My dear bro Finley I have just returned from Church, (10 O'clock) and feel much jaded. but as you no doubt, are anxious to hear from us, I have concluded to write you a line. Since you left us we have had meeting every night, but two. Sometimes I have ^{been} rather discouraged. Not that we have no signs of revival, but on seeing the backwardness of the members of the Church, I have felt plainly with them. and I am happy to inform you that they are coming up to the "help of the Lord against the mighty." and victory is beginning to turn on our side. Thirty have joined, and the prospect is quite flattering; much better than it has been at any one time since the commencement of the meeting, several have professed religion, we expect to protract the meeting just as long as there is a prospect of getting souls converted should it be till next conference. I hope you will pray for us. Bro Heath is with us, he will leave on tomorrow morning, your labours during our Quarterly meeting will long be remembered, May God continue to bless them.

I thought when you left my house I should make my arrangements to be in Putnam on Monday of your Quarterly meeting, but I think it will not do for me to have my work. As respects the settlement between myself and the stewards of Putnam, I know ^{not} what to say. I am disposed to be reasonable, and would not push the matter farther than what is necessary to have justice done me in the case.

With these brethren I spent two years quite pleasantly, and would not for three the amount, suffer in my mind again, what I have suffered in consequence of the treatment I received on bearing them. I think I acted honorably with them, and did for them more than they could ask of me.

I am not disposed to bother you with my ~~off~~ affairs, as you have much to attend to, but if this matter can be settled, I shall receive it as a great favor, and I think it can be done without my presence. Bro Chandler is acquainted with the most of the particulars in the case, and I suppose he will have no objection to do for me what he thinks is right.
If you could see him perhaps you would then know what course to pursue.

If the steward attempt to justify themselves with appropriating a part of my Quarterly to the payment of house rent, on the ground that house rent and quarterly were collected together, you can tell them that such was not the arrangement. An arrangement was made to collect it so as not to interfere with the quarterly, and when we were likely to fail in raising the amount, the leaders and stewards (present at the meeting when the arrangement was made) agreed to assume the payment of $5.00 and some cents, each; and in case we failed to raise it we would pay it

N.B. Please ask them how much is due me. At dinner & reports have a full.

our debts. I was one of the number and they held me to the contract, and as I promised to pay the amount, they took it out of my Quarterly, Brown Bro Bucking, ^{had} three of $10.00 and some of which a deduction was made on the amount I agreed to pay. Bro Moon paid his, and Bro Brown (and I think fifty cts over) and perhaps others, but this is a matter with which they are all acquainted.

I wish you to question ^{them} in regard to this matter and if nothing more can be done please send me their statement ~~in regard to the matter.~~

I also wish you to ask them how much money remains to be collected on the subscription taken at quarterly meeting, and if they intend to collect it for me. Or in a word ask them if they intend to give me any thing more, and if so, when shall I receive it? but if not; you will advise me what course to pursue.

I hope Bro Finley, if they do not write to me you will get Bro Chandler to ~~write~~ ^{write}, and give me all the particulars, and if he declines you will do me a kindness to send me a line.
If you should find time enough to appropriate to that purpose.

You will make what disposition of this letter you may see proper, I intend it for you self, that you may have some clue to the subject.

I should have given you particulars, but you will remember what I told you when you were at my house.

I must close. My love to all the Brethren.

In great haste

I remain yours most affec-tionably,

N.B. Bro Stafford joined Church.
