MAINE HARRIERS ARE SECOND AT FRANKLIN PARK IN HEATED RUN

Raymond and Hillman Capture
Individual Honors; Bates
Wins the Meet

Maine placed second in the New England intercollegiate cross-country run at Franklin Park November 17; while Bates with a well balanced team won the race. The individual honors went to John Doherty of Tufts, Captain Raymond of Maine and "Art" Hillman of Maine.

There were eleven colleges entered and seventy-eight harriers faced the starter, Frank McGrath, who sent them off on their long grind. Doherty took the lead and for the first mile the harriers were well bunched; going at a merry clip with the Maine and Bates harriers up with the leaders. At the half way mark Doherty had a little advantage of Hillman while Raymond occupied 7th place, but was gradually overcoming his opponents. It was quite evident that Bates was going to be a contender for first honors as their men were well up with the first runners.

Team score:

1. Bates College	4	6	7	10	18	—	45
2. Maine	1	2	15	19	20	—	57
3. Univ. of N. H.	13	16	22	27	35	—	113
4. Bowdoin	5	17	32	40	42	—	136
5. Holy Cross	8	14	26	41	54	—	143
6. M. I. T.	9	31	33	37	43	—	153

FREAKS AND FRILLS FOR PENNY CARNIVAL

Girls Will Display Seven Wonders
in One Booth; Other Features

The Oracle of the Penny Carnival says:

"Did you laugh at the Mainiac? Then you never could stand going to the Penny Carnival. You'll be overcome with curiosity, doubled up with laughter, and swamped with new ideas. Why? Just listen.

"Does your fate interest you? Shakespeare's own Hecate will delve into the caldron for you. An oracle of Roman repute will pronounce your destiny and one of Solomon's beauties will pore over the lines of your hand as it rests in hers.

"Did you know we have a rogues gallery at Maine? You may be in it. Better see.

"Dr. Chrysler has gone but he left his pet thirty-foot boa constrictor, and we're coaxing it into the Carnival.

"Robinson Crusoe's wild woman has left him to come to Maine. If you doubt it, come and see her.

"Men! What you have never heard will be told you in an apartment for 'Gentlemen Only.' Girls, don't be jealous. There is one for 'Girls Only' also.

"The seven wonders of the college world are being gradually teased into one booth, which is steeped in novelty.

"We hope you won't be frightened by the appalling rattle of the living skeleton's fleshless bones. Did you know that dwarfs existed out of books? Well, they do.

Domino Meets

The first meeting of the Domino Club this year was held in Estabrooke Hall, Wednesday evening, November 14. The purpose of this meeting was to interest the freshman girls in the girls' dramatic society. An interesting program consisted of a reading by Mrs. Ashley and the presentation of a one-act play called "The Bear of Bath." Refreshments of punch and cookies were served. Plans have already been made for the presentation of "Cappy Ricks" at the time of the Carnival.

Rev. John K. Birge To Plead for Turkey Here Monday and Tuesday

Next Monday and Tuesday in hour chapels, Rev. John Kingsley Birge, who had full charge of affairs at the International College at Smyrna during the awful tragedy of 1922, will speak to the students here. His primary purpose in coming to the University of Maine is to visualize for them the horror of the destruction of Smyrna, but another reason for his visit is to give the drive for Maine-in-Turkey funds a real impetus. When the Turks took the city from the Greeks Dr. Birge was among those Americans who lost much of their personal property and whose lives were threatened. He, however, plunged into refugee work and with "Commodore" Jenkins had charge of the American fleet during the evacuation of Smyrna.

REV. JOHN K. BIRGE

On the two days when Dr. Birge is to speak all periods will be shortened somewhat in order that an hour at least may be given to chapel. He is noted as a speaker and he has an interesting and thrilling account of the horrors of the destruction of the city in Asia Minor. He is well acquainted with the work that the Maine-in-Turkey team, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Vrooman is, will be called upon to perform since he himself has been in Smyrna since 1914. While he is not now actively engaged in the Turkish program he will return shortly to plunge again into the job of teaching the people there.

A native of Bristol, Conn., Dr. Birge was graduated from Yale University and from Hartford Theological Seminary. He went to Turkey in 1914 for work in connection with the International College, Smyrna, and he was appointed head of the Turkish department. He is an authority on the developments in missionary work for Moslems, especially in Turkey. He is personally acquainted with many leading Turks, not only in Smyrna, but in Constantinople, and is able to co-operate with them in social and literary work.

At present, Dr. Birge is in constant touch with the Angora government, advising them on books of education and boys' work and social problems.

Probably no living American is more conversant with the Turkish situation of today than is Dr. Birge. He is greatly in demand as a speaker. Since his speaking tours are limited, his intention is to speak only where the results will be best and where missionary work in Turkey will derive most benefit. He is aware that the funds which were collected last year at the University for the Students' Friendship Fund have accomplished much good. It is his belief that the students at Maine will "come across" creditably when they are asked to back the Maine-in-Turkey program.

This year it will not be the Student Friendship fund which benefits from the drive. Instead the money will be used to send Lee Vrooman and Mrs. Vrooman to Turkey to begin the campaign of education and social work.

MAINIAC GREET'S FROSH AND ROASTS THE PROFS

Take-off on "Fight 'em" Rallies and Burlesque on "Campus"
Amuses Many

The first issue of the Mainiac, the U. of M. humorous magazine published by Sigma Delta Chi fraternity, was placed on sale during the past week.

This, the "Freshman Number," contains a great deal of good(?) advice and instruction for the yearling class which, if closely followed, would undoubtedly cause serious trouble with the faculty and the sophs. One article, a "Notice to Yearlings," demonstrates the proper conduct of freshmen at a football rally, and is certainly very true to life, as anyone can testify who has attended a rally this year. Another sets forth, for the benefit of Freshmen, certain rules of conduct which strike us as leading to a rather premature graduation.

Still another feature of the magazine is a parody on the front page of the Campus, very cleverly arranged. Under the name of the Maine Crampus, many choice bits of news are set forth: the amusing answers found in the psychological test for the faculty; the victory of the Mount Vernon girls over those from Balentine in the annual hair-pulling contest; the sad story of the death of a Maine student as a result of eating regularly at the University Store; these and several others as well would cause even a hardened 'prof.' to crack a smile.

Besides these features, there are many original jokes, comic poems, and cartoons, which set forth the many phases of college life, and prove that there is still a broad sense of humor at Maine which needs only to be brought out by some popular medium such as the Mainiac furnishes.

The editorial board of the Mainiac, or the "Lunatics," as they call themselves, is as follows:

Conrad E. Kennison, Editor-in-chief.
John L. Stevens, Assistant Editor.
Charles E. Johnson, Feature Editor.
W. Wesley Patterson, Exchange Editor.

Cadet Officers Get Their Commissions

Col. Raymond Makes Presentation
in Chapel Saturday; Badges for Sponsors

A very interesting event took place in Chapel last Saturday forenoon when commissions were presented to the cadet officers of the R. O. T. C. unit, and tokens were given the sponsors of the regiment. The stage was decorated with the national colors and the University flag.

Major G. Barrett Glover presided and the various departments of the University were represented on the stage by the Deans and several faculty members. The commissions were presented by Col. Raymond, a retired officer of the regular army. The address of the day was given by Col. Strickland, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the University. The band also assisted with several selections.

The sponsors are:
Regimental sponsor, Miss Muriel Sprague.

Sponsor, 1st Battalion, Miss Charlotte Osgood.

Sponsor, 2nd Battalion, Miss Frances Brewer.

Sponsor, Co. A, Miss Ruth Rudman.

Sponsor, Co. B, Miss Elizabeth Hunt.

Sponsor, Co. C, Miss Elizabeth White-side.

Sponsor, Co. D, Miss Elizabeth Armstrong.

Denizens of Dormitory Dissatisfied With Grub

A meeting of the Dormitory Council was held in Hannibal Hamlin Hall last week in which the food question was discussed. Frederick Youngs, Treasurer of the University, was present and the food problem was placed before him. A committee was appointed to meet Mr. Youngs in the near future, and through this committee the matter is to be taken up more in detail and steps are to be taken to remove the causes of complaint.

APPEAL FOR MORE MONEY AROUSES AN INDIGENT STUDENT

Correspondent Maintains Educational Work Should Begin at Home

Editor of Campus:

There seems to be an erroneous impression in the minds of the worthy men and women who are continually sponsoring "drives" of one sort or another that college students are overburdened with money. I have just been reading without great enthusiasm the announcement that a Y. M. C. A. man is coming here soon to get some money with which to educate the Turks, "to show them the way of right living and to bring to them something in the way of modern education that will make them better men and women."

Perhaps I am rather provincial in outlook, but it seems to me that there is plenty of educational work to be done in the state of Maine for which University students might contribute some of their superfluous cash. The Maine-in-Turkey project reminds me of an old song:

"I am a Sunday School scholar,
I save all my money and all my tin,
To keep the heathen kids from sin."

Prof. Dougall, whom many of us remember pleasantly, had little use for missionaries. "Education should begin at home," he used to say, "We are not civilized yet by any means. What right have we to impose our ideas on people

Unique Experiment Being Tried by Arthur Wilson

Maine comes to light as the center of a religious experiment unique in the East, and with only two duplicates in the Country, as a result of the visit to Orono of Arthur E. Wilson, U. of M. '23, of Ashland. Mr. Wilson talked interestingly in the United Parish Church of the "Aroostook larger Parish," as the combined religious and social experiment is called. This work has its center in Ashland, but is practically unknown in this section, so that what he had to say proved a revelation.

Two other young college men are Mr. Wilson's associates in the work, Wilbur Bull, a graduate of Dartmouth with Phi Beta Kappa honors, who directs the work, and Benjamin F. Andrew, a graduate of Dartmouth and of Oberlin.

The four towns of Portage, Masardis, Oxbow and Ashland, and eight school districts are included in the 35-mile area served by these young men. The experiment is under the direction of the Congregational Home Missionary Society of which Rev. Charles Harbutt of this City is field secretary, the territory having been assigned to that organization by the Interchurch World Movement.

The keynote of the work carried on by these young men is found in Christ's words "I came that ye might have life, and that ye might have it more abundantly."

The brand of religion they teach is not a go-to-church-on-Sunday affair. It is of the seven-days-a-week variety, and it links up all the activities of the community with the church, motion pictures, plays, athletics, everything that enters into the life of the people old and young.

The experiment is co-operative religion for instance, was started at about the same time as the experiment in co-operative potato growing which has gained such headway in Aroostook, and to prove that there is no division in their minds between Christianity and agriculture, and that religion and business can be perfectly fused the directors of the Aroostook greater parish are backing with all enthusiasm the potato growing project.

Mr. Wilson is the son of Rev. Clinton Wilson of Orono. He was president of last year's senior class at the University of Maine, was a member of the "cross country team, and had arrangements in charge last year for the successful convention of preparatory school editors held at the college.

POPULAR VOTE TO DETERMINE QUEEN OF WINTER FROLIC

R. O. T. C. Contest Winner Will
Be Crowned Ruler of Snow and Ice

For the first time in the history of Maine's Winter Carnivals, a queen is to be chosen. Feeling that a carnival cannot be complete without the necessary feminine ruler, it has been decided to launch a contest at the University for the main purpose of selecting such a queen. The R. O. T. C. Circus is to run a popularity contest; the most popular and renowned co-ed is to be crowned as Queen of the Winter Carnival.

RULES OF THE CONTEST

A contest naturally entails many rules. The following code has been drawn up, and the committee wishes to state that they will be strictly adhered to.

1. Any woman student in the University is eligible to compete.

2. 1000 votes will be given by the committee to each name entered.

3. 100 votes will be given with the sale of each general admission ticket to the R. O. T. C. Circus, and coupons good for ten votes will appear each week in the Campus.

4. Contest will close at noon, December 6th, 1923.

5. In case of a tie, the winner will be chosen by the judges according to the academic standing of the contestants.

6. The winner and her escort will be given passes to both the Circus and the Winter Carnival.

7. The winner will be announced at the Circus, December 7th.

8. A list showing the standing of the contestants will be posted daily in Alumni Hall.

9. Ballots will be placed in a box provided for that purpose in Alumni Hall.

10. The judges will be Messrs. James A. Gannett, "Pooch" Donovan, president of the Intra-Mural A. A., and Col. Patterson of the R. O. T. C. unit.

THE R. O. T. C. CIRCUS

The third annual R. O. T. C. Circus is to be held December 7. Committees have been chosen, plans have been made, and the work is smoothly under way. The affair will last from three in the afternoon until one o'clock the following morning. By special ruling the Faculty has allowed the dance to continue to the "Wee sma' hours."

Basketball Practise On With Schedule Arranged

Basketball candidates reported for practice Tuesday afternoon in answer to Coach Cuddy Murphy's call for the 1923-24 quintet.

With four regulars of last year's team, some reserves, and a number of last year freshman players, a fast team is expected.

The regulars who are eligible this year are "Crabby" Newhall, forward; "Pickleholder" Soderberg, center; Louis Horsman, left guard; and Captain Olie Berg, right guard. Henry Small, Woodbury, Carter, and Lake are expected to make a good showing.

The schedule this year includes several new teams, Yale, Clark, Brown, Trinity and Holy Cross. It is as follows:

Dec. 7 Portland A. C. at Orono.
Dec. 14 Brown at Providence
Dec. 15 Rhode Island State at Kingston, R. I.

Dec. 17 Pending

Let Us Think Broadly

In another column of this paper is published a letter from "An Indigent Student" deploring the continuous "open season" for soliciting money from University students. In this case the Maine-in-Turkey drive seems to be the "last straw."

Although there is a great deal of truth in this student's letter, we believe that he is taking a narrow viewpoint. It does, indeed, seem to be a far call from the University of Maine to Turkey, but when we stop to consider the question broadly the most of us will see the connection.

We have heard and read a great deal about conditions in Turkey, and we shall hear more next week from "King" Birge. But the thing for us, as American college students, to think about, is this. The Turkish and Armenian peoples are suffering from want and starvation, mainly because of ignorance. They know not how to help themselves.

By each of us contributing a small amount of money, we can help educate some of the more intelligent members of the younger generation. These young Turks are striving to educate themselves, but conditions are such that it is practically impossible for them to do so without aid. If we help them to learn the lessons of civilization, they in turn will help their people. Not only shall we be bringing about direct relations between Turkish students and ourselves, but thru them we shall indirectly be helping to relieve the chaotic conditions of their country.

The people of Maine are paying taxes in support of this university in order that we may acquire higher education, for they believe that because of it we shall be of greater service to the State and Nation.

In giving to help educate the young people of Turkey, our reasoning should be of similar nature. Thru education they can help their country, which will be beneficial to the world and civilization.

Yet, to carry this idea still farther, we do not believe the students should give without thought, merely because of emotional excitement or because someone else does. What should be done is to consider carefully the situation from a broad viewpoint, and then to act according to one's own convictions.

If anyone cannot afford to give, or has no sympathy with the cause, then he should not be forced to contribute because of "College Spirit" or by any of the other methods used in the various drives to make students give money.

But it should be remembered that the people who most loudly renounce a cause like Maine-in-Turkey are often the ones who spend the most money selfishly. If we are in favor of making Maine-in-Turkey a success, then there are few of us, indeed, who cannot do without three or four packages of cigarettes, a pound or two of candy, or three or four trips to the movies in order to save the money to support it.

It will be found that the successful men in college, the ones we call our "Big Men" and are proud to point out as true Maine men are the ones who support such causes the most whole-heartedly. These men, although often working their way through college or hiring the money, give to worthy causes because they are able to conceive of the good that is in them, and not because of any feeling that it is the "proper thing" to do.

That is the way we believe every student should do—give intelligently. We have little sympathy with the chronic "tightwad," but the other extremist, the person who gives money without thinking, is no more to be respected.

Most of us have but little surplus money, which must be divided among many causes. Common sense will tell us to pick the worthy causes for our support. Maine-in-Turkey, we believe, is worthy.

Education Week

This week of Nov. 18-24, is set aside as Education Week throughout the whole United States. Its object is to further the cause of all branches of education.

We are printing below the view of Warren G. Harding concerning education, which we believe should be considered by every one of us.

A Plea for Teachers

"Without vision the people perish." Without education there can be little vision. Of education it may be said that "It is twice blest; it blessing him that gives and him that takes." It will be greatly worth the effort if we can impress this thought upon the young manhood and womanhood of the Nation and redirect their interest and patriotic zeal to the idea of making a proper contribution to educational work. It is regrettable that so few young men and women, equipped for such service, are nowadays disposed to give their time and talents to teaching. Education needs their young eagerness, zeal, and enthusiasm.

There is no school of discipline more effective than that in which the teacher goes to school. We could do no greater service than by convincing those young men and women who have enjoyed educational opportunities that they owe a reasonable share of their time and energies to teaching.

The strength and security of the Nation will always rest in the intelligent body of its people. Our education should implant conceptions of public duty and private obligations broad enough to envisage the problems of a greatly distraught world. More than anything else, men and women need the capacity to see with clear eye and to contemplate with open, unprejudiced mind the issues of these times. Only through a properly motivated and generously inspired process of education can this be accomplished.—Warren G. Harding.

New features have been added this year which were not attempted before. The side shows, placed in the chapel, will open at three o'clock in the afternoon, continuing through until the end of the dance. General admission tickets will not be collected until six o'clock. The Circus performance proper will be held in the gymnasium, followed by vaudeville acts in the chapel. The dance will start promptly upon the clearing of the floor after the circus performance.

Among the many innovations this year are included a "Trip Through Hades;" "Dodo," the dog faced boy; and other shows that have not been honored with names as yet. Four wheel concessions will feature dolls and chocolates, and two huge grab bags will introduce an entirely new novelty. Patronizers are warned not to miss "Cat Alley" and the Rifle galleries. As per usual, the hot-dog and pink lemonade stands will be in evidence.

The circus committee has been fortunate in securing several polished performers on the parallel and horizontal bars. Wrestling will furnish added amusement. The animal show will cause terror in the hearts of the feminine on-lookers, who are cautioned to retain their seats under all circumstances.

The proceeds will be divided between the Veterans of Former Wars to assist in the erection of a memorial tablet, and the Gymnasium-Armory. The tickets are 50 centimes.

Appeal for More Money Arouses an "Indigent Student"

who had a civilization centuries before America was discovered?"

To anyone familiar with moral conditions in Old Town and Bangor, the idea of "making better men and women in Turkey" is very droll.

Not only is it a presumption on the part of the Y. M. C. A. to assume that its representatives are competent to lead devout Mohammedans toward better things, but it is an unwarranted presumption to come to Orono after the money. Perhaps the Turks need financial assistance, but for that matter, so do we. How many of us are hiring money now at the rate of six per cent? How many of us are free enough from financial troubles to "dig down" cheerfully for funds with which to provide enlightenment for the Turks.

I am yet to be convinced that the proposition of educating the Turks is more worthy than the proposition of educating the Yankees. After "digging down" for our own memorial fund, for our own M. C. A., for fraternity dues and assessments, for tuition, for books from which I hope to derive some culture, and for countless other organizations which are indigenous to the University of Maine, I do not feel my responsibility to the Turks as keenly as I might. "Tag Days" take my spare change and forced contributions of one sort or another force me to pad my expense account deplorably.

Why is it always "open season" on college students? Why are we constantly beseeched for money which has to come out of our parents or the benevolent patrons who lend us funds?

"Kaiser Bill will never be emperor of Germany again for we have him locked up ready for you to see Friday evening. He may chop wood. Speaking of monarchs, the faculty are by no means left out of the Carnival. There is an especial booth just for them and an especial invitation is hereby extended to them.

"Flo Ziegfeld is coming down from Broadway just to get some helpful hints for the 1924 Follies. You may have seen something you call dancing but we have the genuine technique.

"There are a great many buzz wagons on the Campus but you haven't seen Balentine's home manufactured Ford.

"There will be dancing to the strains of the famous co-ed orchestra. Candy, cider, and ice cream will help to fill up the gap between supper and breakfast.

"Thursday and Friday will be Tag Days. Tags admitting one person to the Carnival will cost the huge sum of one cent. Judging from the excitement and mystery the Carnival bids fair to be universally attended by faculty and students alike."

CORRESPONDENCE

Room 1939, 195 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

Editor, Maine Campus

Dear Sir:

Inclosed find check covering subscription for Maine Campus—effective immediately.

It is the intention of several of the recent graduates of the University to have a get-together on Friday evening, Nov. 23, to make plans for our teams running at Van Cortlandt Park on Monday, Nov. 26. We plan to have a feed and a general good time. The place of said time hasn't been set as yet. It was my thought that if some notice of this was printed in next week's Campus that a few of the men, not already seen would hear of the meeting and would join in with us. Anyone interested can get in touch with me or most any of the other boys around here and a good time will be guaranteed.

Yours for Maine,

Roger C. Castle '21

NEW NATIONAL FRATERNITY TO BE FORMED

A full-fledged national college fraternity, stretching from coast to coast, will be formed at the annual Interfraternity Conference to be held at the Hotel Pennsylvania November 30 and December 1. This will be the first time that a national society will have been brought into being full grown.

The formation of the new fraternity follows a lengthy investigation by the Interfraternity Conference which led it to the opinion that far too few college men are given the opportunity of fraternity fellowship. Invitations were sent to most of the local fraternities in the United States to be present at a meeting held in conjunction with the annual Interfraternity Conference for the purpose of forming at least one new national fraternity.

More than fifty locals have already signified their intention of being present for that purpose. In addition thirty-two interfraternity councils are sending undergraduate delegates, some coming from as far as California. A score of educators, among them several college presidents, will be present to join in the discussions of college and fraternity problems with the Conference delegates, which will number close to 250.

On To New York

The National Intercollegiate Cross Country Meet will be held Monday afternoon, November 26, Van Courtland Park, New York City. The Maine team will leave Saturday to take part in this race. The same team as ran in the New England will take part in this race, namely Capt. Raymond, Ames, Berg, Patten, Hillman, Hart and Gero.

Despite the fact that the Blue harriers were beaten by the Bates team last Saturday, it is expected that the Maine seven will finish away up front next Monday.

The freshman team is going to New York at the same time to take part in the Intercollegiate Freshman Cross Country meet. This race is over a three mile course, rather than a five such as the varsity races over. "Art" Hillman finished 4th in the Freshman Race last year. The freshman team will be Taylor, Hutchinson, Clough, Gardner, Torrey, Cary, Day or Trask. Taylor and Hutchinson who have been pressing the varsity runners hard are expected to finish up among the leaders.

Forestry Club Meeting

At a recent meeting of the Forestry Club, the election of the staff of "The Maine Forester" took place. Gregory Baker '24, editor-in-chief last year, was again chosen for that position. Charles Moody '25, and Leroy Dawson '25 are assistant editors. Gilbert Hills '24 is the Art editor, and Frances Wetherbee '26, assistant art editor. Henry Eaton '26 is business manager. An assistant editor and an assistant manager are to be appointed later.

"The Maine Forester" is the annual publication of the club and ranks with the best forestry papers of other colleges. The purpose of the paper is presented to the public in an attractively bound and printed booklet the latest methods of forest management and fire and disease prevention. This helps to bridge the gap that sometimes exists between the so called theoretical and practical men, and incidentally it increases the prestige of the forestry department.

After the business was disposed of, the evening was given to a "get-together" in which talks, smokes, drinks, and eats featured.

Poverty Ball

The Poverty Ball was held Friday evening, Nov. 16, at the gymnasium under the auspices of the "M" Club.

Prizes were awarded to the couple presenting the most poverty stricken appearance. A small incense burner was given to the lady and a Maine seal to the gentleman. A "Tacks" collector added to the novelty of the party, taxes being collected for such articles as silk hosiery, hair nets, jewelry, ties, etc.

Shipping tags served the purpose of dance orders. Music was furnished by Libbey's Orchestra, and the order of dances was much enjoyed by the couples present.

Refreshments of ice cream and cookies were served during intermission.

Professor and Mrs. Pollard and Mrs. Moulton, the matron of Theta Chi house acted as chaperones for the party.

HONORARY FRATERNITY INSIGNIA FOR PLEDGES

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR THE FRESHMEN

Delivered by the Moses of the Junior Class from the Mount Sinai of the balcony of Balentine Gym

- I. Thou shalt not precede upper classmen under any circumstances whatsoever; neither in entering or leaving a room or a street car, nor in passing a group.
- II. Thou shalt rise whenever an upperclassman enters any room in which thou mayst happen to be.
- III. Thou shalt seat the head of the table when said head is a senior.
- IV. Thou shalt pour water for all at thy table, by no means complaining when they drink a large quantity of aforesaid liquid.
- V. Thou shalt pass all things first to the head of the table.
- VI. Thou shalt remove and replace rugs in the reception rooms when such task is necessary.
- VII. Thou shalt serve on telephone duty and on laundry duty.
- VIII. Thou shalt not monopolize the conversation at thy table.
- IX. Thou shalt go quietly to thy room after being hauled out of bed in the middle of the night to hear the reading of these rules and regulations.
- X. Thou shalt gladly run on errands and perform any service for an upper classman at all times.

Soon the melancholy lives will be standing in front of the Dean's office to learn the recent casualties.

The University Orchestra Rehearses Each Week

Weekly rehearsals of the University orchestra are now being held Thursday evenings under the direction of Prof. A. W. Sprague and Joseph Murray '25. SCRATCHES FROM THE SPORT PEN

Another football season has passed into history and despite the fact that the Blue team is not the Maine State Champion, there is no doubt that it has been one of the most successful seasons in years. Playing only two games at home, Maine lost but three games out of the eight. At Burlington, the team lost by only one point against the University of Vermont. The next week they held the powerful Dartmouth team to only one touchdown on the Hanover field. The Colby game, lost by one touchdown at Waterville, was a hard fought game in which Maine out-played Colby in all but the first quarter.

Our wins on the other hand were decisive. The Maine team defeated Rhode Island at Orono by two touchdowns and then went down to Connecticut where she pinned a seven to nothing defeat on the Connecticut Aggies. In the Bates, Bowdoin and New Hampshire games, the Blue and Blue were going at top speed. At Lewiston the boys brought home the bacon to the tune of 12-7. The Bowdoin game was the sweetest contest that those interested in the University have witnessed for some time. 28-6, it was a complete and awful slaughter despite the gameness of the Bowdoin players. The following week the Maine eleven went to Portland where the University of New Hampshire bowed before their mighty onslaught.

Maine was fortunate in having a veteran backfield, undoubtedly the best in the state. Captain Henry Small, always a star and playing his last year of football, led his eleven with brilliant and powerful football so consistently that it came to be taken for granted. His punting, his passing, his tackling, and above all his speedy, spinning, twisting running make him the premier halfback of the state.

Jimmy Blair, playing the other halfback, had his best season since coming to Maine. A fighting halfback all the way, he got away for long gains in a number of the games.

George Gruhn, playing fullback, had his third season as a dependable player both on the defense and on the offense. His specialty, aside from stopping the rushes thru the line, was carrying the ball for steady plunges thru the line or over it.

"Speed" Merritt, calling signals for the Blue eleven, had a fine season. His brainy leadership and long gains were an important factor in the Maine wins.

The Maine line was very strong this year. Newhall and Taylor, playing end, were good in both the offense and the defense, sizing up the plays early and teaming well with the tackles. Lunge and Frazer were two supreme tackles. Frazer was usually the first man thru the line and down on the backfield. Lunge, no less powerful on his side of the line, stopped play after play. Lunge has been playing football four years and led the team his third. Frazer is a sophomore and, as he is available for two years more, is likely to become the greatest tackle Maine ever produced. Jackson and Littlefield, playing guard position, did a lot to make the Maine line impregnable. Gentile, the stocky little center, playing his first season, held the center of the line in veteran style. The work of a line is not in the least spectacular, but it is this part of the eleven which takes the pounding and stands the brunt of the attack during the defense, and breaks open the holes during the offense. The way the Maine line held and the way holes were opened in the opponents' line for long gains, shows that our line was playing very efficiently.

In the backfield: Repscha, Jordan, Cutts and Ward replaced the backfield men already mentioned and earned their letters. Repscha and Jordan played for Gruhn and Blair respectively in a majority of the games. Jordan graduates this year and Repscha is a Junior. Cutts and Ward replaced Merritt and proved themselves very capable. Both men will be available to fill the quarterback berth next year in tiptop shape.

"Bill" Elliott gave Newhall a run for his money in the left end position and won his M. "Fat" Campbell, playing guard, won his letter for the second time. He and Jackson alternated in the left guard position.

Maine had a heavy schedule this year and yet points show Maine far superior to her opponents.

	Total points	Touchdowns
Maine	80	12
Opponents	33	5

Even tho the game is won or lost by the playing, the coaches can make or break a team. To Coaches Brice and Murphy go the credit for turning out as powerful a football eleven as has represented the University for some time.

-are you sure you deserve it?

"Give me a log with Mark Hopkins at one end of it and myself at the other," said, in effect, President Garfield, "and I would not want a better college."

But if Mark Hopkins was an inspired teacher, it is just as true that James A. Garfield was an inspiring student.

Sometimes Garfield's praise of his professor is quoted in disparagement of present day faculties—the assumption being that we as listeners are sympathetic, all that we ought to be—and that it is the teacher who has lost his vision.

Is this often the case?

It is the recollection of one graduate at least that he did not give his professors a chance. Cold to their enthusiasms, he was prone to regard those men more in the light of animated text-books than as human beings able and eager to expound their art or to go beyond it into the realm of his own personal problems.

This is a man to man proposition. Each has to go half way. Remember, there are two ends to the log.

The Juniors to the Freshmen
We freshmen are an awful bunch,
This class of Twenty-seven,
If we don't mend our wicked ways,
We'll never get to Heaven.

The juniors think so, anyway,
Our "sister class," you see,
And so they tell us what to do,
So "sister lovingly."

We must pour all the water,
The rugs we must spread down,
Must not precede upper classmen,
Either here or out of town.

Must seat the head of the table,
(Guess the seniors must be weak,)
Mustn't monopolize conversation,
In fact, should hardly speak.

Must open doors for seniors,
For juniors, too, of course;
And this is where they get these rules,
This, then, is their source:

They are the Maine traditions,
Passed down from year to year,
And freshies must obey them,
Or live in mortal fear.

And these we're not obeying,
So the juniors, blessed dears!
Although they are disgusted,
Pity our tender years,

Warn us of our backslidings,
Tell us we mustn't doubt
That the sophomores will get us,
"If we don't watch out!"

Rise and Shine

The Maine men who attended the R. O. T. C. camp at Devens this summer were organized with men from New Hampshire State and Boston University into the Second Platoon which was more commonly known as "The Rise and Shiners." They received this name from their top-sergeant "Mac" McDonald who was always the first to rise in the morning and make his early daily tour of the barracks, entreating and demanding that every man immediately "Rise and Shine." Although "Mac" was a source of dread, humor and respect to every man in the platoon, he was considered the best top-sergeant in the army.

One of "Mac's" pet peculiarities was starting Monday morning to deprive his men of their week end passes. By Saturday every man in the barracks would be eligible for his black list. But when passes were asked for, "Mac" would usually "come across."

We must not forget to mention the seven Maine men who helped to make up the Third Platoon or "The Fighting Third." The fighting spirit of these men was best shown in the mess hall where they carried many charges and won numerous victories in the great "Battle of Chow."

There were two Maine men in this platoon who made names for themselves. The first is "Mack" Sennett, the country gentleman who knew nothing about bathing beauties, and then Muzzy the regular fellow who was always in a terrible scrape.

The spirit of the men at this summer camp is well expressed in a few lines from Robert Service.

".....buck up and greet 'em, my 'carty,
Shoulder to shoulder—so.
If they arsts us if we was down-'earted
We'll 'owl in their fyces: 'No-o-o!'"

Faculty Members To Talk On Theory and Matter

The faculties of the departments of Physics, Chemistry, Electricity and Mathematics have combined their efforts in a course of lectures concerning the Theories on the Nature of Matter. These lectures are held each Thursday morning at the third hour in Room 204 Aubert Hall. All students at the university who can possibly do so, are urged to attend.

The schedule as now arranged:

October 4	Mr. Seeley
The Older Theories of Atomic Structure
October 11	Dean Stevens
Radioactivity and the Breaking of Old Ideas
October 18	Dr. Fitch
X-Rays—Historical
October 25	Dr. Fitch
X-Rays—The Number of Electrons in the Atomic Shell
November 1	Mr. Downing
Radioactivity and Composition of Nuclei, Isotopes
November 8	Mr. Bless
Spectroscopy—Historical
November 15	Mr. Bless
The Bohr Theory and Spectral Lines
November 22	Prof. Dawson
The Quantum Theory

After Thanksgiving the Mathematics Department will lecture on Astronomy, taking up Kepler's Laws dealing with the motion of bodies in space. Dean Stevens will talk on the theories of Relativity, and the Application of Relativity to the theories of Atomic Structure.

The schedule will be completed by Prof. Brann, who will speak for the Department of Chemistry.

THE DIVINE WISDOM

The infidel Ingersoll once came across an old negro-scrub-woman reading her Bible.

"Mary, do you believe all you read there?" inquired he. "Do you believe God made man out of dust?"

"Course I does," stoutly declared Mary.

"But suppose it happened to rain and there was nothing but mud?" quizzed the colonel.

"Why, sure," retorted the old mammy, "de good Lawd den knowed well 'nough 'twas jes' de right time to make dem lawyers an' infidels."—Selected.

New University Club Is Open To 5000 Graduates

The New University Club of Boston is soon to take its place among the other large clubs of America. The Campus has received a letter in regard to the proposed society from the chairman of the membership committee, stating the plans which are well underway. The University of Maine representative is Wallace E. Crowley, 20 Pemberton Sq., Boston, Mass.

The club building is to be located in Boston at the corner of Trinity Place and Stuart Street. The land, building, and equipment is to cost about $1,800,000. Membership is to be limited to 5000 college and university graduates, non-graduates of two years' attendance, and holders of honorary degrees. Three forms of membership are: Life membership, costing 1000 dollars, Senior membership for 100 dollars, and junior membership, also costing 100 dollars. The annual dues are as follows: Life membership shall pay no annual dues until their certificate has been retired. Senior members shall pay fifty dollars a year. Junior members shall pay on a sliding scale determined by the number of years out of college: $25 for those of three years and less, $35 for those from three to six years, and $40 for those from six to ten years.

Checks for certificate membership must accompany application for membership. They should be made payable to the First National Bank of Boston. Members joining after the subscription books are closed shall pay an initiation fee of 100 dollars without receiving an ownership certificate in the building.

This entire plan of membership is presented to be effective only until such time as the club, when duly organized, may adopt other rules and regulations.

National Education Week Observed Widely in U. S.

The Bureau of Education will cooperate again this year in the observance of American Education Week with the American Legion and National Education Association. This will be the fourth consecutive year in which an effort has been made to emphasize education for a week throughout the Nation. It has been decided to change the date of the week from early in December to the latter part of November. This was done largely on the suggestion of the late President Harding, who thought that the former week was too much tinged with Christmas. We have had a great many requests from various organizations and individuals asking that the week be changed. It has been decided, therefore, by mutual agreement of the organizations sponsoring the week, that this year it shall be observed November 18-24, inclusive.

As was the case last year, each day in the week will be set aside as a day of stressing some particular phase of education which is national in its needs and significance. The days of the week will be observed as follows: Sunday, November 18, For God and Country; Monday, November 19, American Constitution Day; Tuesday, November 20, Patriotism Day; Wednesday, November 21, School and Teacher Day; Thursday, November 22, Illiteracy Day; Friday, November 23, Community Day; and Saturday, November 24, Physical Education Day.

"RAT" KENNISON ATTENDING SIGMA DELTA CHI CONVENTION

Last Thursday, Conrad E. Kennison, '23, left for Minneapolis, where he is to represent Omega Chapter of the Sigma Delta Chi at the organization's annual convention. Throughout the United States there are 36 chapters of the Sigma Delta Chi. The purpose of the convention is to exchange ideas for the mutual benefit of all the chapters of this honorary journalistic fraternity. Kennison expects to be gone about ten days.

Alas! the nights are getting too cold to stand on the Balentine steps.

What Engineering Owes to the Imagination

From An Argument Over Watches Came KDKA

BACK in the days when wireless was just beginning to spread, Frank Conrad (now Assistant Chief Engineer of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company) and another official, happened to compare watches, to see if it was time to go back to work. Their watches differed.

Unable to convince his friend that his watch was right, Mr. Conrad suddenly remembered that the naval station at Arlington, Va., had just inaugurated a system for sending out daily summoned to the office of Harry Phillips Davis, Vice President of the company.

"Frank," said Mr. Davis, "I'm going to close your radio station." His attention had been attracted the night before to a simple note in a full-page advertisement, which read, "Mr. Conrad will send out phonograph music this evening."

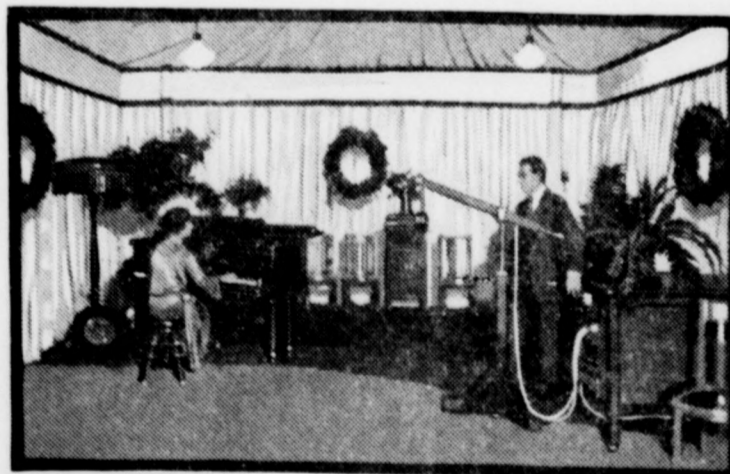

You know the rest. In November, 1920, "KDKA" was formally opened to send out election returns. It had received the first license issued by Uncle Sam. Today over 500 broadcasting stations entertain and educate millions of people each night, a wonderful result from so insignificant an argument as one over watches.

time signals by radio. Just the thing to prove his point!

So he built a simple set of receiving apparatus, erected an aerial, and—you can imagine what happened! He was badly bitten by the radio bug. After proving to his satisfaction the accuracy of his watch, he started experimenting with the transmission of music by radio, with good success.

He began sending out phonograph music from his home, and attracted the attention of some of the big department stores, that had installed radio departments. They in turn, started advertising Mr. Conrad's "musical evenings."

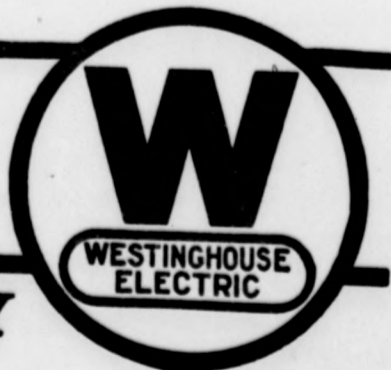

Then, one day, upon arriving at his desk, he was

Ye Economic Guild Meets

—M—
 "Parliamentary Usage" was the subject of a lecture by Prof. C. C. Janzen before an assembly of Ye Economics Guild Tuesday evening. Prof. Janzen first explained kinds of motions and organization of a meeting, and then answered questions concerning many points of Parliamentary procedure.
 The points that had just been discussed were then put to a test by holding a mock business meeting. Bruce Davenport was elected chairman. Motions and amendments, privileged motions, points of order and objections were proposed with such rapidity that, altho the chairman did valiantly, business was soon in such a jumble that it was found necessary to lay all the former motions on the table until the proper Parliamentary Usage could be determined.
 "Albo" George and "Hot" Ayer then filled the chair in succession, until "Mister" Ashworth moved that the members adjourn to their respective residences and study economics for two hours. The motion was lost for want of a second, but a motion for adjournment which followed immediately, was passed and executed.
