

NEWPORT,
NEW HAMPSHIRE.

April 15th, 1913.

My dear Miss Jackson,

It was very good to hear from you again. I don't know just where I shall be on May 2nd, but I hope to be in Cambridge. I am in the throes of Ph.D. examinations. I have had two, and hope (?) to have ~~the~~ the last one ca. May 15th. In that case I shall be in Cambridge just about May 2nd. If I get my degree I shall stay for commencement. This summer I am going to Southern France. Assuredly I should enjoy having our postponed Berlin dinner in Boston. I can't imagine what happened to ~~the~~ letter of introduction to Berenson. To my shame I was very late in sending it - I never remembered it ~~but~~ I got it Cambridge in the autumn, and then I sent it to Dresden Bank, Berlin, but they ought to have forwarded it. Your lack of acknowledging it I attributed to the fault of the mail, and I am glad that you were equally charitable toward me.

I have heard of the sensation caused by Venturi's discovery. It made my mouth water, all of which we shall discuss at dinner fra pro. Please remember me kindly to Mrs Jackson

Sincerely,

L. H. Edgell.

P.S. My Cambridge address is 52 Brattle Street,
Boston.
