Is this how you always look when you mountain bike, Tom?

Assume the position!

Rainman, did you get that at K-Mart?

Didn't the Islanders win the cup, Guys? Just Kidding!!

Thanks Momma Hefferon!

Remember . . .

- —When we thought the bone quiz was stressful.
- —When we lived, breathed, and smelled like cadavers.
- —When the mouse fell from the ceiling.
- —When we got a loan check on time?
- —When we thought palpation was difficult.
- —When we were sweating in December.
- —When Mike Bonner didn't sneeze during class?
- -When Ann made it to class on time?
- -When we had to find architectural barriers.

A Last Look At The P.T.'s . . .

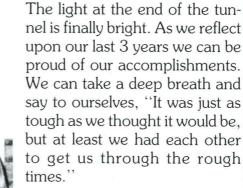

THE RACE

P.T. Class of '95

School is like a race, Starting out like gangbusters. Bright eyed and full of energy, We began our first year.

Ernie is the fashion man, Mike F. forever a Ranger fan. Bob could run many a mile, Noreen K. was there with a smile. Tom M. always took a stand, Chris was there to lend a hand. In strength, Matt has no peers, Laura has cute red ears. Congrats Deb, you're now a mother, Randi and Mike found each other. That kid Mark is very shy, Pete A. was known as the new guy. Kim F. gives great advice, Yvette's butt is very nice. In softball Mike B. was a threat, Tom B. made lather when he sweat.

The pace began to quicken.
Each class seemed like a higher hurdle,
Somehow we got our second wind.
And entered another year.

That new girl Sepi is petite,
And Jen N. is very sweet.
Shh, A.B. would give that glance,
Bryan knew how to dance.
Jeff, one day you'll find your boat,
Boy could Gina take a note.
Darren is a great athlete,
Noreen B., we loved your feet.
Country Kevin kicks his heel,
Amanda sure could make a meal.
Jodi's a girl that could run,
Hang on this poem's almost done.
In P&O Ken knew his socket,
But I know what's in Nick's pocket.

When you saw Kim you saw Jen, Could you forget Les and his pen? Fish with Tom R. and catch some bass, Hey Ann, welcome to class.

We entered the homestretch. The finish line in sight. As we started the final lap. The third year was finally here.

Sarah could always throw a dart, Kristel has the biggest heart. Mike M. sure can sing, Lori's got one helluva ring. Early in the gym, Lynn would often hide, Yo Rich just change the slide. Ioanne B. will soon be wed, lim is always turning red. Michele is smart this is no hype, Another paper?! But Jon can't type. OTIS beat Goz in a fight, Deb I's halter was a sight. Congrats, Andy gave up the smokes, Joe came up with lots of jokes. Stacy is a girl that's wild, Guy expects to have a child. Linda flirts all the time, Pete G. tried to write this rhyme.

The finish line is here,
A three year race has closed.
Everyone won the race.
No losers at this finish line,
And the winners take paper over gold.

Prepare you runners, The next race starts in September.

-Peter Grimaldi

Thanks for the past three years both professionally and personally. It is a great feeling to be completing this three year adventure, yet it is sad to think of our group going separate ways. From my perspective our class has many attributes that distinguish us from the other classes. Because of these attributes we are capable of making a significant contribution to our profession and ultimately the people who seek our care. hope is that we all make a concerted effort to contribute to our profession and that none of us "sell out". In all the excitement and temptations ahead, never lose sight of your professional ethics and your pursuit of quality care. There is safety in numbers, which is one reason why spending the last three years with you has made me feel like part of a family.
