

January 2018

Resist

John L. Jaeger
Nova Southeastern University

Follow this and additional works at: <https://nsuworks.nova.edu/digressions>

Part of the Art and Design Commons, and the Creative Writing Commons

Recommended Citation

Jaeger, John L. (2018) "Resist," Digressions Literary Magazine: Vol. 14 , Article 31.
Available at: <https://nsuworks.nova.edu/digressions/vol14/iss1/31>

This Poetry is brought to you for free and open access by the CAHSS Journals at NSUWorks. It has been accepted for inclusion in Digressions Literary Magazine by an authorized editor of NSUWorks. For more information, please contact nsuworks@nova.edu.

Resist

Author Note

John is the Assistant Area Coordinator for the Graduate Residence Hall. He has died twice in his lifetime. He was resuscitated at birth, having a received a zero as his Apgar score. His father lied to his mother and said he looked great as doctors rushed him off to bring life to him. He died a second time at the age of twelve when he tried to take his own life. He's realized the vast importance of the moments since that time and tries to take each day as it comes. And he also likes ice cream.

One by one, day by day
They all come to watch us pray.
To speak to gods
To steal our ways.
Day by day, they watch us pray

One by one, night by night
They all come to watch us fight.
To scream and shout
To kick and bite
They all come to watch us fight

One by one, town by town
They all come to watch us drown.
To watch us sink
To push us down
Town by town, they help us drown