INTRODUCTION

This bibliographical list constitutes Volume II of Section 10 of the Nyanza Province daily correspondence and reports, 1930-1963, of the Kenya National Archives. Due to the voluminous length of the entire list, it was not possible to publish it in one volume. Separation of the list into two volumes is an artificial imposition, in that no such division of the collection exists intrinsically. Consequently, the researcher should bear in mind that files pertaining to a given topic are likely to be interspersed throughout both volumes of the list. Since perusal of the entire list is necessary to assure comprehensive utilization of the files therein, the researcher will probably find it necessary to consult both Volumes I and II of the list.

Maxwell School

Founded in 1924, the Maxwell School for fifty years has been training and educating young men and women for public service and academic careers. From the beginning the School has included all the University's social science departments, and this combination of professional and academic programs has enriched the content of all Maxwell's offerings. In addition to the traditional social science disciplines (Anthropology, Economics, Geography, History, Political Science, and Sociology), the School provides interdisciplinary degree programs in International Relations, Public Administration, the Social Sciences, and Urban and Regional Planning. Of the School's approximately 700 candidates for advanced degrees about half are in the traditional social science departments and the other half in interdisciplinary programs.

Today, the Maxwell School has 130 faculty members and approximately 700 students enrolled in graduate degree programs. Each year approximately 225 students receive master's degrees and 70 students Ph.D. degrees. In the three-year period, fall 1970 through spring 1973, Maxwell faculty members authored 78 books, 53 monographs, 296 articles, and 133 conference papers.
