war. A newcomer to the Ursinus stage, Ed comes from Donellen, New Jersey, where he was an active member of the dramatic club in high school.

Comedy was mixed with the tragedy of the play, for one could not help but be amused by the neighboring charwomen who in one scene attempted to out-do one another in boasting of their contributions to the war effort and later trying to outdo each other again, all giving a carton of cigarettes to the departing soldier.

The aloof Mrs. Haggerty played by Grace Matthews '52 presented a convincing performance as did Mrs. Mickleham, Doris Fite '52, and Mrs. Tully, Sally Schaaaf '54.

Sally is also a new comer to the Ursinus stage who has done dramatic work in high school.

A good performance was turned in by the spry Rev. Mr. Wilkinson, Joe Mann '51, who stayed with the role throughout.

Adding to the atmosphere of the play was the staging of Mrs. Dowe's degenerate abode which was skillfully handled by Marjorie Taylor.

Direction of the play by Marjorie Paynter was especially notable considering the time element allowed for preparing the production.

3 Graduate School Test Dates Released

A reminder of test dates for Ursinus students interested in examinations for admission to graduate schools was issued this week by Dr. J. H. Brownback.

Most immediate of these is the law school admissions test, which will be given at Ursinus on Feb. 24. All applications for this test must be in the hands of the Educational Testing service, P. O. Box 592, Princeton, N. J., by Feb. 14.

The medical college admissions tests will be given here on May 12. Candidates applying for admission to classes beginning in the fall of 1952 are urged to take this test. Certain schools of nursing and dentistry also require it. Completed applications must reach the ETS by April 28.

On May 4 and 5 the graduate record exam will again be given here. The deadline for filing applications in New Jersey for this test is April 20.

Anyone desiring information about these tests is asked to call Dr. Brownback's office. Those who are planning to take one of them are asked to notify Dr. Brownback in addition to filing an application with ETS in Princeton.

Ursinus to Enter Competition In Intercollegiate Bridge

This year for the first time Ursinus will enter the intercollegiate bridge tournament, which culminates in a final round at Chicago on April 20 and 21. Any local bridge enthusiasts may enter the competition. The 16 pairs ranking highest in the preliminary round, which will be played this month by mail, will meet in the final rounds with their expenses paid by the Tournament committee.

The local competition will begin February 18, and practice rounds will begin this week. Details will be announced over the dining hall public address system. Dr. Foster Dennis is tournament director.

Play Contest in Progress; May Day Heads Named

Alumna to Speak At Girls' Color Day Program Thursday

Freshman women, transfer students of at least one semester's standing and new preceptresses will receive the Ursinus colors Thursday at the 25th annual Color Day ceremony, held in Bomberger chapel at 4 p.m. Mrs. Thomas P. Glassmoyer '40, a member of the editorial staff of the Alumni Journal, will be the principal speaker.

Color Day exercises will also witness the installation of the freshman representatives elected last week—for the WSGA, Jenepher Price; for the WAA, Marge Merrifield; for the YWCA, Joan Kaack. Joanne Friedlin, secretary of the class of '54, will accept the colors for her class.

The significance of the Ursinus Colors to Me will be explained by Mrs. Glassmoyer, the former Terry Thierolf. Extremely active while a student here, Mrs. Glassmoyer was president of the English club, the Curtain club and Alpha Sigma Nu. Among her other activities she was a member of Alpha Psi Omega, Meistersingers, Intersorority council . . .

Forum to Feature Indian Editor At Next Session

Dr. Pasupuleti Gopala Krishnaya, noted Indian lecturer, will speak to the Forum on India and the Cold War at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Bomberger chapel.

Dr. Krishnaya graduated from the University of Madras in India, where he taught for a number of years and was actively associated with all nation building activities in his part of the country. For some time he held the Kings Commission as an officer in the British Army—an honor held by few Indians.

He belongs to the House of Trinual Naick whose descendants ruled over the greater part of southern India and Ceylon for nearly 500 years before the British occupation.

Dr. Krishnaya did graduate work and research at Columbia and New York universities. He is at present the editor and publisher of Orient and the World and managing editor of The India and U.S.A. News Service, a news syndicate of India covering this country and the United Nations for some influential papers in India and Pakistan.

Dr. Krishnaya is widely traveled and has spoken extensively on the platform and over the radio to colleges, high schools and various business and woman's clubs through the country.

IMPORTANT MEETING

All pre-dental and pre-medical students, regardless of their standings in the classes, are requested to meet in S-12 at 7 p.m., Monday, Feb. 19. Included in the business will be a discussion of the meaning of the med school admissions tests.

May Pageant manager Marjorie Paynter has announced that the annual contest for the selection of a May Pageant is now in progress. The deadline is March 5, and pageants should be turned into Dean Camilla Stahr. The prize this year for the winning pageant has been raised to $25 instead of $15.

At a recent meeting of the May Day committee, including Dean Stahr, Miss Maribelle Waldo, Mary McPherson, Marilyn Jean Miller and Marjorie Paynter, the following senior girls were chosen to head the eight May Day committees: Virginia Wilson, costumes; Jean Heron, music; Beverly Tuttle, grounds; Jacquelyn Keller and Lillian Skiba, programs; Gwen Schaffer, properties; Marilyn Jean Miller, publicity; and Margaret Simcox, hospitality.

Costume chairman Virginia Wilson and manager Marjorie Paynter have already begun work on the new gowns for the attendants. Any girls who sew are urged to contact either of these girls in order to help with the eight attendants' gowns as well as with the gown for . . .

Eight Enter Ursinus For Spring Term

The opening of the new semester at Ursinus last Monday introduced five men and three women into the freshman class and two transfer students into the junior class.

The freshmen who have enrolled this semester are: Henry Stephen, biology, Philadelphia; Thomas Ronald Downey, biology, Lansdale; J. Frederick Jervis, Jr., political science, Philadelphia; Charles Walter Long, history, Quakertown; Marjorie Anne Ross, mathematics, Philadelphia; Stephen Herbert Rovno, biology, Philadelphia; Roberta Louise Samber, English, New York City; Rachel Iris Stapler, history, Philadelphia. Jerome Isenberg, Philadelphia, and Lawrence Eugene Jacobson, Rockville Centre, N.Y., both of whom are biology majors, are the new transfer students into the junior class.

An exact figure of the present enrollment at Ursinus this semester has not yet been released. The indications are, however, that the college has lost very few male students to the armed forces during the interim between semesters.

'Speak Easy' Title Of 'Ruby' Show

Remember "Dusty Halo"? The senior class found their first theatrical venture so successful that they are planning another musical comedy, "Speak Easy," to be produced March 9 and 10. The book for "Speak Easy," which contains three acts, was written by Emile Schmidt and Joe Beardwood; the completely original score is by Aubre Givler, and Murray Grove handled the lyrics.

Although the show will be for the benefit of the 1951 Ruby, members of all classes are invited to try out for a role tonight at 7 in room 7, Bomberger. Seniors are especially urged to try out for their show.

TV AUDITIONS SLATED

A TV audition of an all-Ursinus show for Bennett Productions' program, Stars in Your Eyes, will be held in Bomberger, Thursday night at 7 p.m. A recording will be made at that time.

Anyone interested in contributing talent should contact Howard Roberts or Emile Schmidt, who are preparing a sequence of acts.

ENGLISH CLUB

David Hallstrom '51 reviewed the poetry of A. E. Housman at the English club meeting at Dr. McClure's home last Monday. The next meeting will be on February 19, when Jeanne Stewart will discuss John Mason Brown's Still Seeing Things.

Attend Forums?

We students claim to be paying our money to the College so that we may be liberally educated and yet we constantly fail to take advantage of one of the important ingredients of such an education—the forums.

Some of us exhibit apathy toward these programs and a few deny any interest at all; but the great majority of us seems to say that forums are attractive, but, unfortunately, we simply do not have time to attend them.

Certainly these programs are an important part of our college education, since there is far more to an education than what we get from books.

The saying "Don't let your books interfere with your education" is not entirely void of truth. The forums give us an opportunity to hear men accepted as authoritative in their fields and to discuss with them topics on which they have outstanding qualifications.

If the programs are worthwhile, then, why don't we attend them? The answer most often given, as I have indicated, is that we don't have time. Or are we simply rationalizing? We human beings are great people for convincing especially ourselves that it is the next fellow who is wrong. We say we can't attend a forum, when we should be saying that we don't want to. All of us waste time, or at least consume some time in a manner that is not so productive or constructive as it might be. Is it not also true that all of us waste far more than enough time to attend the forums, if we really wanted? Somehow or other we always find time for those things which we desire to attend. Forums, however, are not in such a category.

This brings about a paradox. Why is it that we do not desire to attend worthwhile forums? We oft' times find that we do not want to attend classes, or eat foods which best meet the needs of our bodies. In short, we are not rational beings; we render our decisions with our emotions.

So it is with forums. They are not as attractive as dances or basketball games, or a trip to the movies, and so we fabricate the excuse that we do not have time to attend.

Yet the value to a liberal education of programs such as forums is so definitely established that our taste in regard to them judges us—we can not judge them.

The forum committee is bringing to Ursinus during the second semester several outstanding speakers. The first of these will address an audience Wednesday night in Bomberger hall. Let's stop offering excuses and imbibe an important ingredient in our education. We owe it to ourselves; we are paying for the programs.

Senior Class Discusses 'Ruby' And After-Game Record Dance

At a meeting of the senior class last Wednesday, class members received reports from the business managers for the 1951 Ruby, who urged students to bring in more advertising and patrons. Betty Rilling reminded seniors that graduation announcements and programs must be paid for within the next few weeks.

Dan Bomberger, president, announced that the class would sponsor a record dance February 24, following a home basketball game. He named Marjorie Justice chairman of the committee in charge.

RED CROSS TO ORGANIZE

The Ursinus Red Cross chapter will be formally organized in a meeting at 6:45 tonight in Bomberger hall. All those interested in any phase of Red Cross work, in home nursing, first aid, emergency relief work, or communications, should plan to attend.

Representatives from the Ursinus Red Cross chapter attended a meeting of Red Cross representatives from area colleges at Swarthmore last Saturday morning.

JUNIORS DISCUSS BANDS

The report of the music committee for the junior prom was heard at the junior class meeting Wednesday, Feb. 7. Under consideration are a group called The Haverfordians and Jimmy Ray and his band. Some members of the music committee journeyed to Merion Cricket club Saturday night to hear The Haverfordians, and a decision on an orchestra for the

French Club to Present Dance Wednesday Night in Music Studio

The West Music studio will be transformed in a gala scene featuring an Ursinus rendition of the Mardi Gras Wednesday night when the Ball Masque takes place—another product of Ursinus's French club.

All members of the French club, those desiring to join this campus extracurricular group and their friends are invited to attend costumed and masked. A donation of 35 cents per couple and stag will include refreshments. With a group of visitors from Beaver College in Jenkintown attending, plus a group of French sailors from Philadelphia, the evening promises to be a chere temps success. This continental evening of Edith Piaf and lâaisez-faire will begin at 8 o'clock.

THESPIANS TO DISCUSS PLAY

The story of some of the last few minutes in a criminal's life makes up the plot of The Condemned, a one-act drama to be presented by the Marjorie Justice-Murray Grove group of the Curtain club. The play, by Hall and Middlemass, will be produced February 27, at 7:45 p.m. in the Thompson-Gay gymnasium.

Directed by Murray Grove, the play will feature the following students: William Helfferich as James Dyke; Marjorie Justice as Josephine Paris; Murray Grove as the Warden; Herman Poore as Father Daly and Herliam Lintner as Dan.

junior prom is expected soon. The prom will be held April 20, at Sunnyside.

Attention Weekly Staff

There will be no meeting tonight. Starting this week, assignment meetings will be held 12:30 to 1 p.m. and 6:30-7 p.m. each Tuesday. Every member of the news, feature, and sports staff is expected to attend one of these or report to the Weekly office during office hours—2-3 p.m. Tuesday, 2-3 p.m. Wednesday, 2-3 p.m. Friday, and 10-11 a.m. Saturday.

ALUMNI - SOCIETY

Smith-Reed

Mrs. John W. Reed of Upper Darby, Pa., announces the marriage of her daughter Elaine to Mr. James Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Smith of Broomall, Pa. The marriage took place on December 23, 1950 in the home of the bride.

Mrs. Smith was graduated in June '50 and was a member of Kappa Delta Kappa sorority.

With 8th Fighter Wing

Lieutenant Raymond Furlong, son of Mrs. Grace M. Furlong, Radford, Va., has just returned from Korea and is assigned as an F-80 Shooting Star pilot with the 8th Fighter Wing.

Lt. Furlong was graduated from Ursinus in 1946 with a Bachelor of Science degree. In 1948 he entered Aviation Cadets and received his wings in September 1949. He was then sent to the Far East for duty with the occupation forces.

THE MAIL BOX

Dear Editor,

Thank you, Mr. President, for your active interest in behalf of the "campus draft-bait." It is reassuring and satisfying to know (as we struggle to comprehend the complexities of political science) that the chief man in the College is concerning himself with the disturbing problems of the individual student.

Sometimes we exaggerate the feeling that only our sweethearts, parents, and ourselves are interested in designs of the Selective Service. Yet here in Collegeville there has been ample evidence that our College has an interest in us as individuals.

A number of our former schoolmates might still be with us if they had heeded the advice of Dr. McClure and Registrar William E. Phillips.

—William Helfferich '51

Dictionary of Folklore and Legend Includes Work of Dr. Phillips on Pennsylvania Dutch

For thirty years Dr. William J. Phillips, Registrar and English professor at Ursinus, has been gathering colorful facts and impressions of the Pennsylvania Dutch people. Recently he has compiled the most interesting and important of these facts into an article published in the new two-volume Funk and Wagnalls edition, the Standard Dictionary of Folklore, Mythology and Legend.

The concise essay contains the origin; speech, including quaint Dutch expressions; customs; social practices; culture; cultural centers; and, naturally, the superstitions.

The Pennsylvania Dutch dialect, Dr. Phillips says, is a "mixture of Swiss, Swabian and Palatine dialects commingled with English." The humor of the speech comes from the attempt to translate German idiomatic expressions into English; thus we have "Throw the horse over the fence some hay."

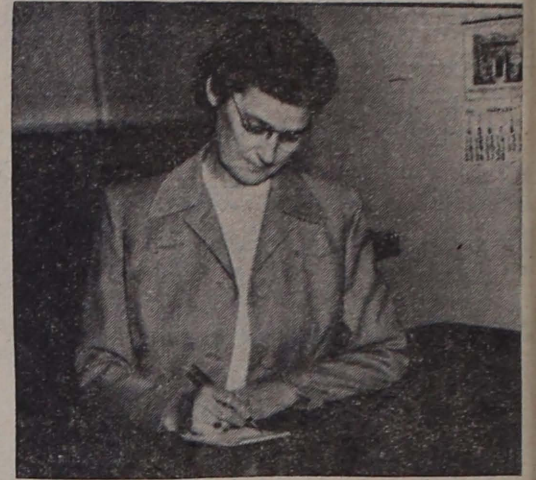

Funerals, Dr. Phillips points out, are one of the great Pennsylvania Dutch festive occasions. Great feasts are served at the gatherings by the bereaved family.

These facts, along with information on "snitzings" and Pennsylvania Dutch dinner menus are included in the article. The volume will soon be on our library shelves.

AT WORK—Mrs. J. W. Clawson at work in second floor Bomberger office.

Other Person's Job . . .

'Behind-Scenes Dean' Handles Transcripts, Records Dating from 1873, in 'Routine' Work

by Joanne Nolt '53

The dean behind the scene is the position very efficiently filled by the smiling, helpful lady who is affectionately known as Mrs. "Dean" Clawson. Mrs. J. W. Clawson, wife of Dean Clawson, is one of the well-known secretaries who works in the dean's office, second floor Bomberger.

As secretary, Mrs. Clawson keeps close tabs on all records and transcripts of present students and alumni of the college. The details which appear during a day's work are many and varied even though Mrs. Clawson insists that her job is "just routine." The end of a semester and the beginning of a new one bring additional problems.

Records of every graduating student are complete as far back as the first class of 1873. Mrs. Clawson is occasionally asked to check these records and she sends out many transcripts of present students. High schools are continually asking for records of their former students, and during the summer months Mrs. Clawson works on these records.

The successive terms when the Navy V-12 program was at Ursinus required some of the most difficult work and the longest hours. Throughout the years Mrs. Clawson has seen many changes in the courses and the curriculum. She says students now have more choice of electives than formerly. She also keeps up to date on the requirements of professional schools.

Even though she says her job is not very exciting, Mrs. Clawson gives her time and effort to the necessary details which help keep the administration running smoothly.

Job Corner

Several job opportunities were announced this week by Harry M. Frosberg, placement bureau director.

A conference for college seniors and graduate students interested in a YMCA secretaryship will be held at Central YMCA, 1421 Arch St., Philadelphia, on February 23 and 24. The program will deal with opportunities and placement procedures.

The Women's Specialist corps of the Army is offering commissions to women graduates who complete special physical therapy training. A commission is granted those who complete the required study of therapeutic exercise, phototherapy, electrotherapy, hydrotherapy, and massage.

Basic requirements include a baccalaureate degree with a major in physical education or the biological sciences, or a degree with satisfactory courses in the biological, the physical, and the social sciences.

Interested persons should contact Mr. Frosberg.

You Name It

A young country minister, noted for his joviality, was dining at a farmhouse one Sunday and when his plate of roast chicken was passed to him, he remarked facetiously:

"Well, here's where that chicken enters the ministry."

"Hope it does better there than it did in lay work," rejoined the bright boy of the family.

Perfect Timing

Mr. Newlywed rushed into the house and exclaimed excitedly, "I got tickets for the theatre. Fifth row center."

"Oh, that is wonderful," his wife enthused. "I'll start dressing at once."

"That's fine," said the husband. "The tickets are for tomorrow night."

Mighty Low

Sophomore: "But I don't think I deserve quite a zero on this paper."

Professor: "Neither do I, but it's the lowest mark I can give."

Men Reveal Resignation Toward Draft Situation

by Robert Armstrong '54

"We've all gotta be taken sometime, so why should I worry about it!" This seems to be the general attitude of the men on the Ursinus campus. Although some fellows are worried sick about the present world situation, they are most certainly in the minority. A big reason for the cool "sit back and wait" attitude of the students is that so many students are uncertain as to their standing in the draft. Since there are either new rules or proposals concerning the draft being published every day, students are withholding their gripes in hopes that certain rules affecting them will be passed or rejected soon.

One freshman, when interviewed, said the following: "Getting a deferment until June was great, but the fact that they have passed a law allowing me to choose the branch of service which I want is the only thing that kept me from enlisting. "At least," said he, "I think the law has been passed now." This new law is the chief factor in reducing the tension on our campus. Many students had contemplated enlisting at the end of the first semester to avoid the infantry, which seems to be the most undesirable branch of the armed forces to the Ursinus men. Now, whenever they are called by the selective service they will be given a short period of time during which they may find a job in an essential industry or select any branch of the service that they favor the most.

Pre-Med Gives View

A pre-med underclassman had the following to say: "I have until June to remain a civilian, unless some new law affecting pre-meds is passed. If I then have to serve four or five years in the service before I return to college, I doubt very much if I will continue in the field of medicine—due to the time it will take to complete the course which already takes from eight to ten years—or if I will return to college at all." Because Ursinus has such a large quantity of pre-med students in its male enrollment, this underclassman's problem is quite commonly brought up in the nightly bull sessions held in the dorms on the draft problem.

Ursinus men are almost unanimously in favor of universal military training. They say, "Universal training followed by a period in a reserve status would give our country strength which it has never known before. Also it would put everyone in the same boat. That way no one would have had his education interrupted, and in peace time the period in the army would allow fellows to mature to a greater degree so that they could pick their college course more intelligently."

Some students wish that an ROTC program existed at Ursinus, and many were glad to hear that

Alumnae Back and Duryea's Got 'Em; Grads Return in Role of Preceptresses

by Susanne Deitz '51

Upper classmen who have been bewildered by seeing the faces of two familiar alumnae on campus need no longer be puzzled. The new preceptresses at Duryea hall, since the Pancoasts moved into their new home, are Anne Hughes and Sally App, prominent members of the class of 1950.

Both are English teachers, Sally at Pottstown High school and Anne at Spring City High school; they had been sharing a room in Pottstown, but from now until June they will inhabit a spacious five room apartment on the first floor of Duryea. They are both quite happy the U.S. Air Force may open up a training program here. The campus contained a Naval V-12 unit during the last war.

In conclusion, the attitude toward world conditions and the draft seems to be as follows: cool heads, calm patience and a hope that students will be able to finish their education.

in the arrangement, because, although they were good friends during the four years they spent in Glenwood and Maples, they never before had the chance to room together.

They find their position on campus quite unique; though grads, they are still a part of the college life. They both mention how unusual it is to be back at Ursinus without classmates, activities or school work; but they feel their situation is more pleasant than that most alumni would encounter. They mention how much help had been given them by Miss Stahr and Martha Franklin in getting them settled in their new quarters.

Sally and Anne both feel the experience is a good one, especially since they are receiving it in "home territory." As they put it they "know what to expect in a dorm." Their aim is to set a good example for the girls, and if you want to know how well that's working, just ask the Duryea girls.

Coach Seeders Drives Bruins Toward Coveted Middle Atlantic Championship

For the third time, in the five years that Coach Jerry Seeders has been masterminding the basketball fortunes of Ursinus, the Bears are again in the thick of the championship fight. The old saw of the bridesmaid but never the bride has been very applicable in the two previous occasions and all concerned are determined to reverse the situation this year.

Each player has gone all out toward this goal but the man who perhaps plays the hardest game is Coach Seeders himself. He has carried his fiery competitive spirit which marked his own court battles into his coaching job to such an extent that is difficult to determine whether he or the players are the most tired at the end of the game.

Spirit and hustle have always been a part of his play since the days when he performed at Pottstown High School as an outstanding football end, despite weight hovering around the hundred pound mark, and as one of the greatest basketball players in the school's history.

Starred for Penn

He entered Penn as a Physical Education major and after playing three years of varsity ball was elected captain in 1940 of an outstanding Penn team.

After graduation Mr. Seeders spent six years in the Army attaining the rank of captain. His last post was with a hospital unit, then he performed with the hospital team averaging 18 points a game and leading his club to a third place in the European Theatre tournament. After his return he kept active in both semi-pro and professional ball at one time playing with the Philadelphia Sphas. Coach Seeders is now married and has two children; although he owns a profitable business his love for the game was responsible for his taking the coaching job at Ursinus. An old exponent of the control type of game, he has changed to the fire-house brand now prevalent in strong college and pro circles and has been very successful with it so far.

Jerry Seeders, present coach of the Bruin cageman, as he looked during his collegiate playing days at the University of Pennsylvania. Jerry was captain of the 1940 Penn quintet.

DICK GELLMAN

One of the hardest workers on the Bruin wrestling squad is sophomore Dick Gellman. Dick did not wrestle in high school, but he did gain valuable experience in a YMCA in Long Island.

His outstanding performance last year in the 133 pound division earned a membership in the Varsity club. This is quite remarkable considering that he divided duties with teammate Art Wilkie.

This year Gellman is the top wrestler in the 147 pound class. In league competition he is all even with two wins and two reverses. One of these defeats was to Haverford's Middle Atlantic champion Gouv Cadwallader. Coach Wieneke feels confident Gellman will improve with added experience, and will rank near the top of his class in the next two years.

Off the mat, Gellman is a member of the Alpha Phi Epsilon fraternity, the Varsity club, and a Soph Rules official.

LOREN ZIMMERMAN

Loren Zimmerman, or "Zimmie" as he is popularly known on campus has proven to be one of the most consistent performers for the Bears' wrestling team. As a freshman "Zimmie" took honors in the 121 weight division in intramural competition. Last year he graduated to the Varsity, while compiling an enviable 6-1 record for the season. During the Middle Atlantic Championships, held last year at the University of Delaware, Zimmerman captured third place in his class.

This year the good looking junior has made the jump to the 130 pound group. Losing none of his speed, "Zimmie" continues to electrify the fans with his agility and wrestling finesse. Already this season he has won three matches in league competition and continues to be an important cog in Coach Wieneke's squad. Hailing from Akron, Pennsylvania, Zimmie portrays all the color of the Pennsylvania Dutch. He is in the Beta Sigma Lambda fraternity and a member of the Varsity club.

GENE PASCUCCI

After taking off his football togs, Gene Pascucci donned his wrestling gear for a hard season on the mats. Pascucci started wrestling as a freshman and rapidly developed into a fine performer in the 177 pound class. Although he has never boasted a spectacular record, he has consistently turned in a smooth and aggressive performance. The 177 pound class boasts some of the best wrestlers in the league.

Judging by his campus activities, Pascucci's versatility is not limited to athletic prowess. His other activities include work in Varsity club, the Lantern, Newman club, and the Weekly and the Alpha Phi Epsilon fraternity. A business administration major, Pascucci was recently named co-manager of the 1952 Ruby.

During the first weekend of exams when most of us were hitting the books, a hot Grizzly relay team won themselves third place medals in the Inquirer indoor meet. Having no indoor oval on which to practice, the squad composed of Roy Foster, Will Loomis, Ralph Zeigler and Gerry Barrett finished behind St. Joes and Temple with a time of 3:42.8. Of worthy note is the fact that this time knocked about eight seconds off last year's reading, giving promise of a satisfactory performance in the Penn Relays during April. With a team picked from the above, plus Paul Scheirer, Bill Fischer and John Gruber, this group of Ray Gurzynski's may make their presence felt.

We're beginning to wonder who you have to know or what you have to do around here to play a little basketball. Day after day it's the same old story—if a few guys want to take a break from their studies and keep from getting stale by playing some ball for an hour or two it's almost looked upon by the higher-ups as a crime. We, and a couple hundred other hoop enthusiasts, know from experience.

There are four excellent backboards out on the tennis courts that could be used on clear days. But how many baskets can you find? One, and that one is due to fall off any day now. Last year it was the same problem, but the Student Council acted and a couple of hoops were finally erected. But that was late in the semester, and when the tennis season started the baskets soon disappeared.

In respect to the tennis teams there's reason behind taking the baskets down when the racket-wielders go into action, but it's difficult to conceive why they cannot remain in use the rest of the year. You get pretty sick and tired of standing around waiting for a chance to play on the only court that can be used when there seems to be no reason for the shortage of hoops.

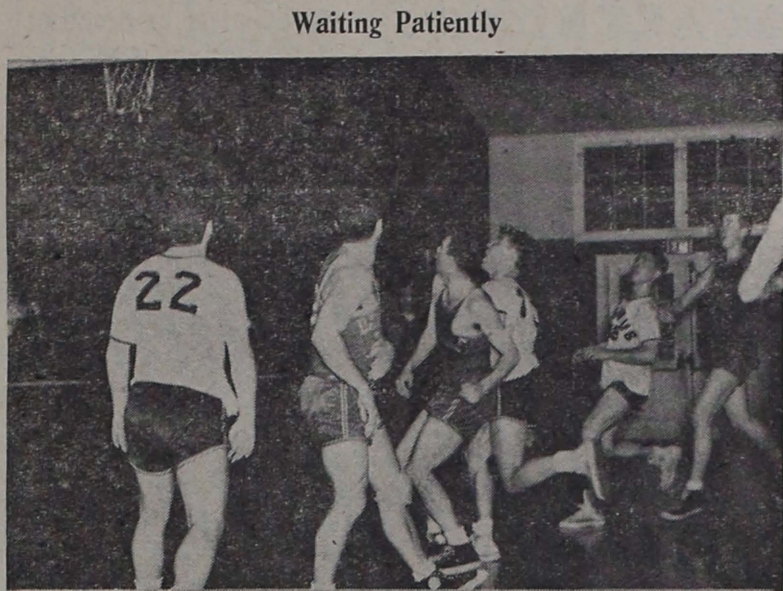

Of course you can try to play in one of the two gyms. If the old gym isn't in use you're allowed to play. But it's difficult to try to find any time during the week when it isn't being used by classes, girls' basketball teams, badminton, play practice and whatnot. That leaves the new gym, but when that magnificent edifice isn't being used they're either sweeping the floor or trying to see their own reflection in the well-polished floors.

The excuse always given for closing the gym is that the balls may be stolen or bad sneakers or street shoes will mark the floor. But those who want to play are more than willing to supply their own balls, as well as put on a pair of sneakers. And those sneakers are the same that are worn during the intramural games. How they can mark the floor during the day and not do so at night is beyond us. Besides, there's always a janitor around who could check the shoes that are being worn.

The bare fact remains that nobody gives a darn about letting you play, and it would be hard to convince a great part of the male student body otherwise. We're quite sure that the fellows who want to play basketball would be more than willing to cooperate with any rules if they were only given a decent break. But as it stands now they can either try to play outside occasionally or wait to play intramurals one night a week.

One of the biggest advantages to be gained from playing sports is a sense of fair play. If the basketball enthusiasts at Ursinus are receiving a fair break, then our idea of the phrase is all haywire. And if you think we're alone in this stand, just do a little investigating.

Grizzlies Win and Lose In Non-League Contests

Bears Top Elizabethtown 58-56 Before Mid-Semester Lay-off

The Ursinus college basketball team turned in its second straight narrow-margin victory on Monday, January 15, by defeating Elizabethtown 58-56 on the home boards. It was the local's seventh win in 10 games, while the visitors have a 9-5 record.

Heads up play by the little man and the big man gave Ursinus victory in the hard fought contest. With only a minute and 15 seconds to play and the score knotted at 56, little Dave Reice intercepted an Elizabethtown pass to set up a climatic field goal. Big Bob Swett, under the basket, took a pass from outside and hooked a goal to give the Bears a 58-56 lead. From this point on the Grizzlies' tight defense took over. The losers were unable to work the ball into the basket and, after getting possession by waving a foul shot, the local quintet executed a successful "freeze".

At half time the score was 30-30, but Ursinus poured it on and built up a 52-43 lead late in the second period. Elizabethtown quickly cut the lead down to 52-51 with a surge of 8 straight points. Don Young broke it up with a set; however the determined visitors tallied 5 more points to take a 56-54 lead. Young again hit the mark with a set to tie the count at 56 and set the stage for Reice's interception and Swett's subsequent field goal.

Bob Swett, who was markedly ineffective on the foul line, gathered 23 points for himself to take high scoring honors, while Phil Seibel was a distant second with 9. John Brunner led the losers' attack with 12 points.

The Jayvee squad held off a late rally to preserve a 49-40 victory over the Elizabethtown scrubs.

Lehigh Captures 59-55 Decision At Bethlehem on Thurs. Night

Ursinus couldn't do anything right Thursday night at Lehigh's Grace hall in Bethlehem, and the Engineers won a 59-55 decision. The Bears took a little too long to get acquainted at the beginning of each half, and while they were hesitating Lehigh took a lead they could not quite overcome.

More accuracy from the foul line might have put a different ending on the story. The Bruins only took advantage of seven of their 15 chances. The winners netted three out of 16; but their shooting average was .388 compared to .300 for Ursinus.

On top in the scoring department for Lehigh was Tom Ven Vertlow, whose deadly accuracy from outside pushed the Engineers into the lead at the beginning of each half. Dick Gratton had 13 and Tom Comly 11. Will Wimberg fired in eight baskets and a foul shot for 17 points to pace Ursinus. Don Young and Bob Swett each had twelve and Stosh Cohen ten.

After three Lehigh shots went awry, Swett's free toss gave the Bears their only lead of the game. Before the tussle was six minutes old, Lehigh led 16-2. Ursinus pecked away at the advantage slowly, finishing with a nine-point splurge to knot the count at 25-all before the half.

It was the same story when the meeting came to order again. Ven Vertlow dropped seven points and Scotty Malcolm two, and just like that Lehigh again had a big lead. Ursinus started to work on it, but every time they got close Lehigh pulled away. With four minutes remaining the scoreboard read 55-47, Lehigh. Swett and Cohen contributed and then Young stole the ball and dribbled through most of the opposition to make it 55-53. The scoreboard said three minutes to go, but after Don Moyle made a field goal, it said only one was left.

There was a jump-ball. Ira Bronson tapped the ball to Wimberg who missed a shot, but Young followed it up and the Bears were two points in arrears. Moyle missed a shot for Lehigh and then Stosh Cohen was off on a set that would have tied. Moyle's second try was accurate and after another try by Cohen and a missed foul by Engineer Joe Workman, the scrap ended.

The Cubs succumbed 68-44.

Brodbeck I & II, Stine Lead
Brodbeck I, Brodbeck II and Stine took over the leads in intramural play last week. In League I the Stine Steamrollers (2-0) whipped Derr I (0-2) 36-24 to deadlock Brodbeck I (2-0) for the lead in their division. The latter trounced 724, 48-27, as Freeland I (0-1) and Curtis I (1-0) were idle.
In League II Brodbeck II (3-0) picked up ground by edging Derr II (1-1) 23-24, while contender Fetterolf (2-0) topped Curtis II (1-2) 44-41. Fenstermachers (1-2)

Bears Edge Blue Hens For Loop Lead, 62-60

by Don Stauffer '51

The battling Bruins clawed their way to the top rung of the Middle Atlantic Southern Division Saturday evening as they edged out Delaware's Blue Hens 62-60 in the Ursinus gymnasium.

It was another typical Saturday evening thriller that saw the Bears come from behind twice in the last three minutes to gain the victory. The winning volley was fired by diminutive Dave Reice on a beautiful, twisting lay up with twenty seconds to go. In the remaining seconds the Grizzlies waived three foul shots to successfully freeze the victory.

It was a genuine team victory from Coach Seeders down to the last substitute. Will Wimberg led the local five with 14 points, most of them on sensational one-handers. Dave Reice was spectacular. He scored twice in the last two minutes when the Bears desperately needed points. Co-captain Don Young stole the ball, handed out assists, and swished numerous long push shots. Phil Seibel was equally effective. He consistently outjumped the entire Delaware team to sweep in a majority of the precious rebounds, besides scoring 12 points with his uncanny shots. Ira Bronson, Stosh Cohen and Herb Knoll all added important points during the fray.

An overflow crowd watched Delaware's Bill Utt and Wimberg trade foul shots in the opening minute. The lead changed several times during the first ten minutes with the Newark five holding the advantage. The Bears went out in front 10-6 on shots by Wimberg and Seibel, but they lost the lead at 14-13 and did not regain the lead until they caught fire late in the first half.

With three minutes remaining the Bruins trailed 23-22. Utt hit with a one hander at this point to widen the score at 25-22. Then Bob Swett converted a foul shot, Bronson tallied a lay-up and converted two free tosses. Wimberg banged in a one-hander. Cohen stole the ball and zipped through another one hander and Wimberg added two more points. Before Delaware could regain consciousness the first half was over and the Bears led 33-26.

The Blue Hens changed their tactics in the second half when they switched to an all-court press, but Ursinus maintained a comfortable lead at 37-32. They spread the margin to 45-36 on a hook by Seibel and a jump shot by Wimberg.

Delaware Closes the Gap
With ten minutes remaining Ursinus led 48-42, but Dick Goldberg tallied a lay-up, Dick Evans converted a foul shot and Goldberg added four more points to whittle the Ursinus lead to 52-51.

The last four minutes were hectic ones. Wimberg broke a tie at 53 with a driving lay-up. Delaware's Albera netted three points to put the visitors ahead 56-54. Young scored for Ursinus, Evans scored for Delaware and Reice scored to give Ursinus the lead again 59-58. Utt converted a foul to tie at 59. Knoll and Evans exchanged fouls to continue the tie at 60 with one minute to go. This set the stage for Reice's dramatic, winning lay-up.

Belles Bag First Over Bryn Mawr

In a game marked by fast passing and exceptional guarding, the Ursinus Belles overwhelmed Bryn Mawr by 38-11 on January 15 at Bryn Mawr.

With Captain Betty Keyser, Adele Boyd, and Sara Parent holding their opponents to less than four points per quarter, Marguerite Spencer and Audrey Rittenhouse scored sixteen and eleven points respectively to win the season's opener. Completely bewildered, the outplayed girls from Bryn Mawr were never close, being outscored 12-2 in the first period. Mermaids Triumph Over Drexel, 35-22

Showing the same type of spirit that enabled Ursinus to have championship swimming teams several years ago, the Ursinus Mermaids defeated Drexel 35-22 in their opening meet.

Sallie Lumis and captain Anne Marzahl churned down the pool to garner first and second places in the free style. Annie Van Elswick, back stroker, then took third place in a closely contested race. Breast stokers Joan Compton and Bev Syvertsen continued to help keep Ursinus out in front by coping first and second honors.

The Medley team of Van Elswick, Compton, and Jeanne Cilley finished four seconds ahead of their opponents. Freshman divers Joan Leet and Joan Strode showed great promise by winning second and third places. The freestyle relay team of Marzahl, Lumis, Cilley and Kay Hood won to give the final score of 35-22.

Dr. Baker Choses Poetry of A. E. Housman for Reading

Dr. Donald G. Baker read selections from the poetry of A. E. Housman in the first in the second semester's series of English literature readings last Tuesday night.

Dr. Baker read from all three of Housman's published volumes of poetry. He began with the lyrics which mention English sports and ended with poems describing nature such as those beginning with "Loveliest of trees, the cherry now," and "The rainy Pleiades wester." Also included were poems on youth, war and disappointed love, all pervaded with Housman's satisfying melancholy.

CURTAIN CLUB TO MEET

The Curtain Club will hold a mass meeting Tuesday, February 20, at 7 p.m. in Bomberger chapel. Plans will be made at that time for the spring play. The playreading committee, chairmanned by Joseph Beardwood '51, is at present discussing the selection of a play for the spring production. Following the mass meeting the club will split into its groups for demonstrations and rehearsals.
