NATIONAL FUND DONATES $3,000 IN MATERIAL

American and Foreign Periodicals Included In Valuable Collection

By Bertha Greenberg

A strong indication of the keen interest with which the opening of the Institute of Paper Chemistry of Lawrence College is being watched by the scientific world is shown by the recent gift of scientific library material valued at $3,000, from Dr. Clarence J. West, chairman of the committee on Abstracts and Bibliography, which is affiliated with the National Research Council.

A Valuable Collection

The library materials include valuable collections of American and foreign periodicals on paper chemistry which have been gathered over the past seven or eight years by the Committee on Abstracts and Bibliography. The valuable treatises which the volumes contain will make a noteworthy addition to the body of research material that is being established under the direction of Dr. Otto Kress, technical director of the Institute, for the use of the Institute students.

The National Research Council, which sponsors the gift through its committee, was established in 1916 by the National Academy of Sciences under its Congressional charter and organized with the co-operation of the National Scientific and Technical Societies of the United States.

Is Noteworthy Recognition

The Committee of Abstracts and Bibliography, headed by Dr. West, has for its task the collection of library materials for research purposes in many allied fields of science. The voluntary selection of the library of the Institute of Paper Chemistry by the committee as a suitable depository for the paper research materials of the council lends auspicious recognition to the Institute.

Botany Class Purchases Paintings For College

Two watercolors, "The Two Chickadees," and "The Young Song Sparrow on the Blackberry Bush," by Charles Heil are now owned by Lawrence college. The Botany I class, by soliciting contributions of $25 from students raised enough money to purchase "The Two Chickadees." Heil presented the school with the second picture.

Carol Anderson, '33, who received the greatest number of subscriptions was presented with a copy of the etching "The Two Chickadees." The copy was made by Miss Olga Smith, instructor in botany.

ALUMNI READING SERVICE TO BE OPENED HERE

Gift of $2,500 From Carnegie Corporation Makes System Possible

An Alumni reading service, a new departure in the field of alumni relationship, which will attempt to continue the education of students after they are graduated, will be inaugurated at Lawrence college in February. In announcing a gift of $2,500 from the Carnegie Corporation which has made this project possible, Dr. Henry M. Wriston pointed out that the plan will attempt to dissolve the criticism that colleges fail to continue the education of their students after they are graduated.

The Carnegie Corporation in making the appropriation acted upon the recommendation of the American Association for adult education. The recommendation to the Carnegie Corporation pointed out that "the situation at Lawrence College seemed to be peculiarly favorable for an effort in this field."

Begin on Small Scale

It is planned to begin the service a small scale and expand it as the idea gains acceptance. To begin with, the Lawrence Alumnus, edited by Rexford S. Mitchell will contain reviews of three or four of the most worthwhile of current works. The books thus selected will then be available for loan to alumni at no cost except return postage.

This service and the grant of endowment by the Carnegie Foundation is partly the outgrowth of an experimental agreement made by President Wriston and 25 of last year's graduates. Dr. Wriston suggested to the senior class one day after chapel last year, the idea of continuing their study together after graduation.

He proposed that they, operating on the assumption that they would be no busier than he next year, agree to read whatever books he read and recommended to them. About thirty per cent of the class responded, and this year, they have been receiving from the President each month comments on some new books and a review of its qualities. This "book-a-month club" has met with a very favorable response.

Will Continue Education

The establishment of this service in an attempt to continue educational assistance is in line with the present

Probe Conducted At Ormsby; Men Couldn't Get Dates

Perplexity among the male members of the upper classes after vainly trying to get dates since the close of the holidays, women (this reporter was one of them) led your faithful scribe to investigate the cause.

One might have attributed it to a sudden attack of studiousness with finals approaching, but imagine the surprise, and what's more to the point, imagine the chagrin when it was revealed that our fair co-eds had deserted Adonis for Morpheus and Belial.

Probe Conducted

New beds and a newly furnished and decorated parlor at Ormsby, clears up the puzzle.

Further investigation was denied as to the beds; but the parlor, although it is for the use of the women only,

Volume Of One-Act Plays By Warren Beck To Be Published

A volume of six one-act plays, written by Warren J. Beck, Assistant Professor of English, since his coming to Lawrence three years ago, will be published soon by Walter H. Baker Company, Dramatic publishers, of Boston, Mass. This is the second of Mr. Beck's books to be published by the Walter H. Baker company. "Imagination," a compilation of five one act plays for junior high school students was the first.

One of the plays in the newer book, which will be released within a month, won first place in the Wisconsin Drama League playwriting contest in 1927 under the name of "The Fixed Canon." It is now given under the title "Testimony." The play is a study of the reprehensibility of suicide from the standpoint of its effect on the morale of others.

Another of the plays, "Fine Frenzy," won first place in the Wisconsin Drama League playwriting contest in 1928. This play makes an interesting contrast of the poetic-romantic temperament with the practical-cynical temperament.

Other plays in the book to be published soon are: "After all These Years," a presentation of the breakdown of youthful friendships in middle age by reason of the divergence of middle-aged practice from youthful purpose; "The Affairs of Men," wherein two boys try to get out of their ruts, but slip back into them voluntarily rather than brave the unknown future; "A Heart Too Soon Made Glad," a sketch of a college boy tendency among alumni organizations. More and more emphasis is being placed on continued intellectual development of alumni and the responsibility of the college in the matter.

Recently at a joint meeting of six college presidents and the Aims and Policies Committee of the American Alumni Council, the presidents admitted this responsibility, and means for continuing education after graduation were discussed. As a result several very interesting experiments are now in progress and are being closely watched by college administrators and alumni organizations.

Smith, LaFayette, Dartmouth, Wesleyan, and other colleges and universities have for some time issued alumni book lists and book reviews, but the Alumni Reading Service proposed at Lawrence is the first attempt to make the books listed and reviewed available at a small cost.

whose glib and ardent speeches keep him continually involved with girls in spite of himself; and "It's No Use to Argue," a play in action laid in 1950, predicting a reaction to post-war manners and ideals.

"After All These Years," was recently given a dramatic reading before the Milwaukee Woman's Club by Olivia Orth Anderson, of the Wisconsin Drama League committee.

Papers Commend Dr. Wriston's Book

January "Quarterly Review" and "Foreign Affairs" Review Work

A review of "Executive Agents in American Foreign Relations" by Dr. Henry M. Wriston appears in the January number of Foreign Affairs, an American Quarterly Review.

The following comment upon his book is commendatory: "A monumental treatise on one of the key problems of American foreign policy. The author attacks the knotty question of the relative power of the executive and the senate in the conduct of international business, a question which has given increasing trouble since the emergence of the United States as a world power, and one which underlay the collapse of Wilson's position.

"The reader will find here an examination of the various phases of the problem from the days of the framers of the constitution onward, an examination based on great erudition and sound judgment. He will hardly be able to escape the conclusion that in this matter too the foresight of the fathers was not great enough to meet undreamed of developments."

Methodist Vespers To Start On January 19

The first of a series of Vesper services to be held at the Methodist church of Appleton will be given Sunday afternoon, January 19 at 4 o'clock, it has been announced.

Dr. Ross O'Neill, "White King of Swaisland" will speak on his life and adventures in South Africa at the first service.

Other programs to be offered during the year will be presented by Captain Rooke, who piloted a Moth plane from London to India, a 7000 mile solo hop; by Dr. Arneke, formerly professor of organ at Lawrence conservatory, together with Mrs. McCready, soprano and Carl S. McKee, baritone, both former members of the conservatory faculty; by the Apollo Male quartette of Milwaukee; by the Lawrence conservatory orchestra; by the combined Public School Orchestra; by the Lawrence A Capella Choir; and by Gen. Drain, of Spokane, Washington, first Commander of the American Legion.

LEAVE TONIGHT FOR ST. PAUL; PIPERS STRONG

Denney Takes Eight Men On Northern Trip; Team In Good Shape

Eight Viking cagers along with Coach A. C. Denney and Jack Willem, basketball manager, will leave this evening for St. Paul, Minn., where they will meet the Hamline Pipers tomorrow night. This will be the first Midwest game for both teams.

Small Floor at Hamline

According to Coach Denney, his men will be seriously handicapped by the small floor and the game will probably evolve into a shooting affair. The basketball mentor has been working all week on a new fast breaking offense but is still rather skeptical as to the outcome of the game.

Hamline has never been a setup for any team and fans from last year will remember that it was only Frank Schneller's last second basket that gave the Vikes a 31 to 30 win. Two years ago the blue and white came back with a 37 to 35 victory.

Hall a Star

Hamline dropped their opening encounter to St. Thomas but took their second game from Macalester by a 41 to 21 score. Hall, who was high point man in the conference two years ago and who was second to Cliff Halversen of Ripon last year, will furnish plenty of action for the Viking guards and Coach Denney has indicated that he will probably assign the task of keeping the Piper sharpshooter covered to Bud Pierce. The defensive play of Pierce has been outstanding in all of the Lawrence games played this season and Denney feels confident that his guard will put a check in the cardinal offense. Jerry Slavik, who will act as captain, will cover the other northern flash, Cosgrove.

The men who are making the trip are Biggers, Remmel, Rasmussen, Laird, Schneller, Slavik, Pierce, and Fischl.

WHAT ABOUT 1930?

The new year has been ushered in with the customary reviews of the last twelve months and predictions for the next twelve to come. Newspapers have been filled with statistical business analyses to indicate the trend of trade and commerce. The President has come forth with his annual wish for a bigger and better year of national prosperity. The industrial magnates have told us how vast sums of money are to be spent in industry during 1930. All this retrospection and prophesy is quite natural, for everyone feels that a fresh start is at hand.

With 1930 another year awaits to become Lawrence College history. Students and faculty have returned after the holidays with new resolutions and predictions for the new year at this time. However, a sketch of the old is not out of place. During the year just completed we have seen Lawrence open the doors of its splendid new gymnasium; we have been rewarded with success on the track, gridiron, and basketball court; the enrollment of the college has shown a healthy increase; plans for the graduate institute of paper chemistry have been completed, and student activities have had a successful year.

Yet 1929 was not all success and happiness. The campus has felt the sorrow that comes with tragedy; it has suffered reversals that come with mistakes, and it has experienced periods of discouragement.

The triumphs of the past should instill confidence for the future. Old mistakes should put us on our guard in the days to come. Lawrence has completed another year of remarkable growth, but 1930 should be the object of our attention now. Next year at this time we will know how fully the hopes for 1930 have culminated.

INVENTORY TIME

Midyear examinations begin January 23.

This warning should be a significant one to Lawrence students, many of whom have failed to realize that examinations are less than two weeks away.

Soon term papers will be due or overdue; the deadline for reports on collateral will be drawn; makeup work will have to be in. All this and more—with finals looming just ahead. It will all seem hopeless then, and some will fall by the wayside just because of the aspect of utter hopelessness that the picture will assume.

Take inventory of your studies now. If you have neglected anything, take care of it; then, when January 23 rolls around, approach your examinations with the free feeling that you have nothing to do but prepare for them.

Upon careful calling of the roll, it has been found that everyone is back, including the faculty who apparently never left, but spent all their time thinking up assignments.

The basketball boys didn't leave for long, but came back early and worked hard getting ready for Marquette. By the results of that game it would seem as if they succeeded in getting ready. The Milwaukee boys had one tough time squeezing out a close win, in spite of the classy aggregation which they undoubtedly have.

And tomorrow night comes the first Midwest game with Hamline, way up in the wilds of Minnesota. If Hamline plays basketball like they played football, they're good, but on the other hand Lawrence isn't bad either. Several of the same boys who ran up a victory on the football team will be out on the floor tomorrow night for the same purpose, and their chances of success are far from poor.

We'll just have to wait for the results of that encounter, but it might be enjoyable to note another game that was played not long ago. It seems that there is a college by the name of Ripon down the line a way that has a basketball team. The other night this team played another team and when the final whistle blew, the score on Ripon's side of the board was about half as big as that on the other side. And the other team was Beloit, whom we defeated once this season.

Which all goes to prove absolutely nothing, so wipe that silly grin off your map. Beloit will have another chance, and Ripon is going to play the home talent twice during the season, so they've got lots of chances to do things.

To make up for the fact that the team is playing away from home tomorrow, the fraternities have agreed (Continued on Page 4)

Marquette Defeats Vikings In Holiday Game

STALLING PLAY SAVES HILLTOPS, AS GAME ENDS

Denneymen Stage Rally In Final Half; Andrew Marquette Star

After hanging up three consecutive wins over Milton, Beloit, and Central State, Coach A. C. Denney's cagers were forced to take the short end of the score, dropping an evenly matched tilt to Marquette, 26 to 23, at Milwaukee during the holiday season.

Just before Christmas recess, the Vikes registered a listless 29 to 16 victory over Stevens Point. The score at the half was 15 to 5 in favor of Lawrence but as the second period progressed play became even more ragged and Denney substituted freely in the vain hope of finding five men who could work smoothly.

Although both teams started slowly in the vacation encounter with Marquette, the end of the game found the Hilltoppers clinging frantically to a three point lead built up in the early part of the contest.

At the end of the first ten minutes of play, the Lipemen were enjoying a 4 to 1 lead but no sooner had Biggers brought the score to 4 to 3 than the Milwaukeeans were off and at the half they were holding a 16 to 9 margin.

However, the Vikes were not to be downed so easy and Laird started the second period going with a neat field goal. Andrew, lanky Marquette center, and King each added a goal from the floor to boost their score up to 21 but Slavik, Fischl, and Biggers all came through to keep the blue and white in the battle and brought the count to 21 to 17.

Hilltoppers Stall
With only a few minutes of play left, the downstaters started to stall and at the same time popped away for six more points. Biggers snared

Ten Men Report For First Track Trials At New Gym

Equipment was delivered to ten track men when they reported to Coach A. C. Denney at the New Alexander gymnasium Wednesday afternoon, the first time for the present school year. All men who received equipment from the athletic director this week had experience on the championship squad of last year, or were members of the freshmen aggregation.

Those who reported Wednesday are co-captains Wolf and Pope, dis-two more field goals while Rimmel and Rasmussen each added a gift shot to bring the Lawrence total to 23.

Biggers was high point man for Lawrence and tied with Andrew for high score honors of the evening. The Vike forward came through with five goals, while Andrew had four field goals and a pair of free throws to his credit when he was removed from the game for four personals.

Outlook Is Good

With this array of talent to work with, Coach Denney feels almost certain that he will be able to place a squad in the field next spring that will do justice to the Blue and White of Lawrence college. Until that time, however, little more can be said of the outlook for the 1930 season of the tracksters.

Until spring weather permits the coach to take his men outdoors, regular workouts will be held in the new gymnasium three days a week. Workouts will be held for some candidates on each day from 2:30 to 4:30.

The purpose of the mid winter practice, as outlined by Coach Denney this week, is principally to get the men in first class condition to take to the field when the snow has disappeared from the ground early this spring.

Cards Stiff Schedule

A schedule for the 1930 team is now being arranged by Coach Denney and promises to be one of the stiffest the blue and white has faced in several seasons. Until the list of meets is completed, Coach Denney will not divulge the names of the schools which will furnish opposition for his men.

For the first time in the history of Lawrence College, the trackmen have opportunity to rehearse their acts indoors before stepping forth when spring rolls around. The indoor track at the New Alexander gymnasium, provides adequate space for practicing all the events on a track and field program, and, in the opinion of Coach Denney, will tend to benefit greatly those who are candidates for the squad.

Lawrence Swimmers Meet Local "Y" Tonight

Lawrence swimmers will get their first real test of the season when they meet the Appleton Y.M.C.A. tankmen tonight at 8 o'clock in the new Alexander gymnasium pool.

John Cinkosky, who has been handling the swimming team, has made no definite announcement concerning the swimmers who will represent Lawrence, but it is probable that last year's men, Ryan in the dashes; Phenecic, back stroke and dashes; Schier, diving; and Gallagher, back stroke, will do most of the performing.

New men who have shown possibilities are Calhoun, diving, Van Roo and Sperka, both breast stroke artists. Blue tank suits with "Lawrence" across the front in white letters will be used for the first time by the mermen.

Clarence Rasmussen has secured a meet with a Green Bay team, there, for January 21 and attempts are being made to arrange for several meets next semester.

Alice Bradford Wins Free Throw Tournament

Alice Bradford, '33, won the girls' free throw contest, held December 18, making 40 out of 50 goals tried.

Second place was won by Verna Lauritzen, '31, with 38 goals. Helen Snyder, '33, took third place with 33.

Strawberries Ripe in Texas

Miss Dorothy Waples, assistant professor of English, spent her vacation at her home in Houston, Texas. It is now spring there. The roses are in bloom, strawberries are ripe, and the grass is green. Miss Waples brought violets back to prove it.

GREEKS RENEW SPORTS RACE

Inter-fraternity athletics again stepped into the campus spotlight when the Greek keggers went into action yesterday afternoon on the Elks bowling alleys. Along with bowling comes the advent of basketball competition tomorrow afternoon at the new gym.

A radical change in the running off of basketball games has been agreed upon by fraternity sports managers. This new ruling provides for the refereeing of all games by student referees. This is a distinct departure from the former system when officials were hired from outside.

The basketball schedule provides for three games to be played every Saturday with each house playing six games. The opening gun tomorrow will find the Psi Chis facing the Delta Sigs, the Phi Taus up against the Sig Eps, and the D. I.'s opposing the Betas.

On the alleys, yesterday, the Theta Phis contested with the Betas and the D. I.'s mixed with the Sig Eps.

Wisconsin Squad Defeats Viking Wrestlers

On Saturday, December 21, in the new Alexander gym, Coach Rasmussen's grapplers fought a high powered University of Wisconsin aggregation. Four month's experience of the U. of W. squad told on the fast developing Viking matmen who lost six falls and a pair of decisions in the eight matches carded.

Boek, of Wisconsin, won the first fall for his cohorts in 4:43, and Lund bowed to Lalich in 6:34. Vincent fell before the headlockers of Lockert in 5:17. Amundson lost to Tiffany on a decision; Bickel lost the same way to Oosterhautd; Kemper was downed by Hales in 5:47. It took Sordman 6 minutes to down Engstrom, and Nasar 8:10 to fell Northrup.

Coach Rasmussen has carded two matches with Green Bay, one each with Ripon and Beloit, and a tentative date with Marquette University is now being arranged. In addition to these heavy assignments, the Vike mat representatives will compete in the Big Four meet on March 15, the place to be decided by the coaches.

Dr. Mursell Speaks At Music Teacher's Meeting

Dr. James L. Mursell of the department of education, was one of the speakers at the Fifty-third Annual Convention of the Music Teachers' National Association which was held in Cincinnati, Ohio, December 26 to 28. The subject of his talk was "The Principles of an Ideal Music Lesson."

to stage some games for the entertainment of everyone in general. As a matter of fact, they will be playing every Saturday afternoon for some time to come, and it will be worth seeing. It may not be finished playing, but it will be exciting—especially for the contestants themselves if they are out of training and romp around on the big floor for awhile.

Besides all that, bowling started yesterday and will be held every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon from now till unconscious. There's no law about watching those matches, but there is a risk of broken ear drums from loud (and sometimes a bit profane) yelling, so use your own judgment about that.

Indoor track is also under way and coming along very nicely, thank you. How's your charley horse?

One more thing before we put this to bed and touch a match to it. It gives us great pleasure to announce that by now, if the game was played last night, either the Sig Eps or the D. I.'s are volleyball champions. As this goes to press we don't know which, but we feel sure that as both teams are good, one of them must have won.

Happy New Year and hurrray for Santa Claus. All Xmas neckties and handkerchiefs could be used very nicely to make new basketball suits for the squad, so kindly hand them in at the nearest gymnasium instead of throwing them away.
