Just as the proper tools produce the best work, so does a responsive key action increase the efficiency of a stenographer. It saves her strength. TRACK

Colby Meet a Certainty—More Contests than Ever Before

The track season at the University of Maine has begun in earnest and coach Smith with sixty prospective candidates will do his best to turn out a team which will be a credit to the University. It would be needless to say anything in regard to the program which Mr. Smith intends to follow, for his work in training the winning B. A. A. team is a sufficient basis upon which to establish one's convictions.

The schedule this year embraces more meets than ever before and through the agencies of such, the abilities of every man will be known. The first meet will be an interclass affair in the Gymnasium on March 10th; then will follow a handicap meet, an indoor dual meet with one of the Maine colleges, a dual meet with Vermont, a dual meet with Colby, the annual interclass meet, the Maine Intercollegiate and the New England Meet.

Of course it would be impossible to make any prophecies this early in the season, for the true strength of Maine is not yet known. The loss by graduation of Fortier, last year's captain, Littlefield, the crack quarter miler, Cook in the two-twenty, Snow and Hicks in the distance runs, Winters in the pole vault, and Ray in the weight events will undoubtedly be severely felt. Again there are several underclassmen who have left including Harmon the freshman miler who gave Colbath of Bowdoin the race of his life, Murphy a dash man, Worden a high jumper, and Pond who has for several years run the hundred and two-twenty. The men who competed on last year's team and who are still in college are: 1911—Captain Smith, Walker, Ingham, Bearce, Phillips, Strout, Hammond; 1912—Deering, Houghton, Schrupf, Ash, Cavanaugh, Sullivan, Smiley; 1913—Power. All these men are now in training besides large delegations from the various classes which keep coach Smith busy throughout the day.

The Indoor Meet which comes off March 10th is considered one of the best meets of the year and brings out class rivalry and spirit to a perfection. The events will consist of 25 yard dash, 25 yard low hurdles, shot put, high jump, pole vault, 2 lap relay race, 4 lap relay, 8 lap relay and 15 lap relay.

WESTERN ALUMNI BANQUET

Much Enthusiasm Shown and Officers Elected for Ensuing Year

The Tenth Annual Banquet of the Western Alumni Association, University of Maine, was held at the Auditorium Hotel, Chicago, on Saturday evening, February 11th.

It was a most enjoyable occasion and the speeches proved most interesting, especially that of the new president, Wallace E. Belcher, '99, which gave valuable information as to the growth of the various departments at the University since its foundation. Wm. Webber, '84, and O. C. Farrington, '81, were both very interesting in their tales of Maine in her early days. The athletic toast was responded to by Maine's most famous football player, Carlos Dorticos, '03. Among other speakers were A. D. T. Libby, '98, and F. L. Martin, '01.

The toastmaster of the evening was Chas. C. Whittier, '99, who proved most entertaining and efficient in this capacity. Mr. Whittier has acted as president during the year 1910 and the success of the Association is greatly due to his untiring efforts and interest in its affairs.

The following officers were elected for the year 1911: Wallace E. Belcher, '99, President; Carlos Dorticos, '03, Vice President; Arnold W. Totman, '07, Secretary and Treasurer Executive Committee: Wm. Webber, '84, Chairman, John A. McDermott, '05, Chas. C. Whittier, '99, M. C. Wiley, '03, F. L. Douglas, '03.

At the age of 18 he was editor of the Eastern Argus Publishing Co. He is now the general manager, treasurer and owner of the controlling interests of that company. BASKETBALL 1911 vs. 1914; 33-17; 1912 vs. 1913, 34-20.

The results of last Friday's basketball games were that the Seniors won from the Freshmen by a score of 33-17 and the Juniors won from the Sophomores by 34-20. The Senior-Freshman game was fast and exciting although the captains of both teams were absent. During the last few minutes of the game, some of the fastest basketball seen in the gymnasium this year was played. In the Junior-Sophomore game, some fine team work was noticed although the shooting was poor. Smith was high man of the evening with seven baskets.

The next two games will end the series when the Seniors play the Juniors and the Sophomores play the Freshmen. If the Juniors win the next game they will be tied with the Seniors for first place and if the Sophomores beat the Freshmen they will be tied with them for third place. Although the Seniors beat the Juniors and the Freshmen won from the Sophomores in the previous games, the Junior and Sophomore teams have improved so much that the outcome is doubtful.

MUSICAL CLUBS CONCERT

Given Under Auspices of B. of L. E. at Bangor, Washington's Birthday

Under the auspices of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Musical Clubs gave a successful concert on Wednesday evening, February 22nd, in City Hall, Bangor. The Clubs were at their best, every selection on the program being expressively rendered. The spacious balcony of the hall was well filled; the main floor was cleared of seats in readiness for the ball to follow. The only decorations were colored lights formed into a large B. of L. As a result of the recent trials for the CAMPUS Board, Philip Garland, '12, W. D. Towner, '14, and F. A. Morris, '14, have been elected to the Board. The trials consisted of the candidates doing various pieces of CAMPUS work and the three best men were selected. A large number entered the trials and all did very creditable work. O. W. Mountfort, '12, was also elected assistant business manager of the CAMPUS.

TWELFTH NIGHT

First Performance at Insane Assylum Last Friday

The Masque staged the first performance of their play, Twelfth Night, at the Bangor Insane Hospital last Friday evening. The presentation was a typical first performance, which was excusable, however, in view of the great difficulties under which the cast have labored this year.

S. L. DINSMORE, '11, Olivia

Two members were absent, also, Theodore Haskell, '14, and F. T. Norcross, '14, and the parts of Malvolio and Valentine were played by Prof. Daggett and Frank Haines, '13, the assistant manager.

The men are putting in some hard work this week in preparation for the first regular performances, which will be given Thursday and Friday nights at Brownville and Milo. With these rehearsals the cast should be in very good shape to stage the play well at these towns.

UNIVERSITY COUNCIL

Several Matters Discussed at Last Meeting

Various important matters came up for consideration by the University Council at its meeting last Tuesday. The proposed class constitution was brought up and received the unanimous approval of the Council. The Council was also asked to consider the advisability of continuing the Convocation exercises at Commencement. For the past few years Convocation has dwindled from one of the most popular parts of Commencement Week to an exercise in which the students take no interest. The Council did not express themselves upon the matter, but it will probably come up at a later meeting. The committee in charge of the organization of an inter-fraternity council was asked for a report since the movement originated in the Council.

All the members were present with the exception of Prof. Boardman and W. E. Parker, '12.

M. I. A. A. MEETING

W. McDonald, '12, Elected President at the Annual Business Meeting, Feb. 25

The annual business meeting of the M. I. A. A. was called to order at 2.30 last Saturday by Pres. Emerson at the Hotel Eagle, Brunswick. The representatives of the Maine colleges present were; Sumner and McDonald of U. of M.; Emerson and McCormick of Bowdoin; Packard and Chapman of Colby; Bishop and Buck of Bates. The treasurer's report showed that the net profits of the 1910 State Track Meet were $628.28, which will be divided equally among the A. A. of the four colleges after a certain sum has been put into the M. I. A. A. treasury as a fund.

The incoming officers of the Association, McDonald, Buck, Chapman and McCormick were appointed as a committee to revise and amend the constitution subject to the approval of the athletic committees of the four colleges and later to publish the revised constitution.

A tentative list of officials for the 1911 State Track Meet at Waterville was drawn up and approved by the representatives and it was decided to have in addition to the regular list, four assistant clerks of course and four inspectors. After further discussion regarding the Meet, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Pres., McDonald, Maine; Vice Pres., Buck, Bates; Treas., Chapman, Colby; Sec., McCormick, Bowdoin. The meeting adjourned at five o'clock. Another meeting will be called by Pres. McDonald in Bangor, in April.

Professor Gardner whose resignation as a member of the faculty takes place at the end of this month, is to be succeeded by Professor E. F. Hitchings. Professor Hitchings, who was a member of the class of 1875, has been State Entomologist for a number of years.

During Professor Huddilston's absence in Europe his place will be filled by Professor Edminston.

President Aley spoke last Saturday before the North Brewer Grange.

Professor Chase visited schools in Lewiston, Auburn and Livermore Falls last Monday.

EDITORIAL.

How many of us felt a pang of shame when we heard Mr. Wingard state at the mass-meeting a week ago, that, while in numbers Maine's Athletics of the State, in the support which her students gave to athletics she by all means stood fourth? Far too few, it would seem; and yet, how many of us deserved the cut! Two cold, bare facts face the student body like great sign-boards painted with huge black letters—facts which have faced us, are facing us, and will face us unless we move. First, Maine does not, withal her numbers, win her proportionate share of state championships. Secondly, counting all the men who have reported for football, track, and baseball this year, only thirty-five per cent of the student body are candidates for varsity teams.

The latter fact is reason for the first. At Colby every male student is required to try out for some branch of athletics; at Bates it is understood that eighty-five per cent of the men students are candidates for the teams; and at Bowdoin a much larger percentage of men try for the teams than here at Maine. So that, although we have a much larger male student body than any of the other colleges in the State, the entire number of men out for our teams is no greater, and very likely less, than the number of candidates for the teams of these other colleges. Maine's teams are usually good, but they seldom are strong enough nowadays to bring home the pennant. And the reason for this condition is, that every upperclassman does not take it upon himself as a duty to set the example for the underclassmen, and the Freshmen fail to appreciate their duty to work for our teams.

It is up to you, Maine men! It is not up to the Athletic Board. There is probably not another college in New England that has the management of its athletics under a better system than that existing here. It is not up to the coaches. Not another college in Maine has better men to direct its athletics this year than Mr. Wingard, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Riley. It is not up to the 150 men who are now out for some team. They can do only so much, and no more. It is up to the three hundred and fifty men who are doing most of the prophesying and making most of the criticism. They are the men who are going to determine whether Maine shall have stronger teams or not. These 350 men can have a marked effect upon the track meets and the baseball games this Spring, but they can serve their Alma Mater still more, by setting the precedent, establishing the custom, creating the spirit, which will make every student in the University, next year and in following years, feel that he is not a part of the institution unless he is out for some team.

That is what the 350 men who now spend their time lolling about their fraternity houses or their study-rooms can do. Let every one of them take it home to himself. Will he do his part or not? Will he show his fellow-students that he is here to give a little something to the University, as well as to get all he can out of it? The ambition to get all one can out of his college course is a worthy ambition, but how much more will a man get out of this same course and out of his after life, if, while he takes advantage of the opportunities which offer themselves, he gives a little something in return for what he gains!

One of the best reasons for the formation of an inter-fraternity council here is the condition of our athletics. Mr. Wingard

The Fraternity Council Again says, and it is certainly true, that it is through the fraternity chapters only that a permanent movement may be started for increasing the number of candidates for Maine's teams. The coaches and alumni and managers may talk, but the effect of their exhortations can be little more than momentary; the fraternity chapters must set the pace, and use all the influence at their command to move their members from their indifference.

The only efforts that the chapters have exerted in the past to have their men out for athletics were made for the selfish purpose of securing honors for themselves. Rarely have they urged their men to work because, as students in the University and as members of a fraternity in the University, they owed it to the institution. How much more could the fraternities here do if, representative as they are of 350 of the student body, they would meet together through delegates, and, by talking over the conditions, fully appreciate how disgraceful is the support given to our athletics! These delegates, upper-classmen as they would probably be, would in their discussions see the matter in its true light. Each fraternity would pledge itself to do its utmost to get its men out for athletics, and when this was known and published abroad, would not each chapter work harder than it now does in order to show to the University as a whole that it has fulfilled its promise.

If it would not it would deserve to be cast out as a fraternity chapter in the University of Maine. For it has been said, and truthfully, that a man cannot be the best kind of a fraternity man if he does not always place his college before his chapter. This is as true now as it ever will be, and it is so to the shame of many a Maine man. So, if by talking the matter over on common ground and in the spirit of cooperation for the benefit of Maine, the fraternity chapters can realize, as they do not seem to do now, the dire need of all the power they can exert to swell the athletic squads and make their members understand that athletics are for the many and not the few of Maine men, would the organization of a council not be justified?

The Inter-fraternity Conference in New York, which was a meeting of some of the most prominent men in a score of fraternities, sounded an alarm which cannot long be ignored. Many serious and some apparently insolvable problems face American college fraternities today. Sooner or later the fraternities must recognize them. The state of Mississippi has driven every fraternity out of its university; the legislature of Wisconsin has instituted a rigid investigation of the fraternities at its university; and other states are taking similar measures. It behooves the fraternities to stifle at its birth an antagonistic movement which is alarming to so notable and level-headed a body as the Inter-fraternity Conference, by no longer refusing to tackle these moral, intellectual, and economic problems confronting them.

Yet, they can have far less success if each fraternity takes up the matter in its own way, than if they join forces to overcome weaknesses that are common to all. Surely there are a thousand and one reasons why there should be an inter-fraternity council in Maine.

For several years the "grind" section has been one of the features of the Prism, but it is considerable of a question in the minds of the editors just now whether the annual this year will have any grind part. To make this portion of the book readable and interesting it is necessary that a good many students lend their aid. This few have done so far this year, and Editor Chase makes an urgent appeal to every member of any class to hand in a "cracking good" joke on somebody.

Maine men are to be congratulated upon their interest and assistance in the visit of the Conference boys to the University Saturday. Many doubtless remained on the Campus in the afternoon at more or less inconvenience, and the spirit which they showed was symbolical of the idea which seems to be gaining a firmer place in the minds of the students, that they are an essential part of the institution.

POULTRY INSTITUTE

Is of Great Value to Poultry Men Throughout the State

The Poultry Institute which closed last Thursday, was an unqualified success. It was attended by about sixty practical poultry men from all parts of the state, and also by a large number of students. The attendance, from outside the University, while a large increase over last year, fell a little short of expectations. This is only the second year of the Institute, however, and as it becomes more widely known and appreciated the attendance is bound to increase rapidly. Complete reports of the meetings were made and will be published soon in pamphlet form.

These will be given wide circulation and will show the nature and value of the Institute to a great number of poultrymen who were unable to attend.

Especially attention was given, this year, to the marketing end of the business. This is a departure from the usual Institute and grange programs, which put the greater emphasis on production methods. The information presented fully justified the plan, and many words of commendation were made by those in attendance.

The production phase was covered by four lectures: Poultry Houses, by Prof. Rogers of Cornell; Poultry Feeds, by Prof. Bartlett of the Experiment Station; Breeding for Egg Production, by Prof. Pearl of the Experiment Station; and Mortality among Incubator Chickens, by Prof. Stoneburn of the Connecticut Agricultural College. Much valuable matter was brought out in these papers.

Prof. Pearl's talk, Wednesday evening, on his recent visit to Europe was of great interest. He dealt with a variety of agricultural problems as they are seen abroad, and with the methods used in meeting them. No agricultural student could really afford to miss this talk, and those who did, should be quick to avail themselves of the opportunity, should it be presented again.

The visiting poultrymen expressed themselves as well pleased with the Institute and as considering their time well spent. The credit for the success of the meetings is due to Prof. Brown and Prof. Pearl, under whose direction the arrangements were made.

ELLSWORTH TRIP

Mechanicals and Electricals Have an Enjoyable Trip of Inspection

Twenty-four Mechanical and Electrical Engineering students left Bangor at half after ten A. M., Saturday, Feb. 18, for Ellsworth to inspect the dam and power plant there. They were accompanied by Assistant Professor Curtis and Instructors Childs and Cheswell. They were shown over the immense plant which is owned and operated by the Bangor Railway and Electric Company and which supplies Bar Harbor, Veazie and several other places. The plant is run by water turbines that are supplied with water from Union River which runs over the dam at this point. The dam is a large, cement one and is hollow, thus serving the purpose of a covered bridge as well as a dam.

FACULTY NOTES

Professor E. F. Hitchings of Waterville has been secured to succeed Professor Victor R. Gardner, as head of the Department of Horticulture. Professor Hitchings has, for the past six years, been State Entomologist and is well fitted to take up the work of the department. He will assume his duties on March 1 and for a time will continue to hold his position as State Entomologist in addition to the college work.

Prof. Chase is going to visit schools in the vicinity of Thomaston next week.

Professors Boardman and Bean went to Portland last Tuesday to investigate as to the safety of the South Portland Bridge between Portland and South Portland. The hearing took place Monday in Portland but the decision has not been made public.

Y. M. C. A. BOYS

About 800 Visited the University Saturday

The University was fortunate last Saturday afternoon in having the opportunity to welcome to her Campus the boys from the Y. M. C. A. convention held in Bangor, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. There were more than a thousand representative boys from all over the state, who were met by fellows full of Maine spirit, and given a rousing reception.

When they arrived on the electric cars about four o'clock they were divided into groups of half a dozen, and taken by student guides about the college buildings. In the different halls professors of the departments were in attendance with interesting exhibits. In Lord Hall the apparatus of the electrical and mechanical departments was in operation. In Wingate Hall there was an X-ray machine which interested all the boys. In the gymnasium one of the physical training instructors was working on the ring, and trials being run on the track. The new dormitory was visited by most of the boys. Seldom does the Campus present such an animated scene as it did for an hour, Saturday. The boy scouts in uniform were much in evidence. One party of delegates was noticed wearing red bandanas.

Promptly at 4.55 the guides led the boys from the various buildings into the Chapel. A large part of the students and professors were present. The band struck up the Stein Song, and the student body joined in from the gallery. Rousing cheers were given for Maine, and the Y. M. C. A. boys. The University hymn and college songs were sung. A brief welcoming address was given by President Aley as follows:

Boys of Maine, I wish I had the eloquence to extend to you the welcome that is in my heart. We are indeed happy that you have honored us by this visit. I share the sentiment that was in the heart of the martyred Garfield when he said, "I never see a boy without feeling that I should take off my hat, for I do not know the possible greatness that may be wrapped up in him." The University of your state bows to you in recognition of your possibilities.

If you are to take your places in the front ranks of the victorious army of civilization you must be prepared. You must realize the dream of your fathers, and know more than they. You need to learn early in life that things of value are hard to win. Anybody can do the easy things. It takes a hero to do the hard ones. Get ready to be heroes! You may sometime have heard it said that our remote ancestors had a curse placed upon them when the edict went forth that man should earn his bread by the sweat of his face. I wish I could impress upon you that this was not a curse, but the greatest blessing that ever came to man. It is striving against odds that has made man what he is. If you would be men, begin early to fight hard for worthy victories.

We hope that in this visit you have caught enough of the splendid spirit of this institution to be filled with a desire to come here as students. The institution can promise you four years of opportunity, four years of splendid associations and four years of real work. We want you to come and be comrades with us in these great things.

Y. M. C. A. CONVENTION

The Third Annual Convention of the Student Christian Associations of Maine was held at Bates College on February 17, 18, 19. About one hundred college men and one hundred and twenty; five preparatory school men were present. At the same time the State Y. M. C. A. Convention was held in Lewiston and Auburn, and three joint meetings one of which was a banquet were held.

The Convention was fortunate in having some of the foremost men of the International Committee upon its program.

One of these was Chas. R. Towson, of New York, the Industrial Secretary of the Committee. Mr. Towson knows industrial conditions as few other men in this country know them, from the cotton fields of Alabama to the woods of Maine and from the sweat shops of New York City to the mines of California. He is a big man in every way and his addresses were a revelation to those who think of the Y. M. C. A. as being only a small religious organization.

Dr. A. P. Fitch of Andover Theological Seminary whom nearly every Maine man knows and admires was another of the speakers. His addresses were of the same inspiring heart to heart kind which have delighted and helped his audiences at the Vesper Services.

President Aley presided at one of the union meetings and his address, although necessarily short, occasioned many favorable comments.

The Bates College Association was a very pleasing and efficient host and all arrangements for caring for the delegates were most satisfactory.

The Maine delegates were President Aley, Dean Hart, H. R. Sargent, '11, M. D. Jones, '12, H. H. Nash, '13, L. C. Smith, '13, and S. D. Willard, '14.

CAMPUS ORGANIZATION

Board Under a New System, Making the Paper Cooperative

In an effort to make the CAMPUS less of an individual enterprise than it now is, and more of a representative publication of the University, the Board has recently made over its loose organization into an association having certain duties, restrictions, and privileges. The constitution was adopted at a meeting of the Board a short time ago and will go into effect at the time of the election of editors for next year in April.

The idea in remodeling the Board is to give each member a material interest in the paper, and to make the paper of a group of Maine students rather than a paper controlled very largely by one man. It is done because the principle of the methods always customary in carrying on the CAMPUS was wrong. Furthermore, it is believed that by placing the paper on a firmer business basis, it will be held in greater esteem by the student body and will be looked upon as more worthy of subscriptions from the Alumni. The text of the constitution and by-laws is as follows:

Constitution

ARTICLE I.

The name of this organization shall be the University of Maine Campus Board.

ARTICLE II.

The object of the Board shall be to publish, with or without a magazine section, a journal of events in and of interest to the University, which shall be known as the Maine CAMPUS, and to generally promote literary activity among the students.

ARTICLE III.

SECTION 1. The members of the Board shall be those students who have been duly elected, by a majority vote of the entire Board, to either the editorial or the business staff of the CAMPUS, together with a member of the Faculty and an alumnus or two members of the Faculty, who shall be chosen by a majority vote of the entire Board at the annual meeting.

SEC. 2. Any member may be removed from Board by a majority vote of entire members.

ARTICLE IV.

SECTION 1. The officers of the Board shall be a Chairman, who shall be the editor-in-chief of the CAMPUS, a Vice Chairman, a Secretary, and a Treasurer, who shall be either the alumnus member or one of the faculty members of the Board.

SEC. 2. Two weeks prior to the annual meeting of the Board, an auditing committee, consisting of two members, shall be appointed by the Chairman, to audit the accounts of the Treasurer and the Business Manager of the CAMPUS and to report at the annual meeting.

ARTICLE V.

The officers of the Board shall be nominated from the floor and elected by written ballot at the annual meeting, to be held during the last week in April of each year, and the candidates who shall receive a majority of the votes cast shall be declared elected and shall assume office immediately.

ARTICLE VI.

SECTION 1. It shall be the duty of the Chairman to preside at all meetings of the Board and to perform such duties as may devolve upon his office. The Vice-Chairman shall perform the duties of the Chairman in case of his absence or inability to serve.

SEC. 2. It shall be the duty of the Secretary to keep a record of proceedings of all meetings of the Board and to perform any other duties which may be designated to him.

SEC. 3. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to keep or cause to be kept an accurate account of all receipts and disbursements of the Board; to pay by cheque all properly contracted and approved bills of the Board; to deposit all funds in a bank approved by the Board; to see that the surplus, if there be any, is properly divided at the time of the annual meeting; and to make a full report at the annual meeting or at any other time that it may be called for by the Chairman or a majority of the Board.

ARTICLE VII.

A majority of the members of the Board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, but a smaller number may adjourn from time to time.

ARTICLE VIII.

This constitution may be amended by a two-thirds vote of all the members, provided that the proposed amendment is voted upon favorably at two consecutive meetings of the Board held at least a week apart.

ARTICLE IX.

This Constitution shall go into effect at the time of the annual election of the editorial and business staffs of the CAMPUS for the spring semester for 1911.

By-Laws

ARTICLE I

SECTION 1. The editorial work of the CAMPUS shall be in the hands of a staff, consisting of an editor-in-chief, a managing editor, an alumni editor, an indefinite number of associate editors, and such other editors or news agents as the Board may vote to create.

SEC. 2. The business department of the CAMPUS shall be in the hands of a business manager and an assistant business manager. It shall be the duty of the business manager to collect all subscriptions to the CAMPUS, and to have charge of the advertising dept.

SEC. 3. The editor-in-chief, the managing editor, the alumni editor, and the business manager, shall be nominated from the floor and elected by written ballot at the annual meeting of the Board.

ALUMNI NOTES

Rev. George L. Hanscom, '85, is pastor of the Union Congregational Church at Jacksonville, Florida.

Charles W. Mullen, '83, was recently elected to the State Senate to fill the place made vacant by the death of his brother. Mr. Mullen is an engineer of wide experience and his knowledge of Maine's waterways, lumber, railroads and undeveloped resources is extremely valuable. One of the monuments to his ability is the town of Millinocket, for it was he who first conceived the idea of developing a water power in the wilderness and it was his surveys and plans which reduced the idea to a business proposition.

Mr. Mullen was one of the commissioners who had charge of rebuilding the state capitol during the last year.

So popular is Mr. Mullen in his district that many of the republicans were opposed to the nomination of a man to run against him.

A. E. Silver, '02, is looking after the completion and putting into service of a 60,000 volt transmission system in Anniston, Ala. He is located with the Electric Bond & Share Co. of New York City.

Chas. M. Fulton, '10, is with a coal mining company near Halifax, N. S.

C. J. Wallace, '90, is Principal Assistant Engineer to the Town Engineer of Brookline, Mass.

W. N. Patten, '91, is with the Stone & Webster Corporation of Boston.
