My Dear Uncle

Permit me to intrude a line upon your patience and ask the favour of doing for me a little errand - which is to call at B^r Anderson's and get for me a strengthening plaster of a certain description, said to be good for one afflicted with a weakness and pain in the back - he well know the kind to which I refer - having himself recommended it to me during the last summer -

W. B. Brewster

This dull, damp weather joined with some exposure has produced a return of my old affliction - during the last week I have suffered considerable - Can you send me the two last numbers of the "Starvant", - or at least all the numbers that contain a "review" of the Radical Constitution - Should it be continued in any numbers that have not come to hand - have the goodness to send them as they arrive, they shall be safely returned - Last week I received a letter from our mutual friend D. Young he still continues in feeble health

In Litton times are a little squally John Conroy has been expelled for suing Henry B. Miller. Charges I am told have been preferred against Miller but yet pending - so we go - But all the time down hill - If two or three more scraps were kicked up they would probably blow some of the chaff away - When we should begin to look up - Indeed we can not get much lower - If any change it must be for the better - How are you doing in the city write and tell me all the "News" - Joy how dry to aunt Edmund, Samuel, and all my friends if I have any. Pray for me and believe me yours
