Artist Series To Offer 'Fledermaus' In Jarman

Opera To Feature English Translations

The National Grass Roots Opera Company will present Johann Strauss' "Fledermaus" in Jarman Hall auditorium of Longwood College on Wednesday, November 6. This will be the second event in the 1957-58 Farmville-Longwood College Artists Series, and will begin at 8 p. m.

The Company, whose homebase is in North Carolina, is in its ninth season of bringing live opera in English as enjoyable entertainment to the American public. In their national tours these young professional singers try to bring this form of music theater to small towns and colleges, thus earning their unique name, Grass Roots, meaning "down where the people are."

Formed in 1948, the National Grass Roots Opera Company gave its first performance during the 1949-50 season and since that time has delivered over 650 staged performances of opera, all sung in English. The fine English translations and the high standard of voice quality of the artists have established them as one of the finest groups of its kind.

All Artists Series programs are open to the public. Tickets are available through the College.

Princeton Author To Give Talk Here

Dr. Edward L. Hubler, associate professor of English at Princeton University, and an outstanding authority on Shakespeare, will speak on "Hamlet and the Nature of Comedy" in the Student Building Auditorium Thursday at 1 p. m.

A graduate of Wesleyan, where he received both his A.B. and M.A. degrees, Dr. Hubler received his Ph.D. at Princeton in 1934. He taught at Franklin and Marshall and at the University of Rochester before joining the faculty at the American Army Universities at Shrivenham, England and Biarritz, France. He did summer teaching at the Breadloaf School of English and the University of New Mexico.

A Noted Author

Dr. Hubler is the author of The Sense of Shakespeare's Sonnets. He co-edited with Thomas Marc Parrott and Robert S. Telfer, Shakespeare: Twenty-three Plays and Sonnets. He also co-edited with Parrott Shakespeare: Six Plays and Sonnets. At present he is working on an edition of Shakespeare's songs and poems.

Radio Program Features Activities

"Listening at Longwood," a radio program featuring various campus personalities and activities, is now heard at 4:15 p. m. each Wednesday over WFLO, the Farmville radio station.

Norrish Munson, a sophomore, and Cat Ozmon, a junior, take charge of this fifteen-minute show which opens with a news broadcast, followed by interviews. The first program featured Dean Ruth Wilson, and in the coming weeks the format will include an interview with Dr. Dabney S. Lancaster, President Emeritus, and highlights of such events as Convocation, Circus, and the Water Pageant.

This year more of the interviews will be taped to produce an "on the spot" effect. The girls talked with Miss Wilson in her office to secure the proper atmosphere. Cat and Norrish hope to bring to the attention of the student body the "extras" of the school year, those things often not known or fully realized by the majority of people.

The girls state that all suggestions will be most welcome.

Tomorrow President Lankford will attend the Annual Alumnae Tea in Richmond at the annual teachers' meeting of the Virginia Education Association.

VEA Convention Draws Professors

Longwood College music professor, Mrs. Mary Kemble, will address the Elementary School Music sectional meeting of the Virginia Music Education Association in connection with the Virginia Education Association at the annual convention in Richmond, this Friday. The topic of her discussion will be "How Good Is Your Music Program?"

Professor Kemble came to Longwood in September from the University of Maryland where she had been in charge of the Music Education program since 1948. Former experience in music education includes teaching public school music in Pennsylvania and New Jersey and directing the music program at the Salisbury (Md.) State Teachers College.

After receiving her undergraduate degree in Public School Music at the Mansfield, Pa. State Teachers College, Mrs. Kemble obtained her Master's degree in the field of music education at the University of Pennsylvania, and has been working toward a doctorate in Human Development Education at the University of Maryland.

She has held the office of secretary of the Maryland Music Educators Association and now serves as vice-president. She has been active as chairman of the Maryland Music in American Life Committee of the Music Educators National Conference and MENC committee on Music in Higher Education.

Others to Attend

Miss Mary Nichols, associate professor of English, and Dr. Edgar Johnson, professor of education, are the delegates for the local chapter who will bring back reports from the business meetings.

Miss Elizabeth Burger, associate professor of science, is president of the Longwood College chapter.

Matthews Chosen To Crack Whip For Approaching Circus Festival

CAROLE MATTHEWS, a sophomore from Salem, practices "cracking the whip" for Circus.

Sophomore to Star As Animal Trainer

With a crack of the whip by Carol Matthews, a sophomore from Salem, Circus festivities will officially begin here Saturday, Nov. 9 at 4 p. m.

"It's the first honor I have ever had that I have had to keep a secret," the newly selected Animal Trainer said, "and I've just been dying to tell somebody."

A worker on the freshmen float which won first place last year and an active participant in Circus activities, Carol has been named Animal Trainer for this year's Circus, "Say, Mr. Clown!" according to the annual Circus sponsor, Alpha Kappa Gamma.

"It just never occurred to me that I'd be given such an honor," Carol exclaimed. She admits that she did have some difficulty in explaining to her parents just what her duties would be as an "Animal Trainer."

To Lead Parade

As Animal Trainer, Carol will lead the opening parade featuring the class floats, circus animals on the horse-drawn wagons, clowns, students dressed in their class colors, and the Longwood band.

After marching down Pine Street to Route No. 460, the parade will proceed along Main Street and come back to the college campus. The Ring Master will announce the prize winning float later that evening as Circus reaches its climax in Jarman Hall.

"True Spirit of Longwood"

When asked what Circus at Longwood has meant to her, the new Animal Trainer answered, "I think Circus week end with all its activities express the true spirit of Longwood. When you hear the cheers of the different classes it gives you a pride you could get from no other school but Longwood!"

Student Government Representative

Representing her class on Student Government both this year and last year, Carol is also a member of H-20, Cotillion Club, and Alpha Sigma Tau, social sorority. She is a cheerleader this year. Her major study is biology.

At the present time Circus practices are now underway as each class prepares its own skit and float entries.

General chairman for Circus this year is June Strother, a senior from Colonial Heights. Miss Elizabeth Burger is faculty advisor for the honorary leadership society, Alpha Kappa Gamma, sponsor of the annual college tradition.

Repairs Completed In Academic Building

The remodeling of the first and second floors of the Academic Building, formerly known as the West Wing of Ruffner Hall, is now complete. The final inspection of the building was made Monday, October 28, by Frank G. Payne, of Thompson and Payne Architects.

Beginning in June, 1958, the third floor of the Academic Building will be converted into classrooms; and the first floor where the math and education classrooms are now located will also be remodeled.

It is also planned for the summer of 1959 to convert the second and third floors Tackey Alley to classrooms. An elevator and a new heating system are also planned for that part of the building. It is hoped that eventually the entire Ruffner Hall will be classrooms and administration offices.

Longwood Students To Participate In Collegiate Concert At Mosque

Voice students from 10 Virginia colleges will go to Richmond tomorrow to take part in the All-State College Choral Clinic to be directed by Dr. Helen M. Hosmer, of the Crane Department of Music, State University Teachers College, Potsdam, N. Y. The singers will give a concert in the Mosque at 8 p. m. on Friday to which the public is invited free of charge. Longwood students who will attend are Gay Allen, Ann Hart Hamrick, Elaine Weddle, Roselyn Eppes, Dorothy Marshall, Nancy Taylor, Ann Barnes, and Karen Potts. Mr. James McCombs will accompany the students.

The event is sponsored by the Music Education Association and the State Department of Education. This is the third annual clinic, held in connection with the Virginia Education Association. Rehearsals will be held Thursday afternoon and evening and Friday morning and afternoon, at the Jefferson Hotel.

Colleges Represented

Colleges represented include: Bridgewater, William and Mary, Hollins, Longwood, Madison, Mary Washington, Radford, University of Richmond, Randolph - Macon, and Richmond Professional Institute.

The chorus will sing nine numbers, the first five of which will be religious and the remaining four modern secular pieces. In the group are "Exultate Justi" by Viadana; "Crucifixus" from the Mass in B Minor by Johann Sebastian Bach; "Praise Ye the Lord" by Donato; "Elijah Rock," arranged by Hairston; "Oh Mistress Mine" by R. Vaughan Williams; "Felices Ter" by Thompson; "Clap Yo' Hands," Gershwin - Wood, and as a final offering, "Virginia, Our Virginia," by Greenwood.

ASA Selects Cover To Lead Activities

Mrs. Kathleen Cover, assistant professor of History and Social Sciences, has recently been selected as co-advisor of Alpha Sigma Alpha social sorority. She is assuming her duties of co-sponsorship with Miss Virginia Wall, who for several years has been advisor of the sorority.

Mrs. Cover returned in September after a year's leave of absence. Previous to that time, she served as advisor to Panhellenic Council of Longwood College. Since her return to Longwood, she has been selected as Freshman Class Sponsor and Co-sponsor of the Richmond Club.

Dutch Professor Joins Longwood Faculty; Enjoys "Casual American Way of Living"

Fulbright Recipient Teaches Biology Here

By LINDA DOLES

This fall we are fortunate to have on our campus one of the six Dutch professors in the United States, Dr. Jacobus Lodewijks.

The first biologist to be sent out from the Netherlands on the Fulbright teacher program, Dr. Lodewijks will be associated with Longwood's faculty for the 1957-58 session as an Assistant Professor of Biology.

This is Dr. Lodewijks' first trip to America and from his comments on the United States, especially about Virginia and Longwood, it is apparent that he is pleased to be able to teach here. The "easy, casual way of living" seems remarkable to him and he observed that "all these girls together or one by one are so friendly and kind, thinking of pleasures of other people. We in Holland think of American boys and girls as being superficial but they are not like that at all here in Virginia."

Describes Lyceum

The Lodewijks' home is in The Hague where the professor has been teaching biology in a Lyceum. Outlining Holland's educational system, he explained that a Lyceum is comparable to our high school but more on a junior college level. "The main difference I find here is that American biology students have less of a Indonesia, but grew up in Holland chemistry background than my old pupils." Otherwise, he has found classes to be very similar. Dr. Lodewijks was born in Java. (Continued on page 4)

Much Ado College Infirmary Report

While Asian flu "is widespread throughout the state," according to Dr. Mack I. Shanholtz of the State Health Department, our campus is experiencing only a mild incidence of flu here.

Reports from Dr. John G. Graziani, college physician, indicate that our infirmary has had an average of 35 bed patients during the past week. The highest number of students in the infirmary has been 44. At the present time, facilities on both the first and second floor of the infirmary are being utilized. Beds have also been set up in the sophomore rec, but these are being used by those who are convalescing. In addition to our regular infirmary staff, there are two other nurses working at this time.

Dr. Graziani explained that he could see no reason for the possible ordering of a quarantine at this time since most everyone here has already been exposed to the flu.

Considering flu epidemics on other campuses, President Lankford and Dr. Graziani concluded that our condition here is not very serious and that the number is very small here when compared to other colleges.

Meanwhile out at our neighboring college, Hampden-Sydney, the flu situation stepped into a "much ado about nothing" spotlight due to a false report released to the Richmond Times-Dispatch last Sunday. The report is untrue that the students were to be quarantined this week. The facts and figures given in the news story were not issued by their college physician, according to a report from President Roberts.

Free! Free! Yours For The Asking—Publicity

One of the major purposes of The Rotunda is to give coordination to all of our college activities. Your newspaper offers each organization the opportunity to give publicity through its facilities.

Most every organization on campus has a reporter. We are not necessarily asking that the reporters submit news stories, however we are asking that each reporter realize her duty of notifying our staff when there is need for a news release.

The Rotunda now has a very large staff, including many reporters. If an organization at any time would like for a reporter to follow up their activities in our paper, it would be very much help to us if someone would notify our news editor, Bet McLoughlin, or drop a notice in The Rotunda box. This is only an effort to make sure that our news staff gives adequate publicity to all of the organizations. Our editors cannot always know about everything that is taking place on campus.

It is our aim to increase interest in all activities here at Longwood, as well as The Rotunda. Any good leader of an organization should assume the responsibility of maintaining or creating interest in her organization. It is our duty to give full coverage, but we do need your help.

Your cooperation and support will be very much appreciated.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS BY BIVIER

Weekend Provides Parties; H-S College Attracts Most

By ERNESTINE STOLTZ

Pins are floating around once again! That's good, especially after last weekend when there were no reports of "pin-ships." Congratulations are in line for Jean Turner who sports a German Club pin from Rylan, from Va. Tech. Barbara Rossiter floated in with Bill Goodwin's PIKA pin Saturday night (or should we say... Sunday morning?).

University of Virginia

This was a busy weekend for the Longwood girls. Parties, parties, and more parties. At U.Va. Donna Boone, Wayne Boyden, Lynne McDade, Mary Lee Roach, Natalie Tudor, and Emily Irby were seen. Also Mary Flowers, Jane Callis and Vicki Graninger.

Betty Griggs and Linda Moore traveled down to VMI, and Vicki Brinkley went to Roanoke College.

Hampden-Sydney

On the home front, Hampden-Sydney Homecoming was the main attraction. The game and parties were thoroughly enjoyed as the undefeated Tigers racked up another victory over Johns-Hopkins. There was a "whole lot of shakin' goin' on" at the Theta Chi house, and those girls enjoying the festivities at the house on the corner were Shirley Saunders, June Lee May, Ann Glover, Merle Ridinger, Anne Keziah, Ernestine Stoltz, Shirley

The KA's rolled out the old welcome mat to Carole Manley Cat Ozman, Jackie Harper, Aggie Lowry, Cass Conner, Anne Adams, Ann Rountree, Judy Alexander, Peggy Dickerson, Emily Atkinson, Sara Gayhart, Brenda Drewy, Ann Scott, Mary Kay Browning, Barbara English, Nancy Baren, Nancy Knight, Ann McDonald, Barbara Simpkins, Audrey Brown, and Liz Mosteller.

The Kappa Sies welcomed Carolyn Crockett, Ann Norfleet, Kay Howard, Dottie Council, Sandra Snyder, Becky Wouldridge, Page Landers, Peggy Mullen, Sandra Cheatham, Charon Kelly, Brenda Green, Stephanie Besese, Carol McBoley, Lucy Wilson, Sharon Stout, Betty Chappell, Gaye Yates, Dottie Morris, Mary Ann Overholt, Pat Stout, Kit Warren, and Carolyn Ward.

It's Asiatic Flu!

(Editor's Note: The following poem, inspired by Susan Ritchie, comes from Madison's The Breeze.)

There's an epidemic loose
And spreading—it is true
No matter what your trouble is,
It's labeled "Asiatic Flu!"

Now some are willing to go on
In spite of this Waterloo;
But I'm going to take it easy
So I won't have the flu.

In history class I took no notes
In French and English, too
I couldn't do my homework
'Cause of Asiatic flu.

My psychology readings
will soon be due.
If only they would postpone them;
You know—there's that flu.

It's known that sleeping and eating
Are so good for you.
Ooops—there goes my diet;
But I don't want the flu!

Only one thing
Can I say makes me blue;
The chance of quarantine
Because of the flu!

(Oh, if only Asia knew
The symptoms and sufferings
we blame on flu!)

PEEK PREVIEW

In assembly next Tuesday each class will give a very brief glimpse into their secret skits for this year's Circus production, "Say, Mr. Clown!" A further touch of suspense is added as classes attempt to guess about the skits each class is now preparing for Nov. 9.

Lost Chords

By JOANNE FIVEL

Someone once said, "All the world loves a lover." All the world loves a love song as well. Some of the most beautiful music known to man are love songs.

The famous director of choral music, Robert Shaw, said, "Singing and love have gone hand in hand for many centuries and for many peoples. Somehow, song is a natural expression for man's deepest experiences, and when an artfully simple text is combined with a tune that sings itself, one man's love may become all men's delight." This statement can be proven by a close look at the record catalogues of today and yesterday.

Our parents listened for hours to such songs as "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," "The Indian Love Call," and "O Promise Me." Our own generation will probably in years to come recall fondly such songs as "Tammy," "An Affair to Remember," and "Love Letters in the Sand." Other types of love songs will always be favorites. The ballad "Annie Laurie" is of universal appeal.

One love song stands out as perhaps the most universal of all love songs. Grieg's I Love Thee, written for his wife, has attained a popularity envied by all modern composers. Most of the girls here at Longwood will want this beautiful song sung in their wedding ceremonies.

Many, many more of these love songs could be listed. Love, be it fictional or real, attracts the interest of man who often expresses this interest in song. These songs we will remember when their composers are long dead.

President Francis G. Lankford, Jr. was luncheon speaker at the East Tennessee Education Association meeting held Monday in Knoxville, Tenn. Dr. Lankford spoke on "Developing Independence in Arithmetic" based on research done before he left the University of Virginia.

Pendleton, Norrish Munson, Mary Ann Montague, Betsy Neal, Matilda Powell, Jane Freeman, Dot Brown, Kitty Good, and Emily Shelton. The Sigma Chi's opened their doors to Jo Bailey, Barbara Daniel, Helen Hillman, and Connie Hunt.

At the Lambda Chi house were seen Karen Potts, Norma Jean Johnson, Ruth Denton, and Sandra Stevens.

Juliet Robinson represented L.C. at the Independent house.

Backstage Work Increases As Fall Play's Date Nears

By CAT OZZION

Around Longwood, it seems you can always tell two specific seasons of the year; that is, Spring and Fall. To put it a little clear, if the weather weren't indicative of the season you could tell by the activities at Jarman Hall. Many is the time students have trudged by and seen the shop of Jarman open with voices ringing loud and clear saying, "The show must go on!" Then if one of the more curious of the student body veered off in that direction, determining to investigate, she would find Pat Walton amid braces, stocks of wood, nails and so on giving directions to approximately ten of her co-workers. All would be racing madly against time to get, at this time of the year, Fall Production underway.

Our curious student onlooker would hear, "No, that's not right. Look, 'Lady's' got to be perfect!" (Of course, anyone not knowing that "The Lady's Not for Burning" is the Fall Play would be lost in this conversation.)

Wandering on stage, Vicki Brinkon commiserating the many jobs that go into making a really great production. Each job, no matter how minute, is polished to perfection to give four nights of enjoyable, laughable entertainment. "Why laughable?" our onlooker asks.

As everyone gasps at this display of ignorance, "Haven't you heard?" someone says. "Our Fall Production is a comedy and a tremendously witty one at that!"

Now that our onlooker's curiosity increases, she starts counting the days until the 21st of November, which is the first performance, and figures there's only three and a half weeks left. With all her curiosity on edge, she rushes off madly to find out where she can purchase a ticket for this delightful comedy.

A bachelor is a man who never makes the same mistake once.

Sororities Pledge Twenty Initiates

Twenty upperclassmen recently pledged membership to six of the eight national social sororities on campus. They were:

Alpha Sigma Alpha, Katherine Bell, Frankie Click, Barbara Ensmann, and Jill Green; Alpha Sigma Tau, Mary Ann Montague; Delta Zeta, Jo Bailey, Mary Katherine Carr, Jean Dunagan, Marie Fisher, Betty Haley, Frances Harvey, Blanche Ingram, Kitty Watson, and Annie V. Weaver; Pi Kappa Sigma, Nadine Dazell, Emily Johnson, and Pat Mitchell; Sigma Sigma Sigma, Jo Lynn Holland; Theta Sigma Upsilon, Billie Jean Shores, and Alice Cheatwood.

Recent Graduates Receive Degrees

Longwood College, long known for its preparation of teachers for the public schools, has recently sent several of its graduates into college teaching. Beginning their first year as college instructors are Dorothy L. Rector, James Parker, and Georgie A. Gurney.

Dottie Rector, class of '56, studied at the University of Virginia last year for an M.A. degree in speech and drama and is now instructor in English at Roanoke College. She is now teaching three classes of Freshman English and one class in play production. She is also directing rehearsals for her first major production, "Tiger at the Gates" to be given at Roanoke in December.

James Parker, also of the class of '56, finished a master's degree in speech and drama at Virginia and is now assistant professor of speech and drama at Converse College, South Carolina. In addition to teaching courses in speech and play production, Jimmy is directing a play "Blithe Spirit" to be given in November.

A recipient of a Longwood master of arts degree, Mrs. Georgie A. Gurney is now assistant professor of English at the Clinch Valley College of the University of Virginia. This year she is teaching courses in freshman English and survey of English literature.

Church News

By BARBARA SIMPKINS

Baptist

The big news this week is the up-and-coming State Convention at Richmond. Over thirty people have signed up to attend a weekend of fun, fellowship, and inspiration. Many guest speakers will be there to deliver messages on the theme, "Christ — the Hope — In You."

Methodist

Sunday night, Nov. 3, at 7 p.m. the Wesley Foundation program will be held in the fellowship room. "Prayer" will be the main theme of the program, and Merle Ridinger will be in charge.

All those interested in bowling should meet at the Center on Monday, Nov. 4, at 7 p.m.

A prayer vigil will be held for twelve hours in the Prayer Room at the Center on Monday, Nov. 4. It will last from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. If you would like to take part, get in touch with Malinda Ayres.

Presbyterian

Sunday, Oct. 27, the program was given by Al Reynolds who gave a review of the book, Your God Is Too Small by J. B. Phillips. He presented several very challenging thoughts.

Bible Study will be held tonight at 7 p.m. at the church. We urge all to attend this as often as possible as it is a very interesting hour spent in discussion.

There will be a Council meeting Friday night at 7 p.m. at the church. If any members have suggestions, please give them to any council member.

We will meet with the other groups Sunday, Nov. 3 at 7 p.m. in the Episcopal church for the opening service of the Hampden-Sydney Religious Emphasis Week. Dr. Ber Lacy Rose of the Union Theological Seminary in Richmond will be the speaker.

We'll be looking for you at these meetings and those in the future. We need your support.

From The Gridiron Bleachers

By ANNE KEZIAH

Rah! Ray! Team! That was a familiar cry this last weekend as the state football teams commenced to play. Here's a report of the games, as far as I know.

Boy, there sure was a lot of yelling and partying going on at ole' Hampden-Sydney Saturday. Being homecoming weekend, you can imagine. Saturday afternoon, the Tigers ground out a 25-13 win over Johns-Hopkins for their fifth straight victory. This was really sweet revenge for the Tigers, as it was Johns-Hopkins who kept them from an undefeated season last year. There were really some nice plays during the game, too numerous to mention. And let me tell you, there was really a lot of celebrating done Saturday night.

Tech Downed by Florida State
Florida State University kept its undefeated homecoming record by downing Virginia Tech, 20-7, Saturday in Tallahassee. The Gobblers threatened all day, but as in the past, they were the victims of their own mistakes, including three lost fumbles and some untimely penalties. The Techmen scored their lone tally on a sustained 50-yard drive late in the second quarter. Next week the Gobblers meet Richmond, and let's hope they do a little better.

VMI Still on Top
For the second straight week, time nearly ended VMI's unbeaten, once-tied record. The Keydets had to storm from behind in the final four minutes with a 63-yard scoring drive to pull a 26-20 Southern Conference victory over upset-minded George Washington. This breather gave the Keydets their fourth straight conference victory and possibly the league lead.

"Virginia's Finest Game"
Virginia played their finest football game in many a season Saturday, and battled the Army team all the way and with a good break or two, might have held a final edge over the Cadets. But, the breaks didn't go Virginia's way; and, as a

Teams To Play Hockey Games

The Tidewater Hockey Tournament will be held in Richmond November 1-2. Eight colleges and clubs will be represented in the Hockey meet: Mary Washington College, Westhampton College, College of William and Mary-Williamsburg, College of William and Mary-Norfolk Division, Longwood College, Petersburg Club, Richmond Club, and the Little Colonels. Each of these teams will play two games, one Friday and one Saturday.

From these teams will be chosen a first Tidewater Hockey team and a reserve Tidewater Hockey team. Both the first and the reserve Tidewater Teams will travel to the Southeast Hockey result, Army's nationally ranked No. 9 squad defeated the Cavaliers, 20-12. But, as the old saying goes, the game was much closer and far more tense than the score indicated, and I bet that's one game Army will remember for quite a while.

Richmond vs. Rutgers
The University of Richmond Spiders traveled up to New Brunswick, New Jersey, where they met the rugged Rutgers University team. And the Spiders were downed 26-13, for their fourth loss in a row. Statistically, Richmond kept even with Rutgers in first downs with 1, but couldn't contain the Scarlet's single-wing magic. Rutgers had a whopping 226-69 ground advantage, but the Spiders had control of the air lanes, 178-34.

W and M Downed 19-0
Held to a one-touchdown advantage at intermission, West Virginia's Southern Conference champions struck for two scores in the third period to whip William and Mary 19-0. This was the 24th straight conference victory over a six-year period for the Mountaineers.

Wittenberg vs. W and L
Wittenberg College really ran wild Saturday as they rolled over Washington and Lee 61-26, in a game dominated by sophomores on both teams. The out-manned Generals fought hard, but they were never really in the ball game after the first quarter, when Wittenberg led, 21-13.

Well, I guess that's about it for this week. See you "in the bleachers" next week.

Members Initiated By Swimming Club

Longwood's H2O Club has recently added ten new members. Mary Ann Barnett reports that Nancy Donaldson, Carol Matthews, Louise Heier, Kitty Green, and Jean O'Connell have become members.

Also joining are Josie Curry, Katherine Kay, Penny Pond, Beverly Redmon, and Barbara Wilson.

The H2O Club is composed of students who exhibit aquatic skill and who find pleasure in swimming. Mary Ann Barnett is president of the organization; Ellen Callaway is secretary; and Amanda Dillon is treasurer.

At present the group is planning the annual Christmas water pageant, to be presented in December.

Tournament which will be held in Richmond, November 16-17. From this tournament will be chosen the United States Hockey Team.

Fourteen members of the Longwood hockey team will participate in the Tidewater Hockey Tournament.

Longwood Defeats Season's Fourth Opponent As Madison College Experiences Double Loss

By DELO DOVE

Longwood's hockey teams raised their winning number to four Saturday, as both teams defeated Madison College in Harrisonburg, 4-1 and 3-0.

The varsity began scoring early in the first half as Longwood Senior Annie V. Weaver guided the ball between the goal posts shortly after the opening bully. Both defenses tightened and at the end of the first half the score remained 1-0.

Plenty of action characterized the second half as Annie V. Weaver, Junior Lou Heier and Junior Nancy Andrews raised the goal tally to four.

Roberts, left inner from Madison scored a single goal in the closing minutes of the game. The final whistle found the score standing at 4-1.

Playing for the blue and white eleven in this game were Sandy Fitzgerald, Annie V. Weaver, Nancy Richardson, Delo Dove, Gayle Cunningham, Jackie Waller, Louise Heier, Margaret Dowdy, Nancy Andrews, Linda Vess, Willie Taylor, and Carol Wolfe.

Sophomore Claudia Whipple led Longwood's second team to their first score in the opening minutes of the second game. Junior Mary Lou Morgan followed with a second goal before the first half elapsed.

Madison Held Scoreless

Longwood displayed a strong defense as Madison was held scoreless. Freshman Mary Hite Grayson added the third and final goal to end the game at 3-0.

Those seeing action for Longwood in the second game were Mate Fadely, Claudia Whipple, Mary Lou Morgan, Doris Kesling, Kitty Harris, Patsy Campbell, Mary Hite Grayson, Jo Ann Sloop, Jean O'Connell, Barbara Staton, Nancy George and Barbara Brantly.

The varsity team will go to Richmond November 1 and 2 to play in the Tidewater Hockey Tournament. Their final game will be played November 23, as they meet Westhampton in a home game.

CHAIRMAN JANET LLOYD and her assistant, Nancy Andrews, begin plans for the annual Christmas water pageant.

Lloyd, Andrews Exhibit Christmas Spirit As Plans Are Made For Aquatic Pageant

Chairmen Appointed To Head Committees

Christmas is already in the air as far as the members of the H2O Club are concerned, for Janet Lloyd and her assistant Nancy Andrews are bustling with plans for the annual Christmas Water Pageant.

Janet Lloyd as general chairman of the pageant announced today that junior Sandy Fitzgerald will be in charge of backdrops for the aquatic show. Sandy, a physical education major from Wytheville, is a member of the Longwood Players, the Athletic Association Council, and Theta Sigma Upsilon, social sorority, as well as the H2O Club.

Heading the props committee for the Christmas pageant will be Mary Ann Barnett, a senior from Chesterfield. An elementary education major, Mary Ann is president of the Richmond Club, president of the H2O Club and treasurer of Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority. In addition to this she holds membership in the Cotillion Club, the Canterbury Club, the Granddaughters Club, and the Athletic Association Council.

Amanda Dillon has been named costume chairman of the pageant. Senior House President and treasurer of the H2O Club, Amanda comes from Ashland, Virginia. The costume chairman is a member of the Cotillion Club, the Canterbury Club, and The Rotunda staff.

Weddle, Program Chairman
Elaine Weddle, a junior music major from Roanoke, has been chosen program chairman. In addition to serving as treasurer of the college choir and director of the Baptist Student Union Choir, Elaine is a member of the Athletic Association Council, the H2O Club, the Longwood Players, the Cotillion Club, and Theta Sigma Upsilon, social sorority.

Senior Anne Rountree of Smithfield will have charge of recordings for the swimming spectacular. Vice-president of the House Council, Anne participates in the work of the H2O Club, the Cotillion Club, Alpha Sigma Alpha, and the Canterbury Club.

Working with the lights for this presentation will be Junior Linda Vess of Covington. In addition to her work with the H2O Club, Linda, a physical education major, serves on the Athletic Association Council, and holds membership in the Cotillion Club and the Baptist Student Union.

Super Sub!

It's been said that the atomic submarine "Nautilus" stays submerged so long that it only surfaces to let the crew re-enlist.

Perhaps for this reason, the Navy has taken valuable space aboard the "Nautilus" for the only soft-drink vending machine in the entire submarine fleet.

Naturally (or you wouldn't hear about it from us) it's a Coca-Cola machine. And not unexpectedly, re-enlistments are quite respectable.

Rugged lot, those submariners. Great drink, Coke!

Barnette Displays Talent And Beauty

By CHRIS KAMEN
 "Miss Hanover" became "Miss Tobaccoland" as 17-year-old Betty Bland Barnette of Ellerson was crowned queen of the Tri-State Festival in Richmond. Blonde, hazel-eyed Betty is a freshman here at Longwood College, where she is studying for a career as a minister of music.

Betty, who had never entered a beauty contest until the Kiwanis pageant this summer, became the ninth Queen of Tobaccoland, earning her title by topping talent and beauty competition from princesses representing Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina.

Betty attended Washington-Henry high school where she was a cheerleader for three years, a member of the Beta club and an actress in the senior play. She also participated in many sports and during her senior year she was voted "most athletic" in her class.

While in high school Betty's sewing talent earned her a third, second and "best in the show" prize in a sewing contest.

Favorite Pastimes
 Besides sewing, modeling and sportsmanship ability, Betty's musical talents range from organ, piano, and playing the drums to singing. She was in the Washington-Henry school chorus during her four years there, and also a member of her church's adult and junior choirs. Her flattering figure hides another of Betty's favorite pastimes—eating. "I crave all kinds of foods," stated Betty.

As for her love life—Betty is engaged to Bud Redman, the brother of sophomore, Norma Redman.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Katherine Barnett and has two older brothers and sisters.

Her roommates, Stephanie Bisese and Brenda Green, sum up their feelings of having a celebrity for a roommate by stating, "We think she is terrific and are mighty proud of her."

Geology Professor Names Speaker For Convention

The Virginia Geographical Society, Geography section meeting of the Virginia Educational Association, will hold a luncheon on Friday, November 1, at 12:15 p.m. in the Monticello Room of Holloway House, Richmond, Virginia.

Dr. Charles F. Lane, Professor of Geography and Geology at Longwood, and president of the Virginia Geographical Society, announced the guest speaker for the occasion will be Herman R. Friis. Mr. Friis will present an illustrated lecture entitled, "The Ever-Changing Face of Virginia as Reflected in Maps During the Past Three Hundred and Fifty Years."

Membership Open
 Contrary to general assumption, Dr. Lane stresses that the Virginia Geographical Society is not limited only to professors in Geography. Membership is open to any and all persons interested in geography, and especially to high school and elementary teachers.

Two bulletins a year are published by the Society. The editor, Professor Raus Hanson, is situated at Madison College, Harrisonburg. However, the bulletins are mailed from Longwood College bi-annually, in the fall and spring. Two weeks from now, the fall bulletin will be published. Meetings are also held bi-annually, and the spring meeting of 1958 is scheduled to be held at Emory and Henry College, in Southwest Virginia.

Dr. Lane has held the position as President of the Virginia Geographical Society for approximately six years.

Simpkins, Schlegel Are On Program

A panel discussion on the teaching of Virginia history was telecast over station WXEX-TV in Petersburg on Saturday, October 26, from six to six-thirty.

Dr. Francis B. Simpkins and Dr. Marvin Schlegel of the Longwood College history department participated, along with Miss Spottswood Hunnicutt of Williamsburg who represented the high school teachers, and Mr. Harold Magnussen representing the seventh grade teachers. Miss Hunnicutt is a graduate of 1945 of Longwood College and Mr. Magnussen graduated from Longwood in 1956 and is presently teaching in the Farmville elementary school.

Dr. Simpkins is co-author with Miss Hunnicutt on Virginia, the seventh grade text book used in Virginia public schools. Dr. Schlegel's Cavalier Commonwealth which deals with history on the eleventh grade level will also be used as an official Virginia text book. Parts of these books were presented and discussed during the program.

Lodewijks

and attended the University of Leiden there. A scientific profession was "something of an inheritance" as his grandfather was a physician. Until 1941 when he began teaching he was a representative for a pharmaceutical concern. After World War I when he could stop "playing tag" with the Germans he completed his thesis and received his doctorate in biology from the university.

Already well-traveled, having toured the greater part of Europe, the professor and his family are "eager to see as much of the world as possible" and have "taken advantage of vacations not only for fun but especially to take good color films of nature. It is possible to be a better teacher, discussing things you yourself have seen."

Besides traveling, Dr. Lodewijks is also interested in experimentation with tropical fish. He is chairman of the Netherlands Society of Aquarists and was the first president of the world federation of that group.

Dr. Lodewijks was amused about American conceptions of Holland & said that although the tulips, windmills, and wooden shoes at Christmas are correct, the story of the little boy who saved the dike is unknown in Holland and "quite nonsense," meaning that it is fictional.

He and his family hope to see as much of the United States as possible before they return to Holland in September. They have already visited Canada, Washington, D. C., and historic places in Virginia, especially enjoying Jamestown and Williamsburg. Both faculty and student body hope that the Lodewijks will have a successful year and enjoy their stay in the United States.
