SOPHOMORE HOP

Brilliant Social Event

To say that the Sophomore Hop given Friday evening, April 12, by the class of 1914 was a complete success would be putting it mildly for the affair was one of the most successful dances ever given in the gymnasium. The decorations were an entirely new departure from those used in previous years, fire-proof crepe paper in colors of red and white being used. The general scheme of an arch drooping gradually to the running track was followed; from the running track to the floor the streamers were carried down to form a drapery. With the red lights in plentiful abundance a most pleasing sight was offered. The fraternity corners as usual were handsomely decorated, the walls being covered with tapestries and banners.

The receiving line comprised Dr. and Mrs. Robert J. Aley, Prof. and Mrs. J. N. Hart, Mrs. E. A. Balentine, and Harrison Phillip Crowell, president of the sophomore class. The patronesses were Mrs. R. J. Aley, Mrs. J. N. Hart, Mrs. J. S. Stevens, Mrs. L. H. Merrill, Mrs. W. E. Walz, Mrs. E. A. Balentine, Mrs. Henrietta H. Dunn, Mrs. Bertha H. Moulton, Mrs. Mary J. Parcher, Mrs. Winnifred H. Haggett, Mrs. Ella J. Mason, Mrs. Harriet A. Lord, Mrs. Jeanette A. Harrington, Mrs. W. M. Brown.

Wayland D. Towner was floor director. His aids were P. E. Philbrook, R. H. Boothby, A. L. King, E. F. Hanson, C. M. Kelly, Jr., O. B. Higgins, R. W. Peaslee, A. L. Hayes, L. S. Jones, C. E. Swift, W. B. Pickard.

The committee was J. W. Strong Jr., chairman, H. R. Leavitt, E. A. Rand, R. S. Ferguson, H. V. Cobb.

Pullen of Bangor, furnished music for the 28 dances in his usual inimitable style. Jordan of Orono, catered for the affair. The dance orders were of white leather, with card case, and far surpassed the usual dance orders.

Among the guests were the following: Miss Lillian Forbest, Freeport; Anne Dudley, Waterford; Grace Hamilton, Biddeford; Ethel Harrigan, Bangor; Mary Kelly, Bangor; Marjorie White, Danforth; Ruth Young, Greenville; Luzetta Stearns, Millinocket; Frances Pollard, Oldtown; Marcella St. Onge, Dover; Dorothy Hayford, Doyer; Virginia Eddy; Orono;

MUSICAL CLUB TRIP

Very Successful Concerts Given

During the last part of the week before Easter vacation and the first of vacation week, the Maine Musical Clubs made one of the most successful trips ever made from the University. Everywhere there were large audiences and the trip was a great success.

Leaving Orono early Wednesday morning, the Clubs reached Haverhill in the afternoon. The concert was given in the Haverhill High School and was in charge of the Senior Class. Although this was the first concert, the boys certainly made a big hit and were kept busy handling the encores which they received.

Encouraged by the success of the night before and with a snap which lasted throughout the rest of the trip, the Clubs gave a concert in the Lynn Classical High Thursday night. The concert was managed by the alumni there and they certainly deserve credit for the audience which was present and for the fine entertainment which they afforded the Clubs.

Friday night the performance was given in the Congregational Church in Wakefield. Every seat in the vestry was filled and those along the wall had hard work to stand as they doubled with laughter and applause at the various selections.

The climax of the Massachusetts trip came Saturday night in Jordan Hall. The alumni had charge and by their efforts, there was an audience of over 800 people who helped to make the program a success by their continuous applause and appreciation. Second numbers were demanded and the Clubs certainly made a "hit." When the Maine Stein Song was sung at the end over half the audience arose and joined the singing.

The Clubs stayed in Boston Sunday with the Maine alumni and on Monday returned to Portland where they gave their last performance. The hall was filled to overflowing and the numerous encores showed the fine work of the fellows in the Clubs.

In all the concerts the fellows did their best and gave fine programs everywhere. Much of the success of the Clubs is due to the untiring efforts of Prof. Thompson.

The following program was given:

MR. WILLIAM K. HUFF RESIGNS

Mr. Max Aley to Fill Vacancy

Mr. Wm. K. Huff, who for the past year has been an instructor in English, has resigned. Mr. Huff came here at the beginning of the present year from Harvard and has proved himself an efficient instructor in his courses as well as a man ready to assist whenever possible in the college activities. He has done good work the past winter in coaching the Dramatic Club and Maine men are grateful to him. He resigned to accept a higher salaried position as sub-master of English in the MacKenzie Boys School, New York.

The services of Mr. Max Aley were secured to fill the vacancy.

NEW GRAND STAND ASSURED

Loyal Support Given by Alumni

Thanks to the untiring efforts of Coach E. R. Wingard, the University of Maine will in the near future possess an athletic field second to none in the state, and one of which it may justly feel proud. During the Easter recess Mr. Wingard visited the various Maine Alumni Associations in this state and the West in an endeavor to raise a fund sufficient for the erection of a concrete grand stand and general improvement of the athletic field. At each association, Mr. Wingard met with a welcome reception and was deeply impressed with the loyalty of the Alumni. As a result of Mr. Wingard's efforts $15,000 has been partially subscribed as follows:

Western Maine Association.....	$1,200
Penobscot Valley Association....	$2,500
Boston Association.....	2,000
New York Association.....	3,000
Pittsburg Association.....	1,200
Washington, D. C. Association...	200
Chicago Association.....	2,500

In addition to these subscriptions, members of the faculty have contributed $10 each and are to give $10 more. Dean Boardman is chairman of the committee on faculty subscriptions. All of the subscriptions are scattered through a three year term so that this year the only work to be done will be to put the field in good condition. The different associations have elected committees to facilitate and push forward the work of collection so that a modern concrete grand stand will doubtless become a reality a year hence.

DRAMATIC CLUB

The work of the Dramatic Club was somewhat hindered by the resignation of Mr. Huff who was coaching the play but the services of Mr. Max Aley have been obtained and the work is now going on with renewed vigor. Mr. Aley has had much experience along this line having dramatized several plays which have been staged with great success. The first trip of the club comes April 25 and 27, when performances will be given in Winter Harbor and Bar Harbor. The Portland trip comes the last of May.

"M" CLUB MINSTRELS

For various reasons it will be impossible to present the "M" Club Minstrels this spring.

EDITORIAL.

There has been some little agitation of late in regard to a man taking part in both of the major athletic sports which are participated in during the spring months. It appears to be senseless for a body of students in one section of the campus or those who are interested particularly in either spring sport to attempt to say whether a man shall or shall not take part in either sport or both of them. The decision lies with the man who is to take part. It is his own college course, his own University to serve and he must bear the responsibility for his own acts. Any argument or hard feeling engendered by the decision of a man for one sport or the other not only weakens both teams in their support, but hurts University spirit. If any such antagonism has been started, those involved should get together in a spirit of fairness and loyalty to Maine athletics and compromise on a course which will be most beneficial to the University.

A man who is placed in the difficult position of an asset to both teams must make his decision for himself, and it should be founded on love for the University and desire to serve her athletic interests in the best way outside of personal profit. The Athletic Board of the University has made the following ruling which seems fit and proper: "A student may be a candidate for as many athletic teams as he desires providing he is physically able, and in all cases the board will see that the coaches in the employ of the association train the student to the best of their ability." This surely throws the responsibility for the decision on the student. We believe the student should look the matter squarely in the face. He should meet the coaches of all the sports in which he is interested together with the Athletic Director of the University, go over the ground with them carefully and find out the probable effect that any decision that he may make will have on the success of all of the teams. Then, with the best interests of the University at heart he must decide. The honest decision may mean sacrifice, it may mean hard work with no thanks, but the man who enters University athletics owes the University his best ability and his duty is clear.

The spring athletics are upon us at last. Next Friday the baseball team opens at Waterville and the outdoor track season commences with the interclass meet on Alumni Field on April 27 and the state track meet less than four weeks away. As usual, this year the student body will go to Brunswick on a special train for the state meet. It is essential that every man should go to Brunswick on this trip, and if every man is to go, they should begin to plan now. The meet promises to be the closest in many years, and no Maine man can afford to miss the wonderful fight that the Maine team will put up on Whittier Feld.

This seems to be a hard year financially all over the Campus, and the class assessments and other payments are in many cases being felt severely. It appears as if college activities as a whole were costing the average student too much money. Without any marked growth in the size of the several classes in the past five or six years the nature and plans of class functions have become more and more elaborate. Each class has tried to outdo the previous class without regard to cost. As a result class affairs have greatly outgrown the institution in cost at least. In a great many cases, money, has been wasted due to the inefficiency of committees and disinclination to work on the part of many students. In the past decorations have been procured in turn for the Sophomore Hop, the Military Hop, the Junior Promenade, and the Commencement Ball at great expense and destroyed at the end of each dance at a total loss. It seems as though an arrangement might be arrived at by which some of the material might be used a second time. Many students reason that everybody has a good time and therefore that it is all worth the money. A large number of students, though, cannot afford such expense. The majority of Maine men come here primarily for an education which can be received from books and from many other sources, and probably to the majority a college course means hard work and sacrifice to themselves, if not for others. We believe that this class of men cannot honestly afford the class functions as they are now given, and it is certainly wrong to set standards at this University that the average student cannot afford to follow. The action of the Faculty in limiting the cost of the Prism seems a step in the right direction and further action seems necessary. We believe, however, that such actions and regulations would be much more acceptable to the student body as a whole if they came from a properly constituted student council with the sanction of the Faculty. If limitations were put on the cost of class functions we believe that it would not hurt the pleasure of the affairs in the least and that the guests of the classes would appreciate the conditions and respect the men of Maine for the stand that they had taken.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE CAMPUS:

We are especially fortunate in having on our campus a growing library of 50,000 volumes. Yet many of those whose courses require considerable reference work find such work in our library very hard. The reason for this is that bound volumes of current literature are allowed to be taken from the library for three weeks if desired. It always vexes one who has prepared a choice bibliography to find that many of his references are to magazines that are missing.

Debaters, speakers, and lecturers constantly refer to Pooles' Index and the Reader's Guide. The magazines listed therein should always be at hand. As it is, very often the very volume one desires is lying unused on someone's desk, awaiting the librarian's notice that it is overdue. Every effort should be made to keep so prolific a source of information as periodical literature as complete as possible, for the value of a library depends on its completeness. A twenty-four hour rule would accomplish this object.

The latest issues of the magazines may be found on shelves in the reading room. Below these are drawers containing the back numbers. January first each year the librarian sends these away to be bound. They remain in the bindery until May or June. Why would it not be better to send these much used periodicals to the binder during the summer months when they are not needed? As it is, one cannot have the use of the latest information on a subject, because its chief source is in the bindery during the period at which its greatest demand is felt.

If these matters could be remedied, our library would be made more efficient and would be an increased benefit to both faculty and students.

G. C. CLARK, '13.

At a meeting of the Athletic board last Tuesday evening the elections of Maurice Bird as captain, and C. E. Chandler as manager of tennis were ratified. Medals were also awarded for the interscholastic meet. Mr. Wingard reported a successful trip to the various alumni associations for the purpose of raising money for a new grandstand. He was authorized by the board to visit the New York and other alumni associations in order to keep up the interest on the athletic field improvements.

Marked Close of a Most Successful Seasons

A small crowd heard the excellent debate between the Sophomores and Juniors held in Alumni Hall on the evening of March 26. The question was, "Resolved, that the history of trade unions for the past twenty years shows a tendency detrimental to the best interests of the country." and the Juniors who had the affirmative were the winners both on constructive argument and on refutation. The Junior speakers were P. S. Bolton, E. N. Woodsum, and G. C. Clarke; while the negative was supported by E. B. Harvey, H. R. Clark, and W. D. Towner. The main issues advanced by the affirmative, that the unions show a tendency detrimental to the best interests of the country because of the effect upon the laboring man, of the effect upon the industrial development of the country and because of the moral significance of the question, clashed with those of the negative. The refutation on both sides was snappy. All the speakers were good and the debate as a whole was of a high order. President Robert J. Aley acted as chairman and the judges were Hon. Charles J. Dunn, Rev. John M. Harrington, and Rev. Joseph B. Lyman.

Maine is falling into line with the other colleges of New England in this student activity and another year the University should put forth a team capable of representing us in an inter-collegiate contest. An additional class contest has taken place this year, the Sophomore-Junior debate, and next year all four classes will doubtless be represented by teams. An interscholastic debating league has been formed and this will turn material toward Maine. The contest for the $30 scholarship in the interclass debates was keen and served to arouse interest. Both of the contests in Alumni Hall were of a high order and all indications point to a series of interclass debates and a 'varsity debating team next year.

TRACK

Squad Working Faithfully

Although Maine lost several point winners by graduation last year, the outlook for a winning track team is not altogether discouraging. Quite a number of the men who ran last year are back and are showing up well. There is also considerable material from the Freshman class that looks very promising. Altogether there are about thirty-five men reporting for practice regularly and they are working hard to turn out a championship team.

The new board track has been abandoned in order to get cinder track practice as early as possible. Owing to the fact that the track on Alumni Field is not yet in condition for running, the smooth, cinder-covered bed of the railroad is

BASEBALL

First Game Next Friday

It is somewhat early in the season to make any definite statement as to the baseball situation here at Maine. The men have been working steadily in the cage for some time and only began outdoor practice the early part of last week. The squad includes but few old men, which fact makes the outlook a little more unsettled. There is some promising material in the Freshman class, but as these men are new nothing certain can be said of them as yet. There are included in the squad about ten pitchers, four of whom will probably be depended upon. The squad will have its first try-out at Waterville next Friday in the usual Patriot's Day contest with Colby. Maine and Colby both have a lot of green material, which fact makes the result of the coming game uncertain. Maine believes she has material that can hold its own with Colby. A number of men will probably take the trip for a try-out and the game will afford good opportunity to size up the comparative strength of the two teams as well as the individual players. The following Saturday Maine goes to Lewiston to play Bates. Of the three colleges Bates has probably the best chance for victory. She has a large number of old man who should make a good showing against our squad of new men. The prospects are fair for a good team, but not until after the Colby and Bates games can anything definite be said regarding our chance for the state championship.

FRIDAY CHAPEL TALK

At the Friday morning chapel service Prof. J. H. Huddilston gave an interesting talk on the Home Rule of Ireland. He showed the importance of the right for which Ireland has been struggling for the past century. He said he believed that Ireland is at last coming into her own and that the bill which is now being debated in Parliament will doubtless pass, and give to Ireland a House and Senate of her own.

MINING POTASH IN GERMANY

Do Fertilizers Pay?

The Government and Educational "Authorities" spend considerable public money in printing contradictory statements on this point.

Great fortunes have been made in manufacturing fertilizers. They evidently pay the makers.

Farmers continue to increase their fertilizer purchases, indicating that they are profitable to the farmer.

But are the kinds which the manufacturers prefer to sell the most profitable to the farmer? Do they give the greatest profit consistent with maintaining the productiveness of the soil? Or do they merely supply the element most needed at the moment and reduce the available supply of the other elements?

The average fertilizer contains 4 times as much phosphoric acid as Potash. The average crop takes from the soil 3 times as much Potash as phosphoric acid. You can guess the answer. Use more Potash, for
