

Western Public Health Casebooks

Volume 2017 2017

Article 4

2016

Acknowledgements

Ava John-Baptiste
Western University

Gerald McKinley
Western University

Follow this and additional works at: <https://ir.lib.uwo.ca/westernpublichealthcases>

Recommended Citation

John-Baptiste, Ava and McKinley, Gerald (2016). Western Public Health Casebook 2016, London ON.

This Front Matter is brought to you for free and open access by Scholarship@Western. It has been accepted for inclusion in Western Public Health Casebooks by an authorized editor of Scholarship@Western. For more information, please contact tadam@uwo.ca, wlsadmin@uwo.ca.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Teamwork is the guiding theme for the 2017 Western Public Health Casebook. To paraphrase Dr. Amardeep Thind, Director of the Schulich Interfaculty Program in Public Health, public health is a team sport where you are not working alone. We work with people from different persuasions and backgrounds. Teamwork is an important skill for working in this context. Great leaders can work the team's different perspective into strengths.¹ The efforts of a team of students, faculty, staff, community members and public health organizations came together in the production of this Casebook.

We would like to express our gratitude to the following organizations (and the preceptors) who supported the training of our students and the development of the cases in this Casebook: WellFort Community Health Services; Provincial Council for Maternal and Child Health; Gorilla Doctors; Docs4GreatApes; Brescia University College; Public Health Agency of Canada; Centre for Addiction and Mental Health; Irish Red Cross; Irish Prison Service; Camp fyrefly; Pan American Health Organization; Epilepsy Support Centre; Newborn Screening Ontario; London CAREs; St. Joseph's Health Care Centre; London Health Sciences Centre; and South West Community Care Access Centre.

In particular, we thank Dr. Peter Donnelly, President and CEO of Public Health Ontario, and Dr. Robert Kyle, Commissioner & Medical Officer of Health, Durham Region Health Department, for their important insights on teamwork contained herein. This Casebook would not be possible without the tireless, conscientious efforts of Diana Lee, Manager of the MPH Program. We appreciate the significant efforts all of the MPH staff put into producing this Casebook, and the faculty of the MPH Program in honing its content. We warmly thank our student case authors - members of the MPH Class of 2016!

–Ava John-Baptiste and Gerald McKinley

¹ https://www.schulich.uwo.ca/publichealth/future_students/team_based_learning.html