THE TWIN BALLOTS.

Along in November, when chill was the weather, Two ballots were cast in a box together, Two ballots were cast in together; They nestled up close like brother to brother, You couldn't tell one of the votes from the other, You couldn't tell one from the other.

CHORUS : They were both rum votes, And sanctioned the license plan ; And one was cast by a jolly old brewer, And one by a Sunday-school man.

The Sunday-school man, no man could be truer-Kept busy all summer denouncing the brewer.

All summer denouncing the brewer, But his fervor cooled off with the change of the weather, And late in the autumn they voted together, In autumn they voted together.

The Sunday-school man had always been noted For fighting saloons except when he voted :

For temp'rance except when he voted; He piled up his prayers with a holy perfection, But knocked them all down on the day of election, But knocked them all down at election.

The foxy old brewer was cheerful and mellow; Said he, "I admire that Sunday-school fellow."

I admire that Sunday-school fellow; He's true to his church, to his party he's truer ; He talks for the Lord, but he votes for the brewer, He votes every time for the brewer.

At any rate it is my oping ion that if the chairman were paying for it out of the regular fund of the party treasury, he would be making the wisest possible expenditure of the funds at his command. The effect of the train grows plainer daily. Each day of the journey has been far greater in accomplishment than its predecessor, and the overwhelming nerve and brain and practical ability for affairs of the national chairman himself, the author of the Prohibition Special, grow upon the train's company every day. English Hostesses Accused of Being Perpetual Gadabouts.

Slowly, but surely, the pride the English hostesses took in their home, in their reputation for hospitality and in their ability to plan pleasant little entertainments for their friends is passing away. The smart young hostess no longer cares to welcome her guests among her Lares and Penates; it is no longer her carnest desire to display her housewifely genius; no longer her am-bition to shine as a "clever little woman who so thoroughly understands just what every one likes."

There are too many irons in society's fire to look after nowadays for her to fritter away time in this fashion. Moreover, people want incessant novelty: they are bored with even good menus they tire of certain surroundings, they must have everything a little in advance, and as little as possible like anything that obtained a decade, to say nothing of two decades, ago. is we rush with our friends in unhome like fashion from restaurant to restau rant, like bona fide travelers; thus it is we inhospitably, one might almost venture to say meanly, ask our friends to share expenses with us in the little pleasures we should once have offered them. The commercial spirit is indeed rampant in us in this advanced age. This was doubtless the fulfillment of His and was doubless the fulfilment of His saying in verse 27, that some of them should not taste death till they had seen the kingdom of God. get a man's character from his face, you can, if you will, get his past life from his thigh. It is the walking beam of his locomotion, controls his paddles and is developed in proportion to its uses. It indicates, therefore, a man's habits and his mode of life. If he has sat all day with one leg lap-ped over the other, arm on chair, head on hand, listening or studying-preach-of the ankle bulge, and the knee joints push through. If he delivers mail or collect bills or drives a pack mule or

He is necessarily a poor, unfortunate per-son, for under happier circumstances he could not be persuaded to accept the responsibility of his post, and his part in the ceremony is taken seriously by himself and everybody else. A loaf of bread and a jug of beer are laid upon the corpse. These are symbolic of sins committed during life. The sin eater is introduced and with much solemnity eats the bread and drinks the beer. As he is frequently a hungry man with a well developed taste for malt liquors, the part is usually played with zest a little out of keeping with the dreadful nature of the obligation assumed, for it is firmly believed that in thus eating and drinking the sin eater actually burdens his soul with the sins of the deceased.-Kansas City Independent.

NATIONAL PROHIBITION PLATFORM,

Preamble

The National Prohicition Party, in Convention represented, at Chicago, June 27 and 28, 1900, acknowledge Almighty God as the Supreme Source of all just government. Realizing that the government was founded upon Christian principles and can endure only as it embodies justice and righteousness, and asserting that all authority should seek the tost good of all the governed, to this end wisely prohibiting what is wrong and permitting only what is right, hereby records and proclaims:

Definition of Party and Arraignment of Parties.

We accept and assert the est upon some particular principle in government with such beneficent moral and material results as the principle of Prohibition, applied to the beverage liquor traffic; that the national interest could be promoted in no other way so surely and widely as by its adop-tion and assertion through a mational policy, and the co-operation therein of every state, forbidding the manufacture, sale, exportation, importation and transportation of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes; that we stand for this as the only Princiwhere, for the settlement of a Description of Engraving.

It is founded on Matthew 7:13, 14, and consists of two stairways, starting from a common platform, marked

....CHILDHOOD

On this platform are two boys, both having equal opportunities. The one goes up by way of the steps marked by the word, Obedience, Sincerity, Truthfulness, Righteousness, etc., to the top (where is pictured ascending angels), to the home of the soul, to heaven. The other goes down by the steps of Disobedience, Anger, Vulgarity, Profanity, etc., (also Bible marked steps), to the pit, the home of the lost, pictured at the bottom. On either side of the downward way are appropriate pictures speaking examples of the woe, desolation, and inevitable run attending this course.

Along the upward way are pictured happy homes and happy childhood, schools and churches, and a galanxy of Christian workers surrounding and sustaining the church, among whom are Gough, Finch, Fisk, Demorest and Stearns, who have climbed the golden stair and gone to their reward. Then filling up the ranks of the noble dead, come the pictures of nine living and live workers for the cause of humanity.
