LAWRENCE COLLEGE, APPLETON, WIS.

President's Welcome

Lawrence is in the midst of reconversion to its peace-time role, as are many of you. We had expected difficulties in moving from a war-time program back to something approximating the pre-war regime, and already they are upon us; but on the whole our troubles are turning out to be what the President of our Board of Trustees the other night fittingly called "sweet sorrows." That is, they arise from the fact that we are moving back toward a normal civilian co-educational college (which from our point of view is highly desirable) more rapidly than we had dreamed would be possible (which is causing some headaches.) Both our happiness and our difficulties arise from the fact that the men are coming back in greater numbers and more rapidly than we had expected. I am sure most of you will see no "sorrow" in this at all, and I don't really myself. But the erstwhile residents of the Delt house who were or are being rudely dispossessed to make way for the return of these mere men will know what I am talking about. I apologize to them; but we are glad the men are coming back, as I am sure they are.

There are about a hundred men here now. We had anticipated fewer than fifty. More are coming in or writing in every day. And we are going to do our best to keep the gates open for them whenever they wish to come back. The consequence is that what here might have been a woman's world for a long time to come, with only a small exploited and oppressed masculine minority, may in the course of this year grow somewhat to resemble the old Lawrence where there was a man for every woman. We obviously are not going to reach that happy state soon, but we shall be constantly moving toward it and at an accelerating pace.

It is a pleasure to welcome all of you who are here this year, men and women, and most especially those who have come back from military service and are doing some serious reconverting of their own. It seems to me the College is off to a good start, and you are all contributing to the good spirit that is everywhere in evidence. The faculty is happy with the obvious determination shown by many to study more industriously than ever before, and we feel confident you are going to stick to your resolutions. The times clearly demand, not relaxation, but spiritual resolution and intellectual effort, and I hope all Lawrentians will here this year find real joy in living up to this demand. For you can do much to increase the area of sanity and intelligence in this world. Good luck and every good wish to every one of you throughout the college year.

Members of Marquette NROTC To Entertain in Chapel Program

Former Lawrence Sailors Will Sing, Play for Students

Candidates for the presidency of the student body must submit their petitions for approval to the Executive Committee before Tuesday, October 2. Platforms will be presented to the students at Convocation, October 4, and the election will be held Monday October 3.

Members of the Navy ROTC unit at Marquette university will present a musical program October 6 in the evening at the Memorial chapel. Many of these boys are former V-12 members of the Lawrence Navy unit.

Paul Whear, Ralph Friedmann and Dave McDermand have organized the program which consists only of Navy personnel, the latter two being former members of the Lawrence Navy unit.

Whear, director of the choir, has several original arrangements and one original composition, "Oh Come Behold the Work of the Lord." The band, under the direction of Friedmann, features Jack Sutherland, Johnny Harris, Don Bedtschneider and Dave McDermand. One of the band numbers will be "Deacon Jones" which was presented on the Lawrence stage last year.

Dave McDermand, Jack Sutherland and Ralph Friedman were all members of the Navy dance band at Lawrence last year.

Art Exhibit To be Shown

Library's North Room Will House Display Throughout October

Starting September 30 and running until late in October, the north room of the library will house a very interesting and instructive display. It is one of the exhibits circulated through the country by the "American Federation of Arts," and is called "Definitions."

Among the things it defines are found the answers to many of the more commonly asked questions of museum visitors and amateurs in the art of understanding and appreciative painting. On separately organized and co-ordinated panels are explained the basic principles of art. Color is explained with regard to hue, value, chroma, and its psychological effects and influences. The two types of perspective, aerial and linear, are discussed and illustrated, as are distortion and its uses. Texture variations obtained through the use of other materials are contrasted with those obtained through the use and application of paint.

The many art "isms" generally confusing to the laymen are also defined. Impressionism, as used by Degas and Monet; post-impressionism, including the work of Gauguin and VanGogh; abstraction, as found in the works of Picasso, the expressionism of Matisse, and surrealism, typified by Salvador Dali.

586 Students Enroll For Fall Semester

Five hundred sixty-one students are enrolled in Lawrence college, of which number 468 are women and 53 are men, it was announced by Miss Dorothy Draheim, registrar. Seventy-eight of this group are students in the Lawrence Conservatory of Music.

To enable veterans to return to college as soon after discharge as possible, they will be accepted at Lawrence until November, providing entrance requirements are met.

Artist Series Will Include Five Concerts

Programs Scheduled Include Lehmann and Symphony Orchestra

Five musical attractions including concerts by Lotte Lehmann, renowned soprano, and the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra are scheduled for the current season of the Community Artist Series, annually sponsored by Lawrence college.

The series will open Tuesday, October 16, with the appearance of Rudolf Firkusny, Czech pianist, who has just completed his third South American tour, and has played with all the major orchestras in Europe. Firkusny made his debut at the age of 10 with the Prague Philharmonic Orchestra, and after achieving an outstanding pianistic reputation in Europe, he came to America in 1940. Since that time he has been a guest artist with the New York Philharmonic, the Philadelphia, Chicago, Minneapolis and Cleveland Symphony Orchestras. In 1941 he opened the Ravinia summer music season as guest performer with Sir. Thomas Beecham conducting and later that year made a successful New York recital debut.

Czech Music

Mr. Firkusny's specialty is Czech music, particularly the piano works of Smetana. He is today the only concert pianist, as far as is known, who includes the Dvorak G Minor Concerto in his repertoire. He has been decorated by Queen Elizabeth of Belgium and King Emmanuel of Italy.

Sunday, December 9, will mark the second Appleton appearance of the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra under the baton of Fabien Sevitsky. The orchestra played the final concert on the 1944-45 Artist series in Memorial Chapel in March.

Frat Rushing Will Begin Sat., Sept. 29

Fraternity rushing will begin on Saturday, September 29, with a series of walk-around parties at the five fraternity houses. The parties will be from two to five in the afternoon, and from seven to nine in the evening. About 60 rushees will be entertained by the frats during the day, with the new men spending one hour at each house. All five organizations on campus; Beta Theta Pi, Delta Tau Delta, Phi Delta Theta, Phi Kappa Tau, and Sigma Phi Epsilon will participate in the rushing. Many of the alumni of the fraternities will return for the rushing Saturday to help out the groups which were hard hit by the departure of the V-12 unit.

After the first parties on Saturday, there will be open rushing until noon, Saturday, October 20th. At this time the rushees must turn in their preferences if they wish to be pledged. During this open rushing period, the fraternities will invite the freshmen to smokers and to date parties.

A picture of the entire student body will be taken on the chapel steps after a shortened Convocation program Thursday, October 11.

Student Exec Council Meets For First Time

Chairmen for Student Committees are Named For the Coming Year

Dick Flom was elected treasurer of the Student Body at the first meeting of the Student Executive Council Tuesday evening in Main Hall. He fills the vacancy left by Bill Riggins who did not return to Lawrence.

Chairmen were appointed for the year to head all student committees. Pete Rasey, a former Lawrentian who has returned this semester, and Carol Hedges were chosen co-chairmen of the social committee; Mary Ann Hammersley was elected chairman of the convocation committee; Charles Merwin, of the Pep Committee; Bill Chapman, of the Homecoming Committee; Doris Koss, of the Union Committee; Alice Cantwell, of the Rules Committee; and Dick Flom, Ed Abell, and Bruce Buchanan were elected representatives to the Athletic Board.

Acting President, Carlos Rodriguez, presented the budget for the students' activities fund, and representatives of the WAA, LWA, Lawrentian, Ariel, Athletic Board presented their financial requirements. Appropriations were discussed and the budget approved. Plans were made to enlarge the activities of the Pep Committee whose activities were limited during the past few years. The Committee voted to increase the committee's allotments.

On Tuesday, October 2, the Executive Committee will meet with President Pusey to discuss any campus problems among the students, and any problems concerning the relations between students and the administration.

Plans were discussed for an All-College Day. Barbara Coffman was appointed to arrange a definite date for the affair.

Students Can Rent Pictures in Library

The numerous water-colors, oils, and prints of various subjects now decorating the walls and tabletops of the library were not intended specifically for this purpose.

Any picture now in the library, including those displayed around the stairway, may be removed and checked out for the semester by the librarian. There is a charge of twenty-five cents for each picture.

Mrs. Bennett Returns To Former Position At Phi Delt Menage

Last week in the Lawrentian an article concerning housemothers omitted the mention of Mrs. Bennett as the Phi Delta Theta housemother. Mrs. Bennett was formerly the housemother for the girls at the Beta house, and before the war was housemother at the Delt house. She is also an assistant in the business office.

LET'S WORK!

The first week has passed — Sorority rushing is over. The upperclassmen can pause for a well earned rest. The freshmen at last have time to breathe—The most hectic week of the college term has ended for another semester.

We at Lawrence now have time to see the part we are playing in education's reconversion. Since last week, ten more veterans have registered for the semester bringing the total male enrollment to over one hundred. Letters have been received from countless servicemen indicating their desire to enter Lawrence as soon as they are released.

It is up to us to make sure these men receive everything they have missed during the war years. We are proud to remember all the sacrifices they have made for us. They gave up everything to fight for our way of life—and they won.

Let's show them we appreciate what they have done. Now that the social whirl has slowed somewhat, let us settle down to performing our primary duty—work.

Library Staff Welcomes Students

Greetings to new students and a hearty welcome to the former ones! The library staff shall be so happy to see the library crowded again with workers and to hear calls for help that were formerly being made to the librarians.

Perhaps just a few suggestions concerning the real purpose of your library may make your work easier. You may be served from three distinct points of view. First of all, the reference department is where you will go for specific information, such as the size of the American Navy or where to find the story of radar. The reference librarian will be very helpful in assisting you.

For the collateral reading, you will come to the circulation desk and the assistant in charge will help you through the intricacies of using the reserve books which are placed on special shelves by your instructors. Keeping these books together in this way means a saving on your time as well as being assured the book will be in the library when you need it.

The third type of service for you is helping you in your recreational reading through lists, suggestions and really offering to guide you in your own personal reading program.

The library offers you free access to its shelves. But always remember any book you wish to take out of the library is to be charged first at the loan desk.

Again the library staff greets all of you and assures you of their hearty cooperation in working out your reading problems while you are at Lawrence.

Pupil Puts Down Pipe for Parents; Studying Starts

Freshmen learn fast! Tuesday evening Nan Bellou, over in Brokaw, was puffing her after-dinner weed, looking at her pipe which has already won her the tag of "Sherlock", and was thinking about all the homework she had and the fraction she intended to do. All was right with the world.

The buzzer rang; Nan continued to sit, that is, she sat until no less than six girls raced up the four flights of stairs to announce that her parents had arrived unexpectedly.

Our gal Nan went into action. The pipe disappeared, her fags were tossed on a neighbor's desk, she dived into another room and grabbed a book, doused her fingers in ink, and tore down to meet the matter and pater. They were delighted

The Voice Of L.W.A.

Though the council is aware that not every girl in the school smokes, it also realizes that those who do congregate at times in rooms of non-smokers. As a precautionary measure, the ruling has been made that each room be provided with three small or two large ash trays. Inspections were made during the week and will continue to be made at intervals throughout the year. Because it is a simple matter to purchase the containers, it is expected that no disciplinary measures will have to be taken.

Another smoking problem has arisen, and the council has taken steps to remedy the situation. Brokaw Hall residents will now be happy to discover that, due to lack of a recreation room as is found in other dormitories, the first floor lounge may be used for smoking anytime after 12:00 noon.

This governing body for women continues to be interested in any problems that may arise. It is hoped that the freshmen are thinking about who they wish to represent them on the council. The election will be held in about a month. Until that time problems may be brought to the attention of any of the council members or advisers. Next week will bring more reasons behind the rules.

Lawrence Alumna Receives Highest Sorority Award

The highest individual award attainable by a member of Pi Beta Phi social sorority was conferred upon Virginia Robie Cassin, Oak Park, Illinois, a 1945 Lawrence college graduate, when she was presented with the Amy Burnham Onken award for graduate study. Mrs. Cassin was nominated as the candidate from her sorority province, and was selected for the national honor from a group of 13 province winners by the Pi Beta Phi grand council.

At Lawrence Mrs. Cassin was president of Pi Beta Phi, a member of Mortar Board and Phi Beta Kappa, was chosen a Best Loved Senior Woman, and served as president of the Lawrence Women's Association. She also received the Junior Spade, given annually to the outstanding woman in that class, was listed in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" and was graduated summa cum laude.

The pledging of thirty-three girls took place last Sunday at the George Schmidt home. A banquet at the Butte des Mortes country club followed.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

The Thetas pledged twenty-nine girls at the F. C. Heinritz home. The dinner was also held at the Heinritz home.

Basic Rules About Dorms Are Stated

The men are returning to Lawrence. Everyday finds another quad house being emptied of its feminine contents and replaced with returning veterans. Faculty members live in Brokaw; male students and married couples are residents of South House. In view of the complicated situation, just what are the dormitory rules concerning the hours when students may be in dorms other than their own?

There are several basic rules regarding men and women's dorms. Brokaw, Ormsby, and Peabody, as well as the halls of upper class women, namely, Russell Sage, Beta House, and Sig Ep House abide by the same regulations in regards to the morning visiting hours. No gentleman callers are allowed in any of these women's houses before 12:00 noon. The places and the hours when men can be entertained after this time have been set forth in individual house rules.

The girls may not enter any of the buildings in which men are living at any time. The only exception to this rule occurs when there is a scheduled chaperoned party at one of the fraternity houses.

Fraternity men, accordingly, do not use their houses except at these parties and at their weekly meetings.

At the Movies

At the Rio, Friday-Thursday, Anchors Aweigh has finally come to town. The much publicized picture starring Frank Sinatra, Gene Kelly, and Kathryn Grayson is the best in motion pictures that I have seen in many a month. No matter what your favorite form of entertainment, I can guarantee that you will find it somewhere in the picture. There is everything from boogie to the classics and from high comedy to sweet love scenes. Gene Kelly has never been better than he is in a dance with a little caricature mouse, and little Sharon McManus will dance into your heart to make you remember the child from the Mexican Quarter. The locale of the picture is in Hollywood where two sailors who have been decorated for gallantry in action decide to spend their short leave. From there on in it is a run for anybody's money. The staging of the picture is enhanced by technicolor, and the sets are big and beautiful. One of the best is located in the Hollywood Bowl where Jose Iturbi and about fifty young children are rehearsing for a show featuring each one at his own piano. The songs from the movie have been popular for quite awhile, but I'm sure that you will be humming I Begged Her and My Heart

Over Homer's Dead Body

For the benefit of the freshmen, we feel a brief summary of the character and mannerisms of several of the more outstanding faculty members would be appropriate and helpful at this time. A brief sketch of their quirks and their sadistic little eccentricities will prove of great value as the months progress, as will the files in the sorority houses. But this we must save for a coming week.

Raney, Mr. William F.: The most important thing to be on your guard for in Mr. Raney's very entertaining classes is his benign, cheerful way of asking the most hellish questions. This occurs in his weekly quiz-section when his usual approach, a subtle softening-up technique, is somewhat as follows:

"Miss Vredvregood, could you tell me the name of the Indian chief who led a revolt against the English during this period?" Helpfully the other students imitate the sound of a high-powered motor shifting gears "Brrrrrrrrrrrr—chug chug," one mutters in a low voice. "Toot, toot, honk, adds another.

Now, being a shy retiring girl, Miss Vredvregood stupidly attempts to answer the question. With a pale face and twitching hands she manages to gasp, "Buick — Plymouth — Ford —" her voice is beginning to raise in panic — "Lincoln — Packard — Dodge —" cessful in a great majority of cases. At the question "—could you—" give him no time to continue. Draw yourself up indignantly, fearlessly staring into his eyes, and say "No!" quite forcefully and with a sneer. This answer sends him, a broken man, to the window where he nervously twirls his watch chain and blows his nose loudly. After an episode like this he usually dismisses the class at once. This, for obvious reasons, is not recommended for general use.

And about his written tests—short of tearing them up we can suggest no solution.

MacKay, Miss Barbara: The highlight of Miss MacKay's day is her bowling class. Her insistence and emphasis on the correct bowling form leads to a scene somewhat like this:

"Run four and one-half steps and at the last step assume a squatting position. Get that arm down! You heard me! Release your thumb first. Get that arm down! You heard me!"

Then she proceeds to leap upon the hapless girl's back and jumps up and down until her pupil's face touches the foul line and she faintly resembles a display of a boy scout knife with corkscrew, three blades, bottle-opener and nail file. "Now relax," Miss MacKay says in an oily tone, "pretend I wasn't here."

Outside of using her Sheaffer for the gymnasium dart-game, we can think of no suitable punishment for Miss MacKay for the indignities thrust upon us. After a gym period a girl is usually so stiff that several have been known to disguise themselves (with a hinge or two) as a swinging-door and escape the 11:15 "lights out" by leaning nonchalantly against the corridor.

Troyer, Mr. Howard: Because Mr. Troyer's course in "Contemporary Flops" has proved so popular, we shall endeavor to help his students to understand him.

From the moment he walks into his classroom, grinding his cigarette out on the forehead of an eager student near the door, he impresses us with his friendly, effortless procedure. Lighting another fag and blowing the smoke gently into his trouser cuff, he begins his lecture:

"Some think Shakespeare is a genius—for how could an ignorant son-of-a-butcher rise to his status otherwise? Yes, some think he is great and others think he stinks—What I am interested in is, what do you think?" He casually lights another cigarette.

At once low isolated murmurs of "stinks" — "stinks" — "stinks" grow into a roaring, beating crescendo of noise. Soon Mr. Troyer has a heated discussion in progress, Mr. Troyer growing more and more heated. Obstinate the class clings to its belief — "stinks —" "stinks." Mouth-ing curses, Mr. Troyer rises majestically, lights up a finger and strolls, sulking, from the room.

Short Sketches:
Heselton, Mr. B. E.: His greatest ambition is to develop another Ronald "Flesh" Scywyicz who threw Abdul the Bul-bul 2 out of 3 in the famous wrestling match of '38.

Spiegelberg, Mr. Herbert: Drives his classes into shrieking terror with this typical statement: "The thesis—the essential underlying motive of the whole argument, is that he slam grabst the cabastratum."

Perhaps these lines will be of help to some new students—if so, we shall feel amply rewarded. Even if they don't help any one we will feel rewarded upon seeing this in print. . . .

Delt Dolls are My Pal and I De-Housed

Along with the happily received foot-runners of Post-war Lawrence . . . (MEN, gir-rulls) come numerous adjustments to the Pre-war status quo. Among these latter falls the recent uprooting of the female residents of the Delta Tau Delta house. This move, necessary to accommodate the large and continually increasing numbers of civilian men at Lawrence now and expected in the near future, has resulted in a fruit-basket-upset involving the Beta house, Sig Ep house, Sage, and eventually even Ormsby. First semester sophomores now occupying sought-after rooms in the quad houses are being forcibly reminded of their low-priority numbers and bounced, (as they say in the vernacular.) Rooms thus vacated are turned over to the dispossessed Delt-dollies. Members of Phi Delta Theta, Phi Kappa Tau, and Delta Tau Delta now on the campus will be living in their respective houses along with enough assorted civilian men to fill up all the rooms. Soon, then, the quad will return to its rightful occupants, and the women will go back, admittedly sorrowful, to their cloistered halls.

Sings on your way to classes this week.

At the Appleton: Friday and Saturday. If you want to have a heavy heart and a wet handkerchief, you ought to see Tomorrow the World with Fredric March and Betty Field. March has been away from pictures for a long time, and it is good to see him back in the swing of things. He has been in New York in the play from which this picture was adapted. It is a story of a little German refugee Gals! Who knows what evil lurks in the hearts of men—we know, we've been here for a hell of a long time.

"Pink Elephants": Have you been down River? We have. My pal and I dropped in for a thirst quencher and elbowed our way through the massed Lawrentians. You would think they had no place to go!!

Music Lovers. You've heard Basie and Ellington but something new has been added— - Dutch Shultz. He plays them hot and he plays them blue with no complaints from the '38' or my pal and I. He's modest but keep trying. It's worth it.

Sorority Girls: Pick yourselves up, fellas, rushing's over! We heard complaints about the girls overstepping their rights in the use of the quad houses. Excuse us for existing but we're the fellas that take you out! Remember? But don't worry we forgive and forget till next year.

Blue Bloods: My Pal and I sat home Saturday night . . . Everybody sits home now. Where people used to get together, only blackness comes from the quad basements to greet the weekend crowds as they mill aimlessly about. Have you seen all the shows in town? My Pal and I have.

(Skippy Homier) who comes over to this country to stay with his American uncle and aunt. You will be quite peeved with him for his retention of the Nazi ideologies and his attempted murder of their little girl. The problems that these relatives must face and overcome will give you a better understanding of our job in Europe. It is a picture with high drama and excellent acting, differentiating it from the ordinary run of propaganda films. The second feature is You Can't Do Without Love.

Stacey assistant professor of psychology, John A. Stuart assistant professor of English, Miss Loretta Swift assistant librarian, and Miss Hope Wells instructor in physical education.

Mr. Pusey also revealed that Theodore Cloak, professor of dramatics, and Andrew C. Berry, professor of mathematics, who were both on leaves of absence with the armed forces for the past several semesters, have returned to their former positions on the faculty.

Mr. Current received the bachelor of arts degree from Oberlin college, the master of arts from Tufts, and doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Wisconsin. He has held teaching positions at Tufts and the state university, Maryland state teachers college, Rutgers University, Hamilton college, and Northern Michigan college of education where he was head of the American history department. He is now under contract to the Wisconsin Historical society for the writing of a biography of Philetus Sawyer, Oshkosh, to be published by the Society in 1948.

Native of Canada

A Native of Canada, Chalmers Stacey attended preparatory school and college in Nova Scotia, receiving the B.A. degree from Acadia university. His graduate work for the M.A. and Ph. He has done special work at the College of the City of New York, and has taught for years in the English department at Northwestern.

Miss Loretta Swift, newly appointed assistant librarian, received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Dakota Wesleyan and did special work in library work in library science at the University of Illinois. She has taught in the high schools of Artesia, Grosse, and Bonesteel, South Dakota, Oakes, North Dakota, has been librarian at Dakota Wesleyan and North Dakota State Teachers college, and head cataloguer at Stephens college. Miss Swift is a member of Phi Kappa Phi, the American Library association and the North Dakota Education association.

tion and the North Dakota Education association.

Assisting Miss Barbara MacKay as instructor in physical education, with special concern for the women's aquatic program, is Miss Hope Wells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Wells, Combined Locks. Miss Wells, who last year was instructor in health hygiene at Mary Washington college of the University of Richmond, received the B.A. and B.S. in sociology and physical education at the University of Wisconsin. She has done waterfront work for the American Friends camp in Pennsylvania and the YWCA camp in Michigan, and was recreation leader for the Madison Recreation department.

The appointment of Stanley Gunn as instructor in piano at the Lawrence Conservatory of Music was announced by Dean Carl J. Waterman. Mr. Gunn, recently discharged from the army, was in Italy for 3 years as a member of the 91st division of the Fifth army. Previous to his study at Lawrence, which was interrupted by military service, Mr. Gunn maintained his own piano studio at Kenosha, and attended the Chicago Musical College, studying with Julia Lois Carruthers. At Lawrence he did organ work with Professor LaVahn Maesch, and was organist and choirmaster at the Appleton Presbyterian church. He will continue his musical studies at the conservatory along with his teaching duties.

All new faculty members assumed their duties on Sept. 20, the first day of college classes.

So read this column every week. To get the info that you seek. Of what the sporting gals are doing here

Prop your feet up on the desk, light up a cig, and listen to what a couple of Janes have to say.

"What do you think your doing, teeing off?"—shouted Mac in her dignified voice. Obviously those golf sessions of last spring weren't in vain. But did that frown on her face reveal approval here on the hockey field? Besides the regular hockey classes, practice of intramural teams will be held Wednesday night for juniors and seniors, Thursday for sophomores, and Friday for frosh from 4:35 to 5:20. If you can't learn anything else with a hockey stick, come out and limber up that achin' back.

A lot of girls seemed to be bowled over with the idea of setting pins, which probably accounts for the big turn-out in gym classes. We just hope that you remember to pull your thumb out of the ball, and don't get "sent" down the alley. Before long sorority competition will be under way.

Open swim classes tsg
Open swim will be held on Friday nights from 7:00 to 9:00 for mermaids only. Proficiency isn't required, just come on out and contribute to the big splash. The gym will also offer badminton, ping-pong, and squash on the same night.
COME ON AMAZONS.

Students who present their student activities tickets at the business office Oct. 10 through 15 will receive free tickets for the first number of the Artist Series, Rudolph Firkusny, Tuesday, October 16.

SPORTLEBUTT

The past season, probably the last of so called wartime baseball, produced some of the hottest pennant races in modern history. As of this writing the Chicago Cubs and the Detroit Tigers are leading their respective leagues, but that is no indication that they'll be on top when the major league schedules are completed. Barring very bad weather conditions final games should be played sometime early next week.

The Cubs, led by Charlie Grimm, who came up from Milwaukee last year to replace the win-shy Jimmy Wilson, have been the surprise ball club of the year. They have come up with six batters who are hitting over, or in, the near vicinity of .300 and through the season the Bruin mound staff has exceeded all pre-season expectations, especially since that July day when Mr. Henry Borowy left the Bronx Bombers and signed a Cub contract. Hank has been worth every penny of the $100,000 P. K. Wrigley shelled out for him.

This fall will mark the first time in three years that the colleges will play football in a world of peace. The standard of competition, although not quite so high as that in the prewar world, will no doubt be the best since 1942. Early season games indicated that the Big Ten has come up with some fine material. Although some teams line up with more than one returning vet in the first eleven, the main brunt of the game will still be carried by the younger freshmen and the sophomores.

Lawrence, which will field an all-civilian team this fall, was one of the few smaller schools here in the midwest that was able to continue its intercollegiate competition through the war. This year's team, although small in number, has shown plenty of spirit in its first drills. No lineup, even tentative, has been outlined by Coach Heselton at this date. Early work has consisted largely of dummy blocking and tackling practice, and signal and passing drills. Among the twenty-odd players who reported last week were two lettermen from last year and several others who have had a good deal of previous experience.

Bob Stevenson, former author of this column and better known around campus as "LeRoy," is at his home in Oshkosh recuperating from a serious kidney operation which he underwent late in August.

Lawrence Decides To Play Football

Nineteen Suits Issued to First All Civilian Team Since 1942

Nineteen suits were issued last week to Coach Bernie Heselton's first all-civilian Lawrence college football team since 1942, and a half dozen more prospects are expected to report before the first game next Saturday. Only carry-overs from the 1944 squad, which was made up largely of V-12 students, are Dick Flom, Menasha, who played left end and right half, and Ed Abell, Milwaukee, who punted for the Vikes last year after experience at Colgate University.

One of the most pleasant surprises so far this season, Heselton said, is the reappearance of Hal Luedeman, Gillette, who, as a V-12 trainee last spring starred on the Lawrence track squad. Luedeman, who recently enrolled as a civilian student after being placed on inactive duty, has played halfback at Murray State Teachers college, was on the Viking varsity basketball squad, and plays baseball. The release of Luedeman has given Heselton definite hope that other former Lawrence naval trainees will be able to join the squad before the season is over.

Gridman who show promise are Russell Jamaleson, Appleton, backfield man who played at Hobart; Jim Campbell, guard, Don Pawer, tackle, both 195 lb. boys from Appleton High school; and Don Williams, a quarterback on the 1943 Appleton team. Joe Moriarity, Appleton, a performer during last spring's cinder season, will also be working out. Add to these sixteen other versatile candidates and you have a picture of the squad now working out each night on Whiting Field under the direction of Coach Heselton and his assistant Vince Jones.

The Lawrence grid schedule this year will be limited to competition with Beloit, Carroll and Ripon. A home and home arrangement with Ripon, an Appleton engagement with Beloit and an out of town contest with Carroll are already set, with a possibility of another Carroll game on November 3. The season opens October 6 when the Vikes are hosts to the Ripon Redmen at Whiting Field.

Let's have all the student body out there at Whiting Field a week from tomorrow to cheer the boys out to victory. It's important that we make Lawrence's return to civilian athletic competition a successful one.

Vince Jones Takes Line Coach Position

Vince Jones, local resident, who played a lot of tackle for Lawrence four or five years back is now serving in the capacity of line coach for the Vikes. Head Coach Heselton was left without any coaching help at all after Ray Hamann left his position here last spring to join the faculty of Appleton High school.

Vince, who also holds the Lawrence College shot put record will be welcomed by the squad not only for his coaching ability, but also for his beaming two hundred and fifty pounds plus personality.

when it was enthusiastically received. The symphonic group, which started its career as a major orchestra in 1937, when Dr. Sevitsky assumed its permanent conductorship, has done numerous broadcasts on all three major radio networks, and each year tours the eastern and western states. The organization has made a dozen records for the Victor Company.

Ming-Leedham Trio

Also appearing on the artist series for a second concert is the Ming-Leedham Trio, which will be heard Thursday, January 10. The trio is composed of exceptionally talented faculty members from the Lawrence Conservatory of Music; George Leedham, violinist; Marian Wolfe Ming, cellist; and James Ming, pianist. They have been playing in ensemble for more than a year.

Mr. Leedham, associate professor of violin, whose musical career has included solo engagements with the Rochester Civic Orchestra and the position of first violinist with the Eastman String Quartet, is the author of the Lawrence Symphony Orchestra. In addition of solo performances with major orchestras, Marian Wolfe Ming was first cellist with a professional string quartet in Buffalo, N. Y. She now teaches cello at the conservatory. Mr. Ming, the third member of the ensemble and assistant professor of piano at Lawrence, has appeared with the Eastman School Symphony in concerts and NBC broadcasts. His compositions have been performed on NBC and at the annual American Music Festival at Rochester.

Lotte Lehmann, "The First Lady of Song," will be heard in recital Saturday evening, February 16. Equally celebrated as a concert singer and as an operatic performer, Madam Lehmann is known for her exceptional performances in the

Convocation Has Dr. H. H. Rowley as Speaker Thursday

Lawrence college students heard a talk on "Atomic Energy" given by Dr. H. H. Rowley, associate professor of chemistry, during the weekly convocation program in Memorial chapel Thursday morning.

Dr. Rowley has taken his bachelor and master's work at Northwestern University, and received the doctor's degree from the University of Frankfurt, Germany. He has had extensive professional and teaching experience, and is the author of more than 30 publications in the field of chemistry.

Dr. Rowley, introduced by Dr. Pusey, opened his speech by saying that atomic energy is the "hottest subject" in the news today. Because of the extensive discussion of this topic, many fantastic tales have been released during the general confusion. Dr. Rowley assured us that there is no fear that atomic energy will bring about the end of the world and that there is little possibility of its use in fantastic engines as predicted.

He went on to explain the nature of the atom and atomic energy and to tell us that contrary to popular belief the basic principles of the atom are not a secret and the bomb is just the putting together of old principles.

Season tickets for the series will be available at Belling Drug Store through October 11.
