GAY WINS BY LANDSLIDE

By JAMES BOCZAR, News News Editor

As the final totals were tabulated in the Class of '69 election, four men, Alvin Gay, president; Patrick King, vice-president; Paul Corden, secretary; Thomas Alter, treasurer; were chosen to serve their class in the dual position of class officers and class representatives to Student Council. Alvin Gay carried a 70% majority in his winning of the top spot, while the other three officers sweated through a close vote count which saw a final separation of only 21 votes between the vice-president and the sixth man.

One surprising disappointment was that only 574 votes were cast out of a possible 740, for a 78% turnout.

Alvin Gay was interviewed to see where he intended to lead his class, as a president who received a mandate for action in the form of 404 votes. Mr. Gay responded, "It will be my aim during the course of the year to work as closely as possible with my fellow officers, to insure that the Freshman class is well represented in all areas of concern. I have been given the honor and opportunity to serve the students in a very responsible position. I would like to thank them for the faith they have placed in me and for the opportunity to serve them."

"We have before us a challenge, the challenge of greatness and distinction. This challenge demands not only the leadership and efforts of the officers, but also the individual leadership and efforts of every member in order for this challenge to be met."

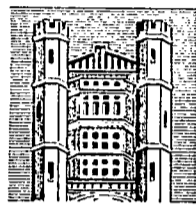

Patrick King (198 votes), Paul Corden (193 votes), and Thomas Alter (185 votes), expressed unanimously the feeling of relief that the campaign was over and enthusiasm for the unending possibilities for the upcoming year.

One Freshman attending the induction of the Class of '69 officers at the Tuesday night session of council stated, "I feel that the class did extremely well in their choice of officers. There is no doubt in my mind that these four men will devote themselves totally to fulfill the responsibility placed on their shoulders by members of the class."

Political Scientist in D. C.

Keck Serves as Gilligan's Aide

by WILLIAM SOLLMANN
News Feature Editor

Spend your summer working in Washington! Sound interesting? William Keck, '66, executive editor of the News, thought so and did something about it.

Last January, Bill noticed an application from the Ohio Center for Education and Politics at Western Reserve University for history and political science majors interested in a political internship at either the state legislature or the federal congress.

He filled out the form which required two essays on topical questions of the day, two personal recommendations, and a detailed biographical sketch and sent it in. By March he received word from Dr. William P. Irwin, director of the program that he was selected from hundreds of applicants to work in Washington on a congressman's staff.

About one week later, a letter from John J. Gilligan, congressman from Ohio's first district, came inviting Keck to come to Washington as soon as the semester was over. Bill said he had "no idea that I would be on Congressman Gilligan's staff, but I was more than pleased when I found out."

The Ohio Center for Education and Politics provided $400 as an educational grant. Once there, Bill and the other congressional interns were put on the Federal pay roll by a bill initiated by Congressman John Brademas of Indiana.

KECK'S FIRST official duty was to conduct the Cincinnati area high school study tours around Washington. He did this for three weeks and became familiar with most of the government departments and many of the men in them. He met and talked with former Cincinnati Supreme Court Justice Potter Stewart and former Councilman Theodore Berry who is now working in the Office of Economic Opportunities for President Johnson's "War on Poverty."

"Later my work schedule was divided," Bill added. "I worked under Dr. John Grupenhoff, Gilligan's administrative assistant, in the morning and Legislative Assistant Dr. Ed Wagner in the afternoon. At all times, however, I was on call to the Congressman." Both Dr. Grupenhoff and Dr. Wagner formerly taught at Xavier.

Under Dr. Wagner's direction, Bill was able to spend about three weeks in the Library of Congress doing research on the human resources of the Midwest in preparation for a joint bill to go before the House of Representatives. As part of the Congressman's staff, he was required to attend various committee meetings for the House and State Department briefings.

On call to Congressman Gilligan, Bill commented he would "often have to run to another Representative's office with a verbal message and bring back his reply to Mr. Gilligan when there wasn't time to correspond.

"Two nights a week there was a Democratic Study Group seminar as part of the training. Here representatives from the State Department, both Senators Kennedy, Adam Clayton Powell, and others would deliver a talk followed by discussion periods. It proved very informative."

Mr. Keck attended Adlai Stevenson's state funeral as part of office staff. In the same capacity he witnessed the President sign various bills into law at the White House.

Most other interns that Bill met were from eastern schools. "Each intern's activity was regulated by the individual Congressman. In comparison to the others, I feel that Mr. Gilligan gave me a greater diversity of duties and functions than the others, thereby giving me a larger scope than most. I truly learned what it means to be a Congressional Aide."

Bill Keck plans to go on to law school after graduation. He wants to set up legal practice with an eye to some political activity in Butler County. For a man with an interest in government, his summer will be hard to forget. "I worked the hardest that I ever have in my life. Yet it really wasn't work."

Masque Opens

Jim Luken and Mary Maloney are involved in the love sections of an evening with e. e. cummings, the original play which will open the Masque Society's 1965-66 season and also the new University Center Theater on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, October 29-31. There will be two Saturday night performances, which will enable students to attend the play at 7:00 p.m. and the Homecoming dance later in the evening.

"Hello, Lyndon?"

Entertainment Changed As Homecoming Draws Near

Many new ideas are floating from the Homecoming committee concerning the parade before the football game. Steve Heinen, co-chairman of the Homecoming committee, announced, "The floats I've seen are excellent. Everyone is hoping that the floats this year will match the success of our fantastic football team with an equally great parade." The parade this year will take place at one o'clock, before the football game.

Incentive for a good float is higher this year, too. Student Council has decided to award a first place trophy to the winning entry. Also new this year is the fact that the Dorm Council has announced that they will present a trophy to the best float entered by a dorm group.

Big changes have been made in the entertainment offering. Former Mouseketeer Donna Loren has cancelled her engagement at the Musketeer Homecoming. Dale Wright and the Wright Guys have also been removed from the agenda. Instead, the Four Saints have been booked along with the previously scheduled Buddy Roger's band. Since many of the local students have seen the Saints quite often in the Cincy area, the group has promised the committee that they will appear with an entirely new act.

The five finalists in Wednesday and Thursday's election will be announced Monday morning. The queen will be crowned by the Very Rev. Paul L. O'Connor, President of Xavier, at the halftime of the Homecoming football game.

The list of queen hopefuls includes: Kathy Bonfield, Husman Hall; Marie Bourgeois, XU Band; Diane Dresmann, Brockman Hall; Pat Eilerman, French Club; Jane Lampe, Student Volunteer Service; Mary Ann Owens, Clef Club; Kathy Redmond, Marion Hall; Patti Romes, Sophomore class; Nancy Grube, Slack House; Jane Hauserman, Campus Student Association; and Sue Fallon, Psychology Club.

Keck Around Campus

The Homecoming Queen race is by now decided, although the names of the queen and her court will not be announced until Monday. This year's candidates appear to be of the same standards as previous years, but there was some doubt at the beginning of the school year that the choice of candidates would be up to par.

There has been some talk among Student Council members about changing the existing rules for the qualification and welcoming the girls from the Mount, OLC or Good Samaritan into the competition. Those in favor of this proposal argued that in the other queen races on campus, i.e., Military Ball, Junior Prom, etc., there has been a definite problem in selecting a girl from our Evening Division who has not already run in the Homecoming election. The problem has usually been solved by having a boy run as king, thus allowing any girl to accompany him.

By broadening the competition to our three sister schools, it is said that we would alleviate the concern of unrestricted entries for queen under the king plan, and would definitely add more of a collegiate atmosphere to the girls schools. Accompanying this is the reference that many girls enter Xavier's Evening Division with the primary concern or dream of becoming the Queen of Homecoming. This fact is attested to by a full page advertisement on the back of the Evening Division class schedule.

This promised opportunity for "advancement" should not really be a question to the girl's sincerity in getting a college education, but it is sometimes wondered how many girls who run in the Homecoming race ever are able to compile more than twelve credit hours?

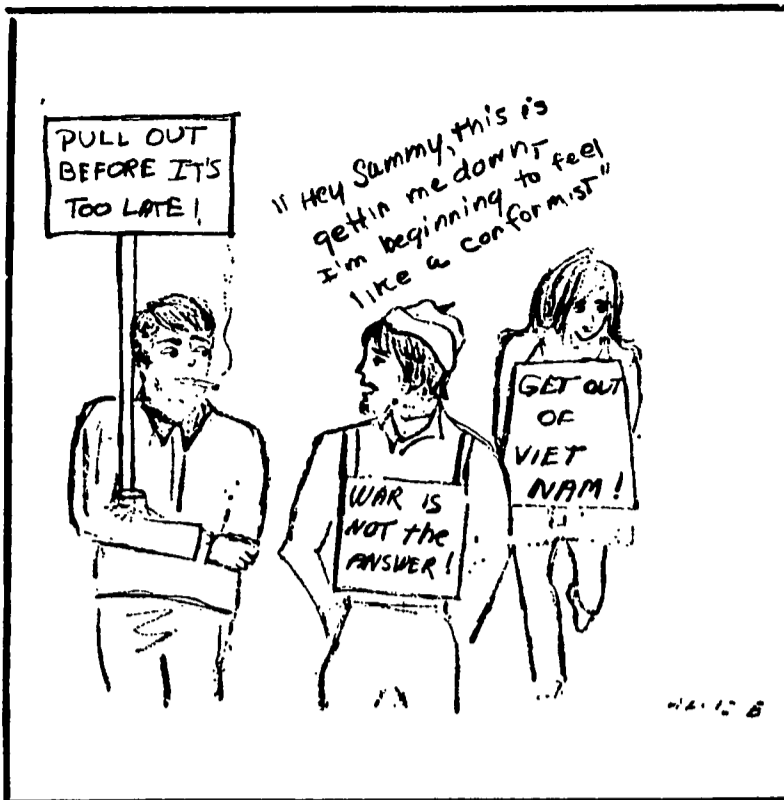

The fact remains that the tradition of selecting a Xavier student as queen is deeply embedded into our minds during our four short years here. There would probably be too many disadvantages in having a college girl run for queen because of the rules and the interruption of classes in our sister colleges.

FRUGING AT LISTERMAN'S. Mike Boylan, chairman of the sophomore class advisory board, announced last Friday that the class will hold a dance this Saturday night from 8:30 to 12:30 at Listerman's Cafe. The evening will be highlighted by inexpensive ($2.00 per couple), atmosphere (the New Four Band), and good times (plenty of beer).

The Sodality has the mixer tonight and offers an unusual evening of entertainment. In addition to the Majestics, chairman Phil Schmidt says that everyone there will witness the premier performance of the Xavier Axmen. This newly-formed and unique duo, Mike Mullen and past-editor of the News, Terry Wallace, has put together a fine show of folk and guitar music. The News staff wishes Terry the best of luck and greater success with this new endeavor than he had with the News.

NICK CONFLITTI, who heads the Chabanel House of the Students Volunteer Services Bureau, invites any Xavier students interested in interstate volunteer programs to attend a meeting this Sunday at Mount St. Joseph College. The possibility of co-sponsoring the adoption of an Appalachian parish will be discussed in light of the increased membership in the Bureau. Dr. Anderson, moderator of the group, conservatively estimated the membership enrolled at 250 students. When asked about the future membership goal, he stated that he "will be happy when they can get 2,200 students interested."

Last Friday the first meeting of the Academic committee was presided over by the new academic chairman, Tom Hermes. Although getting off to a slow start and having Larry Schlemann, the intended chairman for this year, resign to attend medical school at the University of Cincinnati, this committee of Student Council has several ambitious academic program reforms. After up-dating the honors board, Tom and his committee of six intend to investigate the need for plus and minus on the grades placed on the transcript, to evaluate the academic counselling offered by the different departments, and to try to renew a workable system of teacher evaluation. Any student or professor comment on these projects is welcome.

Number, Please!

It struck us recently, as we were frantically searching for a fellow student's telephone number, that it is a great inconvenience to be without a student directory until November or December.

It must be particularly frustrating for those freshmen who have to get in touch with a classmate, since they don't even have last year's directory to refer to.

We realize the great trouble that is involved in obtaining the information needed to put together the directory. Therefore we feel that it would be worthwhile for Student Council to ask for a volunteer staff (in much the same way as the Musketier and News staffs are filled) who would be willing to contribute their time and effort in order to have the directories available at an earlier date — say in October.

We also realize that this would be a thankless job for the staff. It would obviously take men with a desire to contribute much to the university community, with the prospect of getting little or nothing in return.

If no such volunteers are available, perhaps the only course of action left would be for Council to offer a small stipend for incentive. If this is the only way in which we can have the directory at a reasonable date, then perhaps it would be better to take a small financial loss in lieu of general inconvenience to the student body.

No Parking

A large number of students have recently been parking in private parking lots near the campus, drawing complaints from the companies owning the lots. Until this time the companies have left the matter in the hands of the school; however, if the practice is not quickly brought to a halt, they will resort to police or legal action, resulting in unnecessary expense to the guilty students. Cars parked in these private lots will be towed away and impounded.

The companies with these lots near campus have been extremely cooperative in making the lots available for football games and on other occasions when large numbers of people come to the campus. Obviously, this cooperation could be easily lost if students continue to use the private lots during the day when the various companies need their parking areas.

Prom or Mixer?

As stated last week in the News, Joe Trauth, third term president of the junior class, announced that plans for the Junior Prom have been completed. We would like to ask Mr. Trauth to revise the plans and to depart dramatically from precedent, that is, to make the Prom a strictly formal affair. What was before an accepted practice has acquired the status of an unwritten law that is harder to break than it is to revise the constitution.

News Platform For Progress At Xavier

If you were to take a survey of U. S. universities, the percentage having as their social event of the year a formal dance would probably run close to 99 44/100%. It wouldn't be surprising if close to a third of these have two or more formal dances.

Last year Coach Ruberg said that athletics at Xavier were definitely on the upswing. If you asked Father O'Connor, he would tell you that education at Xavier has improved yearly. But socially? Socially Xavier has regressed to the white levis and sport shirt level. The Junior Prom is only a Friday night mixer in reverse—the freshmen and sophomores stay at home and the upperclassmen come. The situation really becomes ridiculous when we tune in the rumor mills and hear that the Mount and OLC (Edgecliff?) refuse to hold formal affairs because they are afraid of Muskie refusals.

How about it, Mr. Trauth, will your class take the big step and break precedent?

Behind the Demonstrations

"Get out of Viet Nam!" There is greater significance to this protest chant than meets the eye. Figure, if you will, the aspects of real detriment our country is receiving from the present anti-Viet Nam demonstrations—then note a positive way they have warned us.

The action of these students and young men (this distinction is made by the observation that women are curiously not demonstrating or burning draft cards) points to a definite level of intellectual decline and traitorous attitude in our generation. Besides foiling their own desired effort to get out of the war, by giving the enemy the will to fight harder and longer under the impression that our country is divided, these demonstrators are proving themselves selfish and cowardly.

It is almost as hard for us in a Catholic university to understand the action of these demonstrators, as it is, for example a northerner to fully realize some of the deep hatreds in the south. For us the defense of our country and the holding of principles at any cost is accepted as valid now as in the time of our own revolution.

The real problem that is foreseen is the activity of these demonstrating students and their warped philosophy changing to the political sphere of influence in our future government. To offset the extension of the appeal of these topic demonstrations and their leaders into gaining a political majority in years to come, we are going to have to produce leaders qualified enough to combat them successfully. This is the positive lesson we have learned or will learn. The lack of, or confusion in our national philosophy and goal has augmented these young men who stand before us and ask "Why?"

Letters to the Editor

Masque Defends Opening Night

Dear Sir:

The MASQUE of Xavier University would like to take this opportunity to congratulate this year's News staff on the quality of their first editions of The Xavier News.

However, in regard to your editorial of October 15, 1965, as President of the Xavier MASQUE, there are a few points I would like to clarify. First of all, it was stated in the editorial that the MASQUE seemed to use a lack of discretion in choosing the weekend of October 29 to November 1 (Homecoming Weekend) as the premiere date of the new University Theatre. The question was also raised as to why an evening with e. e. cummings, a program which was presented last year, was chosen as the initial offering of this year's season. In answer to these questions, may I submit the following explanation.

It had originally been planned by our staff to premiere on the weekend of October 22, 23 and 24 with the production of The Skin of Our Teeth by Thornton Wilder. However, having been notified in mid-September that the Theatre facilities would not be at our disposal until mid-October, and since Thornton Wilder's play requires much technical preparation, it was decided to reverse the order of our first and second shows. This is the reason why an evening with e. e. cummings, which had originally been planned as our second presentation, was re-scheduled for that weekend. In late September we were further notified that the weekend of October 22, 23 and 24 would not be available to us because of construction delays in the completion of the Theatre facilities. It was also requested by the Administration that our show coincide with the dedication of the new Student Center, which will occur during the weekend of Homecoming.

As regards the statement "an evening with e. e. cummings is a rerun," I would like to answer that this dramatization has been greatly revised; and while bearing a similarity to last year's performance, it delves deeper into the meaning of Mr. Cummings' poetry. I would also state that the Cummings show is considered to be by many the finest original script of this type ever produced in this area.

In reference to the item concerning our lack of coordination with the Homecoming Committee, it can easily be seen that while approximately 15,000 persons will attend this year's Homecoming game to see Xavier's Musketeers extend their winning streak to seven games, a maximum of only 2,000 persons will be present at the victory celebration afterward. This is due not to the lack of spirit or interest on the part of the Xavier rooters, but rather is due to the lack of facilities for the Homecoming dance.

It may also be noted that in five of the eight years that our present director, Mr. Otto Kvapil, has been at this institution, the theatrical group of XU has scheduled performances on Homecoming weekend and have always been found to add to the spirit of the festivities.

While it is the policy of our group to keep the students of this university foremost in our minds, the fact that we have a commitment to the general public of this area cannot be overlooked. This factor was also considered in our decision to schedule two performances on Saturday evening, October 30.

This letter has not been submitted as an apology but rather as a clarification as to why we proceeded as we did.

Sincerely yours,
Richard A. Kohler,
President, The Xavier University MASQUE.

Bell Applauded; Yells Denounced

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS:

For those who ventured to Athens last weekend I am sure that all those present would heartily agree that student support via the Victory Bell was in no small way responsible for the Muskies' thrilling come-from-behind victory over Ohio U. I have, however, my doubts whether some students attended the game to cheer the "Xavier 11" on to victory or to display their high school cheers on the quality of the officiating. I feel that cheers as "Go Muskies," or "We want a touchdown" are much more effective than those of "The referee's old lady wears combat boots," or "The referee is a dirty old man," which are not very original anyway.

Sincerely,
Tim Schilling, '68

Fr. Kenney Hits HIP Reporting

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS:

It is sometimes necessary in life to be philosophical about things. False reasoning from incomplete reporting was something that could be borne when it appeared in the second issue of the News, but when it reappears in the fourth issue, perhaps we had better have some facts, do some reasoning, and ask some questions about the Philosophy HIP sections.

Since the News reporter initiated a comparison between the Philosophy and Economics HIP sections, he should have reported not only the surface similarity of a common name, but far more importantly, the large differences in the pools of personnel, the modes of recruiting, etc.

We will pass over in silence (though the editor may deem it relevant, the origin of the idea of HIP; let us concentrate on the purpose of these sections: "to provide the opportunity for more intensive training not only for Philosophy majors, but also for other interested students" (News, Apr. 9, 1965). Only in view of this purpose can a criterion of "success" or "disappointing results" be set up. Clearly the criterion of success cannot be the large or small number of bodies in the classroom—as the XU News story baldly assumes. On this criterion the happiest marriage is the marriage which involves the largest harem; the Cafeteria is the most successful of all Xavier classes.

But if Mark Hopkins is right, success in an educational venture is what goes on within and between one professor and one student. His HIP school involved, as you recall, only a real teacher, a real student, and a real log.

Before the first story (Oct. 1, 1965) I pleaded with the reporter to wait until the experiment had been tried, and then to ask the teacher and the students about the non-success or success of the experiment. He couldn't wait for real results, so he fabricated a false criterion and thus found "disappointing results" — fewer bodies.

"Ah, buddy. Ah, buddy." Do you see why it's hard to be philosophical in some circumstances?

Hopefully,
W. H. Kenney, S.J.,
Chairman, Philosophy Dept.

"Rallies for All"

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS:

I would like to comment on the renewed spirit of Xavier. We read and hear quite a lot about a NEW Xavier image not only in respect to spirit at athletic contests, but also in regards to the other aspects of college life. I think we should remember that this year is not a first attempt but rather a RENEWAL of the Xavier image.

If we are to do our part in furthering the Xavier tradition we must be very careful in selecting the best to lead this drive, and in this respect the Xavier News and the Student Council must assume a great deal of the leadership.

The Xavier-UC game is a fine example of the strides we are making. We can also look at our pep rallies with a great deal of pride, even though they show more the efforts of the on-campus students. These examples, however, have our winning football team as the chief ingredient. The student body must remember that spirit is our department and not the sole responsibility of the athletic department. To assure a continuation in the building of the Xavier image all the campus organizations must contribute their share through responsible leadership. We must be cautious not to be satisfied with our accomplishments, but rather we must always look for new ways to strengthen what is so well underway.

Homecoming is an excellent opportunity to add to the Xavier spirit. Perhaps an evening pep rally the night before the game would be attractive to the off-campus students as well as the dormies. I'm sure a lot of girls would appreciate an opportunity to attend a Xavier rally. This has been done on many campuses with great success.

In planning activities consideration should be given to appealing to ALL X students, for it is ALL X men that form the Xavier image. We have a good thing going and let's not let anything happen to it.

Pat Howard,
Brockman Hall.

Art Gallery to Open Soon; Features Valuable Rubens

Of all the new facilities and projects to appear on Xavier's campus this year, the one which has invited the least publicity is the Xavier University art gallery.

Up to this time, the art gallery has been a rather closely guarded secret. Located on the northwest corner of the campus, the gallery houses several dozen original paintings, collectively worth well over a million dollars.

The gallery is largely the work of Rev. John N. Felten, Associate Professor of Classical Languages at Xavier. Father Felten began the early stages of his project several years ago. It is still in its final stages.

In 1958, Father Felten obtained the use of an old carriage house adjacent to Marion Hall, used at that time for storage. The garage was filled with what he refers to as "junk," including several large, corroded vats of war surplus chemicals used by the science departments.

Father Felten, assisted by men from Marion Hall, removed all these things, then refloored the building, repainted it, and added soundproofing panels and electric lights. Then he moved the valuable paintings from Marion Hall, where they had been stored in closets. A professional arranged them in the gallery.

In the exact spot where the chemical vats once stood, there now hangs a large oil painting by Peter Paul Rubens, depicting the death of the Roman philosopher Seneca. It is valued at $700 thousand.

All the paintings are originals. Some are quite valuable. The collection covers three and a half centuries of art.

There is also an exhibit of valuable porcelain figures, on loan from a private collector. Father Felten commented that he refuses to even touch the figures, that he lets all handling of them be done by the owner.

A few of the oils are also on loan, but the greater part of the collection is owned by the University. Some are gifts from an anonymous donor. Others were given by alumni and friends of the University.

Father Felten has gone to the trouble to build this permanent exhibit so that the students may be exposed to good art.

School Enrollment Announced

The Registrar's Office has released the following enrollment statistics for the first semester of the current school year, 1965-66: The College of Arts and Sciences has 1,530 students this year compared with 1,332 last year for an increase of 13%; the College of Business Administration has 692 students compared to 592 last year for an increase of 14%.

In the Evening College there are 581 male students compared with 596 last year for a decrease of 3%; at the same time there are 271 female students compared to 275 last year for a decrease of 1%. Altogether in the Evening College there are 852 students enrolled compared to 871 for a decrease of 2%; however, there is an increase in the number of full-time students in the Evening College with 110 full-time male students and six full-time female students.

The Graduate School registers 1,629 male students compared with 1,478 students last year for an increase of 9% while the number of female students increased from 295 students last year to 410 students this year for a 28% increase; altogether enrollment in the Graduate School has jumped from 1,773 last year to 2,039 this year for a 13% increase.

In all the divisions of Xavier, there are 4,491 male students enrolled as compared to 4,104 last year for an increase of 9% while the female population has jumped from 570 last year to 681 this year for a 16% increase. Altogether there are 5,172 students enrolled at Xavier this year as compared to 4,674 students last year for an increase of 10% over last year.

Breakfast Dialogue

A unique plan has been set up by the Very Rev. Paul L. O'Connor, S.J., President of Xavier University, the purpose of which is to increase communication and understanding between the student body and administration.

Father O'Connor plans to invite various members of the student body to be his guests at a series of breakfasts, the first being on Tuesday, October 26.

The list for the first breakfast includes president of Student Council, William Jeremiah; the respective class presidents, James Kenkel, Joseph Trauth, Edward Kluska, and Alvin Gay; Xavier News editor, James Gels; Musketeer editor, Lawrence McGee; Alpha Sigma Nu president, Kevin Hunt; Dormitory Council president, Robert Deters; Student Council Social Committee chairman, J. Brendan Ryan; WCXU station manager, Edward Keenan; Student Volunteer Services president, Nicholas Conflitti; and Student Council president of the Evening Division, Miss Patti Romes.

XU, WILLIAMS EDGE BOBCATS

Shoot for Six And Revenge Against Moccasins

By JIM ARANDA
News Sports Editor

Xavier did it again. Ohio University became the fifth victim of Carroll Williams & Co. last Saturday in Athens, O., as the Muskies rode the junior quarterback's passing arm to a 21-19 victory.

Trailing 17-15 late in the fourth quarter, Xavier moved within scoring range, only to have the drive ended by a fumble. The Bobcats recovered on the two-yard line, but were forced to punt as the Muskie defense held them to six yards in three plays. XU wingback Jim Davis returned the punt to the Ohio U. 40-yard line.

Only 1:40 showed on the scoreboard clock, but that was enough for the explosive Mr. Williams. He hit end Dan Abramowicz with a perfect pass along the sideline, and Abramowicz raced untouched into the end zone with Xavier's fifth straight win.

The first half belonged entirely to Ohio U. An interception by Glenn Hall started the Bobcats moving towards their first TD. With fullback Wash Lyons and alternating QB's Bob Brown and John Edwards moving the ball well, Ohio covered 62 yards in 15 plays with the score coming on a five-yard Brown-to-Bogan combination.

The Bobcat defense, meanwhile, charging and blocking like never before, repeatedly threw Williams for losses. Carroll was able to complete only four of eight tosses for 33 yards in the first half.

Xavier waited until the third quarter to crack the scoring column. An exchange of punts gave the Muskies possession on their own 33. A pass to Walt Mainer for 24 yards and a six-yarder to Abramowicz put XU on the Ohio 39-yard line. One more pass was enough as Mainer slipped by a Bobcat defender, gathered in Williams' toss and raced into the end zone. Ray Dankel's kick tied the score at 7-7.

Ohio used two fine runs by halfbacks Marc McClain and Samuel Bogan to chalk up their second score. Bogan carried it the final 17 yards for the TD and Simmons' kick was perfect

Here I Come, Jersey or Not!

BOBCAT JOHN SMITH (52) gets nothing but a handful of jersey as QB Carroll Williams runs for short yardage in last Saturday's game at Athens, Ohio. XU FB Mike Junker (30) puts block on Smith to again give the Bobcats the lead, 14-7.

Steve Bailey's recovery of an OU fumble launched Xavier's second touchdown drive. Williams maneuvered the team 62 yards in eight plays, with Walt Mainer catching three passes in the series, including an 18-yarder for the TD. XU Coach Eddie Biles called for a two-point conversion and got it as Dan Abramowicz snared the short pass in the end zone. With 11:07 remaining in the game, XU led 15-14.

The Bobcats, cheered on by a capacity Homecoming Day crowd, fought back to regain the lead. The scrappy Athens eleven returned Dankel's kickoff to the 22, then proceeded to march to the Xavier 19-yard line before the XU defense held. Gary Simmons took over from there and split the uprights with a 37-yard field goal. Score: Ohio 17, Xavier 15. The stage was set for the final, frantic five minutes.

With some 20 seconds left in the game and Xavier leading 21-17, George Wilson went back to punt for the Muskies and deliberately ran the ball out of the end zone. This alert play gave Ohio U. a safety but prevented any chance of a blocked punt.

Xavier flies to Chattanooga, Tenn. tomorrow to try for their sixth win this season in a game with the Chattanooga Moccasins. The game is slated to start at 8:00 p.m. (E.S.T.). This is Chattanooga's Homecoming, and the Muskies would like to give the Moccasins a bit of their own treatment, since last year the Chattanooga eleven put a damper on Xavier's Homecoming festivities by beating the Muskies 27-14.

One of the standouts in the Chattanooga lineup this year is All-American Tom Schaeffer, a 5-10, 195 pound fullback.

Coach Biles commented after last week's game that "Chattanooga was one of the toughest teams we played last year." Biles knows that you play just one game at a time. Right now, Chattanooga is the most important team on Xavier's schedule.

Have Plans, Will Travel

By JACK BULGER, News Sports Reporter

To enable Coach Ed Biles' undefeated Musketeers to do battle in Chattanooga tomorrow night, the Xavier Athletic Department has been involved in both long and short range preparations.

Mr. Jim McCafferty, Director of Athletic Policy at XU, handles the long range plans, making the arrangements for all Muskie trips in July and August. It is McCafferty's policy that the players miss as few classes as possible.

For this reason the traveling squad will fly to Chattanooga by chartered plane. This makes it possible for McCafferty to set his own departure and arrival times and eliminates the necessity of meeting airlines' schedules. The chartered flight is also more economical than a commercial flight for the team. Besides arranging for the air travel, McCafferty had to line up bus transportation to and from airports in both Cincinnati and Chattanooga.

There are hotel and meal reservations that also have to be made. The Muskie squad will stay at Read House, a downtown hotel comparable to Cincinnati's Sheraton Gibson. Meals are ordered in advance for the team.

The brunt of the short range planning falls to XU trainer Ray Baldwin. "Baldy" has spent the week preparing uniforms and other equipment needed for the trip south. He is assisted in these preparations by the Muskie managers.

The traveling squad consists of about 50 people, including players, coaches, writers, radio announcers and the team chaplain. The team will leave from Xavier Stadium today between 2:00 and 3:00 p.m. after all team members have finished their classes. Their expected time of arrival in Chattanooga is 5:00 p.m. They will have a workout tonight under the lights at Chamberlain Field.

Tomorrow the team will begin its day with Mass at 10:00 a.m. A light brunch will follow at noon and then the players are free until the pre-game meal at 4:00 p.m. This meal consists of steak, salad without dressing, baked potato, a green vegetable, coffee or tea (no milk), juice, soup and sherbet.

After dinner, the team travels to the stadium, arriving around 6:00 p.m. Then comes the item of major importance, the Xavier vs. Chattanooga game at 8:00 p.m. Immediately after the game the Muskies leave for the airport and board the plane. The team is expected to arrive back at Xavier by 1:00 a.m. Sunday morning. We know the Muskies will be a tired bunch. We hope that they will also be a victorious team.

ARANDAVIEWS
on Xavier Sports

By JIM ARANDA
News Sports Editor

And then there were eight. Undeclared and untied major college football teams, that is. Along with Xavier in the unbeaten ranks are Nebraska, Michigan State, Arkansas, Utah State, West Texas State, Princeton, and Dartmouth. Nine teams got "shot down" last weekend, spoiling their perfect records. These schools were Duke, Texas Western, West Virginia, Georgia, Mississippi State, Virginia Tech, Marshall, Texas, and Harvard.

'Twas an ignoble Homecoming for the Ohio U. Bobcats and their fans: Carroll Williams saw to that. Performing a pseudo-James Bond ("licensed to steal" victories from XU opponents) role, Carroll made all the seemingly impossible, "Bondish" moves at the right times last Saturday afternoon. In addition to breaking four school records, he established two modern Ohio major college football records for a single game.

We note that the major Ohio teams are Ohio State, Kent State, Toledo, Ohio U., Miami, Bowling Green, Dayton, and UC. Williams set a new state record for yards gained passing with 315, erasing the mark of 312 set by John Borton of Ohio State in 1952. His 337 total yards bettered Borton's mark of 313 set in 1952 against Washington State. Carroll's five-game totals are 63 completions in 122 attempts for 1013 yards and 13 touchdowns. He has picked up a net of 84 yards rushing for a total offense figure of 1097 yards. . . . Dan Abramowicz, X's fine split end, has snared 24 passes this season for 351 yards and five TDs. . . . Williams' other favorite target, Jim Stofko, is out for the remainder of the year with a broken collarbone. . . . Walt Mainer, who scored two touchdowns against Ohio U., upped his reception totals to eight caught for 133 yards and two TDs.

Although Head Coach Ed Biles is a very busy man with the press these days, and happily so, we had a chance to talk with him before Monday's practice session. Asked for his feelings after Xavier fumbled late in the game, Biles said: "My reaction was that we were still going to win. We told the defense to use the time-outs, conserve the clock, get the ball, and we would win the game. We had moved the ball well before and knew that we would have good field position once we got the ball."

Did Xavier change its tactics in the second half? "No, we just did a better job of blocking."

What about the touchdown pass to Abramowicz? "Basically it was a sideline pass but there always is the option to go long."

Can the Muskies continue to pull games out of the fire week after week? How much longer will they stand up under such intense pressure? "We are kind of a unique team, a pressurized team. We love pressure and seem to play better under it. We practice under pressure situation; it doesn't affect us as much as it does our opponents. Of course, the fact that we are playing a lot of people makes a big difference. We are stronger in the fourth quarter because of this."

Defensive line coach Tom McHugh had this comment last Saturday after the game: "We must improve a lot if we are going to go undefeated. The biggest thing about our defense is that they battle. They don't know when to quit."

WHERE THEY ARE THIS WEEK: Xavier (5-0) at Chattanooga (2-2-1); Bowling Green at Kent State (3-1-1); Miami (2-3) hosts Ohio U. (0-5); Quantico (1-3) plays San Diego; Cincinnati (3-2) at Tulsa; Villanova (0-4) hosts West Chester; Dayton (0-5) at Buffalo; Western Michigan at Toledo (3-2); Texas Western (4-1) is idle.

EXTRA: WHERE THE ELITE EIGHT ARE THIS WEEK: Xavier at Chattanooga; Nebraska vs. Colorado; Michigan State vs. Purdue; Arkansas vs. North Texas State; Utah State vs. Colorado State; West Texas vs. New Mexico State; Princeton vs. Pennsylvania; Dartmouth vs. Harvard. . . . That's it. See you next week.

Record vs. Xavier: Won 2, lost 0.

Top Offensive Backs: At quarterback Don Shaver, 5-11, 175 pounds, a junior. A fine runner with good speed. Also has good speed. Also has good arm and likes to throw. Has completed 30 of 53 passes. . . . Best running back is Gary Tucker, 5-11, 195-pound junior. A transfer from Vanderbilt. . . . At the slot position is Bill Cotter, a freshman, 5-10, 190 pounds. A favorite target of Shaver.

Top Defensive Linemen: Middle guard Paul Schaller, 6-1, 215-pound junior. . . . Linebackers Henry Sorrell, a junior, 6-1, 210 pounds; and Tom Blount, 6-0, 190, a sophomore. . . . Also end Gregory and tackle Kovan, who play both ways.

Wrap-up: Xavier again will be up against an inspired team, as this is Chattanooga's Homecoming game. They have a lot of hustle and desire to win, especially over the unbeaten Muskies. They are in good physical condition.

THE NEWS'
Players of the Week

CARROLL WILLIAMS

Offensive Player of the Week:

Carroll Williams was the whole show last Saturday at Athens. He kept Muskie fans on the edge of their chairs once again before pulling a victory out of the fire. His 40-yard toss to sidekick Dan Abramowicz gave the Muskies their margin of victory.

Carroll broke four single game records against the OU Bobcats, including three he had set earlier in the year in the Miami game. He threw 36 passes, breaking Ron Costello's 1959 record of 28. His 20 completions were good for 315 yards, and added 22 yards via the ground route for a new total offense mark of 337 yards.

JIM LOUDER

Defensive Player of the Week:

Junior linebacker Jim Louder had to be helped off the field last Saturday after sustaining a knee injury in the fourth quarter. Before that, however, the aggressive 191-pounder helped quite a few Bobcats to the Peden Stadium turf. Louder was in on 20 tackles in the game, making 14 by himself and assisting on six more.

Last year the Cincinnati native played offense and defense. This year his work has been limited to the defensive unit, although he still goes in to hike the ball on punts.

Night Life

Ever wonder why our Evening Division co-eds come to Xavier? There are many reasons why these girls attend Xavier night school, reasons too complex to be dismissed in a single sentence. Hence, this column.

The majority of the women registered as Evening Division students are recent graduates of one of the local Catholic girls' high schools. They are either first or second year students taking courses that will be beneficial, as well as interesting, to them.

Most of the Xavier co-eds are not concerned with receiving a degree. One girl, when asked her opinion, stated, "If I attended Xavier on the degree curricula, I'd be thirty years old by the time I graduated and received my degree. This, to me, seems ridiculous, so I'm just taking a couple of subjects I like." Many girls share this feeling and hence turn to the certificate curricula. However, the co-eds find this program very time-consuming also. "Working all day and then coming to Xavier for classes a couple of nights a week is extremely tiring," was the way one co-ed expressed it. "It's impossible to give proper attention to one's studies and still remain active in university activities. With a job during the day and school at night, your home life and social life are cut down quite a bit," reasoned an exhausted lass.

The main motivation pushing a girl into Xavier's Evening College is a desire for knowledge above the secondary school level. She wants to develop her intellectual life and her creative thinking ability. She wishes to be equipped to live in 20th century society, a society where men are no longer the only leaders.

Some of the business courses offered in the Evening Division can be the key opening the door to a better position for the working girl.

The fact that Xavier gives a girl a chance to meet Catholic young men is an incentive for enrolling. Naturally it depends upon the individual, but who could blame a girl for trying?

Sailors Finish Fourth at Ann Arbor

The Xavier sailing team finished in a tie for fourth place in the annual Cary-Price Memorial Regatta held Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 16 and 17, on Base Line Lake in Ann Arbor, Mich. This event, traditionally one of the most rugged sailing contests in the Midwest, was won by the University of Pennsylvania, who soundly trounced their opponents, beating second place Michigan by 16 points.

The competition was extremely keen for second place throughout the regatta with Xavier holding a slight advantage after Saturday's 14 races. A Sunday surge pushed Michigan and Michigan State ahead of the Muskies. Xavier wound up in fourth place along with Wayne State and Lawrence, all with 122 points. Ohio State, Indiana, Purdue, and Wooster followed the top six teams, finishing in that order.

Individually for the Muskies, senior Tom Grogan, with frosh Dave Dunn as crew, scored 63 points for fourth place in the overall "A" Division standings. Sophomore John Esposito turned in the finest performance of his XU career. Sailing with soph teammate Bob Gadlage as crew, Esposito totaled 59 points to finish fifth in the "B" Division.

Radio Station Goes On Air; Scope, Schedule Increased

WCXU, the campus radio station, will begin broadcasting this Monday, Oct. 25. Programming will consist of music, news, sports (including all Musketeer home football and basketball games), and other features.

A faculty forum will be presented periodically in which teachers of the more difficult courses will give resumes of the material covered in those classes. WCXU mixers held at Mt. St. Joseph and OLC will also be broadcast.

WCXU welcomes all campus organizations at Xavier as well as at the Mount and OLC to submit all their announcements to the station.

This year, the station plans to broadcast about 100 hours per week, tentatively from 11 a.m. to 12 midnight each day. The station's signal can be received in all the residence halls as well as in Alter Lounge and the University Center, at 600 on the dial.

Every other Sunday evening on WKRC radio, from 6:05 to 6:30 p.m., a program about Xavier University, entitled "On the Parkway," will be presented. The purpose of the program is to inform Cincinnati about Xavier University. The show is taped in the WCXU studio and is broadcast from the WKRC studio. Ed Keenan, WCXU station manager, and Bob Desautels, program director, do the program.

Ford Motor Company is:

Stephen Jaeger
B.S.A., Univ. of Pittsburgh

A key dimension of any job is the responsibility involved. Graduates who join Ford Motor Company find the opportunity to accept responsibility early in their careers. The earlier the better. However, we know the transition from the academic world to the business world requires training. Scholastic achievements must be complemented by a solid understanding of the practical, day-to-day aspects of the business. That is the most direct route to accomplishment.

Stephen Jaeger, of the Ford Division's Milwaukee District Sales Office, is a good example of how it works. His first assignment, in January, 1963, was in the Administrative Department where he had the opportunity to become familiar with procedures and communications between dealerships and the District Office. In four months he moved ahead to the Sales Planning and Analysis Department as an analyst. He studied dealerships in terms of sales history, market penetration and potentials, and model mix. This information was then incorporated into master plans for the District. In March, 1964, he was promoted to Zone Manager—working directly with 19 dealers as a consultant on all phases of their complex operations. This involves such areas as sales, finance, advertising, customer relations and business management. Responsible job? You bet it is—especially for a man not yet 25 years old. Over one million dollars in retail sales, annually, are involved in just one dealership. Steve contacts.

As a growth company in a growth industry, Ford Motor Company offers an exceptionally wide spectrum of job opportunities. The chances are good that openings exist in your field of interest. See our representative when he visits your campus. We are looking for men who want responsibility—and will be ready for it when it comes.

Council in Review

Congratulations are the immediate verbal reaction common to victory, and by no means does it seem trite, extended to the newly elected officers of the Freshman Class. These men are products of a class which is not willing to settle for mediocrity. The class of '69, while only being in its infancy at Xavier, has demonstrated its desire to be a vital part of the university community. Their zeal for excellence should not be dismissed as arrogant but should be encouraged.

It has been rumored throughout the week that Student Council was sponsoring a student bus trip to the Chattanooga football game. Unfortunately, the trip remained in the rumor stage until Tuesday night when tentative plans were made scheduling a trip on the condition that a certain number of students would sign up by Thursday. If the trip does not become a reality, the ultimate blame is not due to a lack of school spirit, but a lack of sufficient planning by Council.

Jim Boczar's report, on the National Federation of Catholic College Students' convention, resulted in a lengthy debate regarding the organization's value at Xavier. He felt the convention was injured by an excess of legislative double talk, and that the topics of discussion did not emphasize problems particular to a university campus, but he was optimistic concerning the potential of the organization as a whole. It is his belief that, once the Newman Club merges with the NFCCS, the nature of the organization would evolve towards a policy that would be more concerned with the pertinent problems whose solutions could be applied at Xavier.

Joseph Trauth disagreed; he felt the convention was very helpful because it gave the delegates the opportunity to make personal contacts with students from different colleges. This allowed the delegates to discuss common problems in an informal manner.

The remarkable thing about the entire discussion on the NFCCS convention was the abundance of abstract terms. There was little effort made to show a relationship between what happened at the convention and the effect that these happenings have on Xavier. This is probably matter for another Council meeting.

A letter written by the University of Cincinnati's Chapter of the Young Americans for Freedom has been supported by Student Council; it affirms the action taken by American soldiers in Vietnam. Students are asked to sign a petition accompanying the letter, that is to be sent to the commander of the American Armed Forces in Vietnam, pledging their support.

All students are cordially invited to attend the Student Council meetings. This is the best way possible to find out exactly what the men who represent you are doing for you.

Council usually meets at 1:30 p.m. on Monday and Wednesday of each week. Any changes are to be noted by checking the activities bulletin board in the main foyer of Alter Hall.

Psych Lab Expands

The construction of nine sound-proof experimental booths will be the most notable improvement in the psychology laboratory's transfer to new quarters on the second floor of Albers Hall, according to Mr. Dewey Bayer, graduate assistant in charge of the lab. Construction on the booths began Monday and their completion is expected shortly.

The greatly expanded facilities in Albers afford psychology students more room in which to perform their individual experiments on matter taught in the psychology classes, said Mr. Bayer. The nine new "isolation booths" now make it possible for more students to carry out their tests without any outside interference.

The new psychology lab had been previously used as a laboratory for the physics department which has been transferred to the space formerly occupied by the psychology department in Alumni Hall.

The psychology department, which now occupies the entire north side of the second floor of Albers, also gained some much needed office and storage space in the transfer. Dr. Vylautus J. Bieliauskas is chairman of the department.

The University of Cincinnati is a proverbial beehive of "class" entertainment this school year. Well-coordinated activities of the College-Conservatory of Music, the Carousel Theater (an avant-garde offspring of the Mummer's Guild), the Art Academy, and a lucrative film series on Sunday evenings, will present more events than there are cold winter evenings to occupy. But there is no reason why a city the size of Cincinnati cannot accommodate these and many more such worthwhile activities.

The CCM will host an almost continuous schedule of educational programs aimed at improving and enriching the cultural backdrop of our city through music, lectures, and films.

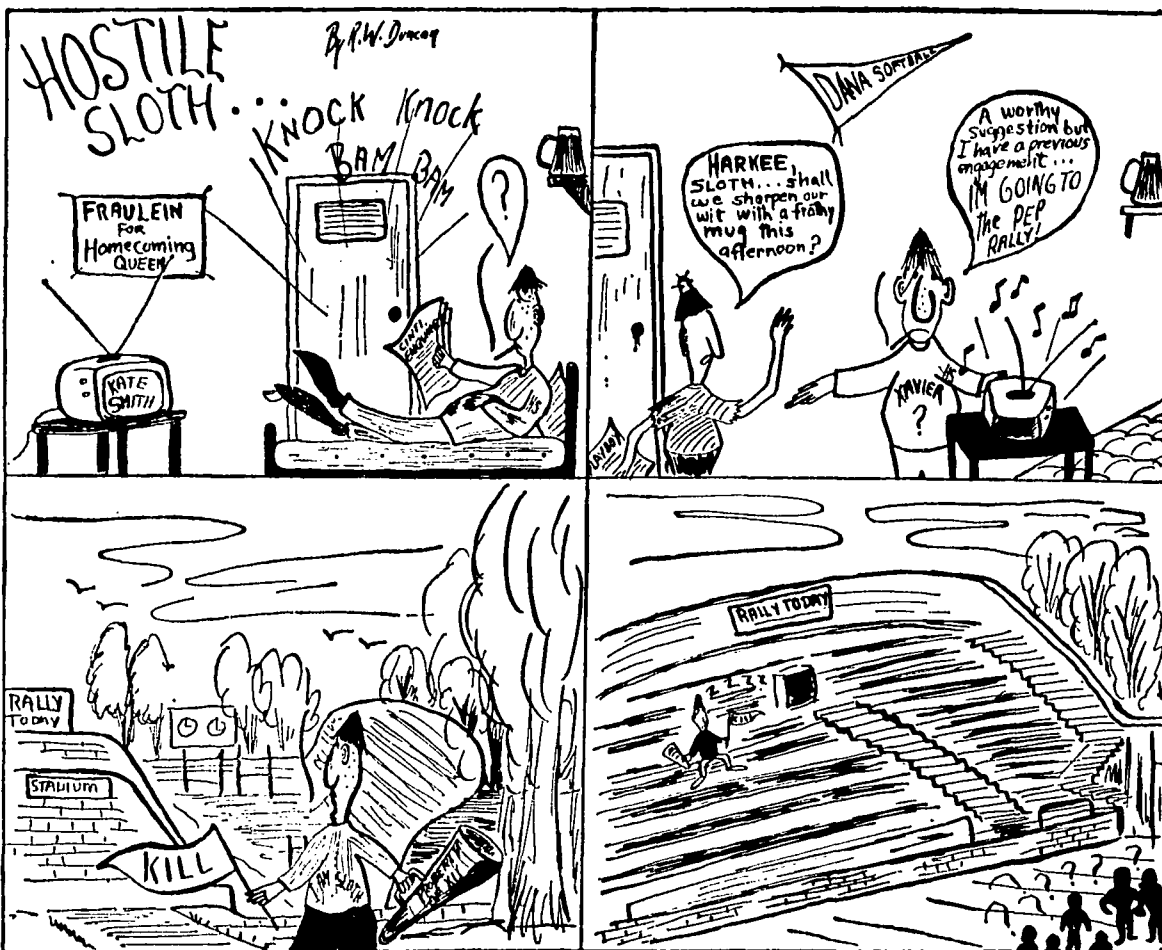

High on its list of coming attractions, the Conservatory presents, on Oct. 26, the internationally famous LaSalle String Quartet. The quartet will play from the works of Anton Webern when it opens its 1965-66 concert series at the College-Conservatory's concert hall.

Set to rival (or compliment) Xavier's Masque's opening of "an evening with e. e. cummings," the Carousel Theater has announced its first production, "Six Characters in Search of an Author," by Luigi Pirandello. Playing for two nights, Oct. 29 and 30, to an "invitation by request" audience, the short play offers an important contribution to the repertory of the avid theater-goers in our community. With these two plays mounting the "boards" on the same weekend, experimental theater in this area receives a vital push in the right direction.

Movies considered to be among the classics in art movie history are featured in the Wilson Auditorium each Sunday evening at 7:30. The film series began on Oct. 10 and will continue until late spring, presenting movies of such magnitude and variety as 8½, Monde Cane, A Taste of Honey, and even King Kong. A double-feature is scheduled for this Sunday. On the Waterfront and The Wild Ones, two films in which Marlon Brando achieved his fame, will be shown. Admission is 75¢ at the door.

Four gold stars go to the University of Cincinnati for helping in the endeavor to return the cultural center of the community to its most accommodating of environments—the University.

Now! New Chevelle

SUPER SPORT 396

New Chevelle SS 396 Sport Coupe—with clean-sculpted all-new Body by Fisher.

by Chevrolet

Two new Super Sport beauties for '66—a hardtop and convertible—propelled by nothing less than the new Turbo-Jet 396 V8.

This remarkably efficient power plant, with aircraft-type valves, deep-breathing ports and other design advances, develops 325 hp in the standard version. And you're welcome to order more—in a 360-hp version—if you're so inclined.

Both Chevelle SS 396 models ride on a special flat-cornering chassis. A fully synchronized 3-speed transmission with floor-mounted stick shift is standard. Or you can order a 4-speed or Powerglide—also Strato-bucket front seats, center console and full SS instrumentation.

Your Chevrolet dealer's is the place to see how all this feels from behind the wheel. He's a great believer in letting the customers handle the merchandise.
