MIX WORK AND PLAY FAIRBANK'S ADVICE

Happy Medium the Thing, Says Producer of "Douglas Fairbanks in Robin Hood"

All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy.

And, all play and no work makes a man a bum.

The happy medium is always the thing. This is universally conceded and now Douglas Fairbanks, who so brilliantly eclipses all his past screen triumphs in his latest cinema masterpiece, "Douglas Fairbanks in Robin Hood," a United Artists release coming March 8 and 4th to the Dixie Theatre, Paris, Tenn., says, "Mix work with play."

This is his succinct way of expressing the only panacea for the malady of any extreme. Supplementary to this he says:

"The monotony of unrelieved work is like a blotter, for it will absorb all your initiative and vitality. If you want to dodge an early decline and prolong your years of usefulness, stop working at regular intervals for exercise and diversion. This is the only way I ever discovered to keep physically fit and happy."

Fairbanks emphasizes the fact that no human being can do good work after having worked to the point of producing a withering fatigue, and, adds, pointedly, that it makes little difference how important a task may be, its complete accomplishment can almost invariably wait until one is best able, physically, to dig in and execute it successfully.

"If you have no wholesome outdoor sports, you are not likely to last long as an indoor toiler and I'm for boosting the idea of making athletics as general as possible," he continues. "It's all a question of getting work and play mixed in proper proportions. Be wise in this mixing process and you'll get rid of half of life's troubles."

Am I My Brother's Keeper?

Two hundred people have offered to give their blood in an effort to save the life of young Harry Roach of Shreveport, La., who has been lingering for many weeks at the Mason Memorial hospital, this city.

An admirable spirit must exist in a community where so many feel that they are "their brother's keeper," even though he may be a stranger.

Advocate Library in Every High School

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 23.—A library in every high school throughout Kentucky was advocated at today's meeting of the high school principals' division of the Kentucky educational association conference.

How to finance high school athletics was a topic.

Clarence Clark, Hopkinsville, principal of the high school and president of the high school principals' division of the K. E. A., told how high schools throughout Kentucky are trying to establish libraries, even if they amount to only a few books in the principal's office. He brought out the fact that the board of education have so many problems to face that it is difficult to get sufficient money for an adequate library.

A NOBLE WORK

Has America gone money mad? May be so; but now and then we learn of men whose sole ambition has not been to acquire a fortune. We refer you just now to Benedict W. Law, a shipping magnate of New York City who recently died. A few years ago he left his palatial eastern home and established himself in the mountains of Kentucky and devoted his entire time to riling through the mountain country, stirring the people to better standards of education and living. He lost his life through exposure while serving humanity, but he left his impress upon the people of that section, and they will always regard him as one who came into their midst that they might have life and have it more abundantly.

Bucy's are getting up a car of implements; great saving to you if you place your order with them.

JAS. M. COX HAS HAT IN THE RING

Miami, Fla., Feb. 23.—Former Governor Jas. M. Cox, of Ohio, tonight told a representative of the Miami Herald that he had authorized the use of his name as a candidate for president on a declaration of candidacy received at headquarters of the Cuyahoga county Democratic party.

Mr. Cox said that a few days ago he received a letter from former Governor James P. Campbell, saying that the Democrats of Ohio were united in their desire to present his (Cox) name to the convention as their choice for president.

It was in compliance with Mr. Campbell's suggestion, he said, that he gave his consent. Under the laws of Ohio, he explained, it is necessary for the delegates to give their solid support to one candidate as their first choice and to another as their second.

Mr. Cox was not at home and could not be reached except by telephone. When read an associated Dispatch he said:

"Yes it is true. I have given my consent following receipt of the letter from former Governor Campbell telling me that people of Ohio were unanimous in their desire to place my name before the Democratic convention."

Richardson-Freeland.

The Post Enquirer, an Oakland, Calif., Daily, on Feb. 19th, carried the following announcement of the marriage of Lee Freeland, formerly of this city, and brother of Moore Freeland, now residing here:

"Romance blossoms in the Golden West. A bride and a bridegroom crossed the continent to uphold their belief."

Today they are on a honeymoon—a golden honeymoon, say they, because their romance was consummated out where the West ends.

The couple are Mr. and Mrs. Erma Lee Freeland. Mrs. Freeland was Eloise Richardson Schmitt. Both are members of old California families but have been residing in Tennessee.

The wedding was held at the home of the bride's cousin, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Helmer, 1080 Harvard road. The Rev. Alexander Allen of St. Paul's Episcopal church officiated. The honeymoon will take them through California, and east, with stops at Salt Lake City, Denver, Kansas City and Memphis."

THE NEWSPAPER MAN IN CHURCH.

A preacher, at the close of one of his sermons said: "Let all in the house who are paying their debts stand up." Presently every man, woman and child, with one exception, rose to their feet. The preacher seated them and said: "Now let every man stop paying his debts stand up." The exception, a careworn, hungry-looking individual, clothed in last summer's suit, slowly assumed a perpendicular position. "How is it, my friend," asked the minister, "that you are the only one not able to meet his obligations?" "I run a newspaper," he answered meekly, "and these are my subscribers and—"

THE FUTURE OF RADIO.

C. Francis Jenkins of Washington predicts a development in the near future the sending of photographs by radio so that they will be reproduced in the receiving end as clearly as "cuts" now printed in newspapers and magazines. Possibly you say that is a "delusion" and the idea may bring smiles and amusement, but the man who is laughed at today is revered to-morrow. They laughed at Bell and his telephone; Edison and his electric light and Langley with his crazy flying machine. The Wright brothers were derided, the discoverers of X rays were ridiculed.

Five years ago we could not conceive of what the radio broadcast is today. A good slogan would be—A radio receiving set for every American home. Why? Because it means "Back to the Home."

There are so many influences that tend to disintegrate the home, but the radio brings the family together and even brings the neighbors together to listen to the programs. The moral influence of the radio is to conserve the home and the family life of the nation with better music, better spoken theatre plays and opera; with lectures delivered by men of master minds. The use of radio is still in its infancy, but new and marvelous uses to which it may be put are crowding hard and fast on the wings of time and the end is not yet.

The Grass in the Other Field.

Have you ever seen it—the amusing spectacle of two donkeys in adjoining pastures, each stretching his neck thru the fence to eat the grass in the other fellow's field? That seems ludicrous, to be sure, yet it's just about what we human mortals often do. How often we think the other fellow's better off than we, or his job is better than ours.

It's difficult, of course, to find out for what vocation in life we are best fitted. Many a man's in the wrong pew, a round peg in a square hole or a square peg in a round hole. But the truth is that no one can find out for what he is best suited without a thorough tryout.

One man finds that the job over which he was first enthusiastic is not the thing for him. On the other hand, another chap becomes very efficient at the job of which he was at first skeptical, and it might be added, is apt to learn to like it when he becomes able to do it well.

The sensible thing, then, is to stick to a job and learn to do it well before concluding too hastily that the grass in the other field is better. Seek to improve yourself and get busy in your own pasture. If you increase your worth, there are bigger fields for you in the business world, a whole prairie of opportunities if you are entitled to have that much rein.—Ex

Church Advertised By 44-ft Electric Sign

Oakland, Calif., Feb. 23.—What is said to be one of the largest church electric signs in America has been erected over the First Baptist church here. It is 44 feet high and four feet wide. The letters are 18 inches high.

The sign, surmounted by a cross operated by a flenser, bears the name of the church and the word "welcome." It attracts the eye in any part of the city.

FARMERS' COLUMN

The Calloway County Poultry Association and Farm Bureau cooperated recently in shipping a car of live poultry, according to county agent, J. B. Gardner. By doing this they were able to advance the local price six cents per pound.

The purebred sire campaign in Fayette county by county agent W. R. Gabbert, has moved that county from thirty-fifth to third place in the state enrollment contest. Over 130 enrollments were secured from six communities. The survey indicates that of all livestock, more purebreds are used in sheep and hogs than in cattle and poultry. Several scrubs have already been replaced by purebreds.

Community clubs in Ballard county are planning to carry out a scheme of diversified farming with the assistance of county agent Edwin A. Whalin. The meetings held have generally concluded that some of the tobacco acreage should be cut down and for every acre of tobacco one and not more than three acres of cotton should be substituted; and in addition it was agreed that every farmer should milk at least four good cows.

Although the soybean acreage in Kentucky in 1923 doubled that of 1922 with a total of 120,000 acres, this year's acreage should double again according to Ralph Kenney, crop specialist of the Kentucky College of Agriculture. He declares that the soybean which has been used in China for thousands of years for human consumption has proved its worth here in Kentucky as a soil builder, a forage crop, and a cash crop.

Now is the time to plan for high fertility and high vitality, the two fundamentals of a good hatch from the eggs this spring according to J. Holmes Martin of the Kentucky College of Agriculture. He states that while faculty incubation will often prevent good eggs from hatching the questions of fertility and hatchability can be settled by proper care and feeding of the flock at this time of the year.

As a result of the milk campaign in Christian county, milk drinkers among the school children have doubled and fifteen times as many pupils are bringing milk to school with their daily lunches than was the case before the campaign began, according to Miss Fannie Cooke, home demonstration agent.

NOTES FROM THE HOME DEMONSTRATOR.

On Feb. 18th, and 19th, Miss Mary Mae Miller, Field Agent in Foods, and Mr. Earl Welch, engineer from the University, were here in interest of the kitchen campaign that is under way in this county. Mr. Welch had slide and literature showing and telling about the water supplies in the country home and also was to have demonstrated and explained the pitcher pump and water systems. Miss Miller had many home made kitchen conveniences and any of these could be made in any home.

Because of the awful weather none of the county folks could get in and we hope on April 3, the roads the roads will be good and can have a full meeting when they return.

Miss Margaret D. Jones, Dist. Agent will be here next week for a day or so to work with the Home Dem. Agent.

Rheda W. Oury, Home Dem. Agt.

Dull, Sluggish Feeling

"BLACK-DRAUGHT" is our household stand-by," says Mrs. Thomas H. Kell, who lives near Ellijay, Ga. "We have been using it years and years. My mother's family used it and we do here and my four sisters do, too. "I could not run my house without Black-Draught. I give it to the children whenever they need a purgative, and both Mr. Kell and myself take it. As a medicine for sluggish liver and headache, and the ills that come with constipation, Black-Draught is fine. "Lots of times I have felt dull and sluggish, my head would ache and I had to make a great effort to do my work. A little dose of Black-Draught would correct this feeling. We always keep it on the medicine shelf." Be sure that you get Theford's, the old, reliable Black-Draught powdered herb liver medicine. At all dealers."
