THE SENIOR CLASS---1953

URSINUS COLLEGE

DR. JOHN HAROLD BROWNBACK

Dedication

It is difficult for us to pay sufficient tribute to the man whose name was for so many years synonymous with Ursinus College. Many of his students will long be grateful for Dr. Brownback's encouragement—"You can do it!"—his widespread influence, and his genuine and personal interest in every one of them. We remember well the phone call interruptions of all his lectures, the brown shirts, his desire always to meet parents, his "Very superior!" To everyone who knew him, Dr. Brownback was a sympathetic friend and, indeed, Ursinus.

DR. MAURICE W. ARMSTRONG
Dean of the College

Dr. Maurice W. Armstrong, professor of history at Ursinus since 1945, and now head of that department, was chosen dean of the college upon the retirement of Dean John W. Clawson in July, 1952. Aside from his professional qualifications, Dr. Armstrong possesses fully those of the genial, sympathetic, yet firm personality that his new position demands.

He was graduated from Dalhousie University and later received his M.A., degree from the same University; at Pine Hill Divinity School he earned the degrees of B.D. and S.T.M. Later Harvard graduated him with the Ph.D. degree.

Besides his activities at the college, Dr. Armstrong devotes time to such organizations as the Presbyterian Historical Society and the Pennsylvania Industrial Home for Blind Women. For several years he served as interim minister of the Walnut Street Presbyterian Church in Philadelphia. His book, "The Great Awakening in Nova Scotia", was the Brewer Prize Essay in Church History.

Now that they're ended, these four years seem to have flown. Has it really been so long since our freshman men closed the Annex? So long since frosh customs were really a tribulation? Not only did we endure, we surmounted that pristine college green, rallying 'round our first president, George Ott. Ours was the first freshman class to sponsor its own semi-formal. That was the Cinderella Ball, where Ruth Reed began her series of campus coronations. Next year it was the Pot of Gold, with the T-G rafters swathed in rainbow. Last year not a dorm escaped a paper flower quota for the Junior Prom. Twice did we raise the curtain on our own variety shows. In just this short time the list of class mentionables has steadily lengthened, and the class of '53 promises to furnish more cause for pride as every year slips by.

The Junior Class

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS:

Sella, President; Popowich, Vice-President; Reiniger, Secretary,
Hartman, Treasurer.

Upperclassmen was our status, success our aim as we started on the road as juniors. Leading us was President Ed Sella, and under his hand we found that smooth traveling. We had already established ourselves as a class with "The Big Top" our freshman year and with our sophomore specialty, "The Dancing Tambourine". Next came the big Junior Weekend, highlighted by the Prom, always one of the outstanding dances of the year, but to us the best.

We are now looking forward to stepping into senior position with a vow to fill it capably. With continuance of the spirit that has always been ours, our last year will surely be our best and most memorable.

ORGANIZATIONS

W.S.G.A.

Seated: Moore, Price, Gulick, president; Barnhardt, Standing: Mersfelder, Weaver, Haines, Haslam, Scheffler.

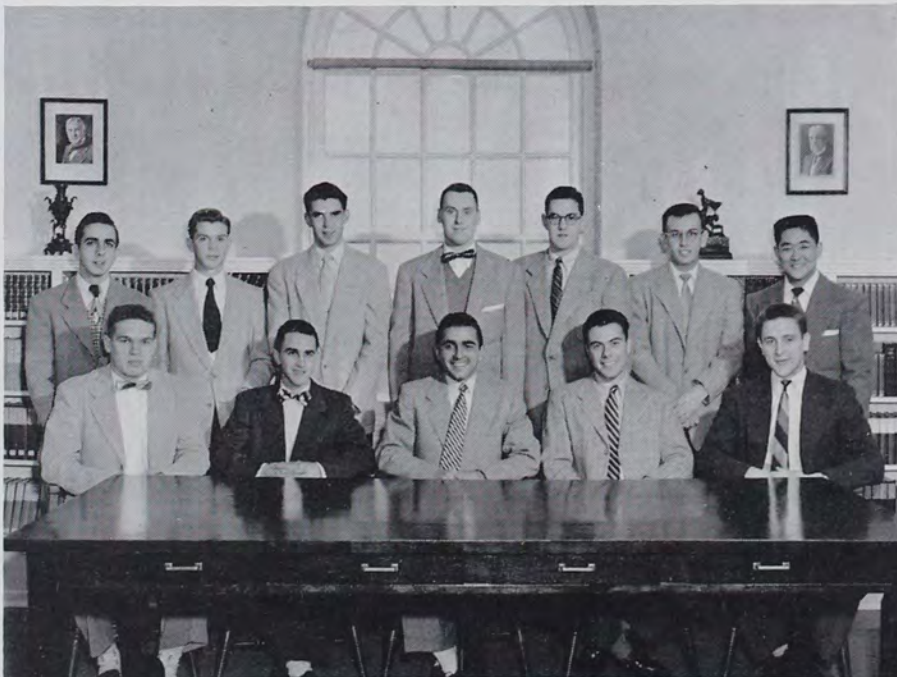

Student government at Ursinus is the means by which students may govern and discipline themselves. Although the men and women have separate student governments, the two Councils work together on problems common to both, such as the proposed Student Union.

The Women's Student Government Association operates through three major branches—the Student Council, the Senate and the Judiciary Board—and their special committees, as well as through Hall Boards in each dormitory. As a result, a large proportion of women students are actively engaged in the processes of self-government.

The executive arm of the Men's Student Government Association is the Student Council of thirteen members, representing all four classes. The Council enacts rules, tries discipline cases, and presents student requests to the Administration.

Working separately or together, the student governments attempt to foster cooperation between students and Administration and to develop keener spirit and better organization among the students of Ursinus.

Seated: Bennett, Alameno, Giangiulio, president; Kern, Kiefaber. Standing: Foreman, Dawkins, Reinhardt, Westerhoff, Hartman, Zimakas, Ito.

Comprising dormitory presidents and senators and heads of major organizations, this group functions as both disciplinary and governing body for women students. Its activities range from constitutional revisions to decisions on campus conduct and dress. This year it succeeded in altering some freshman regulations and has strongly encouraged planning of the proposed student union.

This year's Pre-Legal Society will be remembered by most Ursinus students for the two highly controversial debates which it sponsored during the election year of 1952. These were the Taft debate and the Eisenhower-Stevenson debate, featuring Dr. Miller, Dr. Baker, and Mr. Pancoast. Guest speakers such as Judge Arnold E. Forest of Montgomery County Court and others with the legal profession have appeared at the meetings. Climaxing the year's events is the annual banquet given by Dr. Donald Helfferich, society sponsor, at which time officers are elected.

Y Cabinet

First row: Hausman, Grater, Wagner, Faust, Montgomery.
Second row: Manning, Shillingford, Weisel. President Y.M.-C.A.: Kacik, President Y.W.-C. A.: Higgins, Crawford.
Third row: Bright, Haverstick, Grant, Schwenk, Bintner, Zimakas, Long, Dawkins.

Once separate groups, the Y.W.C.A. and the Y.M.C.A. now operate collectively as the "Y". It boasts one of the fullest activities schedules on the campus, witness such events in the past year as the inter-faith seminar, the professors' panels, morning watch services every Wednesday during Lent and Advent, weekly Sunday evening vesper services, and joint action with the I.R.C. in the flood relief campaign. Early in the year the Y sponsored a student work day, proceeds of which went to charity, and its members frequently participate in Philadelphia's weekend work camps. The fellowship aspect reaches its peak in the annual spaghetti dinner and the spring and fall weekend retreats.

Y-Retreat

Members of the International Relations Club have joined other groups and other students to learn and to better understand the problems of world neighbors. Delegates represented Ursinus at a Model Security Council, a Model General Assembly, a reception for Carlos P. Rumolo, and at State Department conferences in Washington. Mr. Maquiso, Mr. Frederick Kettle, and Senor Bingen de Arbeloa spoke on the Philippines, western Europe and Venezuela. The distinguished Dr. Charles Chandler, veteran diplomat, honored the club with his visit in March, and on all occasions the organization was gently guided by Dr. Eugene Miller.

Seated: Scharf, secretary-treasurer; McConnell, Carbough. Standing: Ulbrich, Howard, Byers.

The Spirit Committee

First row: John, Shinehouse, Killheffer, Aamot, Hunsicker.
Second row: Kehler, Armstrong, president; Ostermayer, Roeder.
Third row: Weaver, Murphy, Witzel, Saltzer, Fisher, Austin, Wright.

The one group that was unfailingly behind every athletic event of the term was the Spirit Committee. With devices ranging from slogan studded pep tags to torch light parades, the committee kindled and maintained enthusiasm for all sports. Proceeds from the several record dances in the gym helped the college band and purchased the banner that spanned Main Street throughout the football season.

The Cub and Key fraternity has maintained a nature of acting quietly on the campus exemplifying the virtues of good, clean, reputable college living. The campus group has had close contact with the alumni members on various occasions for improving the goals of the society. This year's scholarship award set up by appropriations of the club members went to Jack Matlaga.

Before a pledgee is considered for membership much deliberation and concern about his attitudes and manner of conduct are painstakingly discussed, as Dr. Miller, our adviser, will avow. New members are "tapped" at the Junior Prom.

The Lantern

First row: Canan, Jones, faculty adviser, Feldt, editor-in-chief; Leaman, business manager; Sapp, Lukens. Second row: Wagner, Test, Dedekind, Smith, Schulz, Lewis, Frankel, Allen, Garrow.

The Lantern is the literary magazine at Ursinus. Founded in 1933, with Eugene Miller as editor, the Lantern has served as an outlet for creative writing and "individual expression in the literary field". In this tri-annual publication appear stories, essays, poems, and reviews, all submitted by students. The cover sketches are selected from those designed by a group of five student artists. Mr. Jones has served as faculty adviser for several years.

Unlike the other "language" clubs, the English club is an honorary organization. Members meet every other Monday evening in Dr. McClure's home to discuss informally some aspect of literature. Together they choose a particular branch of literature each year. This year's talks centered on modern British and American poetry. Membership is based on the student's interest in English literature and is permanent until graduation.

Seated: Sprenkle, Ostermayer, Canan, secretary-treasurer; Lukens, president; Gulick, Mersfelder. Standing: Neborak, Austin, Fisher, Neborak, Allen, Walker, Garrow.

The English Club

The Debating Club

Seated: Fiedler, Handy, Schneier. Standing: Downey, Keen, Frankel.

With Dr. Kershner as our sponsor, the club has participated in the Temple Novice Tournament each fall, the Benjamin Franklin Tournament each spring, and other scheduled debates. We maintain a charter in Tau Kappa Alpha, the honorary debating society, and at present have two members, Jeanette Schneier and Diana Handy.

The name Chi Alpha, The Love of Christ, was adopted by this society in 1950 in place of the name Brotherhood of St. Paul. The group has grown from eight members in 1950 to twenty-seven active members this term. Reverend Creager is the faculty adviser, and for the past two years Elwood Williams has been Moderator.

Chi Alpha, X A, has a well-planned program for discussion and at times invites outside speakers. X A gives the traditional Candlelight Christmas Communion service each year. In the past two years it has also sponsored the prayers at the evening meals. A bar-b-que picnic is the social climax to each year's work.

Chi Alpha

Alpha Psi Omega

Seated: Leaman, vice president; Mersfelder, Hopple, president; De Sola, Feldt, secretary; Standing: Sella, Roberts, Lucas, Abramson.

Alpha Psi Omega, the national honorary dramatic fraternity occupies an unusual place on campus. Along with Chi Alpha, Pi Gamma Mu, and Who's Who it is the only place where Ursinus undergraduates can achieve national recognition. Election to Alpha Psi Omega is made on the basis of achievement in dramatics. Upon receiving a bid, after having worked long hours on the stage and behind the scenes, a pledge undergoes an initiation in keeping with the spirit of the theater. Delta Tau, the Ursinus cast of Alpha Psi Omega, this year revived an old custom of attending plays as a group. First semester the members were thrilled to the Drama Quartet's interpretation of Shaw's Don Juan In Hell.

"And love is greater than illusion and as strong as death!" With these words the curtain fell on another dramatic success for the Curtain Club, Death Takes a Holiday. The play was directed by Mr. Geoffrey Dolman and Mr. H. Lloyd Jones. Howard Roberts, last year's president, was magnificent as Death and Glenna Geiger did a superb portrayal of Grazia, the princess who loved him.

Throughout the year the Curtain club presents four one-act plays. These groups were directed this year by Nan Bergman and Ivy Leaman, Janie Hopple and Milo Zimmerman, Jean Austin and Jim Scott, and Carol Lucas and Li Frankel. The club winds up the year in grand style with the presentation of its second major production, a spring comedy given May Day Weekend.

The Weekly editorial staff is the group of writers who help to maintain a steady reader interest by personalized columns. The aim of the staff is, of course, truth and accuracy. The editorial page is the most criticized because of its subjectivity. It is often a sheet with conflicting ideas and opinions. But on this page appear the articles summarizing the news both inside and outside the college as observed by the editorial staff.

The news staff of this weekly "rag" is composed of the main contributors to the paper. These news hounds report as directly and truthfully as possible on the current college events. The news staff writers report the news, while the editorial staff members comment on it.

The Weekly

The Ursinus Weekly sports columns were edited by Ted Wenner and Pat Garrow, with a particular sport assigned to each member of their staff to assure adequate coverage. In addition to these regular game write-ups, Ted's feature column "Looking 'Em Over" presented carefully prepared analyses of visiting and home teams. Other columns discussed and made prophecies on the progress and prospects of our teams.

The business end of the news sheet was handled by George Bock, whose chief duties were directing finances, gathering ads, and supervising distribution of the paper.

Meistersingers have earned a reputation for excellent choral work that has spread from the campus to much of eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey. During the year they fulfill many requests for concerts by churches and other organizations. They form the nucleus of the chorus for the annual presentation of The Messiah during the Christmas season and provide music for the yearly Christmas communion. The Meistersingers are under the baton of Dr. William F. Philip.

The Beardwood Chemical Society proclaims itself a scientific society dedicated to the improvement of the intellectual, educational, and professional standards of the students of chemistry. In 1950 the society became a Student Affiliate Chapter of the American Chemical Society.

The organization fosters interest in chemical education by inviting as guest speakers outstanding chemists to the regular monthly meetings, by sponsoring tours of chemical plants and laboratories in the vicinity, by encouraging the preparation of research projects, and by attending regional science conferences.

The Pre-med Society which this year changed its name from J. M. Anders Pre-Med Society to the Brownback-Anders Pre-Med Society, continued its program of presenting excellent speakers in all phases of medicine, not only for those who plan to go to medical school, but for any interested students. Social highlight of the year was its annual dinner dance.

F. T. A.

First row: Parent, Carter, Pade, Williams, Oliver, Kain, Gulick, Bjornsson, Sprengle, Walker, Higgins. Second row: Helwig, Unger, Feldt, Hitchner, Rapp, Laib, treasurer; Lucas, president; Austin, secretary; Abrahamson, vice-president; Price, Strode, Murphy, Haines. Third row: Paolone, Hess, Handy, Diehl, Lynn, Conestrina, Syvertsen, Reeser, Leet, Hood, Scheffler, Barnhardt, Mersfelder, Vart, Harte, Rittenhouse, Neborak. Fourth row: Holley, Sella, Burger, Kolp, Harris, Webb, Anderson, Bowman, Carter, Fellows, Weisel, Hartman, Giangiulio, Guth.

One of the largest pre-professional clubs on campus, the Future Teachers of America attempts to cope with the problems of and to make familiar the conditions of teaching. The meetings are general discussion groups, often headed by guests speakers, and it is at the meetings that student teachers compare notes and grievances of their classroom experiences. Spring added an F.T.A. convention at Ursinus to the club's social calendar. Carol Lucas, president of the local chapter, also held office in the larger organization, the southeastern district of Pennsylvania.

Pi Gamma Mu is the national social science honor society whose life members have maintained a B average in twenty hours of social studies courses. Its selectivity is attested by the fact that this year's group comprises only eight members. Two banquets a year highlight the group's activities, and occasional conferences are attended by the members.

Seated: De Sola, Vart, vice-president; Carter, secretary-treasurer. Standing: Gulick, Lockhart, Scharf, Canan.

Pi Gamma Mu

Canterbury Club

Seated: Wright, Hensy, Loveland, Parlee.
Standing: Earl, Schwab, Grieser.

The Canterbury Club, a Protestant Episcopal church group sponsored by the Reverend Mr. Plattes, has enjoyed many pleasant and enlightening evenings of discussion during this year. Each fall and spring the traditional banquets are held. The club is represented in the inter-college association.

Newman Club

Seated: Ostermayer, Witzel, Tiedeken, president, De Sola.
Standing: Radomsky, Freeman, Sella, Phillips, Mauro, Giangiulio.

Ursinus' Newman Club is one of many student groups affiliated with the Catholic church throughout the country. Like the Canterbury club, its main function is to conduct discussion sessions in an effort to maintain a close relationship between the Church and campus life. Members are always present at the communion breakfasts sponsored by the church.

German Club

Seated:

Gruber, secretary-treasurer; Owens, president; Scheffler, Standing: Ulbrich, Showalter, Carbaugh, Lukens.

The German club was formed with the purpose of studying the cultural aspects of the German life. The group is composed mainly of German language students, although membership is open to anyone interested in joining in the true spirit of die alte Deutschen. Chief among the pastimes of the meetings is singing folk and popular German music. Last year the club joined with the French club in sponsoring a Fastnacht Ball and in attending a play at the Hedgerow Theatre.

Another of the language-culture groups that crowds the activities schedule is the French Club, which has established a reputation for its French films, its party punch, and its Shrove Tuesday Bal Masques. Meetings boast a variety of interests from French apple pie to Edith Piaf records. Three of its members this year staged an old French comedy at the Culture Olympics in Philadelphia.

Seated: Breuninger, Harte, vice president; Handy, president; Test, Grigger, Kacik, Standing: Pollock, Evans, Shelley, Stout, McConnell, Nemphos.

French Club

Chess Club

Seated: Berman, Kratz, Scheirer, Bright, secretary-treasurer; Manning, president. Standing: Guth, Grant, Dalby.

The Chess club has provided many interesting hours for those who prefer their excitement in the intellectual manner. The club has set up a challenge ladder with the first five men on the ladder forming the Ursinus Chess Team. Under the leadership of the president and number one man on the challenge ladder, John Manning, the team has undertaken matches with such other members of the Philadelphia Intercollegiate Chess League as Haverford, La Salle, Penn, Swarthmore, and Temple. A recent innovation is the organization of varsity and junior varsity squads comprising ten men in all.

The Business Administration Club, launched in April, 1952, maintained a high standard of activity. Mr. Donald Leopold, Mid-Atlantic Regional Advertising Manager of the Wall Street Journal Mr. Robert G. Dunlop, President of the Sun Oil Company, and Mr. W. C. Ferguson, Director of Personnel of the American Stores Company, were among the Club's guest speakers. A highlight of the year was a panel discussion by Mr. Bone and Mr. Symons on November 24th, 1952. The panel discussed economic problems and had as its moderator, the founder and adviser of the Club, Mr. Herbsleb.

The Rosicrucians

Seated: Harte, Scharf, president; Sprenkle, secretary; Youndt, Sapp. Standing: Barnhardt, Merrifield, Canan, Schulz, Bjornsson, Gulick, Walker.

Although the activities of the Rosicrucians is limited to one social gathering each semester, membership in the organization is much sought after. It is the women's honor society, to which membership is granted only upon the attainment of an 87.5 average. Every year the society offers a prize to the freshman woman who has achieved the highest average for that term.

Among the most coveted honors for a senior at Ursinus is that of selection for listing in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. Inclusion in Who's Who is based upon the student's scholarship, his leadership and cooperation in educational and extra-curricular activities, his general citizenship, and his promise of future usefulness. Superiority in one of these fields is not enough. A recipient of Who's Who recognition must stand high in all of them. More than 600 colleges submit nominations for Who's Who, each college filling a quota based upon enrollment. Ursinus this year chose eleven.

Soph Rules Committee

Paolone, Harris, Westerhoff, Hottenstein. Third row: Brown, Guldin, Schwab, Schumacher, Chapis.

Freshman orientation was handled by the half-feared, half-respected Soph Rules Committee. The freshman meetings gave the newcomers to Ursinus a chance to get acquainted with each other, learn the campus cheers, and school regulations. Moreover, the class of '56 has had the opportunity to build up class unity by going through all of the soph hazing together. The girls will never forget "Loveable Lo" Leonard and the way she led them through their antics from hen cackling to air raids. Frosh men tipped dinks to customs boss Al Paolone. The unmatched socks, the football victory pasters, and the perennial dinks added color to the campus and brought fond memories to the class of '53 of the reign of terror under Petite Marguerite and Noble Sir Pritchard.

Kappa Delta Kappa

Seated: Geiger, Vart, treasurer; Scharf, president; Carter, recording secretary; Pleus, corresponding secretary Youndt. Standing: McKerihan, Campbell, DuBois, Kuhn, Bjornsson, Loesch, Hockebury, Conestrina, Mirgaine.

From the files of KDK came a full measure of memories. The luncheon at Lakeside with two sets of flowers and Jerry Diehl, Janet and her money madness. Jean Pleus and the jackets, and Evie the eminent speech maker. Remember the theater party to "Member of the Wedding?" Jean Campbell at the shore? Sheryl Mirgaine as almost pure Ivory soap? And every green and gold supporter has favorite recollections of the perennial Christmas luncheon, dinner dance, and formal initiation at the Rices; and the traditional breakfast (we can still taste that passion punch) shared with the Miller's and the Rice's.

With hearty handshakes Sigma Rho opened its current year of activities on Old Timer's Day, joining in the festival of fraternity queens at the football game and later entertaining all the members at a pre-dance dinner at Peacock Gardens where president, George Bock presented our queen, Ruth Reed. During the winter rushing season the frat welcomed five new members into the fold. When Bill Newman left for the service, we all toasted his speedy return at a pre-holiday stag. Some of the brothers joined forces over the semester vacation to spend a weekend camping in the Poconos. The rest of the year held a full quota of parties, stags, and formal dances.

Third row: Rapp, Strode, Schultz, Murphy, Newkirk, Fisher, Parent, Price, Ostermayer, Oliver, Gulick, Unger. Last row: Reiniger, Merrifield, Leonard, Abrahamson, Leet, Saddler, Garrow.

"Tau Sig spirit never dies"—In the words of a favorite sorority song is summed up the fun and fellowship of Tau Sigma Gamma. From the hectic rushing season in the fall to the formal dinner dance in the spring, Tau Sig spirit runs high.

Over the Christmas holiday, Tau Sig girls meet in Philadelphia for a luncheon and theater party. With warmer weather the sorority heads for the seashore and a long weekend of sun, sand and surf. Nor does the Tau Sig spirit die upon graduation, for on Old Timers Day Tau Sig alumnae return to renew old friendships and to find new ones.

Delta Pi Sigma Fraternity was formed in 1949 by male day students to oppose unnatural distinction existing among students, but its membership is not exclusive to that group. This year's president, Russ McConnell, is also president of the Inter-Fraternity Council, and Mr. Herbsleb is the faculty advisor. In addition to being the youngest frat on campus, Delta Pi also boasts the distinction of having one of the most beneficial initiation policies, namely a campus grounds cleanup.

Recollections of a Sigma Nu year go somewhat beyond the routine luncheons, parties, and dinner dance. It is the only sorority to have a chorus, and for a time has held the honor of having the highest collective scholastic average. Sigma Nu combines yearly with Beta Sig fraternity to give a Christmas and an Easter party to the children at the preventorium.

Like every other fraternity, Beta Sig launched its season with a cocktail party on Old Timer's Day, but any Beta Sig member will tell you that his was the best. Joining with Sigma Nu sorority, the frat gives a party each Christmas and Easter for the children at the preventorium. A series of stags and frat trips bridge the gap from fall until the spring dinner dance.

Phi Alpha Psi

Old Timer's Day again saw Phi Psi Pals gathered at Colledgeville Inn for the annual home-coming luncheon. The following week climaxed a successful rushing period and thirteen new members joined the friendship circle. The round of activities for the year included such enjoyable social events as informal initiation, a Christmas party, a post New Year's dance at Plymouth Country Club, the traditional shore weekend in May, and the long remembered dinner dance again held at Plymouth. But social events didn't occupy all the time as Phi Psiers packed Easter baskets and entertained the orphans at Christ Home in the Spring.

Rather than its activities, which correspond closely to those of the other fraternities, Alpha Phi Epsilon—APEs—prefer to cite their members as outstanding. Unquestionably, to any APE, his dinner dances are the best, his stags the most memorable, but his fraternity brothers are unsurpassed in scholastic and athletic prowess and especially in fellowship. A special tip of the hat to president Fred Reiss for setting the standard this year.

First row: Searfoss, Powell,
Second row: Scheffler, chaplain;
 Jahn, secretary; Sharp, president;

 Lumis. Third row: Roeder, Rack, Freeman, Weaver, Carlin, Morrell, Hitchner, Witzell, Helweg. Last row: Mason, Lightfoot, Skinner, Moore, Mistovitch.

O Chi represents part of the gay side of our college life. Our activities for the year include the annual alumni luncheon, a dinner before the Lorelei at Lakeside, a play in New York and, of course our rushing party. The major theme this year was music. When our president, Molly, was not presiding over our meetings she was singing with Rene, Nancy and Thelma—this quartette plus the other interesting side-lines of O Chi add up to a pleasant year.

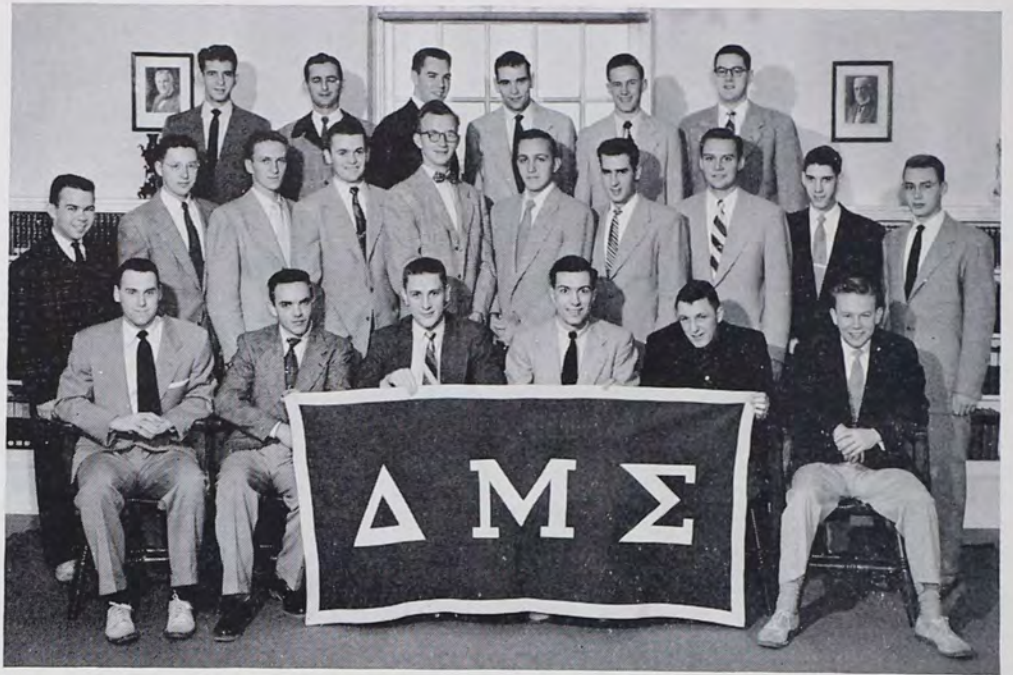

Ask any ZX man; he'll tell you: no fraternity excels ZX in athletic leadership (every season finds a star player or two in its ranks), harshness of initiations (molasses and feathers, to mention one step), and good cheer at the stags. This year's football and track captains claim ZX membership. And this year's records show that the ZX Victory Dance in fall was a big success on campus.

The members of Delta Mu Sigma, distinguished by their green jackets, make up the oldest fraternity on campus. Better known as Demas, they have traditional activities such as the formal and informal initiations, the Christmas party, fraternity trips, and the Spring dinner dance held on the last day of exams. Under the present administration, headed by Frank Kiefaber, the members adopted new frat pins. Things every member remembers: oriental gong, impeachment of president, stags at Green Gables, "get up the loot", rushees' poems, annual outhouse on campus, alarm clocks in chapel, female unmentionables.

Varsity Club

The earning of a varsity "V" is the ticket of admission to the Varsity club, the men's athletic organization. It is the Varsity club that conducts the election of the Homecoming Queen each year and that sponsors the Varsity club dance and Old Timer's Day in the fall. Spring opens the curtain on the club show, chief outlet for the non-sporting talent of the athletics. Each member of the club is awarded upon graduation a trophy for th athletic service to Ursinus.

W. A. A. Council

A successful card party began the year's activities for the Women's Athletic Association under the presidency of Ellie Unger. The proceeds from this affair were put into the scholarship fund the W.A.A. maintains for deserving physicial education majors. A hilarious "Sockey-hoccer" game followed in late November when the men's soccer team, dressed in anything from soccer informs to ragged sweat suits and tennis shoes, slid their way to a 2-2 tie with the girls' varsity hockey team. The Variety show second semester was a success in every way. Proceeds from this show were put into a fund for an electric scoreboard for the T-G Gym. A basketball game between the man's and women's varsity teams and another card party finished out the year.
