

January 2018

Faith

John L. Jaeger
Nova Southeastern University

Follow this and additional works at: <https://nsuworks.nova.edu/digressions>

 Part of the Art and Design Commons, and the Creative Writing Commons

Recommended Citation

Jaeger, John L. (2018) "Faith," Digressions Literary Magazine: Vol. 14 , Article 35.
Available at: <https://nsuworks.nova.edu/digressions/vol14/iss1/35>

This Poetry is brought to you for free and open access by the CAHSS Journals at NSUWorks. It has been accepted for inclusion in Digressions Literary Magazine by an authorized editor of NSUWorks. For more information, please contact nsuworks@nova.edu.

---

Faith

Author Note

John is the Assistant Area Coordinator for the Graduate Residence Hall. He has long struggled with the concept of God. While he will say that he's an atheist, it really is just an easy answer to the lifelong question of what exists beyond the limits of human understanding. He thinks often on the Problem of Evil and its arguments. You should talk to him sometime about what you believe. He likes that though you should also be prepared to have a long conversation.

Have you ever asked god to put food in your hand
(I believe in a god who can)
And been left perishing, weakening, starving
On your fill of god?
Or would you start worshipping full aluminum cans?

Have you ever asked god to stop Evil's plans
(I believe in a god who can) And been left broken, battered, confused
After god didn't stop?
Or would you walk around with a gun in your hand?

Have you ever asked god to strike you down where you stand
(I believe in a god who can) And been left standing, waiting, thinking
Is god really god?
Or just the figments of man?