FEDERAL FUNDS IN SOUTH DAKOTA

SEPTEMBER 21, 1978

By Robert J. Antonides

Extension economist and associate professor

Federal funds flowing in to South Dakota increased by more than 37 percent, or $388 million dollars, from 1976 to 1977. In constant 1967 dollars, the increase was 29 percent or $176 million. In a state where 1977 personal incomes totaled about $3.75 billion in current dollars, the impact of $1.4 billion of federal spending can be significant.

The trends of Federal outlays in South Dakota for the past eight years are shown in Table 1. This table also illustrates the rather erratic nature of the spending.

Table 2 presents similar figures for total Federal funds in all of the states, as well as the percentage of outlays that go to South Dakota. The relatively large increase of Federal dollars in 1977 did not bring them back to the percentage levels of the early 1970s. This, in itself, may not be too surprising since in most states the proportion of Federal outlays received tends to be closely correlated with the proportion of U.S. total population within each state. The report being summarized here estimates South Dakota's population at .3 percent of the U.S. population, receiving .4 percent of the Federal funds.

The Federal outlays in South Dakota, by agency and some of the major programs within each agency, are presented in Table 3. Agencies are listed in the table by declining order of the importance of their outlays within the state. Within each agency, the same procedure has been followed, with smaller programs lumped into "other agency funds".

The first column of Table 3 is in actual dollars while the second column shows the percentage each item is of all Federal outlays within South Dakota. After the total for each agency, the figure in parentheses is the proportion of that agency's budget allocated to the state.

Funds provided by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare continue to lead Federal outlays within the state, accounting for 30.9 percent of all Federal funds in the state, though they only represent .3 percent of that Department's budget. The Department of Agriculture funds expanded from about $92 million in 1976 to $333 million in 1977 (275 percent), to boost it into second place in outlays in South Dakota and from .6 percent of its budget to nearly 1.7 percent. Greatly expanded commodity loans, together with feed grain and wheat stabilization programs, accounted for nearly 90 percent of the increase.

At this point it is appropriate to emphasize some of the special considerations for use of the figures presented here. These tables were developed from "Geographic Distribution of Federal Funds in South Dakota" compiled for the Executive Office of the President by the Community Services Administration.

These reports were formerly "Federal Outlays". Federal funds here generally means "oligations" and are only for the Executive Branch of the Federal Government.

Comparisons with previous years must be made with caution. There is a category of programs classified as "Indirect Federal Support" which are not included in any of the figures shown here. As examples, there was about $600 million of such "funds" distributed in South Dakota in 1977 by the Department of Agriculture which are not shown. (Including $223 million of emergency disaster loans and $247 million of loans to rural electrics.

In 1977, the Treasury Department paid $46 million as "Interest on the Public Debt." The Department of Housing and Urban Development provided almost $40 million in home mortgage insurance. These are now listed as "Indirect" and not shown.

Some of the funds or outlays are loans and others are "transfer" - type payments. One of the Largest outlays is for a broad category of "Social Security". In a sense, these are monies paid in to the Federal Government and returned. Another example appears in Agriculture under the title "Meat and Poultry Inspection". In fact, the Federal Government hires inspectors for federally-inspected plants, but an almost equivalent amount is paid by the processor to the government.

It is important to note the difference between "Funds" and "Aid". The Treasury Department's report of "Federal Aid to States" lists assistance to state and local governments in the amount of $240 million for South Dakota or only about 17 percent of the $1,428 million shown here as Funds. Aids do not include such items as Federal administrative expenses incurred in the state, grants to individuals or institutions, payments for services of Federal employees, or grants for administrative expenses of regional bodies.

Some expenditures are likely to go unnoticed with a casual study of the tables. Careful study will show that substantial amounts are also spent by Departments other than the Department of Interior for Indian-related activities, such as by the Department of Labor, Department of HEW, the Department of Agriculture and others.

These observations lead to another: not all money coming into the state has the same impact on the economy. Much depends upon how the money is spent and re-spent. This is called the multiplier effect. Thus, salary payments to Federal employees working in local areas may have a higher multiplier effect than expenditures for equipment that these employees use that is not locally purchased.
