County Agent Calls On People

I have been at the Lexington, York and Fairfield County fairs recently and I have found that the Chester County Fair Bureau is offering splendid premiums on agricultural products and livestock. The exhibits at the above mentioned fairs have been short and I hope that the friends of the Chester County Fair will all bring some of their agricultural products to Chester's fair.

Special prizes are offered for Community exhibits. Watch out Pleasant Grove and do not let Lowryville or Armenia beat you. Look out Lowryville, do not let Pleasant Grove get the blue ribbon for the best community booth. Armenia, we are looking to you to beat both of the above.

Special premiums are offered for individual farm exhibits also. We have several farmers who should have a good live exhibit at the fair. Other special premiums are offered in addition to the regular premiums in the catalogue for the best collection of hay, display of grain and corn, and for these bringing in the largest load the greatest distance.

If you cannot get in a community booth, or an individual display, bring anything that you have from a hill of beans to a bale of cotton.

I was talking to a man recently and he expressed the opinion that farmers handle corn, cotton, pigs, goats, cattle and other agricultural products so much that they go to the fair to see anything but these. But, here you are mistaken. The other fellow wants to see what you have and what you are doing.

The premiums on hogs are especially attractive and we should have a large exhibition. First premiums are five dollars each, less entry fee, whereas at some of the fairs these premiums have only been one dollar the first prize. I am anxious to see a large exhibit of swine for the old sow always brings home the bacon when she is given a chance. Chester county could and should have the best hog show of any county in the state.

Bring in your products to the fair, anything and everything useful to man or beast, even opossums and possums. With a full agricultural exhibit I believe that we shall have the best fair we have ever had.

Don't come to the fair and say, "I had better than that at home," but bring in your products early Monday, November 2nd for entry.

H. K. Sanders, County Agt.

Will Hold Auto Show

A new feature for the Chester County Fair this year will be an automobile show. This is the first time in the history of Chester county fairs that an automobile show has been a feature of the county fair.

The large tent used at the "Gypsy" Smith meeting in Chester has been secured and will house the automobile exhibits. In the large tent there will be nothing but exhibits of automobiles, trucks and tractors. The tent will be attractively decorated for the occasion and the local dealers promise to give Chester county people something in the way of an auto show that they will be proud of.

Something like forty different makes of automobiles are sold by local dealers and practically all of them have engaged space for an exhibit in the large tent.

The dealers are planning to have a parade of the exhibition cars on one day of the fair.

It is easy enough to be pleasant when cotton's as high as a kite; But the meanest old fish is the Frankler who'd wish That it would go off a dollar a night.

THE'RE COMING TO THE FAIR

SUGGESTIONS FOR BOOSTING YOUR TOWN.

Don't be the man who put sick in city.
Building good houses builds a good town.
Save a little money and save a lot of worry.
Good roads lead not only to town, but to money.
Be a live one and the town will never be a dead one.

A nice front porch has prevented many an old man from coming to the fair.

Why should the town muzzle dogs and not knockers?

When someone plans to help the town, plan to help the plan.

The best plans a man can have to the future are house plans.

A good way to make the world better is to begin with the home town.

A town is like a perambulator; it isn't much good unless it is pushed.

Don't spend all your time telling what you could do if you had some time.

Be like a ball player, catching he is always working for it home.

Be one of the leaders of the town, if you can; but, anyway, keep up.

If you think a cow can't laugh for joy, let somebody sell you a good silo.

Don't be a grouch. Every body in this town wishes you well, even the doctor.

Let's not be trying to stop something all of the time. Let's start something.

A good town will do more to keep the boys at home than good advice.

A town is like a girl, it's wonderful what a little fixing up will do for her.

Opportunity knocks once at every man's door; better be at home when the lady calls.

The world owes every man a living, but the street corner is a poor collection agency.

Don't look for soft snags; the hard snags are the ones that have the plumb in them.

If you would have somebody working for you, put a little money in the bank.

It improves the soup to throw a little pepper into it. Same way with a town.

Many a young man goes away to seek his fortune banking your money.

Many a young man goes away to seek his fortune when Fortune is seeking him at home.

Plaster your house and every body will follow your example. Lath and the world laths with you.

You've got to be a citizen in order to vote; but you've got to do a good deal more than vote to be a citizen.

If you will consider the men in this town who are well off you will find that most of them made their money here.

The big things were not all done in big towns. The greatest poem in the English language, was written in a country churchyard.

There is only one better man than the man who gets behind and pushes, in an effort to improve the town, and that's the man who goes ahead and pulls.

“How to buy”

Watch the business men at the Fair

THAT'S one of the things business men are expert in; they know “how to buy.” Watch them purchase live stock or maybe farm machinery or anything else, they have a sharp instinct for intrinsic value; they insist on the finest quality; they know its economy.

Buy your clothes that way; we buy them for you with these things in mind, and we buy

Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes

because they're all-wool, stylish, serviceable, carefully tailored; because they give you more for your money than any other clothes.

There may be other clothes that offer good quality but there are no other clothes that you can be so absolutely sure of. You get your money back if you think the clothes don't deliver as much satisfaction as you think you have coming.

his treatment free. A lot of change went up quickly. And you, Hiram, thought it was all true; when I knew all the time they were members of the medicine man's own fake crew. And you was fully convinced when one fellow, who claimed to have been deaf from childhood, was cured so he could hear his watch tick in his pocket. Another one got his legs right back. A third one had his lame leg annointed and at once hopped around lively-like, while still another one who said he was a confirmed drunkard, had his mouth all sprayed out, at once took the pledge 'for good and keep.' And you, too, Hiram, (tee-hee-hee!) got some of the rheumatism cure, and 'lowed how it helped you very much, while all the time I knew it was just plain colored water."

THE FAIR SPIRIT

Father's hitching up old Ned
To the big family surry;
Mother's packing up preserves
In a terrible flurry;
Sister's counting canned goods
And getting out the sewing;
The hired man's bagging crops,
Doing lots of tangoing;
The cook has gone to the fair—
Left with a shout and laugh:
Only folks that's left at home
Lame and our brindle calf.
But we, too, will certainly be
For we're going to the Chester fair,
By heck!

EXPERIENCE

To have experience is to live. The more experience one gets, the more he will know about life. That's why they say experience is the best teacher. A county fair is one of the best places in the country to get experience. That's why we urge you to attend the Chester county fair.

HISTORY OF SOUTH CAROLINA

The following article appeared in the Hampton Guardian, not long since, signed "Correspondent." That in reality written by Clyde Fitch,
and is reprinted by request:
South Carolina is a State of perpetual irritation, situated between Georgia and North Carolina, and aid the Civil War. It is the fighting of State in the Union, and is the most set spot between the Atlantic and the Pacific in which to discuss the emancipation question or to edit
a newspaper with a trenchant pen.
South Carolina is about as big as the front half of a Texas cattle king kingdom, but its population, which contains thirty thousand square miles, is shaped like a few-cent certic
the population is almost equally divided between whites and blacks, but one white Carolinian when he grasped his teeth and always in his breath with a low, hissing sound, can make one hundred residents go away in search of rest and a change of climate without waiting for the next train.
South Carolina was settled about two hundred and fifty years ago and has remained unsettled ever since. It has always been noted for its enervous disposition and its willingness to rise up and smite the unlucky on all occasions. The British were having a easy time in the Revolutionary War when they struck
South Carolina, but General Marion soon made them look like a Republican who had criticized General Lee in Charleston. The State helped to win the Revolution, but threatened to take its doll things and go home in Jackson's administration,
and in 1861 it opened the Civil War
by seceding with a prodigious exposition. Later it contributed Tillman to the United States Senate and has listened to the unvarnished results with pride ever since. South Carolina was severely shaken up by the earthquake in 1886, but did not succede at that time.

South Carolina raises cotton, rice,
and sweet potatoes, and supplies turpentine and rosin to the world at large. It grows the Atlantic Ocean's a modest way about six feet under high water and for miles around it so moist that the farmers never liberate's hands of their wagons. It has many fine oak towns, full of polite and civilized citizens, but the population, petters out in the western mountains, above the people get clay instead of ice-cream and observes, and empty the book-worms
and the book-worms by pounding the poles with a stick. There are three religions, in the State—
Protestant, Catholic, and State Sects. Between the Savannah and Palmetto roads John D. Calhoun is still the greatest man in the world and history closes in 1865.
Charleston, a beautiful petrified
city on the sea coast, is a metropolis of South Carolina.

Miss Forney, of the Extension Service, Department of Clemson College, will have a dory exhibit at the Chester County Fair this year that will be both interesting and instructive.
Such has been reserved for this interesting exhibit. The booth will be located here from the State Fair.

A First Aid Station

The Doctor hospital will have a first aid station in the Lloyd exhibit building at the Chester county fair.
A booth will be fitted up for this purpose and in cases of minor injury visitors they will be welcome to make use of the facilities at hand without cost. This will be maintained throughout the four days of the fair. The booth will be in charge of nurses from the hospital.

GUERNSEY SHOW SECOND DAY

A very important matter in connection with the Chester County Fair this year is the Guernsey show. As will be recalled, the Chester-Fairfield-York Guernsey Association last year received a large shipment of pure-bred cattle which was sold at auction at the fair. This year the association will have another sale, which will be held on Wednesday, November 5th. The officers of the association propose to hold the largest sale show this year ever held in this section and visitors from various sections of the State are expected to attend.

A carload of Guernsey heifers have been secured by the association and as above stated, will be placed on sale November 5th. The premiums being offered this year in the cattle department is far above the average offered at county fairs.

The coming of the bull weevil is causing many people to become interested in cattle who have never given the matter serious concern in times past, but now realize that it becomes necessary that they become acquainted with other things besides that of raising cotton.

The large cattle barn, which was erected last year at a cost of approximately two thousand dollars, has recently been put in first class shape. The erection of this building means more to exhibitors of cattle than at any place in the surrounding territory, and while not so large, it is really a better exhibit cattle building than the one used at the State Fair.

The officers of the Chester-Fairfield-York Guernsey Association are: W. M. Patrick, President, Woodward, S. C.; Dr. W. W. Fennell, Vice President, Rock Hill, S. C.; R. B. Caldwell, Vice President, Chester, S. C.; Alex Macdonald, Secretary and Treasurer, Blackstock, S. C.; J. M. Brann, Rock Hill, S. C.; J. J. McDaniel, Cornwell, S. C.; J. H. Harris, Patrick, White Oak, S. C., Executive Committee.

Rest Room at the Fair.

Space has been reserved in the Lloyd building for a rest room and child's welfare exhibit, which will be in charge of Miss Covington, the county nurse. Women and children are welcome to use the rest room and the exhibit planned in connection therewith will intelligently convey the nature of the important work being done in Chester county under the supervision of the county nurse.

THE REFORM OF PETER PLUNKITT

Pete Plunkitt was the Bolshevik Of Hickville Public School; He said that lessons made him sick; He wouldn't mind a rule. He wouldn't study or recite. He'd sit all day and slack; He'd dearly loved to row and fight And sass the teacher back. Whenever trouble raised his head The teacher always knew. Pete Plunkitt was the lad that led The mischief-making crew. When little boys with blackened eyes To her complaining came, She heard without the least surprise That Peter was to blame. But when to him she pointed out The error of his course, He only wore an ugly pout. Nor showed the least remorse. Kind counsel did not help, because Misconduct gave him joy; You've guessed perhaps that Peter was A very naughty boy. And so one day she took a stick And with indignant might She beat the little Bolshevik Until he saw a light. He whimpered to his seat with his Well—say his feelings—sore. And little Peter Plunkitt is A Bolshevik no more.
