FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University will hold business days for its spring 2001 semester Wednesday through Friday, Jan. 10-12, on the campus. Registration for classes and schedule changes will begin Thursday, Jan. 11, in the major departments.

Advance registered sophomores and juniors will pay tuition and fees in the Crager Room of the Adron Doran University Center from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. on the first business day. Seniors and graduate students will pay fees on Thursday; freshmen will complete the process on Friday. Admission to the payment arena is based on an alphabetical system, listed in the "Course Directory and Business Guide."

For new students, the process begins in the Office of Admissions, 301 Howell-McDowell Administration Building for undergraduates and in 701 Ginger Hall for graduate students. After being admitted, you may register in the department of your major.

All fees must be paid by 6 p.m. on Friday, Jan. 12, to avoid paying a $50 late fee.

Schedule changes will be made at no charge in the student's major department until Jan. 22. After that time, adjustments will be handled in the registrar's office and a $10 fee will be assessed.

Students taking classes at any of MSU's off-campus locations also may register during these days. Registration will be held Jan. 11 and 12 from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. at Ashland, Pikeville, West Liberty and Prestonsburg; in Jackson, 8 a.m.-6 p.m., Jan. 11, and 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. on Jan. 12; and in Mt. Sterling, 4-6 p.m. on Jan. 11.

Current students may register online if they have cleared all holds, have an adviser-approved schedule and have an official checksheet on file in the registrar's office. Course directories, with a complete list of classes and registration information, are available online at www.moreheadstate.edu/units/registrar.

Classes at all on and off-campus locations begin on Tuesday, Jan. 16. The residence halls open for the spring semester at noon on Tuesday, Jan. 9.

Additional information on the registration process is available by calling the Office of the Registrar at (606) 783-2008.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---At Morehead State University, a basketball rivalry may help change the status of a low blood supply in the community.

“For the last three years, the Central Kentucky Blood Center has been aided by the ‘Battle for Life’ blood drive competition between MSU and Eastern Kentucky University,” said Glen White, CKBC donor resources consultant. This year’s battle at MSU is scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday, Jan. 16-17, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the Button Drill Room on Morehead State’s campus, while a similar drive will be held at EKU in Richmond.

Special “Battle” T-shirts have been designed for donors. The names of all who give blood will be entered into a drawing for a football signed by Matt Ballard or a basketball signed by Kyle Macy, the University’s head coach in each of those sports.

MSU has won two of the last three “Battle for Life” contests, but the score is not as important as the benefit to St. Claire Medical Center in Morehead and Pattie A. Clay Regional Medical Center in Richmond, according to Randall Combs, MSU graduate student from Jackson, who is student chair of the drive. “The timing of this drive is crucial because it occurs during a critical time for local blood supplies, which are often recovering from post-holiday shortfalls,” he said.

Last year, over 500 volunteers registered at the two universities and more than 450 pints of blood were collected. “This was enough whole blood to help as many as 1,350 patients in our community hospitals,” White said.

Adding to the competitive atmosphere of the drive will be the Lady Eagle and Eagle basketball games against EKU on Tuesday, Jan. 16, in the Academic-Athletic Center on MSU’s campus. The women’s game will tip off at 5:30 p.m. and the men will vie for a win at 7 p.m.

MSU students with a valid I.D. are admitted free of charge. Tickets, at $5 for general admission or $7 for reserved seats, may be purchased at the door, or in advance by calling the Office of Athletics at (606) 783-2088.

Additional information on the “Battle for Life” blood drive is available by calling White at (800) 775-2522.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Members of the community are invited to join Morehead State University faculty, staff and students in a "Salute to Greatness" at the "Unity in the Community March" on Monday, Jan. 15.

The candlelight walk, held in observance of the Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. holiday, begins at 6:30 p.m. at the Little Bell Tower on MSU's campus, according to Peggy Overly, coordinator of minority student affairs. Participants will proceed to Jesus Our Savior Catholic Church, 309 Battson Ave., for a 7 p.m. program.

John Merchant, president of MSU's Alumni Association, will be the keynote speaker. A 1979 graduate where he studied economics and political science, Merchant continued his education at the University of Kentucky College of Law.

After earning a law degree, Merchant joined the law firm of Peck, Shaffer and Williams in Cincinnati, where he was the first African-American partner. A specialist in bond law, Merchant has worked at that law firm since 1991.

The event is co-sponsored by Rowan County Ministerial Association and MSU's Office of Minority Student Services, Office of Multicultural Student Services and the Black Student Coalition.

Additional information is available by calling Overly at (606) 783-2129.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Educator, residence hall director and campus minister Dr. Will Keim will speak to Morehead State University students and community members on Monday, Jan. 22, at 7 p.m. in Button Auditorium on the campus.

Dr. Keim has lectured to more than 2,000,000 students on 1,000 campuses in the United States, Canada, Australia, Greece and Malaysia. His corporate clients include AT&T, IBM, State Farm Insurance and Delta Airlines.

"A regular on our campus, we look forward to Dr. Keim getting us off on the right foot for the new year," said Madonna Weathers, director of student development. "Previously, he has spoken to Morehead State's new students and faculty members, peer advisers and the residence hall staff."

A member of the Order of Omega and Blue Key, Dr. Keim was selected as the Outstanding Professor at Oregon State University. He has been a Pi Kappa Phi Durwood Owen Award recipient, and Rotary International named him a Paul Harris Fellow.

He is the author of several books, including "The Education of Character: Lessons for Beginners" and "Life After College." Dr. Keim holds a Ph.D. degree from Oregon State University and bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of the Pacific.

The event, which is sponsored by the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, is free and open to the public.

Additional information is available by calling Weathers at (606) 783-2024.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Middle school students in Floyd, Johnson, Martin and Pike counties may benefit from a $4.7 million U.S. Department of Education grant to Morehead State University.

The award will fund the GEAR UP (Gaining Early Awareness and Readiness for Undergraduate Programs) Project and its three objectives, all leading students to postsecondary education, according to Dr. David Rudy, dean of MSU's Institute for Region Analysis and Public Policy, who will oversee the grant.

"The issue is that students need to start thinking about college in seventh or eighth grade," he said. Statistics show that Kentucky residents attend college at a rate of 51 percent with the rate dropping to approximately 30 percent for the counties targeted by the GEAR UP program.

The focus of the grant will be to accomplish these objectives:

*Increasing student academic performance and preparation for postsecondary education;

*Raising the educational expectations for project students and family knowledge of options and financing; and *Improving postsecondary attendance among students from the participating school systems.

Consistent with the goals of IRAPP, GEAR UP will help strengthen the educational ties between the University and the region, Dr. Rudy noted. "GEAR UP encourages students to think more about going to college so there will be fewer high school drop outs. That benefits the region itself, hopefully with better jobs and a thriving economy."

Another benefit of the grant is an introduction of students' families to financial aid possibilities and the college admission process.

After-school, Saturday and summer programs also are a part of GEAR UP, as are mathematics and science education programs tied to real world issues. To address these needs, several entities have joined forces with Morehead State, including Pikeville College, Prestonsburg Community College and many private-sector businesses.

Additional information on the project is available from Dr. Rudy at (606) 783-5420.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Singer/songwriter Beau Haddock and his Highland Rim band will be among the featured acts during Morehead State University's "Americana Crossroads Live" on Friday, Jan. 26, at 7:30 p.m. in Duncan Recital Hall.

The concert, presented by WMKY 90.3 FM, MSU's public radio to the mountains, and the Kentucky Center for Traditional Music, also will feature the Moron Brothers and the Blue Dawg, both of Wilmore. The emcee for the evening will be Sandy Knipp, host of WMKY's "Bluegrass Diversion" program and KCTM director.

A versatile musician, Haddock founded and directed the original Little River Band and produced a jazz ballet that was performed across Kentucky in 1998. He and his Highland Rim band represented the United States in a United Nations endorsed, goodwill tour of Ecuador in 1996. A documentary of those performances, "Rock and Realization," has been aired on Kentucky Educational Television.

The Lexington artist's vocal style has been compared to James Taylor and J.J. Cale and his latest album, "Magnolia," was called "enchanting" by "Music Row," Nashville's music industry publication. The recording is a collection of folk and pop songs that uses bagpipe, harmonica and percussion instruments.

Combining the group's humor with its bluegrass music, the Moron Brothers' latest album is titled "Off the Wall." The compact disc was produced by Dean Osborne.

Additional information about "Americana Crossroads" is available by calling WMKY at (606) 783-2001.

MOREHEAD, Ky. – Students across Kentucky are getting a new space exploration tool with the relocation of a NASA satellite tracking antenna to Morehead State University.

Jointly announced by NASA and the University, the project involves transfer of the $20 million antenna and $2 million in federal funds for related costs.

MSU President Ronald G. Eaglin said acquisition of the NASA equipment was made possible through the support and cooperation of U.S. Rep. Harold “Hal” Rogers, Gov. Paul Patton, Dr. Gordon Davies, president of the Kentucky Council on Postsecondary Education, and Hilda Legg, executive director of the Center for Rural Development at Somerset.

He also expressed appreciation to the Small Business Administration and the Kentucky National Science Foundation Experimental Program to Stimulate Competitive Research (EPSCoR) program.

“Transfer of the satellite tracking station from NASA will revolutionize the science curriculum at Morehead State University,” Dr. Eaglin said. “We also are very excited about this project’s potential impact on high-tech economic development related to satellite telecommunications. The long-term impact that this project will have on a region desperate for high-tech training opportunities is immeasurable.”

Steve Carrier, manager of the Ground Network Project Office for NASA’s Goddard Space Flight Center in Greenbelt, Md., said, “NASA is extremely pleased to see new life breathed into the antenna system. It has served NASA well for more than 30 years and now it will be used to train a new generation of space scientists and engineers.”

The antenna system has a replacement value of more than $20 million and is nine stories tall. Its tracking dish is 60 feet in diameter. In recent years, its primary mission was to provide tracking and control for the International Ultraviolet Explorer (IUE) satellite. NASA decommissioned the antenna system after the IUE mission ended in 1997.

Dr. Eaglin said the support of Congressman Rogers enabled the project to be expanded to include establishment of new base stations for the GPS (global positioning systems) at MSU and the Center for Rural Development in Somerset. In addition, the National Weather Service station at Jackson will gain access to scientific meteorological data from new monitoring equipment to be installed in Somerset and Morehead.

Congressman Rogers secured the federal funding for the project in the annual budget of the Small Business Administration. Rogers included the provision in his role as chairman of the House appropriations subcommittee with jurisdiction over SBA funding.

"It is critically important that we give our young people the very best opportunities for their education and for their future," Rogers said today. "This success of this very worthy project at Morehead State is a victory for its students and faculty, and it is a source of pride for the community and the entire region. I was happy to encourage the SBA's partnership in this exciting endeavor."

Dr. Benjamin Malphrus, director of MSU's Astrophysics Laboratory, said the NASA antenna will replace the institution's existing radio telescope. The new system also will allow MSU to compete for the opportunity to support future NASA satellite missions.

From its location on or near the campus, the antenna will be shared statewide by researchers at the state's other public universities, according to Dr. Malphrus.

"In addition to supporting research, it will be part of a state-of-the-art laboratory for students in astrophysics, satellite telecommunications, electrical engineering and software development," Dr. Malphrus added.

MSU faculty and staff are scheduled to begin training soon on the operation of the antenna at the NASA Goddard Space Flight Center's Wallops Flight Facility at Wallops Island, Va. Disassembly and shipping from Wallops Island to Morehead is expected to begin in the summer and take several months to complete.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Department of English, Foreign Languages and Philosophy will host poet and editor Stephen Corey on Monday, Feb. 5, to speak on literary editing and to give a poetry reading.

Corey, acting editor of "The Georgia Review" in Athens, will provide an insider's look at that journal and other venues for publishing literary work. The one-hour seminar will be held in 410 Combs Building beginning at 1 p.m. He will teach a workshop on the literary journal's editing process, with focus on poetry, from 3 to 5 p.m. in 403 Combs Building.

A poet who has published eight collections, Corey will read from his work at 8 p.m. at the Kentucky Folk Art Center, 102 W. First St. in Morehead.

All events are open to the public with no admission charge.

Corey has spent nearly 25 years working as an editor of literary publications. His published works include "Greatest Hits: Poems 1980-2000," "Mortal Fathers and Daughters," and "All These Lands You Call One Country."

His poems, essays and reviews have appeared in many periodicals, including "The American Poetry Review," "The New Republic," "Ploughshares," "Shenandoah," and "Poets & Writers." Twice selected as Georgia Author of the Year in Poetry, Corey has been the recipient of numerous grants and awards, and has taught at universities and writing conferences across the country.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---A Morehead State University faculty member will blend traditional and contemporary music in a series of recitals beginning this month.

Dr. Paul Taylor, associate professor of music, will conduct a piano master class at the University of Kentucky on Sunday, Jan. 28; and perform solo piano recitals at the Singletary Center in Lexington on Wednesday, Feb. 21, and at Kentucky Christian College in Grayson on Tuesday, Feb. 27.

Named Distinguished Artist Alumnus for 2000 by the Department of Music at the University of Wisconsin at Madison, Dr. Taylor will return to the campus for a concert on Saturday, March 3.

An MSU faculty member since 1990, Dr. Taylor will perform standard piano literature by Bach, Haydn and Chopin, as well as two works that are considered to be a "little strange."

He will perform a work written by friend Brian Bevelander in 1955 while he was recovering from a heart attack. Dr. Taylor also will perform "The Rite of Spring" by Igor Stravinsky, which nearly caused a riot in Paris during the 1930s because it dealt with the pagan practices of Russian folklore.

Dr. Taylor has arranged "The Rite of Spring," originally written for an orchestra of nearly 100 musicians, to allow it to be performed by one person on the piano. "I was urged to make this arrangement by my former piano teacher, Soulima Stravinsky, the son of the composer," he said.

Additional information is available from Dr. Taylor by e-mail to p.taylor@morehead-st.edu or by telephone to (606) 783-2405.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Teaching, Learning and Technology Roundtable has begun a project that may improve communication between faculty, staff and administrators.

The group has established a listserv, an electronic discussion list, to explore topics related to the use and integration of technology in the classroom. "It's not a traditional listserv, which normally requires passive participation," said Julia Lewis, instructional technology and systems administrator who along with Dr. Michelle Kunz, associate professor of marketing, serve as listserv co-chairs.

The project will encourage collaboration and cooperation, according to Lewis. "This will be more beneficial and more productive than a physical meeting because participants can post and respond to messages and they are not bound by time," she said.

All administrators, faculty and staff members are invited to join the listserv. To do so, send an e-mail message, with no signature files, to majordomo@morehead-st.edu with the text "Subscribe tltr."

Morehead State's TLTR is affiliated with the national Teaching, Learning, Technology Group, which is associated with the American Association for Higher Education.

Additional information about MSU's TLTR is available by calling Lewis at 3-5415 or Dr. Kunz at 3-5479.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Concert Choir will present a concert on Thursday, Feb. 1, at 8 p.m. in the Duncan Recital Hall on the campus.

Under the direction of Dr. Greg Detweiler, assistant professor of music, the program will feature nine compositions the group will perform at the Southern Division Music Educators National Conference. "Our students were honored by being one of four collegiate, mixed choirs selected to sing at the convention in February," Dr. Detweiler said.

The concert, which is free and open to the public, will begin with four Renaissance and Romantic period pieces: "Hosanna to the Son of David" by Orlando Gibbons, "Jesus Said to the Blind Man" by Melchior Vulpius, "Os Justi" by Anton Bruckner and "Auf Dem See" by Felix Mendelssohn. Contemporary pieces in the program include "The Lamb" by John Tavener, "Ubi Caritas" by Rene Clausen and "Gloria" by Dominick Argento.

Concluding the program will be "Oh, Shenandoah" and "Hope for Resolution." The latter song juxtaposes a chant melody, "Of the Father's Love Begotten," with an anti-apartheid song, "Thula Sizwe," and features Frank Oddis, associate professor of music, and Brian Mason, instructor of music, on marimba.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University music students will use their talents to benefit fellow undergraduates who plan to participate in the Kentucky Institute for International Studies this summer.

A variety of student vocal groups and soloists are slated to perform on Tuesday, Feb. 6, at 8 p.m. in the Duncan Recital Hall on MSU's campus. The concert will be open to the public at no charge. Donations will be accepted to help defray the cost of KIIS study.

OperaWorks, directed by Dr. Roma Prindle, associate professor of music, will sing selections from Gilbert and Sullivan's "Iolanthe." MSU's Concert Choir, under the direction of Dr. Greg Detweiler, assistant professor of music, also will perform.

Student ensemble or solo participants include Chris Conley, Mt. Sterling junior, tenor; Andrea Trusty, Mize freshman, mezzo-soprano; Stephen Brashear, Jeff senior, tenor; and Leslie Allnatt, Louisville freshman, soprano.

A consortium of colleges and universities, KIIS is dedicated to providing education in an international setting. Summer programs range in cost from approximately $1,980 to $3,590.

The institute offers students academic programs which examine aspects of international cultures and provides opportunities for independent learning and travel while abroad.

Additional information about the concert is available by calling Dr. Prindle at (606) 783-2481.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---The Upward Bound Math & Science Center at Morehead State University is accepting applications for its 2001 summer program. The 50 selected participants will live on Morehead State's campus for most of the six-week program, which will run June 10 through July 18. The curriculum includes a variety of hands-on instructional classes, ranging from computers and math to science and labs, as well as a broad choice of electives, such as karate, swimming and weightlifting.

Several field trips also will be part of the experience. This year UBMSC participants will spend the last week of the program in Orlando, Fla., for a hands-on adventure camp at Sea World. UBMSC students will assist instructors behind the scenes as they care for animals and maintain animal habitats. The program is free to those selected to participate.

To be eligible for the program, high school students must be either a freshman, sophomore or junior; have an overall grade point average of 2.5, with a 3.0 in math and science classes, and possibly be interested in pursuing a math or science related field in college.

Students also must meet the income or first generation eligibility criteria. Income eligibility is based on taxable income and number of family members; first generation implies that neither of the student's parents has completed a four-year college degree.

Interested students may pick up an application form at their high school counselor's office or contact MSU'S Upward Bound Math & Science Center at (800) 5UPWARD or (800) 587-9273.

MSU FACULTY MEMBER DISCUSSES RESEARCH

Morehead State University's Department of Biological and Environmental Sciences Spring Seminar Series was assembled to introduce undergraduate and graduate students to various research. An avian ecologist and evolutionary biologist, Dr. Cynthia Trombino, standing, assistant professor of biology, spoke on her project, "Species Interaction in the Hybrid Zone Between Red-Breasted and Red-Naped Sapsuckers." After her talk, she addressed the questions of students, from left, Jason Thompson, Morehead senior; Jaime Ogden, Maysville junior; and Robert Helvey, Pikeville senior. Dr. Trombino, whose research interests have focused on the sapsuckers and woodpeckers, is beginning a project on the population trends of the birds in East Kentucky. She holds a Ph.D. degree in the ecology and evolution section of biological sciences from Northern Illinois University.
