	TREASURY MISCELLANEOUS.
Furniture and carpets, Treasury Department.	Carpets, desks, tables, chairs, shelving for file-room, boxes, repairs of furniture, cases, oil-cloth, matting, rugs, chair-covers and cushions, repairs and laying of carpets, and other miscellaneous items of a like character, being a deficiency for the fiscal year 1874. NOTE.—This deficiency occurs as follows: The rapid growth of the money-order system made it necessary to construct a large number of file-cases and to supply extra tables, desks, and other furniture in the office of the Sixth Auditor of the Treasury, at an expense of about $5,750. When the law went into effect abolishing the offices of assessors of internal-revenue, the files of their offices were sent to the Department, and, as a consequence, many additional file-cases were required for their accommodation, involving an expense of about $2,250. In order to meet the requirements of the increased business of the Department, it became necessary to rent additional buildings and fit them up with file-cases, carpets, furniture, &c., at an expense of about $2,000. These expenditures were not anticipated at the time the regular estimates for the year were made up.	Appropriated.	17	495	1	10,000 00	$40,000 00

Expenses of national currency.	Paper, engraving, printing, express charges, and other expenses of making and issuing the national currency, being a deficiency for the fiscal year 1874.	Appropriated	17	512	1	11,219 17	100,000 00
Repairs and preservation of public buildings.	Repairs and preservation of all public buildings under the control of the Treasury Department, being a deficiency for the fiscal year 1874. NOTE.—This amount is necessary to complete repairs already commenced and to make other repairs during the present fiscal year, which the condition of the public buildings renders necessary. The demands upon the appropriation during the year have been unusual and imperative, and the amount herein estimated should be appropriated as soon as possible.	Appropriated	17	525	1	50,000 00	200,000 00
Furniture and repairs of same for public buildings.	For furniture and repairs of same, carpets, &c., for public buildings under control of the Treasury Department, being a deficiency for the fiscal year 1874. NOTE.—The estimate submitted for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1874, (see p. 146 printed estimates, 1873-'74,) was $200,000—$150,000 has been appropriated. The remaining $50,000 herein estimated for is required to meet requisitions for indispensable articles chargeable only to that appropriation.	Appropriated	17	514	1	50,000 00	150,000 00
Fuel, light, water, &c., for public buildings.	For fuel, lights, water, and miscellaneous items required by the janitors and firemen in the proper care and preservation of the public buildings, furniture, and heating apparatus, such as brooms, brushes, mops, buckets, wheelbarrows, shovels, hatchets, hammers, saws, &c., being deficiency for fiscal year 1874. NOTE.—The estimate for these items for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1874, (see p. 146 printed estimates, 1873-'74,) was $250,000—$225,000 has been appropriated. The requisitions upon this appropriation for the current fiscal year amount to $266,000, and it is now estimated that the sum of $270,000 will be required to supply the necessary items properly chargeable only to that appropriation.	Appropriated	17	514	1	45,000 00	225,000 00

	MISCELLANEOUS OBJECTS.
Collection and payment of bounty, prize- money, and other claims of colored sol- diers and sailors.	Salaries of agents and clerks; rent of offices; fuel and lights; stationery, &c.; office-furniture and repairs; mileage and transportation of officers and agents; telegraphing and postage, being a deficiency for the fiscal year 1874. NOTE.—The necessity for this appropriation arises from the fact that the amount asked for, in the estimate for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1874, was reduced from $100,000 to $50,000. The experience of the past year proves that the amount will not be sufficient; and that less than $85,000 will very seriously affect the efficiency of our operations, and retard the final closing of the business. With the strictest economy the expenses of the branch of this office having to do with payment of these claims, now that it is fully organized, are from $6,000 to $7,000 per month. With the additional labor imposed by act of March 3, 1873, "An act to place colored persons who en- listed in the Army on the same footing as other soldiers as to bounty and pensions," the expenses will be increased, it is believed, to at least $8,000 per month during the coming winter and spring. NOTE.—The Secretary of the Interior, in transmitting this estimate, says, that the appropriation made at the last session of Congress for the payment of the salaries of the deputy commissioner and medical referee, and the increase of the salaries of four surgeons from $1,200 to $1,800 per annum, by the 38th section of the act of March 3, 1873, was placed in the act making appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1873, and was, therefore, only available for the balance of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1873. There is no appropriation for the salaries of the persons referred to for the current fiscal year.

NOTE.—This estimate is submitted in order to pay William P. Wright for services rendered in the office of the surveyor-general from December 1, 1871, to June 30, 1872. The facts in the case are that the late surveyor-general employed Mr. Wright as assistant draughtsman at a time when he was aware that the appropriation would not admit of it, but as the public imperatively demanded the increase at the time, it is but just that Mr. Wright should be compensated, and not be held accountable for the actions of the surveyor-general.

Survey of the exterior boundaries of Indian reservations.	Survey of Indian reservations. Surveys in the Indian Territory embraced within the lands ceded by the Cherokees, Seminoles, and Creek tribes of Indians, being deficiency for 1874, and prior years. NOTE.—The Secretary of the Interior, in submitting this estimate, invites attention to the following extract from a letter from the Commissioner of the General Land-Office: "On September 7, 1872, contracts were entered into with Messrs. Darling & Laufer, and Barrett & Smith, in accordance with instructions from the Secretary of the Interior, under date of August 29, 1872, to survey certain portions of the within-mentioned land to the extent of $40,000 each, with a stipulation, however, in said contracts, that the balance of said lands was to be surveyed in the event of an appropriation by Congress to pay for such service. "While the surveys were in progress an appropriation of $20,000 was made for survey of exterior boundaries of Indian reservations and sub-dividing portions of the same, out of which the sum of $75,000 was set aside to meet the liabilities arising in the completion of their contracts. accordingly duly notified in special instructions of April 3, 1873, to complete their work.

"The fund set aside to pay for these surveys has been completely exhausted, and as it was insufficient it now appears that it will require a deficiency of about $45,000 to complete the work, in which sum is included a small deficiency for the completion of the work embraced in contract of Barret & Darling dated December 3, 1870, which was to be paid for out of the appropriation of $444,480, and a subsequent appropriation of $98,000. In submitting our estimates to Congress for the survey of public lands, no estimate was made for the survey of Indian lands, as the Indian Office properly submits such estimates, and in consequence it was deemed expedient to submit the matter to that office for such action as it thought best."

Penitentiary building

To enable the Secretary of the Interior to pay to Livingston & Schram the amount due and unpaid to them under their contracts for building a penitentiary in Wyoming Territory, and an addition thereto, dated April 13, and June 14, 1872.

NOTE.—A letter dated December 2, 1873, in explanation of this deficiency, was transmitted by the Hon. Secretary of the Interior to the Hon. Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Geological survey of the Territories.

Completion of the work of the geological and geographical survey of the Territories of the United States by Professor F. V. Hayden, during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1874, to be available on the passage of this act, and to be expended under the direction of the Secretary of the Interior.

NOTE.—The following extract from the letter of the Secretary of the Interior is submitted in explanation of this deficiency: "The geological and geographical survey of the least-known portions of the western Territories—more especially of the more broken and mountainous localities, and of those remote from routes of ordinary travel, involves a considerable expenditure for what is commonly termed an 'outfit'—composed of pack-mules, wagons, tents, &c. In the former surveys, conducted by Professor Hayden under the direction of this Department, the custom has been to purchase a new 'outfit' at the beginning of each season, and when the field-work of the season was completed to dispose of the surplus materials of the 'outfit' at public sale. Hitherto a fair percentage upon the cost of the several 'outfits' has been received from such sales, and the sums thus realized have been expended in defraying the expense of preparing and arranging, during the intervening winters, the results of each season's operations for publication. At the close of the past season, however, the geologist in charge was unable to obtain a reasonable price for the 'outfit,' and, unwilling to dispose of it at a great sacrifice to the Government, deemed it advisable to retain the materials for use during the season of 1874, should Congress authorize a continuation of the survey. The materials thus withheld from sale are estimated to be worth $20,000, and the want of this sum, to complete the work of the season, compels Professor Hayden to ask for a deficiency appropriation. His action in refusing to sacrifice the 'outfit,' is believed to have been timely and proper, and I therefore recommend the deficiency appropriation asked for to enable him to prepare the results of the survey of 1873 for publication."

	NOTE.—The estimates for the current fiscal year were based upon the sup- position that there would be 555 patients to be supported by the Govern- ment at an estimated cost of $130,500, but only $125,000 were appropriated for this object; and instead of an average of 555 non-paying patients there were 580 at the beginning of this year, or 25 more than were estimated for, and there is thought to be a greater probability that the average number of this class of patients through the year will be larger than it was at the beginning of the year. The deficiency in the appropriation is $5,500, and the cost of maintaining 25 additional patients will be $5,866, and the sum of those amounts is $11,366, or the amount of this estimate.
