Graduation '83

"It's the biggest day of my life"

by Lawrence Arendt

"I think it's the biggest day of my life. I wanted to thank Mom and Dad. If it wasn't for them, I wouldn't have made it."

To show his gratitude, David Dettloff gave his parents a very special message at his graduation on Saturday, June 4. After accepting his diploma, Dettloff turned to the audience that filled the GSU gym to near capacity, and flashed the top of his cap revealing a greeting in white tape, "FINALLY! HI MOM AND DAD."

On Saturday, students in the colleges of Arts and Sciences, Business and Public Administration and Health Professions received their honors for bachelor and master degrees.

After an invocation by Sheikh Ahmad Zaki, from the Chicago Muslim Community Center and opening remarks by GSU President Leo Goodman-Malamuth II and BOG representative Wilma Sutton, an honorary degree of humane letters was presented to former Secretary of Commerce Philip Klutznik.

GSU Vice-President Virginio Pucci introduced Klutznik to the crowd as "a forceful voice against poverty, disease and hunger in the world."

Klutznik accepted the honors saying "I hope that I shall be worthy. This honor has an extra and special significance. Thirty-seven years ago, as a much younger man, I saw this area for the first time. A new spirit had arisen."

Klutznik, who helped establish the community of Park Forest, went on to urge the graduates to have no fear for change and to accept new callings. "Now, as back then, we face depressing problems but real opportunity to solve those problems."

The former secretary went on to give an example of what he sees as new opportunities. He pointed out that American industry is undergoing great change from a mostly heavy-industry, blue-collar emphasis to new areas of computer electronics and communications. But even with this change, there will still be a need for the industries that he says made our country great.

What must be remembered, according to Klutznik, is the improvements of not just a person's economic standing, but of his or hers mind as well. "We must help create the total person."

"You should not be dismayed by pessimists. We had them when I graduated and when I came here 30 years ago. The mind is full of many windows. If only we have the strength and courage to open them. Pray for the realization of the energy of the mind."

After the presentation of the degree candidates by Dr. Robert Milam (BPA), Dr. Ronald Brubaker (CAS), and Dr. John Lowe (SHP), a benediction was given by Rabbi Minard Klein of Congregation Beth Shalom, in Park Forest.

On Sunday, June 5, in commencement exercises for those in Human and Learning Development, the Board of Governors program and the University Without Walls, former Attorney General Elliot Richardson received his degree in humane letters.

After being introduced as a man with "an unselfish devotion to the public good", Richardson said he was grateful and touched by the honors. In his address, Richardson pointed to what he describes as a common denominator that should be in everyone's life from this point on: work- and one's pride in it. "Whether you're a parking-lot attendant, associated with a college or a grave-digger."

"Those who find a role in life and a sense of service and a contribution to society, are the lucky ones. America is still a land for these accomplishments to be created again and again; rewarding accomplishments in every sense, especially support for the family, decency and comfort and rendering service to the community."

Richardson concluded his remarks saying, "I hope some of you pursue public service but the highest of all offices is citizenship. I wish you satisfaction of work for its own sake and all the joy in that satisfaction."

Degrees were then presented by Dr. Tulsi Saral (HLD) and Dr. Otis Lawrence (BOG and University Without Walls).

President Goodman-Malamuth II concluded graduation with a special tribute to the families and friends gathered for the event. "We know who cares. This was possible because of their warm, loving support, encouragement and many blessings."

In his final remarks to the graduating class, Malamuth said, "you have a responsibility to the whole world, your country, state, family and all persons with who you come in contact and to yourselves to continue your growth. We have given you the tools to do many things. The people you should never let out of your lives is your faculty. They're there to help, confide, converse and just to be good friends."

The President then quoted what he says is thought to be the shortest commencement speech on record. Uttered by Winston Churchill, he said "Do it!"

Policemen

Laid off

by Thom Gibbons

Four Department of Public Safety officers were laid off effective the 1st of July.

The four officers included the President of the local lodge 104 of the Fraternal Order of Police, Officer Lytheria O'Connor. The others are Officers Debra Smith, Anthony Herman and Pete Ruiz.

Although there was speculation that there would be some type of reduction in the force due to the present budget crisis, all of the officers expressed surprise when they were told of the impending lay-off. They state that they were summoned to the Personnel Office, with no forewarning, and told of their dismissal.

O'Connor, the union president, says that FOP is looking into what type of action it is possible to take. At this time, plans are incomplete.

As a result of this layoff there will be 9 patrolmen on duty and 1 Chief and 1 Assistant Chief.

The Public Safety Officers at GSU are members of the Illinois State Police. They patrol the grounds and are responsible for the safety and well being of the people using these facilities as well as the physical plant and the outlying buildings.

In addition to the traditional police duties, these officers are also trained as emergency medical technicians. They administer first aid, as needed, to accident victims as well as to others who may have suffered a medical emergency. They also perform Cardio Pulmonary Resuscitation.

DPS conducts blood pressure screening twice per month. They also sponsor CPR classes on campus.

Student Senate Routine business discussed

The June 8 meeting of the Student Senate was devoted to: plans for reaching out to students; greetings from a new student representative; and a continuing proposal for T-shirts for Senate members.

The proposal for T-shirts was brought before the Senate by Gayla Jenkins who inquired about the cost of purchasing shirts that would identify Senate members. What Jenkins found out was that it would cost each senator $17 for a jersey and approximately $7-8 for a T-shirt. The cost was immediately questioned by the body. Steve Bluth stated, "I question personally, $17 or $18 for a shirt. Is it appropriate? Are they gifts or are they public relations? If it's a public relations tool, have we not blown it?"

Others questioned why the Senate was still discussing the proposal. A move to rescind the previous allocation for the shirts was voted down and further exploration into a possible purchase will be conducted.

In other business, Alexander Samuels was introduced to the body as the newly-elected IBHE representative. In a brief statement, Samuels said, "Thank you for electing me to the IBHE. We have to talk. We have to know your opinions." James Akintonde suggested a new system of interpersonal communication with the student body which would be documented and would account for required hours a senator must have on campus. It would consist of simply talking to students around campus to get their input.

Eddy Abakporo raised an objection. "I don't think there is any way to document interpersonal contact with students."

However, Gayla Jenkins agreed with the idea pointing out that "We should be able to strike up conversations with the students." The point was stressed that it would not be in lieu of established stipend criteria.

The Senate agreed to send a recommendation to the executive committee upon the submission of a written proposal by Akintonde. It will be discussed further at the next Senate meeting, scheduled for July 13.

The Senate plans to send a recommendation to the university to hold graduation ceremonies in December as well as June. Bluth said, "We have people graduating in August and December. It's a long way to wait. I think it's time we do something like this."

This is a special month for art lovers at GSU. Until June 28, the CAS Gallery (next to E lounge) will host the GSU Alumni Printmaking Masters Invitational as well as many beautiful works in bronze and aluminum from the last Metal Workshop II.

The opening, which was last Wednesday, was a huge success, bringing in nearly a hundred people from the area. Numerous etchings and lithographs donated by University alumni line the walls, and the floor holds over a dozen works from current students.

Cari Biamonte, a second year student in the BA program, is currently exhibiting two unique aluminum castings, entitled "First Gland Experience" and "Sal Hepatica Erotica." She is a work-study student for John Payne, sculptor in residence and instructor of numerous sculpture classes.

Cari described the complex processes of making a casting using the "lost wax" technique. After the design is conceived on paper, the artist begins to mold a sheet of hot wax into the desired shape. At this point, changes in the design are often made, depending on how the form looks and the flow of the wax. After solidifying, the wax is rolled in the "investment," a loose substance much like gravel.

Now completely covered, the entire assembly is wrapped in wire to hold it together. Next is the "burnout" phase, where the piece is placed in an oven-like chamber until the wax melts out, leaving the shell of the mold intact. Molten aluminum or bronze is then poured into the mold, which is later removed. Finally, the piece must be finished by filing, sanding and polishing. This process is often the most difficult, taking many hours of painstaking labor to complete.

Cari's pieces, taking about five months of work, are fine examples of the hard work and dedication that typifies the artists being shown. The entire gallery is filled with such high-caliber pieces, and well worth a visit.

Good Morning, Computer

Microcomputers will replace the morning newspaper with breakfast during two seminars being offered in June to persons wishing to gain a greater knowledge of the electronic equipment that is gaining an ever increasing importance in business and home activities.

Dubbed "Breakfast with Computers," the workshops will meet from 7 to 9 am, starting with sweet rolls and coffee served on the second floor balcony overlooking the campus. They will then move into the Cooperative Computer Center for discussion and hands-on instruction.

"Visicalc" is a five-morning workshop meeting on June 21, 22, 23, 24 and 27. The first electronic spreadsheet is recognized as a must for all career-minded executives with personal computers. Participants will learn how to utilize this software package in planning, budgeting, inventory and other applications.

A six-session course on "Using Computers in the Small Business" will be held June 28-30 and July 5-7. It is designed for those with little or no computer experience and will involve running several commercially available business packages on Apple IIE microcomputers.

Sponsored by the College of Business and Public Administration, the noncredit seminars were created to fill a need expressed by the business community to provide an orientation to the multitude of uses of microcomputers, according to Dr. Robert Milam, dean.

Cost of each seminar is $95. For registration information, contact Peg Donohue in the Office of Community Services at (312) 534-5000, Ext. 2436.

Governors State is on Stuenkel Rd. east of Governors Hwy. in Park Forest South.

Women's Gains Questioned

by Buzz Hume

Last Wednesday Ms. Grace DeSantis of DePaul University painted a less-than-rosy picture of the status of women in today's workplace.

The equal rights movement has not produced a victory for women, according to DeSantis. "The phrase 'equal work for equal pay' is a meaningless one," she said. Although more women are working, it is still primarily in the clerical and secretarial sectors. These jobs, which are usually low paying and have limited room for growth, are areas in which men have never played a major role.

Although statistics support the claim that women are replacing men in the overall labor force, this is due more to the decline of heavy industry than the rise of women to responsible positions.

The salary of a woman in a high status position is considerably lower than that of her male counterpart. Current estimates place a value of about 59 cents on the dollar. To combat this, a new method of salary determination has been devised, based on "comparable worth." Each position would be placed on a scale determined by the qualifications (education, experience, physical demands, etc.). In this way, different jobs could be compared and more objective pay scales established.

The problem with this, according to DeSantis, is the ultimate effect on society. Our entire economy is based on a division of labor that has long pigeonholed women and minorities into low paying and typically lower skilled jobs.

A companies' profit is largely derived from these jobs, and were the pay scale to be drastically increased, the profits would drop dramatically, creating significant economic problems.

SOC Elections Postponed

More than half the recognized clubs at GSU sent representatives to the SOC meeting at which a decision was made to postpone elections of permanent officers until September as well as postpone action on the proposed bylaws.

After discussion of the present governing board, the members acting on a motion by Rick Buchan voted unanimously to postpone the election of permanent officers and to continue the present steering committee in office, until fall.

Student Senate President Michael Blackburn explained the rationale that the Senate used when it decided to make bylaws for the SOC. He also pointed out that these were not "written in stone" and could be changed to suit the needs of the SOC. Tommy Dascenzo, the Director of Student Activities, pointed out that the SOC is still in the process of "evolving."

This was the first time that many of the members saw copies of the bylaws. They decided to defer any further action on these until the September meeting.

The Steering Committee said that a tentative schedule of meetings has been devised. There will be one monthly general meeting to be held on the 2nd Wednesday, at 3:30 pm, of the month beginning in September. Besides that there will be an executive meeting scheduled once per month.

The next meeting is scheduled for July 13 at 3:30 pm in the Honors Dining Room. There will be no meeting in August.

The rest of the discussion concerned the various services that are provided by Student Activities as a means to help the clubs attain their goals. A list was passed out that detailed who the contact persons are for needed services and the time frames needed to get those services.

Two other aspects of the organization were touched upon. One is financial and the other had to do with sharing activities. The SOC will be given sums of money to be allocated to clubs according to their need.

The other aspect, briefly touched upon, was the ability of the organization to function as a clearinghouse and coordinator of projects. One speaker pointed out that it would be possible to share events at a possible savings.

Rick Picha, Alcohol Sciences Club, summed it up by saying that now the clubs and students "can grow in understanding of one another."

Alumni Grants Offered

The GSU Alumni Association is offering 100 scholarships, worth $200 apiece, to students carrying a 3.75 grade point average.

The scholarships do not depend upon financial need. They are being awarded solely on the basis of academic achievement. The application deadline is Aug. 15th.

The funding is provided by the Alumni Association as part of an ongoing effort to reward academic achievement. The Alumni hope that awarding scholarships, such as these, will help to improve the image of the University.

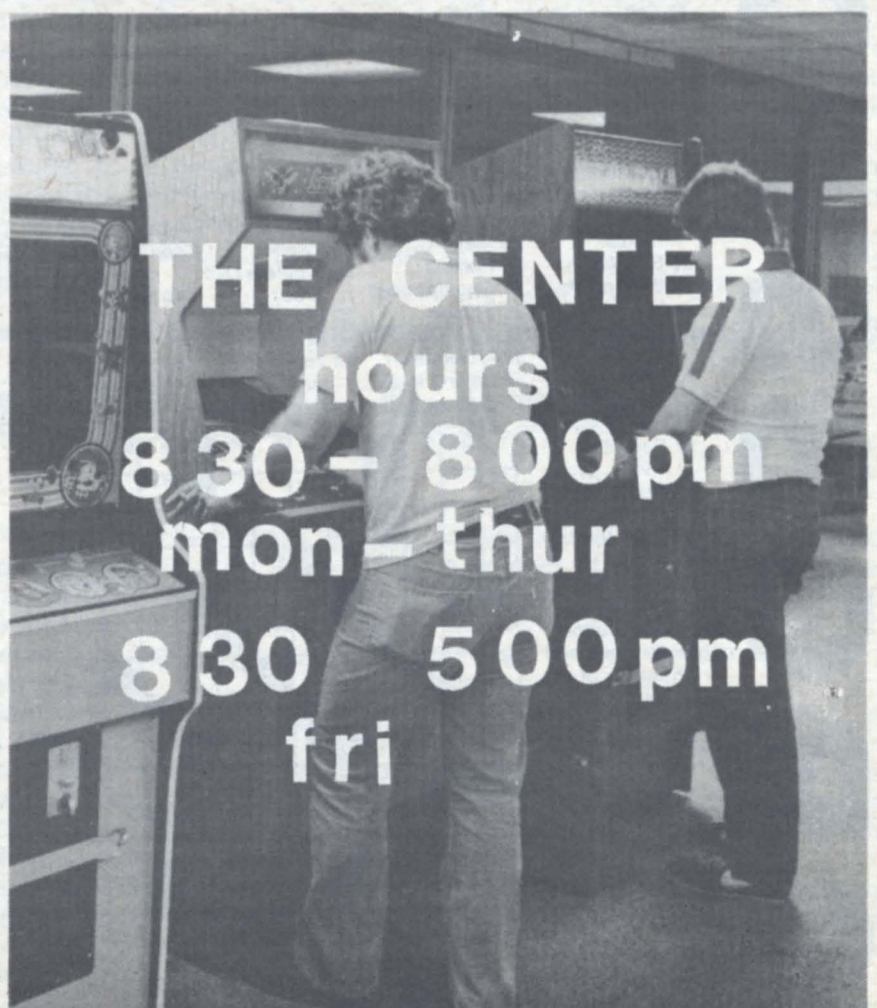

According to Ginni Burghardt, the Alumni Director, "what we are doing out here (referring to the University) is really a good thing and we want people to know about it." The alumni hope that by sing-records, people will come to recognize that academically speaking, people can and are getting a good education at GSU.

Part of the money is supplied through the annual phonathon campaign as well as by direct mail campaign. This year's campaign raised $25,000. $5000 is given the University Library as part of a continuing pledge of support.

Eligibility for the scholarship is determined in the following way. New students must have a GPA of 3.75 and continuing students must have completed 12 hours with the same GPA. The applicant must carry either 12 hours of undergraduate work or 9 hours of graduate work, be a U.S. citizen and a resident of Illinois.

Applications are in the Financial Aid Office.

Announcements

Chicagoland Jewel Food Stores are sponsoring Shop and Share Days for the benefit of The Lambs, Inc., Monday through Wednesday, June 27-29.

The Lambs, located at Route 176 and I-94 in Libertyville, is a non-profit community where mentally retarded adults live and work. They will receive 5% of the total grocery purchases of shoppers who present a Shop and Share coupon and their grocery receipt to the Jewel cashier on those days.

Coupons may be obtained by calling The Lambs at 362-4636 or by stopping at any of The Lambs country shops, 9-5 daily or at the Country Inn Restaurant, 11-9 Tuesday-Sunday and 11-5 on Mondays.

The American Cancer Society, located in East Hazel Crest, needs volunteer drivers to transport patients to and from their treatments.

Free transportation is one of the services that the Society offers to patients. If interested, or know someone who would be interested, call the South Cook Area Office at 335-3077.

Dr. Warrick Carter "and friends" will present a benefit concert for St. Mary School Park Forest in Freedom Hall on June 30th at 7:30 pm. Tickets are $10 per person and can be purchased from Sandy Dirksen at 748-4075.

School is out. The kids are home for the summer. You're needed at your desk to help keep GSU running smoothly or in the classroom to keep your education headed in the right direction. What about the children? What are they going to do with Mom or Dad gone to the University all day long? Where are they going to be? Hiring a baby-sitter is one alternative. But the Student Activities Child Care Center might be a better idea this summer.

Beginning June 13, and continuing through August 12, the Child Care Center is running a special program for older children, from six to twelve years old. There will be special field trips, arts and crafts instruction, recreational activities designed with the older child in mind, and lots of good old summer vacation fun.

For more information regarding the Child Care Center's summer program for older children, contact the Center at extension 2552. It'll make the summer more enjoyable for your children and easier for you.

SPILL THE WINE

Spill Love over me like one spills vats of wine into fine old casks.
Let the Love we have for each other flow and nourish this earthly union.
Let the Spiritual Soul reach the highest star and let God pour his Love over this faithful Union.
Let us spill the wine of Life.

AWARD

Soft eyes gaze gladness at seeing me, you smile.
Hushed words; "I'm glad you are here" confirm (what?)
My soul screams can this be true? Does it mean?
My brain demands an answer too.
Blue-Grey gaze reaffirms
The half formed questions in these golden orbs;
are you glad I'm here?.... "Yes".

on street on avenue,

These Are The Little Brides

These are little brides whose woman-body is a house, and sweet kisses are garages,
who spread love for a mortgage, spend holidays pumping special limbs and large ledgers on accounts of husbandry, and feed for fatstock.
Whose navels are some folds and contemplate
large signs of mystic numbers.

The same with the grooms,
they walk to a quiet music,

that plummet on roofs
like an almost dream, who drive cares for cars spending riveted hopes in unbuilt architecture.

Games played

The Legislature is still in session, but there is no tax package. The time is running short.

The State continues to totter on the brink of economic chaos, while the politicians appear to be playing games with one another. Everyone seems capable of blaming the other and demanding that some one else come up with a solution.

In cases like this it is the citizens that get left out of the game. Those in education, whether they are students, professors or staff have their futures tied to State Budgets.

The State must make a budget, and if the money is not there then services must be curtailed and other sources of revenues found. That other source of revenue can easily be reflected in increased tuition and fees at GSU. It can also cause layoffs.

It is important that all of us remain aware of the situation in Springfield. It is going to have an effect on everyone of us.

Attending meetings

As reported below, the Board of Governors met in Springfield. As has happened on a number of occasions this year, GSU's student representative Ed McMillin failed to attend the meeting.

The student representative is an advisory position that was only recently created on the BOG. While these students do not have a vote, their presence indicates that the Board is both willing and desirous of knowing and understanding students views.

This year is the first year that there is a bill, now stalled in the Senate, that would give the students one vote on the Board.

Not only is it not in the best interest of GSU's student body when their elected representative fails to perform his duty by not attending meetings, but it puts this student body at a distinct disadvantage because its opinions are not being carried to the body that most directly effects policy at this university.

The INNOVATOR wishes the newly elected representative well. The paper hopes that it will be able to report on her effectiveness as GSU's student voice at the Board of Governors.

Alumni Help

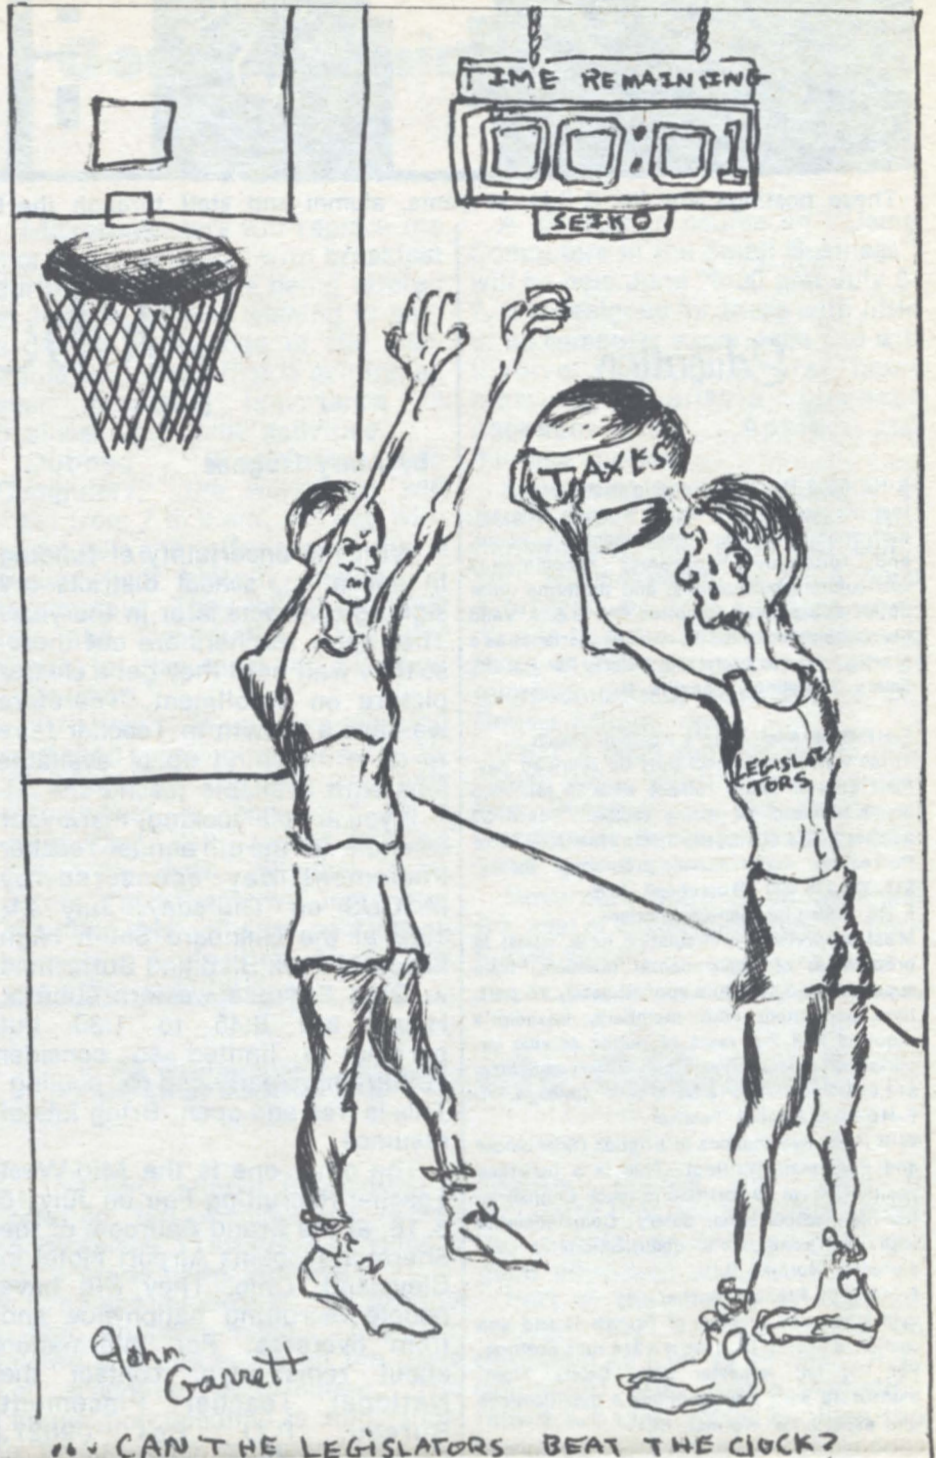

The Alumni Association is providing 100 scholarships to students with a grade point average of 3.75.

In the past, many GSU's students have tended to look down their noses at the education here. This, in part, is the natural tendency of people to look the so called "greener pastures." Other aspects of this are the relative newness of this institution, and the fact that it is a commuter college.

This year the University is in the process of changing directions. The curricular realignment puts the university on the course of the more traditional institutions of higher education.

The alumni association is to be both thanked and commended for deciding on this approach towards helping us all to see that GSU is on its way towards excellence.

Communications

Dear INNOVATOR,

At any given time, there are about ten times more students sitting in the cafeteria than in the Hall of Governors.

With this in mind, did not the electronic sign facing in the wrong direction?

J.B. CAS
(initials by request)

To all GSU Students:

I am very grateful to all GSU students who openly and legally voted for me to represent you, as your representative to the Illinois board of Higher Education (Student Advisory Committee.)

As I am one of you, from the College of Business and Public Administration, I will exercise all my knowledge and experience to represent all GSU students at the Board.

I, therefore, in return, will make my representation more meaningful and worthwhile. I would appreciate GSU students to voice out their opinions.

Remember, having me to represent you is one third of our mission, but having something to talk about is the rest of the two thirds.

I will from time to time keep you informed about the Board's plans. Thank you.

Sincerely,
Alexander Samuels

BOG Thanks Reps.

The Board of Governors voted to thank the student representatives and approved several appointments.

The BOG passed resolutions thanking the student representatives for their advice and help during this academic year. This is the last meeting that they will attend. GSU's representative, Ed McMillin, did not attend.

The newly elected student representatives were formally introduced at the Board meeting. GSU's representative, Dawn Jackson, did not attend.

The Student representatives serve in an advisory capacity to the Board and present the students views and opinions on all important matters that come before the Board. Legislation is pending in the Senate to give the students one voting member on the Board of Governors.

In other matters, Professor Walter Cibulskis, the outgoing chairman of the Council of Faculty announced that the new chairman is Dr. Larry McClellan and Dr. Alma Vinyard is the new secretary of the Council. They will serve a 1 year term.

This Council acts in a purely advisory capacity on academic matters and meets four times per year.

The BOG voted to appoint Dr. Stanley Reeves as the acting president of Eastern Illinois University replacing Dr. Marvin whose resignation is effective July 1.

BOG Legislation Described

The Board of Governors, at their monthly meeting in Springfield, heard reports from the Executive Director, Donald Walters on the progress of the tax legislation and federal aid.

Walters reported that although he does not foresee the so called "doomsday budget," he cannot make a complete financial report until next month's meeting due to the uncertainty in the State Legislature.

At the present time there are several bills for tax increases and reform. However, the situation is not clear as to what will be the eventual outcome.

There are bills in both houses.

There is a bill in the House that has a number of amendments attached to it already and the plan is to put that one into a conference committee if the Senate version is passed by June 27.

In response to a question by Chairman Dominick Bufalino, Walters said that there are no layoffs contemplated at this time, but "we are keeping our options open."

Walters also stated that the federal government's attitude is that it wants to get out of education and have the state's assume a greater role in funding, but he does not expect any changes with the Pell Grants.

With the uncertainty of funding in education, school districts are signing contracts later in the year. They know teachers are out there, so they wait until they get a clearer picture on enrollment. Therefore we have a growth in Teacher fairs to do a matching up of available jobs with available teachers.

If you are still looking, mark your calendar for the 6th annual Teacher Placement day sponsored by IASCUS on Thursday, July 21, 1983 at the Glenbard South High School at Park Blvd and Butterfield in Glen Ellyn, a western suburb. Hours are 8:45 to 1:30 but parking is limited so consider getting there early and car pooling. This is free and open. Bring lots of resumes.

The other one is the Mid-West Teacher Recruiting Fair on July 15 & 16, at the Grand Ballroom of the Sheraton Hopkins Airport Hotel in Cleveland, Ohio. They will have people recruiting nationwide and from overseas. For information about registration, contact the National Teacher Placement Bureau, P.O. Box 09027, Cleveland, Ohio 44109-0027 or phone (216) 741-3771.
