Near the close of the summer vacation Mr. Parker resigned his position and Mr. W. L. Mower was elected in his place.

R. A. P.

Upon assuming the duties of this trust your present incumbent found teachers engaged for all the schools but No. 14. No. 4 was carried to No. 11 for the year, No. 9 for the Fall Term at No. 11, and No. 1 at No. 7 for the same. The following will give a brief review of the Fall and Winter Terms, together with such suggestions as seem worthy of consideration.

STETSON, No. 2.

Fall Term.—Commenced by Miss Celia B. Parker. The school opened well, but unfortunately she was obliged to resign because of sickness, and Miss Ella R. Smith was engaged to finish the term. A fair amount of work was accomplished considering a broken term.

Winter Term.—Taught by Miss Alice D. Libby of Leeds. Miss Libby fails in school government. With a firmer foot in this direction she possesses many qualities for a successful teacher, being very conscientious in her work. The abrupt and untimely closing of this school by the fire prevented a second visit, which was to be desired.

MOUNTAIN, No. 3.

Fall and Winter Terms.—Taught by Mr. Phillis A. Mower. Mr. Mower is a fine disciplinarian, and good progress was made under his instruction, especially in Arithmetic and Book-keeping. Examinations in Physiology showed a very good understanding of the subject. He is destined to succeed as a teacher.

Mower, No. 6.

Miss Mabel I. Bonney of Winthrop taught both Fall and Winter Terms. A lack of punctuality on the part of the teacher injured, in a measure, the Fall Term, but responsibilities were well met during the term following. Miss Bonney was systematic and worked hard for the welfare of her pupils, and they endeavored to improve their time. Good work was accomplished, especially in reading and natural science. Good order prevailed.

SPRAGUE, No. 7.

Miss Maymie E. Sawyer was re-engaged for this term, and the enrollment of pupils was a large one, being augmented by No. 1. Miss Sawyer easily acquires the good will of her pupils; and, although easy in discipline, a successful term's work was completed. Good tact was shown in handling so many small scholars.

Winter Term.—Miss Laura T. Burnham, of Poland, teacher. This term was destined to be a success from the first. Miss Burnham is mistress in the school-room, insists upon and will have good order, at the same time possessing the faculty of imparting to her pupils her own enthusiasm in school work. Tireless in her efforts to please and instruct, this term was a profitable one.

RICHARDSON, No. 8.

Fall Term.—Taught by W. L. Mower. I will take opportunity to express to the parents of the scholars my appreciation of their cordial interest in the school, and to the pupils also for their respect, manifest zeal, and aggressive work.

Winter Term.—Mrs. Viola V. Beal, teacher. Mrs. Beal sustained her good reputation as a teacher, and the school was a success every way. Was able to visit this school but once, and the examinations showed that systematic work had been done. Good harmony prevailed.

CUMMINGS, No. 9.

Winter Term.—Miss Bertha L. Moody, teacher. This term was a profitable one for those attending, and it is to be regretted that the school was not larger. Miss Moody is a hard working teacher, and the scholars made rapid advancement. The order was excellent.

LANE, No. 10.

Fall Term.—Taught by Miss Alice D. Libby. This was Miss Libby's first term. This school being the largest in town, I consider it too difficult for a beginner. The teacher worked hard for her pupils, and a fair amount of progressive work was accomplished.

Winter Term.—The services of Miss Alice Louise Noyes of Bates College, who taught the Spring Term, were secured for this school. There was a large attendance. Miss Noyes knows how to impart knowledge as well as gain it, and the pupils made good progress in their studies. Excellent order was maintained and the teacher seemed alive to the interests of all under her care.

GREENE CORNER, No. 11.

Fall Term.—Taught by Miss Edith S. Parker. Miss Parker has taught this school with commendable success for several terms. She is a pleasing instructor and endeavors to draw from the pupils their best efforts. She is a fine reader, as the classes gave evidence. The "additional exercises" were helpful.

Winter Term.—W. L. Mower, teacher. To the parents, scholars, and all interested in this school, the teacher of this term wishes to respectfully thank them for their good feeling and interest. Sincerely, he would say that the little school seemed ambitious to accomplish what it could.

HILL, No. 16.

Fall and Winter Terms.—Taught by Miss Hattie M. Osgood of Auburn. Miss Osgood took the first prize for scholarship at the Latin School, Lewiston, from which she graduated. Each visit to the school found the pupils quiet, orderly, and studious, with continuous advancement in their studies. Miss Osgood is a leader out of "old ruts," enjoys her work, and was beloved by all under her care. The results in the elementary language and reading classes are especially commended.

HIGH SCHOOLS.

The two terms of High School are now in session, with a registration of 40 pupils, under the instructorship of H. P. Parker of Bates College and W. L. Mower, your present incumbent.

BOOKS.

The new books have been well cared for, but the text-book law should be more carefully copied. Parents are earnestly requested to take more interest in this matter with their children.

TEACHERS.

Our teachers have, during the past year, shown a manifest interest in their work, and have, for the most part, accomplished excellent results. Many of them have attended one of the summer schools held in various sections of our State, and are also Normal students.

CO-OPERATION.

A glance at the tabular statement reveals the fact that too few visits are made by the parents, who are and ought to be most deeply concerned in the welfare of our schools. Frequent visitations to the school will encourage the teacher in her work, strengthen and stimulate the pupils under her care. Co-operate with your teachers; make them feel that you are interested in their behalf.

OUR SCHOOLS.

The day of aggressive action in this matter seems fully at hand. That there are too many schools for the present registration must be clear to all. But with a consolidation of the smaller schools, the highest success cannot be obtained, even with able teachers, without the co-operation of all. If vantage ground be thus secured, the step taken should be held.

Our new schools as a whole for the year have been profitable and progressive, and record the results of earnest effort and labor.

In concluding this report, I desire to extend to the committee my sincere thanks for their cordial relation and valued help; to the parents and friends of the schools for the good feeling shown towards me during the year; to the scholars throughout the town for their kind, courteous reception shown at my visits; to the teachers for their faithful, honest labor in the work of the schools; and to you, gentlemen, for the trust, support, and confidence given me while serving you in this capacity.

Respectfully submitted,

W. L. MOWER,

Superintendent of Schools.
