Biographical Note Beryl Lynn Lance Waterman was born on March 1, 1896 to Walter Bird Lance and Mary Ann Hendricks Lance in Pittsburg, Kansas. She had an older sister, Bertha Lois, who was a teacher, and a younger brother, John Foster, who was a basketball coach, most of it during a long career at Pittsburg State University. Beryl graduated from Pittsburg Manual Training Normal School (M.T.N.S.) in 1918 with her teaching degree in English and moved to California to teach high school. She settled in Duarte. At some point she was married, perhaps briefly, to a man with the last name of Waterman. She died on May 4, 1974 in Duarte, California, and is buried in Highland Park Cemetery in Pittsburg, Kansas.

Series This collection is divided into three series

Education, Teaching, and Publications

The Education series contains notebooks from Waterman's time at M.T.N.S. This series is arranged alphabetically.

The Teaching series contains materials that Beryl most likely would have used in her career.

The Publications series includes publications from the United States Bureau of Education, Agriculture, and Children, along with other publications. These publications could have been used by Beryl in her career.
