U.S.G.A. Candidates State Election Views

By GEORGE GEIST and LEN ULAN

Vote! Today is Election Day, Ursinus style. This year, there is an exceptionally strong group of candidates to U.S.G.A. and S.F.A.R.C. and an especially qualified four-some of candidates for the position of President of the U.S.G.A. After a week of campaigning which included a Weekly interview and a campus assembly for meeting and hearing the candidates, the final day of decision arrives. Each of the candidates deserve the attention and interest of all Ursinus students, and the best way to demonstrate this interest and support is to vote. Vote!

In alphabetical order, the candidates for President are Ron Columbo, Larry Dalaker, Maryann Quartuccio and George Randolph. For the first year after the recent amendment to the constitution, the requirement for a year's experience has been waived, and the article presently reads "The President of the U.S.G.A. shall be a student in good standing of Ursinus College."

Ron Columbo has been a member of the Ursinus football team for two years. Last year, he served as Food Chairman on the Union Program Board. This year, Ron, a sophomore, has been selected by the U.S.G.A. to be a member of the Liaison Committee that is scheduled to meet with members of the Board of Directors.

Larry Dalaker held the position of class president during his freshman year, and at the end of his term, he was appointed to the position of treasurer of the U.S.G.A. Larry was on the U.S.G.A. complaint committee which worked on campus problems with the administration. Dalaker served on the Alumni Undergraduate committee which set up seminars given by alumnus to make students aware of job opportunities. A onetime squad-leader, Larry, a sophomore, presently holds the position of U.S.G.A. representative on the Union Governing Board. He was also involved with the Concerned Students' Movement and was one of the eighteen original signers of the petition that went to the Board of Directors.

Maryann Quartuccio, a 1974 CCC member and dorm secretary, presently serves as an officer in "Something Better," Pre-Legal Society secretary, junior class representative to the U.S.G.A. and chairman of the Course Directory Catalogue Committee.

George Randolph is the present Men's Vice-President of U.S.G.A., a member of Alpha Phi Omega and member of Student Activities Committee.

1. What would you like to see U.S.G.A. set as its goals for the upcoming year?

Ron Columbo: "One of the goals of the U.S.G.A. for next year should be a full fledged attempt for student input. The U.S.G.A. cannot run properly unless there is strong student involvement. What we need here is a government run by the officials but led by the student body. This has not been done in the past and as a result the students have little concern as to what the U.S.G.A. does. They feel that the students and the students' government are two totally different things. This concept is wrong and must be changed. The students and their government should work as one, united together.

The rest of the goals for the upcoming U.S.G.A. should depend on the students. If the students want rule revision, the U.S.G.A. has a commitment to work on rule revision. If the students want exams before Christmas, then its up to the U.S.G.A. to follow the students."

Larry Dalaker: "I would like to see the U.S.G.A. push toward a more flexible dorm policy and a revision of the calendar year. This can only be achieved by working with the Administration. Another major goal that I would like to see achieved is the adoption of the rules revision which the U.S.G.A. and many students have been working on. These rules include a total revamp of the judicial process. There is no judicial process as I see the rules as they stand now."

Maryann Quartuccio: "1) to work as an effective unit—though there is necessity for disparity of opinion, change cannot occur with major divisions in the mechanism of change. 2) to be persistent and constant but not overbearing and forceful and thus antagonistic to the administration in presenting policies of change. A change in the Rules and Customs of Ursinus College is obviously needed, but it is the administration who must make those changes—it is mandatory that the U.S.G.A. and the student body be persistent in their view and work with all those involved."

George Randolph: "1) I would like to see the U.S.G.A. overcome the bureaucratic inertia that is preventing the present academic schedule from being changed; 2) The U.S.G.A. should seek an extension of the dormitory hours for men and women. 3) The U.S.G.A. should work toward serving as a more effective organization helping the student body to be heard."

2. Why are you running for the office of president and why should an Ursinus student vote for you instead of one of the other candidates?

Ron Columbo: "I am running for the office of president because I have a concept of what a person in that office should do that has never been tried before here at Ursinus. In the past the president of a student government was the figure-head, the person who represents the students' ideas. He would hold regular meetings with the other elected officers and the students attending these meetings were usually the same people. These people who are involved with this type of student government would accomplish some things for the rest of the students but where were the rest of the students? They all couldn't be studying.

This type of stagnant government has developed here at Ursinus. There is no one person to blame for it, this happens to all student governments that don't take steps to prevent it. But there is one person who can change this because I am stubborn enough to be constantly persistent."

George Randolph: "Quite simply put, I believe that I can do the job and would be listened to by the administration in recommending change at Ursinus College. In addition, I think that I am the most experienced and best qualified of the candidates running for the office of president."

3. What is your position on the present open dorms policy?

Ron Columbo: I feel the present dorm policy should be changed; I don't mean thrown out. I would like to see as many students, faculty and administrators work together to find a practical updated policy that would satisfy as many people as possible. Two good dorm policies are presently being worked on by students—one of these may be the solution."

Larry Dalaker: "The visitation policy which we have now must be changed to one where a greater choice is given to the students. A choice of several time plans could be instituted by sectioning off dormitories. The students would respect the stated hours more, thus making the students more willing to abide by the rules which they have accepted."

Maryann Quartuccio: "This is basically a question of student representation. I feel all students should be provided for. This is an area that can be personal to each individual. Therefore, I especially like the policy proposed by the existing U.S.G.A. where each dorm compleish all three of the goals—equally important—that I have previously mentioned."

5. How can U.S.G.A. as an organization be improved?

Ron Columbo: "The U.S.G.A. needs to be more rounded. It needs diversified opinions in order to come up with solutions that would best suit the student body. If the entire U.S.G.A. is of one 'group of people' then its views will represent that group instead of the students as a whole. This could lead to a stagnant government. The only thing that all members of the U.S.G.A. should have in common is a willingness to work."

Larry Dalaker: "The U.S.G.A. can be improved by electing students who can work with the administration toward change. Change is a positive thing and without it the students will be discouraged from participating. The U.S.G.A. can only improve with support from the students. It's hard to argue a case when there is nobody backing you up."

Maryann Quartuccio: "U.S.G.A. can be improved: 1) by having dynamic and mature leadership, 2) by not quibbling over trivia when it is not necessary, 3) by being as representative, and as legislatively intelligent as is possible within the system and, 4) by organizing to encourage interest and participation in student government and its activities. These facets have been steadily improving—but certainly demand still greater consideration."

type of situation; the president.

The first thing I feel the president has to do is initiate student interest. This does not mean just attendance at meetings, but active involvement in their student government. I propose to activate the students by developing an efficient publicity system and possibly having a student government office where people can either talk with an officer who is there or leave their idea written down.

To answer the second part of the question I would say an Ursinus student should vote for me over the other candidates because of my past experience with student governments, and the total effort I would make to develop the U.S.G.A. into an efficient form of student government."

Larry Dalaker: "I am running for President because I feel that I can make progress with our new proposals and plans. I feel that a student should vote for me because I am the most outspoken candidate that can also meet with the Administration and institute change. I was the only Presidential Candidate to sign the original petition to the Board of Directors. I would hope the students vote for the candidate that can set realistic and workable goals and achieve them. I feel I am that candidate."

Maryann Quartuccio: "I am running for the office of President because I feel I can fulfill its responsibilities, because I feel I can be both a leader and diplomat, and basically elects its visitation system."

George Randolph: "I believe that most students at Ursinus would like to see an extension of the present dorm hours. However, I think that most students also realize that they could not get the administration to agree to open dorms 24 hours a day, seven days a week within the foreseeable future."

4. If elected, what would be your most important goal as President?

Ron Columbo: "If I became elected president of the U.S.G.A., one of my main goals would be to get each student involved with the U.S.G.A. A students' involvement might be attendance at meetings and activities or committee membership. Whatever, I want the students with me if I'm elected. I need everybody's help if I'm to do a good job."

Larry Dalaker: "My most important goal would be to get the new proposed rule changes accepted. This would take care of a lot of questions on policy, dorm and judicial especially."

Maryann Quartuccio: "My primary goal is enthusiastic—that student government can act effectively as a whole group—that is representative and maintains high standards. And that through this organization, change can be realized."

George Randolph: "If elected, I would like to see the U.S.G.A. ac-

George Randolph: "More student participation in the U.S.G.A. is the most basic improvement needed by that organization. The fact that few students want to get involved and run for office is another important weakness that affects the ability of the U.S.G.A. to speak for the whole student body in a representative manner."

Angela Italiano and Candi Russell are very well qualified candidates for the office of Women's Vice-President.

Angela Italiano is very active here at Ursinus. She is presently serving as Sophomore Class Representative to the U.S.G.A., is Dorm Secretary for Stauffer Hall, is on the Student Activities and Student Affairs Committees of the U.S.G.A., is in Messiah, Phi Alpha Psi and plays the drums for a group called "One Way." She was on the Union Publicity Committee, was a Squad Leader for Freshman Orientation and has played in the Marching Band.

Candi Russell displays a repertoire of activities. These include the Equestrian Club, waitressing, Intramural Volleyball, Field Hockey, Basketball, Lacrosse teams, and the Women's Athletic Association. She is the Vice-President of the class of '78, was in "How to Succeed in Business," Messiah, Tau Sigma Gamma, the Central Coordinating Committee and the Union Program Board (Special Events and Movie Chairman).

Fire Fought At Fircroft

A garbage drum fire at Fircroft Hall, Ursinus College, charred a porch and exterior wall but caused no structural damage between one and two o'clock Monday morning.

Collegeville Fire Chief, Mr. Dennis Parker, reported that the midnight alarm was called in by Police Officer Robert Heist who spotted flames at the men's residence hall while patrolling the borough by car. Officer Heist put out the flames and it remained for the Fire Company's Mini-Pumper to finish the job.

Chief Parker said that it was fortunate that the local officer discovered the fire, for the occupants of the building were apparently asleep. There is no explanation for the fire which roused 32 members of the all volunteer fire company. Of the 32 only 4 rode the Mini-pumper to the fire's scene.

Commenting further on the fortunate discovery and extinguishing of the fire, Parker stated that Fircroft Hall is not in the best condition and that Heist's timely actions prevented further damage.

U.S.G.A. CANDIDATES

When asked why they are running for office, Angela replied, "I am running for Women's Vice President for the U.S.G.A. primarily because I have a strong desire to see the women on campus adequately represented. I feel I have the motivation and experience to do the job well. In essence, I would like to have the opportunity to represent the views of the women on campus, and equally important, the entire student body in any way possible."

On the other hand, Candi said, "I am running because I like to get involved in school activities and I think if people want change to occur they should work for it, and I want change."

As for the goals they would like to see the U.S.G.A. set for the upcoming year, Angela remarked, "There are several things I think the U.S.G.A. should try to undertake this coming year. First and foremost, the U.S.G.A. should continue to work for respect and support of the student body. This past year I feel the U.S.G.A. has worked toward that goal, and it's important that the new government does so. I believe the U.S.G.A. should continue to work for the reforming of the visitation policy of the dorms. In doing so, everyone's point of view should be considered. We should also work for clarification of the Rules and Customs set by the college. As they stand, they leave room for confusion. I also feel the idea of a calendar change should be investigated further."

In response to the same question Candi replied, "I think everyone knows the problems and restrictions of the Ursinus Campus, so actually it's not a question of what to set up as goals—but more how we can achieve these goals."

In addition Angela said, "I feel that it's very important to keep communication lines open between the student body and the students it elects. To accomplish this, it takes a great deal of time and effort. I would like the opportunity to show my enthusiasm for this very important undertaking."

Jeff Roberts and Ken Schober are the candidates for Treasurer of the U.S.G.A.

Jeff Roberts is President of the Centurion German Club, Vice-President of Phi Theta Kappa, Student Representative for the College Committee for Course and Teacher Evaluation, Student Representative for the College Election Committee and perspective pledge of A.P.O., Beta Sigma Lambda and Zeta Chi.

Ken Schober is on the Men's Campus Council, Band, Social Chairman for A.P.O., Pre-legal Society, was a squad leader for Freshman Orientation, was on the Tennis Team, Spanish Club and was corresponding Secretary for A.P.O. last year.

Jeff explained why he is running for election. "Possessing a genuine concern to remove negative influences on the development of the student and in an effort to constructively channel the disillusionment that I've experienced, I have decided to run for a position in the U.S.G.A. Having much experience in handling money (two years as a cashier with Sears) I've chosen Treasurer. My goals revolve around 1) working with next year's members of the U.S.G.A. in order to form a united front against apathy, against poor U.S.G.A.-student communications and against the administration's shallow notion that the student is here SOLELY to get an education; 2) an attempt to give to the student everything that he is entitled to as a paying occupant and as a viable social being; 3) to serve as a true student representative, one that attempts to maintain the student interests and to have an open line of communications with the students; and 4) to revise the administration's concept of the student from an individual who must be led by the hand, to one that perceives the student as a mature adult, capable of making decisions and having the responsibility to live up to these decisions. For he certainly is."

Ken explained why he is running for election by stating, "I feel that every student here at Ursinus should become involved as much as possible in the things that they, as individuals, feel matter. I think the U.S.G.A. can be a valuable tool for the students and is a worthwhile organization to which I feel I can contribute and best represent the student body."

In respect to the goals they would like to see the U.S.G.A. set in the upcoming year, Jeff said, "I would like the U.S.G.A. to set as its goals four things: 1) develop more open lines of communication between the student body and the Board of Trustees; 2) increase the number and quality of social activities for the students; 3) declare war on apathy in order to develop pride in ourselves as students of Ursinus College; and 4) establish a Bill of Student Rights, which reflects the student as a mature and responsible adult."

Ken replied to the same question accordingly: "I think the ultimate goal of the U.S.G.A. should be a closer relationship between the students and the Administration with itself in an intermediary position. This is a slow process depending on trust from all sides. Hopefully the previous U.S.G.A.'s actions were a step in the right direction that this U.S.G.A. will be able to further the relationship that now exists."

Jeff adds, "As U.S.G.A. is designed to represent the student body, it is the students' voice in all matters that concern US. Much has occurred between the administration and the student body last semester. I'm not sure that we attained the better part of the interactions. However I am definitely certain that more action is needed to achieve the things that we, as human beings and students, deserve. As Treasurer and a member of a dedicated U.S.G.A. team, (that which the students must form by their votes), I feel that we could achieve more next year than we have this year."

The last of the contested positions is Class of '77 representative. Bob Simon and Glenn Freas are vying for the office.

Glenn Freas is a brother of Delta Mu Sigma, the junior representative to the Biology Department, is in the Brownback-Anders Premed. Society, and participates in various intramural sports. He has been sophomore class treasurer and sophomore representative to the Biology Department.

Bob Simon is Secretary-Treasurer of the Beardwood Chemical Society, is a member of the Newman Society, is representative of the class of '77 to S.F.A.R.C. (the post he is currently re-seeking), member of the Judiciary Board and member of the Student Affairs Committee of the U.S.G.A.

When asked why he was running, Glenn replied, "Because I think that it is an ideal forum where ideas and grievances can be discussed and aired in the presence of faculty members, administrators, and fellow students. This serves two purposes: first it is an opportunity for students to air their complaints. Too often students will complain among themselves, yet they will not approach a U.S.G.A. or S.F.A.R.C. representative with their specific problem. Secondly, S.F.A.R.C. is an excellent way to open up and broaden communications between faculty, administrators, and students. It is my hope that the representatives from these three groups will relay the discussions at the S.F.A.R.C. meetings to their respective peers, and will not rely only on S.F.A.R.C. minutes to further communication."

"Another reason that I am running for S.F.A.R.C. is that I feel the students should have a choice in their representatives. I was disappointed to see the number of offices open that only one person is running for. This kind of situation makes a mockery of elections. At least by my entering the race for S.F.A.R.C. representative, juniors will now have a choice for this position."

Bob Simon replied to this same question by explaining, "Since I have already served a term as class representative to S.F.A.R.C., I think that the quality of my representation is an issue in this election. I feel that I have honestly represented the opinions of different groups of students in my class with respect to how we feel we are treated here at Ursinus. I have been very active in working for reform of social regulations, as well as for better communication between students and the Board of Directors. One of the ways in which I hope to continue to speak out on these issues is as a class representative to S.F.A.R.C."

Glenn also commented on goals for the S.F.A.R.C.

"For the upcoming year I would like S.F.A.R.C. to consider several topics. First I would like them to continue their discussions on calendar reform. Many people, including myself, would like to see exams completed before Christmas and then get a long break afterwards. The present calendar is very unpopular and in many cases impractical."

I also feel that several aspects of Ursinus Rules and Customs must be reviewed. For example, I feel that those students who are twenty-one years old should have the right to use alcoholic beverages in the privacy of their rooms.

As a general comment I would like to see close cooperation between S.F.A.R.C. and U.S.G.A. in achieving the goals that each organization sets for itself. S.F.A.R.C. should be a place where ideas and criticisms are openly discussed and solutions formulated. The U.S.G.A. should be an instrument for exacting these solutions.

I also believe that the minutes of the meetings of both organizations should be more widely distributed. Since these groups are for the benefit of the students, the students should be kept constantly informed of all developments that take place at S.F.A.R.C. and U.S.G.A. meetings. This would help to create more student input into these two organizations."

Bob Simon also commented in this area. "I think that S.F.A.R.C.'s two biggest problems are the lack of publicity given to meetings, and the lack of attention given to S.F.A.R.C. recommendations and actions by segments of the faculty and administration. I think that the first problem could be helped by better pre-meeting publicity and by upgrading the quality of coverage of S.F.A.R.C. in the Weekly, which now consists mainly of edited minutes of the most recent meeting. The second problem is more difficult to solve—perhaps a solution is to change the charter of S.F.A.R.C. so that an official faculty or administration reply must be made to a S.F.A.R.C. recommendation."

We would like to congratulate the unopposed and thus premature winners of the following offices: S.F.A.R.C.

Class of '76 — Judie James

Class of '78 — Liz Duzio

Liz is in Meistersingers, Messiah and is Sophomore Class Secretary. Liz told us why she is running and her goals as Representative.

"I'm running for S.F.A.R.C. so that I can represent the views of the sophomore class. I would like to see S.F.A.R.C. initiate some changes in the school calendar. I would also like to see more participation in activities of S.F.A.R.C. from the student body. The purpose of S.F.A.R.C. is to act as an outlet for the grievances of students, faculty and administration."

S.F.A.R.C.

Class of '79 — Stephen M. Lange
Stephen is on the Ursinus Weekly, the Student Affairs Committee, the Education Club, Psychology Club and the local Democratic Party.

He commented on his candidacy

Senate Candidate To Visit U.C.

By GEORGE GEIST

Have you ever met a former C.I.A. agent, diplomatic correspondent for a major magazine, editor of one of the nation's leading newspapers, or candidate for U.S. Senate? Meet the man who is all of these and more. Meet George Packard, candidate for U.S. Senate in Parents' Lounge, Wismer Hall this Monday evening (Feb. 23) at 7:30.

A Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Princeton University, George Packard comes to Ursinus with a background which includes experience as Special Assistant to the U.S. Ambassador to Japan, chief diplomatic correspondent for Newsweek (where he covered the State Department, Congress and the Pentagon) and former editor of the Philadelphia Bulletin. Packard also wrote for such magazines as Atlantic, Foreign Affairs Quarterly, and the New York Times Magazine.

Packard, "the only non-politician running for the U.S. Senate," is presently the walking candidate for the seat to be vacated by Senator Hugh Scott. Packard is walking and listening to people as he continues his 401 mile walk of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. "After the trauma of Watergate and the dirty tricks mentality that has plagued politics recently, I thought it would be a good idea to return to some 1776 style campaigning such as canoeing and walking—as well as having some inexpensive, good, clean fun," Packard says.

According to Packard, he is running for the Senate because he believes Washington needs more common sense and less politics. "The rest are running because they are politicians; they're part of the problem, not part of the solution."

As Packard says: "Too many politicians seem to forget who elected them, they seem to forget that the people, not the politicians, are the government. Not even a career politician can talk and listen at the same time. If more of them in Washington would stop talking and start walking and listening to people, government could accomplish more and spend less. That's why if elected I will be the Senator in Pennsylvania; my family will live here; I'll have a mobile Senate headquarters on the move throughout the State; and I'll keep on walking through our communities so I can act in Washington on your needs."

Meet the man who's walking Pennsylvania to earn your vote in the April 27th election. Meet George Packard this Monday.

by saying, "The college must accept initiated reform in order to maintain a level of quality as a community as well as an educational institution. I hope to further reform as a member of S.F.A.R.C. I would like to see S.F.A.R.C. involve a greater number of students and a wide range of opinion. Specifically, calendar revision, rule revision, and a counselling center are my primary objectives. As a freshman representative, I would be available to all freshmen to discuss their concerns, ideas and suggestions."

Day School Representative—
Louise Barnes

Representatives to U.S.G.A. for
Class of '77

Linda Earle, Jon Hayes

Linda is a member of Phi Alpha Psi, the Women's Campus Council, Dormitory President, Student Problems Committee and the Forum Committee. She stated, "I feel that it is important for the student body to maintain an organized association in order to act as a liaison between the student and the administration. I would like to see many of the major student grievances on this campus cured and acted upon more quickly and positively than they have been in the past. The students here cannot and will not perform well in their academic areas unless they are happy with their non-academic environments. Many of the restrictions should be either abolished or enforced. The dining hall food is a common complaint among students which is badly in need of attention."

Representatives to U.S.G.A. for
Class of '78

Dave Seeger, Dave Steidle

Dave Seeger is a member of A.P.O., is class treasurer, in the American Chemical Society and was a squad leader.

Dave Steidle is in A.P.O., works in Wismer and was a squad leader. He would like to see a change in the academic schedule and the dorm policies.

Representatives to U.S.G.A. for
Class of '79

Mike Moyer, Heidi Church

Mike is in Messiah, Meistersingers, Radio Club, was a contributor to the Lantern and is a perspective A.P.O. pledge. When asked about the office Mike commented, "I would like to gain office to have a base for pushing forward two goals—a re-scheduling of the academic year so as to conform to other schedules, and improve dining and food in Wismer."

Recording Secretary—Jill Leuber

Cor. Secretary—Suzanne Griest

Suzanne is on the Union Program Board (coffeehouse chairman), Pre-legal Society, Protheatre (props and stage manager) and was a squad leader.

Men's Vice-President for U.S.G.A.

Bob Fieldman

Bob was President of the sophomore class.
