Lawrence Host To HS Seniors

136 Will Try For Awards Tomorrow

More than 130 high school seniors from Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota will be guests of Lawrence college this weekend at the annual fellowship and music scholarship contests.

Sixty one of the contestants rank in the top 5% of their graduating classes, and will be competing for four full tuition fellowships. The fellowship contest was begun three years ago by President Pusey, and since that time has awarded 4 fellowships annually to students ranking the highest on a general culture test. Each fellowship is worth approximately $450 and is renewable each year until graduation, provided an honors average is maintained.

Seventy-one seniors will audition in music for one full tuition scholarship and three awards of $200. Besides an audition, conservatory students are required to take the Sea shore test, which determines musical aptitude. Both college and conservatory contestants will be interviewed by members of the faculty and staff.

The general culture tests for the college contestants will be administered by the college testing bureau.

Fields of competition which are registered at the conservatory are voice, 44; piano, 19; and smaller numbers in strings, wind instruments and organ. The conservatory competition dates back to 1939.

After the day's testing is completed, all contestants will be entertained at a tea at Ormsby hall. Members of Mace and Mortar Board, senior honorary societies, will act as hosts and hostesses.

Members of the faculty who will interview each contestant are: Dean Charlotte Wollaeger, President Pusey, Howard Troyer, A. C. Berry, W. A. McConagha, Anne Jones, Edwin Schoenberger, Chandler Rowe, George Walter, Charles M. Brooks, Walter Porges, and Dean Donald M. Du Shane.

Staff members interviewing conservatory contestants are Robert Wilch, Marilyn Wyatt and Marguerite Schumann.

Fellowship winners on campus are Maurice Brown, Mary Hartzell, and Nancy Kingsbury, juniors; Alice Becker, Elizabeth Forster, Shirley Hanson, and Carl Lauman, Jr., sophomores; and Durward Gauthier, Christine Lipps, Robert McCoy, and Joan Chapman, freshmen.

Tomorrow is the day set for freshman scholarship exams for next year's freshmen. We have four shining examples of those who came through on top last year in this year's freshman class. They are Joan Chapman, Durward Gauthier, Christine Lipps, and Robert McCoy.

Joan is a math major, so far, having got her start at Whitefish Bay High School where she was about 12 in her class. (It would've been higher; if it hadn't been for physics!) She is about the twelfth in the family of three or four generations to come to Lawrence, and apparently has not been disappointed, because she exclaimed, "I love it!" She is a Lawrentian reporter, a member of S.C.A., is in the freshman choir, and plays the oboe in the valley symphony orchestra. As yet she hasn't gone out for sports—"gym class has been enough!" The "plague" has passed her by, thus far, so if you are in one of her classes and you hear a strange thumping, it's probably Joan knocking on wood. Incidentally

Ariel Proofs Must be Returned to Pechman

Juniors and seniors are requested to return the proofs of their "Ariel" pictures to the Pechman studio by Saturday.

All juniors and seniors who did not have their pictures taken by Pechman but wish to be represented in the "Ariel" should see Dorothy Perschbacher at Sage as soon as possible.

Story by Beck Appears Now in Yale Anthology

"Shadow of a Green Olive Tree" a story by Warren Beck, professor of English, is included in a new anthology called "The Questioning Spirit—Religion in the Literature of Our Time," edited by Frances Brentano and Halford E. Lucecock, professor in the Yale Divinity school. The anthology, drawn from the work of British and American writers of the twentieth century, includes short stories, poems, scenes from dramas and prose extracts. Beck's story, the first he ever published, appeared in "Prairie Schooner," the regional magazine published at the University of Nebraska in 1937, and it was also reprinted in the anthology of Midwestern writing, "Prairie Schooner Caravan," in 1943.

The editors of "The Questioning Spirit" state in the preface that their selections were made according to two principles, "the insistence that every selection deal specifically with religion," and that "the material should be good literature."

This is the second of such anthologies reprinting works of Beck's. A story "Between Two Worlds," from "Story" magazine, was included in the "Seas of God," subtitled, "Great Stories of the Human Spirit," and published in 1944. This anthology included the work of forty-nine authors, American, English, and continental.

Seniors Will Meet

There will be a senior class meeting immediately after convocation Thursday, November 20. Class officers will be elected at this time.

"Who's Who" Chooses 15 Outstanding Seniors

Publicity Chairmen Recently Announce S.C.A. Calendar

Deputations, a vesper service and a Christmas program are on the Student Christian association calendar for the next two months, according to the publicity chairman, Carol Vivian.

Sigma Alpha Iota, music sorority, will join forces with the S.C.A. in presenting a Christmas program sometime in December. The SAI choir will provide music and an appropriate skit is being planned.

Members of S.C.A. will continue conducting church services in several surrounding communities. Joanne Tiffany has charge of a service on Sunday, November 16, in Oshkosh. Bob Hunting and Bob Nolan are also organizing meetings; Bob Hunting in Manitowoc and Bob Nolan in three small communities near here. The committee is also making plans to continue its aid to Appleton churches in finding Sunday school teachers. Anyone interested in deputations can contact Joanne Tiffany at Sage.

This Sunday there will be a Vesper service at the Presbyterian church. It will be a half hour service and will start at 4:30.

Students Plan European Relief In Past Week

Aid to Consist Mainly of Funds And Clothing

Organization of European relief efforts on the Lawrence campus was begun this week by a special student interest committee. Definite plans will be laid in an open meeting this afternoon at 2:30 in Main Hall, room 22.

On Tuesday night, the Lawrence student executive board endorsed a tentative proposal submitted by the committee through its chairman, Roger Christiansen. The plan outlines a college group to manage the program and select channels through which aid will be pushed.

Primarily, relief would be in the form of money raised by a weekly pledge system. A monthly quota of $1500 has been suggested for the college.

Each student and faculty member would be asked to pledge a minimum donation for each week which would first be registered with a campaign treasurer. The amount set by the individual would be according to his own standards, but the underlying objective would be the occasional sacrifice of a daily luxury.

In addition to funds raised under the pledge system, the monthly quotas would be met by collections at religious convocations, "wishing well" concessions at campus centers and college events, benefits and variety shows. It is expected that clothing drives will also be held.

Messages urging all interested persons to attend this afternoon's meeting have been issued by the temporary committee and other student leaders. Strong backing must be had to complete the organization of the program and begin its operation.

Leaders must be named and committees must be appointed to begin functioning immediately. Committees under the plan include collection, publicity, special events, education and ideas, a correspondence secretary, and a body composed of a representative from each living unit.

The special committee which started Lawrence aid for Europe was formed two weeks ago through the independent initiative of its members. Besides Christiansen, these include Ray Kinder, Bruce Campbell, Mickey Porges, and Dick Gerlach.

"Time of Your Life" Is Shaping Up for Presentation Next Week

Spalding, Baumbach, Brebner Star in "Time of Your Life"

BY PAT FOLEY

"Start over again. Kit Carson on deck! Jump things up a little bit. We're dragging. Follow through! Girls, get out! After you shoot those lines, just phht!" ordered Ted Cloak, director of "The Time of Your Life" at rehearsal last Tuesday evening. "There are only nine days left, kids," he admonished. The play will be presented November 20 and 21 at 8:30 p. m. in the chapel. Students can get their tickets at Bellings.

Sitting on the corner of a table, Mr. Clark reflected every emotion in the book as he watched his actors go through the fourth and fifth acts of the naturalistic drama by Saroyan. Occasionally he stopped a scene to correct an interpretation and arouse the players.

To Dutch Schultz he said, "Sing that line as much as you can. A capella on that, Wesley." And later he fairly shouted to Bob Brebner, "You're getting hate worked up, Tom! You're getting physical again!"

Several times he interrupted the play to point out a shift in mood and to explain the significance of certain speeches.

Cast Given

Leni Spalding as Kitty Duval, George Baumbach as Joe and Bob Brebner as Tom head the cast of this latest Lawrence college theater production. Although the other parts are smaller, Saroyan made every character important in his endeavor to put across an important social message. Joe Greco plays the part of Nick, the bartender; John Hammer is Harry, the hooper; Jack Hafner is Dudley; Sue Moran is Elsie; Ted Roeder is Krupp; John Watson is Blick; Angie Greco is Willie; Beverly Pearson is Mary; Bob Nolan is a gentleman; Don Jones is the Arab; Phyllis Wormwood is Lorene; Bonnie Storch and Phyllis Finlayson are street walkers; Bill Lentz is a drunk; Bruce Campbell is a newsboy; Dick Gaedke and Roland Strid are two policemen.

Debate Society Reorganized

World Government
Discussed Next Week

The Lawrence debate group, which has been almost entirely inactive since before the war, will again swing into full stride with the beginning of its practice debate sessions to be held this coming week. As a result of scrimmages held recently, four affirmative and four negative teams have been organized to discuss the topic chosen for this year by the National Collegiate Debate Association: "Resolved that a federal world government be established." Mr. Schoenberger announces.

The debates scheduled for next week are: Emery Jennings and Dick Dorsey, affirmative, vs. John Harris and Bob Morgan, negative; Bob Hunting and Bill Riggins, affirmative, against Jim Auer and Jerome Papke; Nancy Moran and John Fillion, affirmative, vs. Beverly Pearson and William Beringer; and Jerry Pubantz and Bob Frederick vs. Sue Moran and Beverly Christensen.

Although no definite plans have been laid, Mr. Schoenberger expressed the hope that Lawrence debaters may soon be able to meet others from other colleges in the midwest conference. There may also be a possibility that extempore and oratory may stage a comeback on the Lawrence campus.

Phi Sigma Iota Initiates Seven

Phi Sigma Iota initiated the following students last week: Joan Brown, James Gloe, Myra Kasik, Edith O'Meara, Wenonah Wild, Jacqueline Danielson. Dr. Bergholz of the faculty was also initiated.

Wheeler Reigns Over Dizzy Homecoming Festivities

BY NANCY MORAN

Betty Wheeler reigned as queen of the 101st Lawrence Homecoming last weekend, a celebration that featured a winning football team, novel homecoming decorations, the annual rally and parade, large crowds and freezing cold weather.

Snow and the judging committees arrived simultaneously Friday afternoon for the considerations of house decorations. The Beta spider web and the Brokaw inferno copped first places with the Phi Delt barber shop and the Phi Tau Lucky Strike display taking second and third respectively, in the men's division.

"Beloit's Fatal Apple," prepared by Sage Cottage, and Peabody's baby clinic presided over by "Doctor" Heselton were tied for second honors in the dormitory race.

Freshmen women paraded in the annual pajama classic that evening to the cheers of a packed chapel and the scrutiny of judges Theodore Cloak, Charles Brooks, and James Stewart, faculty members. Sharing honors with the newest in night dress were the team, Coach Bernie Heselton, and the pep band cheerleaders Roland Strid and Pete Rasey.

Departing for the river banks, revelers partook of the annual raft ceremony and then trooped up College avenue, torches aloft.

This and K.D.s Win
Phi Deltas and Betas traded positions and the Phi Taus again took third in the float judging Saturday morning. Kappa Delt's, Delta Gammas and Thetas placed in that order in the sorority competition. The Phi Deltas came rolling down College avenue with Bernie's mouse-trap, complete to Mickey Mouse, while the K.D.'s had arranged Joan Strathearn wearing a voluminous paper skirt as a cleaning girl. Another body by Beta, this time a dragon, thundered at the end of the procession while up forward were the Phi Tau guillotine, the D G piggy bank, and the Theta snowstorm.

Homecoming participants, who had shivered through the afternoon to a third straight conference victory, enjoyed the warmth of Alexander gym, scene of the Homecoming dance, Saturday night. During the intermission, Betty and her court of honor, Phyllis Finlayson and Mary Ellen Jensen, were presented. After Betty was crowned the three girls cut pieces of the victory cake for squad members.

Chairmen for the day were Jean Friskey and Tom Edgerton.

Dance Tops Gala Weekend

Large Attendance
Rewards Committee

After successfully planning the Homecoming dance last Saturday, November 8, the social committee, headed by Dick Flicker has started work on the Christmas formal which will be held December 6.

The Homecoming dance climaxed the events of the weekend, which started Friday night. It was held at Alexander gymnasium and a crowd of about seven hundred students and alumni attended. The gym was decorated with blue and white streamers over all the walls, and the bandstand was decorated with a large facsimile of the dance program, which added to the general look of festivity.

The chaperones of the dance were President and Mrs. Nathan Pusey, Dean and Mrs. Donald Du Shane, Mr. and Mrs. George Walter, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Heselton and Mr. and Mrs. John Sines.

The Homecoming dance committee consisted of sixteen people with Bernette Carlson and Vern Haack as co-chairmen. This hard working group made the plans for the dance and saw to the decorations.

Lawrence Plays Host to Future Freshman Women

She is no relation to her "twin-brother," Bob Chapman.

Durward Gauthier was valedictorian of his class in Oconto, Wis. He is majoring in math, too. A Beta pledge, he worked on the dragon float that took second in the Homecoming parade. Dur plays football and gets extra exercises by carrying trays at Sage, which, he said, "naturally I enjoy!" Lawrence to him is a "mighty fine place."

Christine Lipps thinks she will major in modern languages, and is plowing through the year taking French and German simultaneously. She played in interclass hockey and also for the independents, and is a member of S. C. A. She sings at the Episcopal Church, but otherwise is "terribly unmusical." Incidentally, she holds the enviable job of being one of the waitresses at Ormsby! The careers conference interested her very much, and she would like to do something in connection with that in the future. She shares the general enthusiasm for Lawrence, for she said "I like it a lot," but also regrets the fact that there is too much else to do. She graduated from Oak Park High school with honors, the fifth or sixth in her class but typing was her weakness.

Bob McCoy, about 23 in his high school class in Elgin, Ill., is here for pre-med studies. He is on the union committee, freshman chorus, is a Phi Delt pledge, and "plays bridge—poorly." (The unanimous opinion of his buddies who supported him during the interview. Bob says he is the "unversatile type," but it must pay off. He likes Chemistry and thinks Lawrence is a "good place." (Although his Ormsby fans were right on hand with their cameras while he was being interviewed, a picture does not accompany this article.)

The sophomores who won scholarships their freshman year are Elizabeth (Buzz) Forster, Alice K. Becker, Shirley Hanson, and Carl Laumann.

Buzz is president of the Spanish club, secretary-treasurer of I. R. C., chairman of Sigma, chapter historian of KD, and a member of French Club. She is from La Grange, Illinois.

Carl won his letter in golf last year is "Ariel" photographer, and a Phi Delt. He is from Milwaukee. Last spring he won the President's cup, given to the best all-around freshman man.

Alice K. Becker is from Lombard, Ill. She is on the Lawrentian staff.

Maesch Plays In Milwaukee

Emmanuel Presbyterian church in Milwaukee will be the scene of an organ recital by La Vahn Maesch, professor of organ at the conservatory, tomorrow. The concert will be presented under the auspices of the American Guild of Organists in which Mr. Maesch is an associate.

As his program Mr. Maesch will present Herbert Howell's "Psalm Prelude," a group of chorale preludes by Bach and Flor Peeters, a group of compositions by Seth Bingham, and "Tocatta" by Percy Whitlock.

Kilinsky Recital to be Postponed Until Dec. 4

A violin recital by Eugene Kilinsky, assistant professor of violin at the conservatory of music, originally scheduled for Sunday, November 16, will be postponed until Thursday evening, Dec. 4. The recital of Harold Green, fourth on the list of Sunday evening faculty recitals, will be given on November 23. Jean Trautman, contralto, is to assist Mr. Green.

in Spanish Club, on properties for the play, KD cultural program chairman, and played KD hockey.

Shirley Hanson, from Algoma, is managing editor of the "Lawrentian," on the editorial board of the "Contributor," in the concert choir, a member of Sigma, is a proctor at Peabody, and activities chairman for Kappa Alpha Theta. She also won a Pepsi-Cola Scholarship.

Maurice Brown, Nancy Kingsbury, Mary Hartzell, and Joan Heller, (who had only one year at Lawrence,) were the winners from the present junior class.

Maurice is editor-in-chief of the "Lawrentian," a member of the concert choir, Art Association, and Phi Delta Theta. His home is Batavia, Ill.

Nancy is also on the "Lawrentian staff," and is in Spanish Club and I. R. C. She comes from St. Charles, Ill.

Mary Hartzell, Minneapolis, Minn., is secretary of S. C. A., secretary of K. D., feature editor of "the Lawrentian," president of the Methodist youth fellowship, chairman of the rules committee for the executive committee, on the editorial board and in other clubs.

These are records for the four freshmen to live up to, and on top of all the extra-curricular activities, a 2.25 average must be kept up or else the scholarship isn't continued the next year.

VA No Longer Requires Vets Earning Report

New Policy Put Into Effect for Paying Veterans Allowances

Veterans studying full time in colleges and universities under the G-I Bill will no longer have to make periodic reports of earnings, Veterans administration announced today.

The new plan is part of VA's program to streamline procedure for paying subsistence allowances to these veterans. It is designed to save considerable time and money by eliminating the need for processing more than 2,500,000 report forms during the coming school year.

VA adopted the new policy after a survey showed that not more than one per cent of the veterans in full time college training reported any difference between their estimated earnings and actual income during a school year.

Veterans entering full time training in institutions of higher learning under the G-I Bill this fall will estimate their earnings from productive labor for the full period of their enrollment when they register. The amount of their subsistence allowances will be based on these estimates.

The rate of payment will be authorized for the full enrollment period certified to VA by the institutions and will remain unchanged unless subsequent evidence justifies an adjustment.

VA will require no further report of earnings except in those cases where it is indicated that the veterans' earned income is in excess of their estimates.

Previously, veterans estimated their earnings when they enrolled. They then were required to report their actual earnings once each semester for that period. These reports were checked against the amount of subsistence authorized to determine if the combined earnings and subsistence were within the limits prescribed by Public Law 679 of $175 a month for veterans without dependents and $200 for veterans with one or more dependents.

The new policy applies only to veterans in full time courses in institutions of higher learning, which include colleges, universities, professional or technological schools, teachers colleges, normal schools and junior colleges.

For veterans taking part time courses in these schools or full time or part time courses in other schools, such as business colleges, secondary or elementary schools, vocational and trade schools and technical institutes that operate on a term or semester basis, the earning reports will be required at least once a semester.

Veterans enrolled in full time or part time courses in institutions not on a term or semester basis, but which permit students to complete the prescribed courses when they can, will continue to report their earnings in the same manner as they have in the past.

Painful Paunches? Plague Has Hit; Coeds Offer Cures

BY ANN KOMPASS

England had the bucolics; Germany had the measles; but Brokaw has The Plague. What is this mysterious malady which has struck with terrifying quickness? What is this disease which has affected only those eating in the Brokaw dining room? (Especially the breakfast of Nov. 5.) What are the symptoms?

From one who knows, and I write in the first person, the symptoms, or symptom is a most peculiar feeling which appears in the pit of the stomach. The feeling gradually increases in strength until a climax is reached. This is accompanied by a short rapid trip, depending on the room one occupies. (The people at the other end of the hall usually have a pretty rough time.) This part of the sickness is referred to as "heaveoplexy." As a protective and reassuring measure, many prefer to have a large metal container placed by the bedside. (Until the maid needs it, that is.) Another phase of the disease is known as "trotosis."

About the only cure is bed rest, supplemented by some sort of vile pink liquid from a brown bottle. (The infirmary reports that nearly 2 large economical bottles of some were emptied on Nov. 6. Belling's was doing a mighty fine business.) The liquid is dispensed and used or thrown away, in one way or another at the patient's disposal.

During the convalescence diet is of prime importance. Although they may not look large, portions of bland food, in some cases served in bed, are the most beneficial aids.

Frat Houses Ward Off Girls' Charge

The inhabitants of Ormsby and the fraternity houses were forced to take defensive action Monday night, when an army of freshman girls attacked at eight o'clock. Having successfully pelted several Ormsby entrants with hard, well-placed snowballs, the offensive climaxed its strategical movements with the throwing of even more harmful snowballs against the lighted windows of the dorm. Since a very small and very inadequate defense was made, a truce was declared. The victors proceeded to a new battleground, the Quad, where they encountered a rather vigorous opposition. Because some of the frats were holding pledge classes that evening, the opposition was increased in size as well as in strength. Weakened somewhat by numerous face washings and slushy bombardments from the balconies, the girls retreated to Sage, where they were slightly protected by the pillars. The defensive (?) gave a count of ten. At the end of the count, the once victorious little band, dodging enemy missiles, made a wild, scattered dash for home. Their inglorious return was marked by defeated expressions and a generally sloppy appearance.

Baked potatoes, cold toast, boiling tea, and custard are the diet's basis.

What the source of the illness is, no one has been able to determine. It may strike at almost any time of day . . . or night. According to thoroughly reliable sources, some 71 cases in Brokaw alone were reported the p. m. of Nov. 6 and although this number has been reduced, they are still succumbing. Peabody and Park house have not been neglected.

Groups Resume Parties After Gala Homecoming

Saturday night won't be the loneliest night in the week as far as the Phi Deltas, Betas and Sig Eps are concerned; all three have formals scheduled for that night.

The Greeks are also looking forward to snow sculpturing when the flakes fly a bit thicker, to formals, parties and teas.

Phi Delta Theta

Roy VandeBerg and Cal Stowell head the social committee in charge of the Phi Delt formal Saturday night at Knights of Pythias hall.

The Phi Delt open house after the game last Saturday featured the interesting program of Jack Staley, magician.

Beta Theta Pi

For their formal with the Sig Eps tomorrow night at Rainbow Gardens the Betas have announced the following committees: John Gueinzus is chairman of the social committee with the assistance of Bill Brown, Jim Richards, Frank Sanders, Jim Dawson and Bill Firehammer. Co-chairmen of the decorations committee are Bob Brebner and Jerome Eigenberger with Bob Sperry, Bill Bowman and Jim Heinrich helping them.

Three engagement announcements highlighted homecoming weekend. Best wishes to John Forde and Jane Frank; Duke Ruppenthal and Lillian Jones; and Larry Storms and Agatha Quinn.

Officers of this year's pledge class are: Frank Parker, president; Don Larson, vice president; and Bill Herold, acting secretary.

Sigma Phi Epsilon

The Sig Eps will be seen at their formal with the Betas Saturday night at Rainbow Gardens.

Congratulations to Jay Mattick, recently engaged to DG Mary Hartquist.

Delta Tau Delta

The Delta chapter will be the guests of the University of Wisconsin Delt chapter for the Wisconsin-Michigan game at Camp Randall this weekend.

The Press Box

By "Dutch" Bergmann

BY DUTCH BERGMANN

When you speak of football in the Midwest conference you might as well say "Lawrence." In the past three conference football campaigns the Vikes have so dominated the picture that the other eight schools have hardly had a chance. No coach in the conference has had such a wealth of material and no coach has used it to such great advantage as Bernie Heselton has during this period. In all, Heselton-coached teams have played on Whiting field for eight seasons and four of those seasons have seen championships come to Lawrence. No other coach in the conference has such a fine record and it will no doubt be some time, if ever, before this showing can be matched.

Although it will be hard to make any predictions about Vike football prospects for next season until next September, it is certain that another great team wearing Blue and White will take the field. Returning from the present team will be Forbush, Buesing, Boya, McClellan, Potter, Kuester, Hubers, Hunger and Nelson in the backfield while Pauer, Landsberg, Chamberlain, Radtke, Strutz, Ziebell, West and Holway will be around for a lot of line play. Besides these men there will be many fine additions to the squad from this year's freshman team. This year's iron squad won one game and tied another, the latter against Ripon on the Redmen's field, and indications are that many returning lettermen will have to work hard to hold their positions when these men report for the varsity squad.

Statistical Record

This year's team, although it lost one conference game, had one of the finest statistical records of any team that ever represented Lawrence. On the ground the '47 Vikes piled up 2223 yards from scrimmage or an average of 177 per game while holding opponents to 381 yards from scrimmage or an average of 47 yards per game. In the passing department the team ran up a total of 399 yards or 49 yards per game while holding opponents to a total of 371 yards and 46 yards per game. An interesting note about these passing statistics is that Knox contributed 139 yards, or better than one third of the opponents' total.

There is no finer pair of tackles in the league than Butch Bahnson and Don Pauer, and Curry is certainly hard to beat in the guard department. Bill Burton, a second string "all" selection last year, probably rates as the best defensive end in the circuit while Joe Moriarty is right behind him and even better as a pass receiver. Landsberg and Larson played a lot of ball all season and although a little smaller than the rest of the line they got more than their share of tackles.

No other team in the conference had half the backfield talent that the Vikes had at their disposal. Don Boya is certainly the outstanding quarterback in the conference and, although a little small as college gridders go, he ranks among the Lawrence great as far as blocking is concerned. Reed Forbush at right half is another outstanding blocker and runner and a very hard driver. He always made a yard or two after he was hit.

At the tailback spot Dick Flom was the team's best all around handy man, handling most of the passing duties and a lot of running, but the man who really took the spotlight in the latter department was Don Hubers. Don didn't come into his own until mid-season, but once he got going he was certainly as good a running back as any in the circuit.

It's too bad that the three best fullbacks in the conference all have to be playing for the Vikings. No other team had men that could hit a line like Buesing, McClellan, and Kuester. Since the All-conference fullback will have to be one of these three I'll start the ball rolling by picking Buesing, but I wouldn't feel too bad if one of the other two got the call.

Although it's a little early to think about all-Americans I'd like to mention a few that seem headed that way at this point in the '47 grid season. John Lajack of Notre Dame; number one "T" formation quarterback in the country and a great passer; Bob Chappuis of Michigan; best back in the Big Nine and one of the best passers in the country; George Conner of Notre Dame; although slightly injured for most of the season has been playing a lot of ball at a tackle post; Len Ford of Michigan; one of the best defensive ends in the business, he also carries the ball on Michigan's famed end around play; Tony Minisi of Pennsylvania; sparking the Quakers to one of their best seasons, with his fine running and passing from a halfback post; and Leo Nomellini of Minnesota; mainstay of the Minnesota line, he is one of the best Gopher guards in recent history.

Sines Prepares Cagers For Mission House Tilt

For about three weeks now, Coach John Sines has been putting several basketekers through a conditioning process in preparation for the opening game of the season against Mission House at Alexander gymnasium, November 22. This past week marked the return of several lettermen who have been busy helping Coach Heselton bring home the football championship for the third successive time.

It is still too early to determine just how the team is shaping up, and Sines, aware that Dick Miller will be sorely missed at forward along with "Billy Gene" Davis, who played a lot of center last year, is not making any rash predictions. He has a nucleus of last year's letter-winners in Larson,

Thurs., Nov. 6—North (10)-Ormsby III (0).

In the game played November 5, North house beat D.L.B.C., 14-6. D.L.B.C. held North by a lead of 6 points up to the last minutes of first half. Grode pushed over for a touchdown and the extra point was made by Kunkel. At the half, the score was 7-6 in favor of North. D.L.B.C. played hard to keep the score down but Grode was good again on a long run in the beginning of second half. The extra point was made on a line play.

North House won again the next day when they beat Ormsby III by the score of 10-0. North played hard to keep up the no loss record. Vessey, Grode, Diem and Kunkel are the big four of the North house team.

Phil Montross of Ormsby III went for a long pass and made it but his team wasn't successful in pushing over. In the second half Dick Taira centered in just about every play, especially on short spot passes, keeping North worried all through the game. On an interception Taira went deep into North territory, but on a pass play Ormsby III was caught behind the goal for another safety, giving North a 10-0 lead.

Phil Montross came through on an interception but lost it again to Hank Campbell on another interception.

The Greek touch football activities were brought to a halt last Thursday afternoon. The Delts defeated the Independents, the Betas lost to the Phi Delts, and the Sig Eps beat the Phi Taus. The final standings find the Delts in first place, and the Sig Eps and the Phi Delts are in a deadlock for the second slot.

As promised last week, we, of this interfraternity sports column, have picked an All Interfraternity Team. In fact, we have picked a first and second team and a coach for this team.

 With the football season over, the Greek's interest now turns toward volleyball and basketball. The Betas are the defending champions in volleyball, while the Phi Delts won the basketball crown last winter.

The point total in the race for the supremacy cup shows the Delts in the lead with 300 points, while the Phi Delts and Sig Eps each have 150 points as the result of their tie for second place.

The Lawrence Vikings won their third straight Midwest Conference football championship last Saturday by completely outclassing a highly regarded Beloit team 34-0. The Vikes seemed to hold all of the cards from the opening kick-off and the visiting Blue Devils of Beloit never did show any of their vaunted T-Formation power. The game was the last for the fine '47 team and marked the end of college football competition for three of the Viking line stars.

The Beloit team led by Ralph Habberstadt and Bob Jansen, star halfback and all-conference tackle respectively, was able to gain a net of less than fifteen yards through the Lawrence line. The famous "T" plays with two and three backfield laterals that the Devils had used so effectively against Carleton the week before did not once fool the hard charging Lawrence line. Time and again the Beloit backs were cut down before they could reach the line of scrimmage as the Lawrence line all but moved the opposition off the field.

The Lawrence attack worked smoothly throughout the game with Don Hubers, Ralph Buesing, Dick Flom, George McClellan and Reed Forbush all pounding out sizeable gains whenever yards were needed. Hubers contributed the best run of the day on an outside play in the third quarter when he carried forty odd yards to the Beloit five.

The Vikes had the winning touchdown across the Beloit goal before five minutes of the game had been played and then continued to insure their victory with four more. The score at half time was 21-0, and at the end of the third quarter the home team led 27-0.

The victory gave Lawrence a record of five wins against conference teams and automatically made the Vikes champions on a percentage basis. At this writing the final conference standings are not available but they will be printed next week along with a complete statistical record of the present football campaign for Lawrence. Two conference games remain on the schedule for other teams.

Walter Praises Freshman Team

Freshman football coach George Walter expressed belief this week that the material graduating into Lawrence varsity ranks is some of the best to turn up in the college's history.

The frosh mentor, in a review of the junior Vike's six week season, gave particularly high praise to the 47 promising gridders for the fine squad spirit they developed in that brief time. Their two game schedule was climaxed November 3 by a 14-0 win over Carroll freshmen. They had tied earlier with Ripon, 7-7.

Coach Walter declared that, "If the fellows on this year's freshman team continue their interest in football, the great majority of them will, at some time in their college careers, play on the varsity."

"Some with extraordinary ability, of course, will play on the first team sooner than others." He listed several of these: Chuck Knoedler, Dick Ristau, Phil Haas, Bob McCabe, Don Exner, Bob Sorenson, Don Helgeson, Fred Harker, Dar Vriesman, Hub Moody, Jim Polivka, D'Arcy Leck, Denney Seymour, Chuck Williams, George Stone, and Allan Hallock.

Several linemen, because of the large squad and only two games, did not have a real opportunity to reveal their possibilities. Many are expected to play some fine football before graduation.

Choose Varsity Hockey Team

BY SUE CORY

Last week the class and varsity hockey teams were chosen. To be eligible for either team a girl must have participated in three out of a possible four games. The girls were chosen on the basis of their abilities and skill in the game. The following girls were chosen for varsity: Nan Ballou, Jean Brevik, Sue Cory, Vivian Grady, Lenore Hooley, Nancy Ritter, Jane Straub, Betty Van Horne, Jean Watt and Margaret Wolf.

The following girls were chosen for class teams. On the freshman team are Mary Grassold, Cathryn Masterson, and Janice Mannix. Sophomores are Audrey Halldorsen, Mel Jensen, Elizabeth Forster, Nancy Jung, and Dee Drake. The seniors are Gloria Pepoon, Sally Wood, Anita Peterson, Alice Rositer, and Lucy Kuepper.

After tying the Pi Phi hockey team three consecutive times the D.G.'s finally showed themselves to be the better team by handing the Pi Phi's a 6 to 0 beating on November 5. The first three tie games were very exciting and those who came out to cheer for their respective teams saw some fine playing by both teams.

The final game, however, was decidedly one-sided, with the D.G.'s down in Pi Phi territory most of the time. Nancy Ritter, playing her usual fine game as center forward for the D.G.'s, socked in 5 out of their 6 goals. Betty Dite, another forward, scored the other point during the first half of the game.

The results of this game put the Pi Phi's in third place in the hockey tournament, and the D.G.'s and Thetas will play for first and second place.

This month's library display concerns the many publications of the government printing office, the nation's number one publisher.

The government is prepared to answer almost any reasonable question through such publications as "A Report of the Investigation of the Pearl Harbor Attack," which sells at $40.00 per set of thirty-nine volumes, and its all time best seller, "Infant Care," issued by the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor and is selling at ten cents per copy.

For the student, there are publications in nearly all fields covered by the college curriculum. In the fields of economics there are "The Monthly Labor Review," and the economic series which contains material relating to general economic conditions and finance in the United States and foreign countries, and many other periodicals and books on economic policy and planning.

One of the more popular fields of government publishing is for the hobbyist. Here we have two best sellers: "A Description of United States Postage Stamps, 1847-1947," and "Basic Photography," as well as "Rural Handicrafts, Woodworking and Furniture Repair," "Fundamentals of Radio" and many others.

An examination of the titles on display in the library will indicate at least a portion of the vast scope of government publications.

Ripon Bows Before Lawrence Hockey Team

Ripon's women's hockey squad succumbed 2-0 to a fighting Lawrence eleven that traveled down there last Sunday. Miss Richardson and Miss Coffey of the physical education department, and Miss Swift of the library accompanied the local contingent.

After playing hockey the girls played badminton, had dinner in the Union, and toured the campus before returning home.

Sollers Working on Details Of Izzy Gomez' Tavern

Authenticity is the watchword of John Ford Sollers, technical director of the Lawrence college theater, in designing the set for "Time of Your Life" which will be given in Memorial chapel on November 20 and 21.

This is the second time Sollers has designed a set for this production, the first was in the summer of 1946 when he was on the staff at the Stanford university theater.

Saroyan's play is set in Nick's Pacific Street' Saloon and Entertainment Palace." The author is supposed to have had in mind an actual saloon, frequented by newspaper men—Izzy Gomez' place in San Francisco. When Sollers designed his first set at Stanford, he made a trip to San Francisco, visiting Izzy Gomez's for local color.

Izzy was no longer alive, but the traditions were still kept up, Sollers states, "Saroyan's picture hung over the bar, next to a stuffed alligator, and a photo of Walter Winchell, who visited the place when West, was at one end. There were murals on every available wall, mostly featuring Izzy himself, who apparently was a Gargantuan figure and who wore a large black hat. There was even a circular painting of him on the ceiling. Unlike Saroyan's setting, however, there was no stage for entertainment, and no piano."

One of the problems in designing the set is the number of gadgets on stage: a bar, a juke box, a piano, a pin-ball machine and a pay phone. Tom Dietrich, instructor in art, is painting the murals.

New lighting equipment of the latest design has been purchased over the summer, and will be used for the first time on this production.

Coeds Run Riot as Wild Tiger Chases Campus Beauties

CALLED BY THE REFEREE

Peabody's efforts in the homecoming decorations department last weekend were laudable, but Brokaw's were better. So said the judges. So disagreed Schuey, Peabody housemother. Rather than have her darlings go empty-handed, she donated her own trophy. Inscription: "The Judges Stink" trophy, donated by your loving mother, Schuey, 1947." Well, we were amused.

Last Saturday was mighty cold, too much so for one flower of the old South-Wisconsin. She listened to the annual Lawrence classic enconced with cigarette and coke near radio. But when her football-hero date discussed the afternoon's events that evening, he felt his audience of one had been among the lusty throng at Whiting field. And so she was! Her mittens, ski pants, snow boots, and sweater adorned as many different spectators.

Motion before the house. One son of old Lawrence, filled with lofty ideals, suggested that things as homecoming floats could be dispensed with and the money ordinarily contributed to such enterprises could be dumped into the coffers of world relief. On third thought, it isn't such a lousy idea.

Tuesday is faculty day at the little gym. Mental exercise gives way to physical anguish as the intelligentsia sail through several fast games of volleyball. So it went in theory. But in actuality few if any from the faculty appeared all year; so this week the girls took over that afternoon. You guessed it! Mr. McConagha showed, brief case in hand, looking bewildered, ready for action.

Van Sings, South Swoons; Makes Good Show, Anywa

BY DON JONES

Rio: "The Romance of Rosy Ridge" Wed.-Sat.

Van Johnson returns to Appleton in this film looking as pretty as ever, only this time he makes an attempt at acting. The film may sound like a love story from its title, but to the contrary, it deals with the period following the Civil War when people were readjusting. They had to readjust even in 1865! Our hero, who plays the guitar and sings mountain tunes, rolls into the area as a school teacher. People are naturally interested in his sympathies—"Are you blue or grey?" He keeps them all guessing and manages to stay away from a Congressional hearing by being a shade of blue-grey. Later on he shows his true colors and goes about stopping people from burning barns. Since this can be called a sample of the "new Van Johnson" and since the story is not dull, it makes good viewing.

Appleton: "Marked Woman" Fri.-Wed.

"Dust Be My Destiny"

These two are reissued films, so it is hard for us to speak of them from first hand knowledge. Bette Davis, and Humphrey Bogart are starred in "Marked Woman," which deals with a moll who exposes a racket and is then marked. John Garfield, who usually does his best with what he is given, appears in "Dust Be My Destiny." It seems to us that this was a novel, but our reading interest in 1936 centered on "Winnie the Pooh." They should both be interesting to see because the stars were just beginning and hadn't as yet been typed.

Elite: "The Yearling" Tues.-Sat.

After the following which the novel of the same name had, and after the huge build-up which this film was given by advertisements it seems unnecessary to say any more. "The Yearling" is a tender story of a boy and a young deer in the wilds of Florida. To make a beautiful story more beautiful, the story is filmed in technicolor. Another good feature about this showing is the fact that "The Yearling" is being shown as a single feature—quite a relief from most of the grueling double-features.

Liberal Element in Europe Illustrated by Czech Student

The following excerpts were taken from letters of a Czechoslovakian student at the University of Prague. They express the attitude of the liberal element in eastern Europe, and have been echoed by other sources in nearby nations.

"You cannot be astonished if we are greater friends with Russia than with the western states which betrayed us so terribly in 1938 in Munich. When America and Great Britain support Germany instead of the liberated countries . . .

"I must smile a little when Truman is very angry with the evolution of the political situation in Hungary. I am not astonished at all with the contemporary situation in Hungary, a state in which up to this time a few families owned all the fields, forests, and meadows; where 95%-98% of the people had either nothing, or else a piece of field that could not nourish the family. And he speaks about communist revolution and interference of USSR. . . . How am I to characterize the changes in France, where communists were excluded from the government in spite of the fact that they were the greatest political party, and in Italy where both communists and socialists were excluded from the government? Behind these actions was to be seen the influence of American and English capitalists. . . .

"And still something. Now in Europe there is increasing the idea of the danger of the next war. But tell me, please, which state would wish to fight again. . . . I don't wish it to anybody, but it is a great pity that America did not become acquainted with all the dangers of the war, that it is not possible for you to see the disturbed countries, burned out towns and villages. . . .

"As to your papers. We laugh heartily at this propaganda about what happens in our county — I mean revolutions and so on. That it is not true, I hope I need not repeat. I answer you with the words of Professor Mathieson (of Harvard), who will have lectures on America at our University. 'I am here for only three or four days, but I must say that this talking about the iron wall is the greatest lie I ever heard in my life.' . . ."

Cornell Wins Cross Country

Running into a brisk northerly in five inches of snow, Harris of Cornell romped to an easy victory, as his team walked away with top honors at the Mid-West conference meet held at Carleton, Saturday.

Carleton was second and Lawrence third. All other Midwest conference Schools by passed this meet because of the tough competition.

This coming Saturday the Vikes will oppose the Black and Gold of Beloit here, which will probably mark the end of the cross country season.

The team scores were:

Cornell—26

Carleton—41

Lawrence—53

Grinnell—No score (not a full team)

our team is tops, but oh, brother, what a pep band!

After one of the most bitterly contested championships in years, the Vikings clinched the Midwest football crown by beating a heavy Beloit team last Saturday. The Lawrence team came back after an upset at the hands of a stepped-up Knox eleven to win their third consecutive title.

In their play, the Vikings showed the smoothness and finesse that is possible only when a team is working together. Lawrence students can be proud to have been represented on the football field by a team which has as much perseverance, skill and mutual co-operation as the 1947 Viking team possessed.

Lawrence students can be proud of their football team, also, because each player is playing for the fun of the game and for its innate rewards, not for pay, unlike most of the country's better-known sports circuits. The Midwest conference has kept its hands off of commercialized football in favor of sports participation for the sake of the game.

Perhaps an even more striking success was scored by the Lawrence college pep band—the first really successful pep band Lawrence has had for some time. The musicians were the main factor in this year's pep program. The added zest and spirit which the band gave the games helped the team to play harder and helped the spectators to yell louder.

The success of the band was due to the interest of each musician and to his realization that a pep band is a valuable addition to a football game. Ralph Rothe, who directed the band, has kept this interest up and encouraged participation.

Although the band has gained little recognition from anyone except perhaps the players themselves, it did receive help from the "L" club in the form of badly needed uniforms, and from the executive committee in the form of $25 worth of music.

Although the members of the pep band would probably prefer the personal thanks of Lawrence college students to the printed thanks of the "Lawrentian," we think that we speak for the students when we say thanks for a fine football season.

Weaker Sex Wards Off Night Raid

Sage hall had its yearly scare Sunday night when a prowler attempted to break into the dorm.

Strange noises under her window alerted a first floor resident at 1:00 a. m. Unable to notice anything from her own window, she raced into the parlor to get a better view. Seeing a young man stealthily tiptoeing across the drive towards a ladder which was propped up against the wall between two windows, she raised a parlor window and, in a low voice, told him to clear out. The man took her advice quickly and streaked across the street past the Sig Ep house.

The Appleton police, summoned a few minutes later, arrived too late to catch the would-be intruder, but they promised to keep a close check hereafter on Sage hall.

it's the same old problem, but here is a positive and personal answer!

Enrollment of Veterans Now At Highest Peak

Gettysburg, Pa. —(I.P.)— Indication that the wave of veterans who are enrolling in college is reaching its crest was given in an analysis of the current enrollment of Gettysburg college, which was released here by the college's registrar, Charles R. Wolfe.

Computation of the college's 1,202 registrars, who represent the largest enrollment in the history of this typical small liberal arts college, ascertained that a total of 136 non-veteran students entered during the September registration period as against a total of 114 veterans who entered the college for the first time during the same period.

Seventy other veterans were admitted to the college for the past summer session and have been accepted for the present academic year. These 70 veterans have not been tabulated with the new veteran registrars. Only a few non-veteran students entered the college for the summer session.

Assembling all of these facts, Registrar Wolfe showed that veteran enrollment is not declining but that it has nearly reached the peak of its intensity. "Veteran and non-veteran enrollments are just beginning to progress on the same level," he said.

Male students likewise outnumber coeds on this campus with a total of 1,024 male students as against 178 coeds. There are about 150 married students attending the college.

"I need not tell you gentlemen that the world situation is very serious. That must be apparent to all intelligent people. I think one difficulty is that the problem is one of such enormous complexity that the very mass of facts presented to the public by press and radio make it exceedingly difficult for the man on the street to reach a clear appraisal of the situation. Furthermore, the people of this country are distant from the troubled area of the earth, and it is hard for them to comprehend the plight and consequent reactions of the long-suffering peoples, and the effect of those reactions on their governments in connection with our efforts to promote peace in the world."

These remarks opened the address given on June 5, 1947 by Secretary of State George C. Marshall. From the speech grew the European Recovery Program, the actuation of the "Marshall Plan." These remarks are also pertinent to the students and faculty of Lawrence College today. For Lawrentians are taking hold of the idea that they too can do something to help the peoples of Europe—now.

All of us are aware that this winter Europe will be cold and starving. We all, regardless of our personal opinions on the pros and cons of the recovery program, and our political views, know, that we must help a fellow human being in his need. But what can a man do?

A committee of students and faculty has an answer. They believe that Lawrence should, beginning now, aid a group, most like ourselves. That is a college group in Europe. We should adopt this group and to the best of our ability see them through the rest of the school year. Seeing them through involves: first, food; second, clothing; third, supplies; fourth, understanding and encouragement.

To do this Lawrence students should be willing to make a personal sacrifice—of some small luxury every week. A pack of cigarettes, a malt, a movie, a few beers—this weekly sacrifice on the part of every student will result in a surprisingly adequate sum of money. When translated into necessities—fats, flour, sugar, tea, coffee—it will mean the difference between a state of semi-starvation on one hand and the physical strength to attack the problem at hand on the other.

The editorial board is behind this program. But only alert, informed college citizens can fully realize the vast and far-reaching implications, of the entire aid effort. We pledge ourselves to keep you informed on the program and urge you to pledge yourselves to support Lawrence's program through your personal sacrifices, influence and humanity.

THANK YOU "L" CLUB

Your appreciation of our efforts to help back the best team in the conference could have been expressed in no better way than in providing us with jackets to wear at the games.

We'd also like to thank Dr. Pusey and Mr. Denney for their interest in our group, and Mr. Dietrich for drawing the design for our insignia. Thanks to Bill Burton and the executive committee for having the insignia put on the jackets and for their support this year.

THE PEP BAND.

plans for european aid are still the big question

BY BOB FRENCH

European Recovery

The administration's basic recommendations for a long range "European Recovery Program" (its official title) have been formulated. The administration is studying the proposals made by the Paris Conference on the Marshall Plan. This study has been carried on by an inter-departmental committee of the State Department, made up of representatives from nearly every government agency concerned with foreign affairs.

In addition three special presidential committees have worked on the program. These committees are: (1) Krug's National Resources and Foreign Aid committee, (2) Nourse's Economic Advisory Council and (3) Harriman's Committee of Foreign Aid. The administration's basic recommendations will not endorse the specific aid total of $22,440,000,000 set out in the report of the Paris Conference on the Marshall Plan, but will ask Congress for $6 to $7 billion for the first year of the plan and a $3 billion European Stabilization Fund to be used if needed. Consumer rationing and price control will not be requested, but power to supervise exports and imports will be asked.

Republican Program

The Republican program has not been defined. Nevertheless, there were indications last week that the two targets of the Republicans would be: (1) to whittle down the over-all U. S. commitment, and (2) to insert rigid conditions in the loan agreements.

The secret of the atomic bomb "has long ceased to exist," foreign minister Molotov declared in a speech at the Moscow celebration of the thirteenth anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution. The kernel of his address was a repetition of attacks against "capitalists and imperialists," U. S. and Britain.

Elections:

Judge John C. Stannis was elected in Mississippi for the seat of the late Senator Bilbo. Representative Rankin, who promised to "out-Bilbo Bilbo" was far behind. Three cheers Kentucky, where the Democratic candidate was against and the Republican for the Taft-Hartley act, returned to the Democratic fold. Analysis of Tuesday's election indicates that the Republican trend of 1946 has been checked.

Former ambassador John G. Winant died at his home in New Hampshire from a self-inflicted bullet wound. His book, "Letters from Grosvenor Square" was published this week.

Harold E. Stassen's book "Where I Stand" will be published Thursday, November 13, and reviewed in the Sunday papers. May we suggest that after you have read L'il Abner, you look over these reviews.

Stanislaus Mikolajczyk, leader of the peasant party, reached London safely after having passed by "underground" through the Soviet zone of Germany in his escape from Poland.
