MARCH 2018

Message from the Editors:

Hello Sharks!

Sierra and I hope everyone has enjoyed their spring break.

We at DPVA are ready to take on the rest of the semester and hope you are too! As a reminder, any suggestions for content can be emailed to moretto@nova.edu, or you can visit us in the DPVA office suite during office hours. We look forward to hearing from you. We hope you enjoy this newsletter and that we see you at some of the many events included within this newsletter. Thank you for reading!

Spotlights

Catalina Vanegas

While at NSU, Vanegas was an active participant in the dance and theatre programs, two scholarship based choirs, and was captain and one of the founding members of the Athletic Collegiate Dance Team. She was the first sophomore casted in a main role as Snoopy in NSU Theatre's production of You're a Good Man Charlie Brown and the first non-dance major to be awarded the best overall dancer as a freshman.

Catalina graduated with her Bachelor's degree in Accounting and a minor in Theatre in 2015.

She is now the Associate Artistic Director, as well as a Choreographer and Dance Instructor, with the Colombian Folkloric Ballet.

CAHSS DPVA is excited to host Fulbright Scholar Sudha Rangunathan for the winter term.

Sudha, one of India's foremost Carnatic vocalists, joined us as a featured guest artist on January 23rd for our "Portraits in Music" concert.

"Rangunathan has performed in a variety of countries including, Tunis, Israel, Myanmar, Norway, Switzerland, France, and Belgium. She performed at the UN for the International Day of Non-Violence in 2016, only the second Carnatic musician to do so. In 2015, she was a recipient of Padmabhushan, the third highest civilian award from the government of India. Rangunathan received Sangita Kalanidhi, the highest recognition for performing artists from the prestigious Madras Music Academy in 2013" - Dr. Judith McKay, Sharkbytes Coordinator.

So far, Sudha has presented on the music of India in Professor Jessica Collado's MUSC 3600 Music of World Cultures class! (See photo above)
