APPROVE INSTITUTE BUILDING PLANS

Conduct Tryouts For "R. U. R.", All College Play, Friday

NO DEFINITE DATE SET FOR PRESENTATION

Large Cast Needed To Enact Story of Creation and Uprising of Robots

Tryouts for the first all college dramatic production of the year, "R. U. R." by Karel Capek, will be held Friday, Feb. 19, at 2:30 in the Little theatre of the chapel, Prof. F. T. Cloak, dramatic coach, announced Sunday.

"R. U. R." is a thrilling story evolved from the experiments and final perfection of robots by a great scientist, and the consequent uprising and victory by the robots against the humans on the earth.

"The play represents something entirely new in stage production on the campus in style, content, method of presentation, and technique", Professor Cloak explained, "and it is part of the research which has been carried on in the past to determine the type of play which will make the greatest appeal to our audience, and, at the same time, give the audience the utmost in good stage entertainment."

The cast will consist of seven principal characters, six minors, and a large number of extras. All persons on the campus, interested in dramatic participation, are free to try out for a place on the cast. Copies of the play will be available at the college library by Wednesday.

The date for the production has not been definitely set but it is hoped that progress in all departments will permit presentation about April 1, Mr. Cloak said.

Hold Convocation Thursday for Talk By Paul Kellogg

Paul U. Kellogg, editor of the Survey and Survey Graphic, will address Lawrence college students in convocation Thursday on "Our Northern Border." (The American-Canadian substitute for fortified frontiers).

The regular Friday convocation will be held Thursday at 10 a.m. in order to make this address possible. The public is invited to attend.

Mr. Kellogg is coming to Appleton through the cooperation of the Adult Education Council Speakers bureau, Chicago. He will leave immediately after his address here to speak to the Green Bay Rotary club at noon.

Mr. Kellogg is recognized internationally as a student of social developments in their dynamic aspect. He began his career in the city room of a middlewestern newspaper as reporter and city editor of the Kalamazoo (Mich.) Daily Telegram. It was his reportorial job of getting and presenting the facts that led to his founding Survey Associates, a modern educational institution built around a periodical rather than a college campus.

He directed the Pittsburgh survey in 1907-08, out of which grew the department of Surveys and Exhibits of the Russell Sage foundation and the Cabot fund, which was instrumental in eliminating the 7 day week and 12 hour day in steel. The speaker is co-author with Arthur Gleason, of a book which ten years ago predicted the leadership of J. Ramsay MacDonald and the rise of the labor party in England. His magazines were the first to take up long range factors in predicting and meeting unemployment.

Dr. Baker Gives Manuscript To College Library

Two pieces of illuminated manuscript have been given to Lawrence college library by Dr. Louis C. Baker, professor of modern languages.

Printed from woodblocks cut-out the manuscript of music bears the date 1515 A.D. and is a product of the famous Giunta press of Venice. The other was printed in France in 1400 A.D. and will be associated with the page of the Gutenberg bible presented to the college by Glen Buck two years ago.

FRANZKE IN FIELD WORK FOR COLLEGE

Cancels Leave To Confer With High School Groups; Is At Chicago Now

Albert L. Franzke, professor of public speaking, has cancelled his leave of absence for this semester which he had previously been granted, and instead will participate in the regular field work program of Lawrence college in recruiting students for the college.

Professor Franzke has assisted in this type of work for several years. This semester he will spend his time conferring with individual students and speaking to high school groups, located mainly in the southern section of Wisconsin. At present he is in Chicago, Ill.

Mr. Franzke, who is head coach of debate as well as professor of public speaking, had planned to spend his leave of absence at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, where he intended to register for a full program of graduate work in speech. He would also have done undergraduate work in order to study teaching methods.

He has been connected with the public speaking department of Lawrence college since 1922. At that time he was an assistant to Professor Orr, who subsequently left to accept a position at the University of Washington, Seattle, Wash. Professor Franzke was appointed to the vacancy and since then has been affiliated with the department of speech here.

Dr. MacHarg Inaugurates Series of Six Talks On Lincoln Over WHBY

On the 123rd anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln last Friday, Dr. John B. MacHarg, professor of American history, inaugurated a series of six talks over station WHBY about Lincoln. His first lecture was "A Portrait of the Human Lincoln."

Lincoln's mission in life, as pointed out by Dr. MacHarg, was the saving of the Union from destruction by civil war, and it is for this reason that he honors Lincoln by celebrating his birthday.

The abolition of slavery, although it was one of Lincoln's passions, was carried out primarily because Lincoln believed that it was necessary to the preservation of the union.

In the opinion of Dr. MacHarg "Lincoln was the greatest man that ever lived, with the exception of the man of Galilee." He was great physically, had an exceptional memory, and had a mastery of the rules of English that was unusual. Coupled with this "Lincoln was never to old to learn."

Lincoln was a lover of poetry, especially that of Shakespeare and Burns. Lincoln's Gettysburg address is one of the masterpieces of American literature, and much of Lincoln's prose can be read as blank verse, Dr. MacHarg mentioned.

Power to move men according to his will was one of Lincoln's outstanding accomplishments. Contrasted to this was Lincoln's quality of sympathy as expressed by the numerous pardons that he granted during the war.

"Underlying all the qualities of Lincoln was his fundamental integrity, and nowhere is there evidence, so far as I know, of his ever doing a deliberate wrong," Dr. MacHarg said.

Yesterday morning Dr. W. A. McConaha, professor of economics, discussed "The Communistic Experiment

Norton Co. Will Print Psychology Book By Mursell

Dr. J. L. Mursell's book, "The Psychology of Secondary School Teaching", will be printed by the W. W. Norton Co. of New York.

This is the latest book on the subject of teaching in secondary schools; it differs from any other work available in that it is built around an analysis of the function of teaching and the duties of the teacher in guiding learning.

The opening chapter is entitled "How Psychology Can Help Us Improve Teaching", and the remainder of the book deals with the application of psychology to classroom teaching, to the guidance and administration of pupils, to the maintenance of standards, and to the motivation of discipline.

The book is based on a bibliography of over a thousand items, the most extensive background of research material in any text in that field. It consists of 16 chapters and an appendix on the statistical method; there are 150,000 words of actual text, not including study helps, appendices, and bibliographies. There will be about 500 pages. It is planned that the book will be issued in the fall of 1932, to be available for use the second semester.

The latter play is to be presented at a social meeting of the local chapter of Kiwanis at the Conway hotel, Wednesday evening.

PLAN TO CALL IN CONTRACT BIDS APRIL 1

Construction Will Begin Soon; New Structure To Have Colonial Design

Plans for the new Kimberly memorial building for the Institute of Paper Chemistry have received the final verification of J. C. Kimberly, who donated $100,000 toward the erection of the new building in the memory of his father, the late J. A. Kimberly, President Henry M. Wriston, and the board of trustees of the institute, and are being made ready for release by Chester Walcott, Chicago architect.

It is the plan of the trustees of the institute to call for bids on the various contracts about April 1, and to begin construction as soon as the weather permits.

The new building, the second to be built to house the increasing needs of the Institute of Paper Chemistry within as many years, is to be 78 feet by 41 feet, ground area, and include two stories above the ground and a basement. It is designed along the general lines of the colonial style of architecture and is to be built of Lannon stone. The structure will resemble the present institute building in general appearance except for a high pillared porch with a cupola with clock, and a slanting roof.

Is Main Building

The new building is to be placed 13 feet toward the back of the grounds from the present structure and 40 feet to the west of it. The two buildings are to be connected by an enclosed passage at the height of the first floor. The placement was made with the view of using the new structure as the main administration building of the institute, forming a nucleus for possible additional structures.

Display Material On Lincoln At College Library

A collection of material on Abraham Lincoln is now on display at the Lawrence college library.

A Brady photograph of Abraham Lincoln and his son, Tad, is one of the unique articles in the collection. The photograph is one of a collection owned by Dr. J. B. MacHarg, in use in the museum of American history on the fourth floor of Main hall.

Books on Lincoln, some of them first editions, reproductions of famous portraits and other pictures of Lincoln comprise the exhibit. The pictures include one of Lincoln delivering his second inaugural address; his birthplace as drawn by Clarence T. Hall, a great grandson of Sarah Bush Lincoln; and the last meeting between General Scott and the cabinet. The latter is in a copy of Harper's magazine, Nov. 16, 1861. One of the valuable books of the exhibit is a "Life of Abraham Lincoln" by J. G. Holland which is illustrated with steel engravings and is bound in fine leather.

There are many well-known biographies of Lincoln, including the following:

- New Letters and Papers of Lincoln—Angle, P. M.
- Abraham Lincoln—Beveridge, A. J.
- Lincoln the Man of Sorrow—Chanin, E. W.
- In the Lincoln Country—Newcomb, E.
- Life of Abraham Lincoln—Tarbell, I. M.

AN AID TO SOCIETY

The Lawrentian last Friday carried a summary of the plan of Lawrence college to admit a limited number of students to accredited work in the college who are unemployed and who have absolutely no financial means of continuing their education or of maintaining their morale and social status. Dr. Henry M. Wriston dealt at length with the college plan for aiding unemployed in an address before the students in convocation Friday.

This plan can be viewed from two sharply divergent angles. It can be looked upon as inflicting an injustice on those who must pay for their education while others receive it gratis, or it can be looked upon as a definitely constructive plan to benefit some few unfortunate individuals and at the same time society as a whole.

Lawrence college administrative officers, alive to a situation which the State of Wisconsin was prone to appreciate or understand, was the first college to unlock its halls of learning to a few of those unfortunate individuals whose state of physical, moral, and mental decay is rapidly approaching a crisis in these United States.

In the problem of mental decay, of fading morale, the country must see one of the most disastrous affects of the present economic condition. Tremendously great is the amount of relief work being done to provide food and clothing and shelter for the thousands of unemployed, but little has been done to even maintain morale. Lawrence has taken the initial step among the institutions of higher learning for alleviating the trying circumstances of the present condition.

We must abandon our selfish attitudes for the benefit of society, for the benefit of humanity, for the benefit of ourselves. We must penetrate the sphere of our own lives to look without greed or prejudice upon society, not your little clan or my little clan, but that great universal society of which every individual in the civilized world is an intricate unit.

The University of Kansas publication has adopted a plan of publishing a "Black List" containing the names of those professors who keep their classes after the bell rings. How many on the Lawrence faculty could subscribe to this "list?"

Meditation Hours To Be Dropped for Semester

The Lawrence Women's Association announces that the hours of meditation will be discontinued the second semester. The original plan of the committee in charge was that the meditation hours would be continued until early spring. However, the sudden rush of activities which accompanies the first part of the second semester makes it seem advisable to discontinue the vespers until next fall.

Wriston Speaks On Unemployed

Enumerates Lincoln's Beliefs As Applied To Student Aid Plan

Dr. Henry M. Wriston spoke on Lincoln and on the unemployed at Lawrence college before the student body Friday. Beginning his address, President Wriston enumerated some of the qualities of Lincoln which caused him to be a success. Lincoln had to learn the art of war himself. He won his battles politically, from a military standpoint, and in a spiritual sense. No prince or potentate could have risen to such heights, Dr. Wriston pointed out.

Continuing on the subject of the unemployed at college, the point that colleges are charitable institutions was stressed by the speaker. Students pay for only 50 per cent of their education at Lawrence college, 13 per cent of the students get scholarship aid, and 12 per cent receive loans. At present 115 students of Lawrence are being employed by the college.

Dr. Wriston, in answering the question of "Why students leaving Lawrence college because of financial reasons were not helped," said that no Lawrence student of good character left college for financial reasons without being offered a scholarship or a loan by the college. Reasons for 29 students leaving were graduation, illness, transfer, scholastic average and miscellaneous.

The point was then brought out by the speaker, that it was not the fault of the individual that he is out of work, and that these men have received no

Wisconsin Students Start Practice Work in Library

Miss Bernadine C. Hamby and Miss Harriet D. Robinson of the University of Wisconsin have been sent to the Lawrence college library to do practice work, free of charge, for credit toward their courses.

Miss Hamby is a graduate of Coe college and has had several years of teaching experience. Miss Robinson is a graduate of Monmouth college and has had experience in the public library at La Crosse before entering the university.

Mrs. Winifred L. Davis, library visitor from the Wisconsin free library commission, checked the work of these ladies at the college library Thursday. Miss Hamby and Miss Robinson will remain a month aiding in various departments of the library.

spiritual, moral or physical aid. The purpose of the entire plan is to give as much direct help as possible.

In closing, Dr. Wriston pointed out why the student body was not consulted, and finished by again enumerating some of Lincoln's beliefs and how they entered into the question of the unemployed at college.

SO THEY SAY

Editor of the Lawrentian:

There appeared in your issue of Friday, February 12, a vehement article signed by "H. V." I refuse to comment on the article as a whole, but it seems to me that there are several statements that should be corrected. In the first place, these statements were grossly unjust, and at the same time, they were absolutely untrue. One is entitled to his opinions, but prevarication is not within the bounds of gentlemanly argument.

The student to Europe project was NOT a "pet idea" of President Wriston. The project originated in the Student senate and was administered by a student elected committee. The project was NOT defeated by a "substantial majority", on the contrary, the project was supported by a majority of approximately two-thirds. The committee in charge decided that this majority was not substantial enough for a united student project.

Curiously enough, among the objections, reticently expressed, by opponents of the project, scarcity of money was one of the least voiced.

—A Member of the Student Committee.

Lawrence college, this year, inaugurated a schedule of broadcasts through the facilities of the local radio station. The idea was very commendable, and was a progressive step in adult education. The radio offered an excellent opportunity for Lawrence to serve the Fox River valley, and at the same time strengthen the support and cooperation of the community which had been somewhat lacking.

However, it is quite apparent that the programs that have been presented are open to criticism on the grounds that they are much too technical for the public that receives them. The radio public that is free to "listen in" at nine o'clock in the morning is probably composed of weary housewives who have just sent the kiddies off to school and washed the breakfast dishes. Or it is possible that a few of the local merchants may have the opportunity to hear the programs. While the caliber of the addresses, thus far, has been unusually high, is it not an ineffective type of program to present? In other words, are the programs not "too highbrow" for the audience?

This question is not approached in a spirit of criticism, but in the interests of knowing just what the objectives of the radio policy are. —J. B., '32.

When Ripon was trailing the Vikings the other night, 30 to 10, some inconsiderate soul hollered out: "Michigan State 100, Ripon 0". A Ripon backer sitting near us muttered: "Ripon 24, Lawrence 0." Not to be outdone, the aforementioned inconsiderate soul said: "Brother, I beg you not to mention the two institutions in the same breath; up here we know our player's names, down there you know their salaries." At the sound of the word "salaries" the other cried out: "Sir, I'll have you know that we don't pay those boys to play; a scholarship is not a pay check." This would have kept on all night only Coach Denney sent in a whole new squad, and the Lawrence man had to yell.

Johnson, Ripon's sharpshooting center, made the first and last points for his aggregation with a pair of free tosses. In between these two he got a basket and another gift shot for a five point total. That means that the Lawrence defense allowed the Big Four's leading scorer just one point every eight minutes.

Here's the Lawrence season in a nutshell: Practice games, Won 4, Lost 1, Scored 158 point to opponents' 93. Major games, Won 3, Lost 5, scored 210 points to opponents' 201. Offensive average for the season thus far, 28 points; defensive average, 22 points. Games yet to play, 5.

The faculty gets a change of scenery when the Chapel seats are shifted tomorrow, but the student body is not so fortunate. How about moving some of those profs in the back row up toward the front just a little. A change of scenery, don't you know.

Hank.

Colbert Leads Lawrence Cage Stars in Scoring

Counting 12 points against Ripon Saturday night, Bill Colbert firmly established himself as the leader in the Midwest and Big Four Conference scoring race between the Lawrence cage stars.

Colbert has amassed a total of 47 points, 17 more than his nearest rivals, Bert Hall and Willis Haase, who are tied for second place with 30 points each. Herb Vander Bloemen comes next with 26 points to take fourth place.

The scoring of Viking players in conference games follow:

| | FG | FT | PTS |
|-------------------|----|----|-----|
| Colbert, f | 15 | 17 | 47 |
| Hall, f | 9 | 12 | 30 |
| Haase, g | 12 | 6 | 30 |

VIKES STILL IN RACE FOR LOOP TITLE

Colbert, Rafoth Pour in Shots From All Angles; Jones Leads Frosh in Win

Combining a high-powered offensive drive with a stalwart defense, Coach A. C. Denney's basketball machine romped all over an aggregation from Ripon Saturday night, 32 to 16, and still has a mathematical chance to tie for the Big Four leadership.

With Bill Colbert and Ben Rafoth pouring shots into the net from every angle, and with Haase, Vander Bloemen, and Karsten clicking on every pass, the Vikes had little difficulty running up a 20 to 9 lead at half-time. Ripon threatened only once—early in the first frame when they trailed only four points, 8 to 4. From that time until the end of the game the Vikings stole the show.

Pete Karsten, starting his first game as a Lawrence regular, was an able substitute for Bert Hall, and his accurate floor play kept the Blue and White offense going at top speed. Fouls were numerous throughout the encounter, a total of 34 personals being chalked up against the two squads. Lawrence converted twelve into points, while Ripon could only garner six free buckets on 9 Vike fouls.

Haase opened the scoring with a short shot, Colbert tossed one through, Vander Bloemen and Colbert connected on free throws, and Rafoth pushed in a sensational one-hand shot to give Lawrence an 8 to 0 lead shortly after the game opened. Johnson, leading scorer in the Big Four, made the first of his five points for the evening on a gift shot, and Smith followed with a field goal and a free toss to put Ripon within hailing distance at 8 to 4. Colbert then went on a rampage and made eight points on two buckets and a quartet of free throws, to put a permanent crimp in whatever hopes Ripon had of making two victories in a row over the Blue and White.

Rafoth put on his act in the second half with three ringers, while Vander Bloemen was making the highly-touted

Johnson look decidedly meek with a beautiful bit of guarding. Coach Denney substituted his whole squad late in the game, and they succeeded in holding the Redmen at bay until the final bell.

In a rough and tumble preliminary skirmish, the Viking frosh humbled Ripon's yearlings, 27 to 11. Dave Jones again had one of those typical "Jones" evenings, and poured the baskets in so fast that the scorekeepers had to turn over a page and keep track of his buckets separately. Schaefer, Raby, Ashman, and Pfeifer performed like veterans, and bottled the Ripon attack up at every corner of the court. Coach Biggers' squad enjoyed a 13 to 6 lead at the half—ten of the points coming via Mr. Jones. It was the second frosh victory over Ripon's representative this year.

Draw Entries for Campus Handball Meet; Play Opens

Entries have been drawn in the All Campus Handball Singles Tournament and play is to commence immediately, according to Jack Best, '32, senior intramural manager.

Because 32 men have entered the tournament, it has been necessary to divide the entries into two sections, the winner of each section to meet in the finals for the silver intramural medal to be awarded the winner. All play must be finished by March 1 and each man will play two tournament matches each week.

Indoor Track Practice Starts

Six Cross Country Men Form Nucleus of Freshman Team

When indoor track practice commences this week, Coach A. C. Denney will have as a nucleus for his 1932 frosh squad, six cross country men who performed last fall. These men emerged victorious in their meets, with the varsity, Appleton and West Green Bay high schools.

Phil Bradley, who led the team to its victories last fall, hails from West high of Green Bay. He was one of the outstanding cross country men there and is strong in the distance events. Burt Kellogg of the same school also performed well in the distance events. Shigeto Tsuru of Nagoya, Japan, should be valuable in the two mile run. Oscar Gram, who competed at Riverside high of Milwaukee, is a middle distance man. Bob Polkinghorn, a half-miler, who attended St. George high school, Evanston, Ill., is looked to to duplicate the excellent time recorded in his previous performances. Clyde West, a stellar 440 man from Perry, Iowa, is another yearling who is expected to fit well into the frosh squad.

Bell in Old Main Will Ring Out Viking Scores

The bell in Old Main rings again. This time, however, it is not to call the wandering college students to class, but to peal out the announcement of a Lawrence victory on the basketball court.

Saturday night not a small number of Lawrence students and Appleton townspeople heard the bell sound out thirty-two times. It was the Lawrence score against Ripon, and spelled victory.

The athletic board has announced that for the remainder of this year the bell will ring off the Lawrence scores in each of its victories. There will be no tolling of the bell when Lawrence falls in defeat.

Badgers Near End of Season

Meet Five Big Ten Cage Teams Before March 7 To Close Schedule

Madison, Wis.—Swinging into the last lap of this season's schedule, the University of Wisconsin's basketball team will play seven consecutive games against five strong Big Ten conference teams during the next three weeks, with no more than five days separating any two of the contests.

The first two of these games will be played away from home—with Indiana at Bloomington Feb. 15, and against Minnesota at Minneapolis on Feb. 20. The next two games will be played in the Badger Field House at Madison, against Chicago on Feb. 22 and the fast Purdue quintet on Feb. 27.

Two days later the Badgers will travel to Ann Arbor for a return game with Michigan on Feb. 29. The last two games of the season will be played on the home floor, against Indiana on March 5, and against Wisconsin's traditional rival in all fields of sports, Minnesota, on March 7.

Only two of the five teams have not been met by Wisconsin before this season. They are Indiana and Minnesota. In their earlier clashes with the other three teams, Wisconsin lost two and won only one—that against Chicago by a 24-18 score. The strong Purdue outfit, however, turned back the Badgers 38-22, while Michigan downed Wisconsin in 24-18.

In both of the games with Purdue and Michigan—the former on the home floor, the latter at Ann Arbor—Coach Walter E. Meanwell's players will have an opportunity to even the score, at least so far as this season is concerned.

LIBRARY DISPLAYS 50 UNUSUAL PHOTOGRAPHS

Have Been Popularized Through Use In Advertisements

Fifty unusual photographs, some of which have been popularized through their use in national advertisements, are now on display in the college library.

The exhibit, brought to the college through cooperation of the American Federation of Arts, has attracted wide attention among amateur photographers, giving them inspiration and new interest for their work.

Some striking photographs have been made from such unusual subjects as a package of cigarettes, a roll of paper, two eggs and a pear, dishes in shadow and light, grain elevators, electric furnace and an automobile front.

Many have found it interesting to compare the photograph of the grain elevators with the painting of columns in Mr. Fisher's display in the art alcove of the library.

Approve Institute Building Plans and Specifications

The basement is to contain two optical dark rooms, a photographic dark room, a large optics laboratory, a work room for the librarians, and a research reading room.

The first or main floor of the building is to include a large, well-lighted main reading room, measuring 38 feet by 31 feet, a recreational reading room, librarian's office, and a stock room. The entire decorations for this floor are to be done in a very effective antique pine panelling.

The second floor is to have the office of Dr. Ben Rowland, his personal research laboratory, two additional research laboratories and conference rooms, a large student laboratory for microscopic work, a large student laboratory for the study of colloids, and a student research laboratory. The rooms on this floor will be furnished in much the same manner as those of the present building.

With the erection of the new building and the expansion which will be made possible by it and by moving the library and Dr. Rowland's workrooms from the present building, it will be possible to convert the rooms now occupied for these purposes in the present building into much-needed classrooms, offices and research laboratories.

The institute has received a steady flow of donations of items of equipment, books, and other materials which aid greatly in the type of work carried on there. Paper manufacturers from all parts of the country are expressing interest in the project and are making possible extensive research in the paper-making field through their numerous contributions.
