Abstract

Job is a dramatic oratorio consisting of twelve individual movements, with an approximate duration of twenty minutes. It is a summarization of the plot and prose contained in the biblical book of Job (English Standard Version). The events of the oratorio depict Job, a devoted and prosperous man, being tested to the limits of his faith by acts of God, who was incited first by Satan. Throughout the oratorio, the philosophical and theological elements of humanity versus divinity are represented musically by intervallic relationships. Job is written for seven principle vocalists and a narrator, accompanied by an instrumental ensemble consisting of a violin, double bass, percussion (two timpani, cymbals), piano and electronic organ.

Keywords

Acknowledgments

I would like to thank the following as I complete my thesis project:

To my supervisor and mentor Dr. Omar Daniel, thank you for your wisdom and encouraging advice throughout the entirety of this project. What I have learned from you continues to influence and inspire me. Thank you for the enjoyable learning experience.

To the rest of the composition faculty at the University of Western Ontario – Dr. David Myska, Dr. Peter Paul Koprowski, Dr. Paul Frehner, Dr. Troy Ducharme, and Dr. Kevin Mooney – thank you for your instruction. It was a great honour to be your student.

To all of my friends and family, thank you for believing in me and supporting me in all of my musical endeavors. This composition is for you.

To my amazing and lovely wife Angelina, you are the best. I could not fathom completing my master's program without your wonderful love and support, both in music and in life. Thank you for everything.

To my Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ.

Due to the nature and length of the work, the utilization of a conductor is highly recommended.

Performance Notes:

All movements are to be performed continuously without a break.

All accidentals are to be carried throughout their respective measures.

Ideally, singers proceed to center stage only during movements in which they perform. As soon as they finish, they should exit offstage, until they are needed in the performance again. The only exception to this is the narrator, who should remain onstage throughout the entire performance, sitting off to the side.

In the event there is only one keyboardist, the electronic organ must be situated in very close proximity to the piano onstage to allow for ease of switching instruments during the performance.

After movement VII, the percussionist should re-tune the C timpani down to B-natural for the remainder of the performance.

Narrator: (Spoken freely at the entrance of the double bass solo, and should aim to finish text before the end of the movement)

There was a man in the land of Uz whose name was Job. He was blameless and upright, one who feared God and turned away from evil. He, a wealthy man, had many livestock and servants, and was richly blessed with ten children. A council takes place in the heavenly realms. Satan, satisfied with the wickedness of the earth, is startled to learn that God still has one more faithful servant.

XII: Restoration

Epilogue

35

Narrator: (with violinist, aim to finish passage before the end of m. 4)

Job repents to God, and God accepts his prayer. He is then blessed with ten more children, and restored all of his previous possessions twofold. Job goes on to live a full life of faith, rich in blessings and days.
