FRIDAY, AUGUST 3

If the United States is real anxious for the war to end within a very short time every member in the country should be conscientious and let them make just one change.

The army regulation heights have been reduced from 64 inches to 61 inches. Possibly your Uncle Sam has realized that it's the little things that count.

A certain Chester post talking to Chester girl, said: "The smoke is a terrible lot of cigars lately, she." "You certainly are, if one of them."

According to press dispatches it was officially announced by the War Department in Washington that the selection of the second regiment for the national army will be forwarded just as soon as the first contingent is selected. We think this an excellent idea. If it is the intention of the War Department to have two million men in training by July 1918, the proper thing to do is to make the selection of the entire army at the earliest possible moment. This step will inform the men, who are to go into the army, just what they will be expected to do and they can arrange their plans accordingly. As the matter stands, a man who might be exempted on account of physical condition, is at a loss to know what planes he can afford to make. The sooner the entire army is selected the better it will be for the individual concerned.

PEANUT OIL MARKET.

Peanut oil promise to be in greater demand than ever before because according to the Department of Agriculture authorities, it is one of the most important of the world's food oils, and doubly important under present conditions. With European imports cut off and the scarcity of cotton-seed oil there is every assurance of a considerable demand at good prices. American mills, however, are not getting the best returns for their product because they do not shell and clean the nuts and remove the germ. Where this is done and the first pressing is made without heating the material, the extracted oil is clear and light in color, and of a quality equal to the finest imported olive oil, though of a different and more nut-like flavor. To many persons it is more palatable than olive oil.

The Spanish type of peanut should be grown for oil, and the additional equipment needed is that used in peanut cleaning and shelling factories. Peanut meal, left as a by-product of oil extraction, is a very nutritious stock feed.

SPEAKERS ANNOUNCED.

The State Council of Defense feels that the people of this State in common, with the people of the entire country are not alone, for the same issue involved, the best of struggle with Germany. Anteriority, and to the end that they may be the better informed about the national state-wide campaign of education is soon to be launched in which the very best speakers of the State will be used. Each County Chairman has been called upon to send the names of five of the best speakers in his County to assist in this campaign, and Mr. R. B. Caldwell, the Chairman for this County has sent in the names of the following gentlemen who will represent Chester County in the list: Hon. J. Taylor Glenn, Hon. Ashbel G. Brien, Hon. J. Hatton Martin, Dr. D. Q. Phillips, and the Rev. C. C. Hewitt. In order that the campaign may be properly conducted by well informed organization, the State Council has asked that all of the speakers from all of the counties make their names to the Supreme Court Room, at the State Capitol in Columbia today at 2:30 P. M.

2:30 P. M. Most valuable information and detailed instructions as to the campaign in each county will be given at this meeting, and Mr. Caldwell will ask us to express for him the hope that the patriotic men of this county will do their best to appoint from this county a special effort to attend this meeting.

Patriotism of the Women.

President Wilson's new appeal to the patriotism of the women of the nation, in the form of a letter to the Secretary of Agriculture and the committee on the conservation of perishable food products, was introduced without much more than a hasty effort that is already in full swing all over the country. And here I'm in question whether about her earnestness and enthusiasm of the response, immense quantities of fruit and vegetables, have already been canned, but the greatest test yet to come, a test which is going to put a severe strain upon the resources of the people. For that is the more serious fact that while the movement for the conservation of food is one in which every household is vitally interested, its full realization calls for an investment in materials quite beyond the means of many women, or which impose a not inconsiderable tax upon those to whom the increased cost of living is by no means negligible.

This is a burden of labor, and many cases of cost which falls directly upon the women. They are being expected to fill the place of men called to military duty or the more urgent of the war industries. The women of America will be more than equal to the emergency is certain. Even if they had not before them the example of the women of England, and France, they could be counted upon to contribute their full share of sacrifice and service.

Under all the circumstances, the women of America, and especially the unfortunates of the section, have the right to ask what returns they are to be made for the sacrifices that are so confidently expected of them. As a matter of fact, the men of America have already admitted their woman to a voice in the management of the Government, and it is a little hard to see how they can be asked to make sacrifices that are so confidently expected of them.

As we go to repeat the British soldiers, let justice be done, the measure of necessity! Would not the President's appeal to the housewives of America come with greater force and inspiration were it coupled with an assurance that the Chief Executive would use his influence to have the Government to recognize the principle of equal suffrage for men and women? The ladies of the White House might, by their example, be very damaging as they are proving the suffrage cause, ought not to be allowed to obscure the essential justice of the demand for the equal suffrage, with a mighty host all over the country, are striving and praying. Let the President be made to recognize the principle and he would redouble the enthusiasm of the women of America and direct into useful channels a vast fund of energy that is now engaged in propaganda.

LIVE STOCK CAMPAIGN IS BEING PLANNED

Columbia, July 31.—Secretary Walter Sorrell, of the South Carolina Live Stock Association, has issued the following letter to the South Carolina Live Stock Association, in co-operation with the United States Department of Agriculture and Extension Director, at Clemson College and Chambers of Commerce of the cities of Rock Hill, Greenville, and Darlington. The action, will hold a series of live stock meetings during the month of August to inform the farmers of South Carolina of the necessity of the production of more live stock to combat the invasion of the boll weevil in South Carolina, which has taken place in the late summer and fall of this year.

These meetings are special one day meetings and are to be held in addition to the annual meeting which is to be held in Orangeburg during the early fall. The date will be announced later. With the packhouse now under construction at Greenville and to be opened in operation this fall and the proposed one for Greenville and with successful production now in operation at Clemson College, Spartanburg, Darlington and several others to be put in operation soon, thus establishing live stock production, the time is ripe to begin the live stock campaign.

portunity for the expansion of beef, pork and dairy products production to the South Carolina to be a farmer for the advent of the boll weevil. Excellent programs have been arranged for these meetings and prominent speakers have been secured to make addresses on various phases of live stock and forage crop production. There will be addresses made by W. W. Long, of Clemson College, W. J. Woodard, editor of Southern Live Stock, Columbia, Ga.; M. Byars, county agent, Anderson; and W. R. Elliott, district agent, Winnsboro.

These meetings will be held at the following dates: Rock Hill, Tuesday, August 14th; Greenville, Wednesday, August 15th; Spartanburg, Thursday, August 16th; Darlington, Friday, August 17th.

It is earnestly hoped that the farmers in the counties in which these meetings are to be held and adjoining counties will take advantage of the opportunity offered by these meetings and attend. These meetings are to be held at a time of year, when farm work is the least severe and will afford an opportunity for social as well as for instructive intercourse.

ALL SEEK ESCAPE FROM MILITARY SERVICE

Washington, July 31.—Washington hotels are now filled with parents who have journeyed to the capital city to use what influence they have to find a means whereby their sons may be released from military service, or at least be placed in some position in the service that does not expose them to the hazards of being a soldier on the firing line. Regardless of what has been said about the expansion of the army, the young manhood of the country, the parents of many of them are worried as to their lot. At the office of members of Congress, where they are to be seen. Hundreds of young men under twenty-one are members of the national guard. But the national appointments to both the naval and the military academies have just been made and there is little hope for escape there.

Another avenue of escape that is being sought is to enlist in the naval reserve. But since a young man already in the service can not gain a transfer, this is closed. Government clerks were never in such demand by present. Young men have come here accompanied by their parents and have beseeched the mothers to employ with tears in their eyes that something be done. Vice consularships, clerks in the field with the few positions with the Red Cross, all have been thought of as means of escape. But efforts of nearly every one have been futile. Young men are not being employed as clerks unless they are on the civil service list, which is a highly competitive preference. The vice consularships are all filled, and the Red Cross contingent is crowded. Parents are leaving Washington heavy hearted and disappointed. One southern millionaire is said to have told a Congressman that he would give $5,000 to find a place for his only son where he would receive a military duty. He did not find the place.

STOMACH TROUBLE

Mr. Marion Holcomb of Nancy, Ky. says: "For quite a long while I suffered with stomach trouble. I would have pains and a heavy feeling after my meals, a most disagreeable taste in my mouth. If I ate anything with butter, oil or grease, I would get it all. I began to have regular sick headaches. I had used pills and tablets, but after a course of these, I would be constipated. ### YOU ARE RIGHT.

It is said that Sears-Robinson & Company have closed a contract for 120,000 tons of 240,000,000 pounds of catalog paper for their 1917 issue. This paper alone figured at $2,000,000, which is probably far less than it costs them, means an outlay of $4,800,000 for paper alone. Add to this the cost of getting out the catalog and the mailing of same and it will make an enormous sum this one firm is spending to get the catalog to the home of every business that should go to the home of every merchant that they would apply some of the business methods used by this mail order order house. The country merchant cannot lose catalogs, but better than this, they can quote their mail order and describe their goods to prospective customers each week by using the columns of the local paper.

The "rich man's son" is trying for the aviation service. It is the "high brow" branch of the service. The casualty and mortality lists in the aviation is smaller than in any line of service. Pull is required to get into the aviation service, and since upwards of 2,000 young men are seeking them, many of those who are being appointments in this line of the service will be taken care of.

THREAT TO WILSON IS SENT BY I. W. W.

Quarter Million Men in Quilt Work if Deported Men Are Not Sent Back to Bibles, Haywood Wrote Him.

Chicago, July 31.—Miners, harvest hands and lumbermen, workers of the Middle West, threaten to go on a sympathy strike, unless the I. W. W. men desist from their activities in Arizona, and now held at Columbia, N. M., and returned to their homes in the Warren district of Arizona. A telegram, voicing the intention of a walk-out of more than a quarter of a million men was sent to President Wilson by W. D. Haywood of Chicago, Secretary of the I. W. W. yesterday.

This move on the part of Haywood was the result of the summary dismissal from Bibles, Ariz. of his attorney, Fred H. Moore. When asked what he would do about the deportation, Mr. Haywood said:

"What else is there to do but accept the deportation. Can you tell me any way to beat their game? If Arizona can stand the domination of high placed officials I guess the I. W. W. will be able to do it."

"I have been forced to wire President Wilson that a general strike will be called in the Middle West unless the men of Arizona are brought back to their families. When all the numbers and sympathizers walk out, 250,000 men will be idle. As yet I have received no reply from Washington."

Suspension of harvest work, I. W. W. leaders declared, would mean the loss of thousands of dollars to the farmers, and sympathizers walk out, would prove a serious impediment to munition manufacturers.

Mr. Haywood explained that the strikes were not called by headquarters, but by the men in the different localities.

"We don't call strikes from this office," he said. "The men call the strikes themselves. Of course head-quarters helps them all it can."

While representatives of the railroad brotherhood and general managers of the nineteen roads affected by Chicago's west-end switchmen's strike were meeting today to reach a final agreement, double shifts of trainmen were working desperately to clear the congestion of cars that stacked up in the forty-eight hours of the strike.

HUCKABEE SHORT IN HIS ACCOUNTS

Bondsmen Will Be Called Upon to Make Good Loss—Matter Goes to Court.

Camden, Aug. 2.—A shortage amounting to $9,360.50, has been discovered in the accounts of W. W. Huckabee, former sheriff of Ker-shaw County who died some months ago. L. K. Swarth, representing the comptroller general's office, made a thorough audit of the books of the sheriff's office shortly after Mr. Huckabee's death and was discovered that the shortage extended practically the entire time he was in office, the principal items involved being cash overruns.

Each of the bondsmen has been notified that there is a shortage, which they have been formally notified to make good. There being three different sets of bondsmen this demand was refused on the grounds that the men were on the bond from February 1, 1917, to the date of the sheriff's death were responsible only that part of the shortage which occurred after that date. The refusal of the last bondsmen to determine the amount that each incurred and the matter was turned over to the attorney general's office to determine the amount that each set of bondsmen are liable for. As soon as this is done demand will be made upon all the bondsmen for the full amount of the shortage, as it occurred, into three different periods.

This probably will cause an interesting legal battle. It is said that all the bondsmen have employed attorneys. Each set of bondsmen claiming that as they had been discharged from all liability the burden rests upon the last set of bondsmen and they of course claiming that they cannot be held for that part of the shortage which occurred before they became liable.

Many friends of the dead sheriff and those who were not his friends officially expressed their sympathy and the utmost confidence in his integrity and can not believe that he was solely responsible for the shortage.

The following is a list of the bondsmen who have been served with notice from the attorney general's office:

From October 15, 1912, the Gulf Atlantic Insurance Company of Columbia furnished a surety bond until May 15, 1915, when trouble arose between the former sheriff and Governor Manning and the surety company asked that they be relieved.

Mr. Sheriff Huckabee's reinstatement by the supreme court his bond was a private one, being furnished from May 15, 1915, to February 1, 1917, by M. D. DeLoe, Rebecca L. Huckabee, B. L. Shirley, W. J. Dunn, B. M. Pearce, J. L. Hinson, Earl H. Brown, J. B. Dinkins, J. T. Hough, J. T. Hough, Jr., J. F. Elliott and R. S. Vilepierre. It is said that after February 1, 1917, the bondsmen asked to be released.

From February 1, 1917, to the date of his death the following were on his bond: E. H. Brown, J. T. Hough, J. P. Elliott, W. J. Dunn, K. S. Vilepierre, M. D. Kelly, A. L. Hinson and Rebecca L. Huckabee.

Death of Mr. Claude M. Wade.

The many friends and acquaintances of Mr. Claude M. Wade, of Leeds, will regret to learn of his death, which occurred yesterday in Birmingham, Ala. Mr. Wade left here last Tuesday for Hot Springs, Ark., where he was going for the benefit of his health but the end came before he reached there.

Mr. Wade was about thirty-four years of age and was the husband of Mrs. Wade and had three children. He was a member of the Baptist church and was one of Chester county's best citizens. He had been curl carrier on Leeds Route 1 every since the establishment of age.

The funeral arrangements have not as yet been announced.

Death of Mrs. Jane C. Williamson.

Mrs. Jane C. Williamson, widow of the late Rev. J. L. Williamson, died at a local hospital in this city yesterday morning after an illness of several weeks.

Rock Hill Boy Drowned

Rock Hill, Aug. 1.—Everard Starr, 15 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Julian S. Starr, was drowned this morning while bathing in the creek on the place of Dr. J. E. Massey, just across the Catawba river in Lancaster County. The lad ventured into deep water and was unable to swim out. His two smaller brothers were present and gave the alarm. The body was recovered within an hour and physicians used every known means to restore respiration, but their efforts were fruitless. Mrs. Starr and children were spending some time on the farm of Dr. Massey and the boys went out to take a bath.

News of the accident was telephoned to the city about noon, shortly after the body was recovered, and a number went over in cars. The remains were brought to the city this afternoon. The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock from the residence, conducted by the Rev. F. W. Gregg.

A member of one of the selection boards, who are examining men in New York City, stated in a New York paper yesterday, that after the first days work he was of the opinion that it would be necessary for the board to examine 1,000 men in order to get their quota of 100 men.

The Troublesome Balkans.

Important problems will be discussed at the Balkan Conference now in session at Paris. Indeed, the discussion may take a wider scope than was at first contemplated. Some reply may be made to the statement of the German Chancellor, shortly after the receipt of Russia and Austria, the United States, represented by Vice Admiral Sims, will have to its Allies the disposition of matters of more intimate concern to them, but it can hardly refuse to speak on the larger issues of the war. These issues are more easily dealt with, in a sense, than the other. The Balkan nations have been a predominant influence in European politics for many years, and when the time comes to debate terms of peace their often conflicting interests will be hard to reconcile. Even if Russia were to abandon her traditional ambition to exercise a controlling influence, the task would not be much lightened. Thus if Bulgaria were to be punished for her part in the war by a denial of her legitimate ambitions, a new cause of dissension would be created. Nor are in every case mutually harmonious the ambitions of Serbia and Greece. Italy, too, has interests which do not run with those of Serbia.

This may be looking a long way ahead. Yet it is obvious that political questions, Greece, who has at last thrown in her lot with the Allies, must know what she is fighting for. Rumania can give no effective aid to the Allies if Russia collapses. On the contrary, if the attempt is made to induce Bulgaria to sign a separate peace the result might be the alienation of Rumania, and Greece, Italy, too, has interests which do not run with those of Serbia.

SEVENTY-TWO YEARS IN BED
Experience of an Englishwoman Disappointed in Love.

From London comes the story of a woman who has just died at the age of ninety-four years after spending seventy-two years in bed. This remarkable case calls for admiration rather than sympathy. If we believe in the theory that will-power, determination and persistence are admirable qualities.

When she was about twenty she became engaged to a young man whose suit was frowned upon by her father. The parental "bar" being placed upon the marriage, she in her disappointment took to her bed and remained there to the end of her long life. An extraordinary instance of persistent resentment which recalls the adage emphasizing the futility of "biting off one's nose to spite one's face."

Several sermons of varying application might be based on this story. No doubt, will-power exercised in this way is not admirable unless it achieves a definite and reasonable purpose or may be regarded as emphasizing a positive principle or symbolizing a permanent grief or emotion. That could scarcely be claimed in any instance of this character. The length of time which grief of disappointment may endure as a compelling motive in the human mind and joyfully produce a continued extremity of conduct varies greatly according to the individual. But this is an ultimately reliable agent in the process of healing and ultimate, and some-

CHANDLER SIX

Chandler Records Are Owners' Records

Not to our knowledge has a professional motor car driver ever made a record with a Chandler Six.

But all the thousands of owners of Chandler Sixes, every day, are making the kind of records that count. Records of satisfactory service.

The Chandler Company has never built a racing car. Chandler owners do not want racing cars.

The 55 to 60 miles per hour speed that every Chandler car will do is speed much greater than you would ever ask for.

The Chandler Company has never built a special mountain-climbing car with short wheel base and low gear ratio.

The ease with which every Chandler climbs steep grades on high gear is satisfying to the Chandler owner.

The Chandler Company has never supplied any Chandler dealer anywhere with a special gear ratio for demonstrating purposes.

What any Chandler Six does your Chandler Six will do.

The manufacturer of one six can make just as big claims as the manufacturer of any other six. But

The Chandler is a Fact-Car, Not a Claim-Car, and These Are Facts, Not Claims

There is no other six more flexible in control, more responsive to your every demand, than the Chandler.

There is no other which will pull hard grades on high with greater ease.

There is no other so economical in operation.

There is no other which embodies in its design and construction so many features characteristic of high-grade high-priced motor cars.

There is no other of more beautiful body lines or greater riding comfort.

where there is a definite limit to the duration of any emotion. Even with an exceptional temperament it cannot be sustained beyond this limit, without a renewed, perpetual stimulus of some sort. This is in harmony with a physical law that applies with equal force to mental and emotional matters. Energy that is not renewed is bound to run to expenditure.

At the first dozen or fifteen or twenty years this Englishwoman must have remained in bed through sheer force of habit, and in all probability she had forgotten more than a half century ago why she took to her bed in the first place. This curious case illustrates the force of habit rather than the power of will.

It also shows how easily an original motive may be lost sight of in the interest of following a course of action that may have been due to that motive. Life abounds in instances of persistent futility and waste of action that are quite as grotesque as this. As an example of its particular kind, however, it is the only far comparison that may be made in the case of the occasional man who makes a solemn vow never to have his hair cut unless Tom, Dick or Harry is elected President of the United States. The rational point of view of course, is that this is a thing to do with foolishness. It is to break them, and the sooner the better. But there are many persons who attach a strange importance to such a vow and great stress upon ceremonial fulfillers that they call "members of the class."

There is one other point of interest, and possible importance in this strange case. Throughout this Englishwoman's seventy-two years in bed the only illness she had was two days at the end. Moreover, it is related that she enjoyed a good appetite, in spite of the lack of exercise, and had the complexion of a "rose," and that "she took great interest in the affairs of the outside world." This might be added to the ignominious recipe. To have perfect health, a long life, a youthful complexion, and a vivid interest in affairs, go to bed and stay there!—Providence Journal.

WOMEN WHO WED SLACKERS MAY BE SENT TO JAIL

Washington, July 31.—Women who marry men who have been drafted with the idea of aiding them to escape military service are as liable as their slack husbands to be sent to jail, according to an announcement made tonight by Provost Marshal General Crowder. General Crowder authorized local recruitment boards to warn persons who claim exemption on the ground of marriage contracted during the Draft law became effective on May 18 "that both parties are liable to prosecution" under the provision making it a misdemeanor for any one "to evade the act or for any one to aid another to evade the requirements. Answering the general question as to whether a person married since July 20—the date of the draft drawing—can have a claim for discharge on this ground, General Crowder said:

"Marriage is not of itself a valid ground for making claim of discharge. A man whose wife is mainly dependent on his daily labor for support may claim exemption on that ground. But dependency is a matter of fact. Only the exemption boards can determine this fact."

"Not at all," said the young man. "Let's go over and watch the artillery."
