FULTON, KY., FEBRUARY 6, 1925

Wonderful Country Surrounding Fulton.

Much has been said about the good things we have in Fulton, but little has been said about the real backbone of the community—the country surrounding us.

Tobacco, corn, wheat, oats, rye, cotton, grasses and every variety and kind of fruits grown in the temperate zone yield abundant crops in the Kentucky and Tennessee sections of country tributary to Fulton. Hogs, cattle, horses, mules and poultry are raised, but not to the extent we would like to see. Alfalfa, whippoorwill peas, cow peas, soy beans, etc., should be raised more generally than at present. Diversified farming, instead of planting an entire farm to tobacco or any other one crop, will mean a surer and better living for the farmer and more ready money at different times throughout the year. Along with diversified crops, more livestock should be raised. Cows, pigs and chickens will be a great help.

Dairying
Several dairies are now in operation near Fulton. There are splendid openings for operating the business on a more extensive scale and we hope to see dairying extended to the paying production of butter and cheese in large quantities. Creameries should be established in the profitable and furnish a market for practically all the milk and cream that can be produced. At present the local demand for good, pure milk and for cream and butter is greater than the supply.

Poultry Raising
This is a great section of country for poultry. While there are only a few distinctive poultry farms, thousands of pounds of all kinds of poultry, principally chickens, are raised as an adjunct to general farming, and there is a good market here in Fulton for all that is raised. Poultry as a specialty offers splendid inducements for those who will prepare for the business and carry it on properly.

Live Stock
The live stock industry is growing in extent and interest all over this section. Many fine horses, beef and dairy cattle, mules and hogs are now raised, but not to the extent circumstances warrant. There never was a time in the history of the South when there was a better outlook than at present for making lots of money in livestock. Kentucky mules and horses sell on the market better than any raised elsewhere—the home of thoroughbreds.

Welcome, Farmers
We want more farmers to come to this section and can assure them not only a hearty welcome but unusual opportunities to make money. We have the land, the soil, the climate, the water, the law-abiding, good neighbors, the schools, churches, transportation facilities and the best markets in the world close by for the purchase of all kinds of agricultural and horticultural products, poultry, dairy products, livestock, etc.

Today the Kentucky stock man is probably the most independent man in any of the allied agricultural pursuits. It is not to be wondered at that this field of industry is winning over more recruits every year in Fulton county, the land of opportunity.

The biggest shoe sale ever inaugurated in Fulton is now on at Morris & Fry's, "the All-Leather Shoe Men."

 COTTON A VALUABLE CROP  Grows to Perfection in Fulton County

The 1924 cotton crop in Fulton county was the biggest and most profitable ever grown and the quality good. The total average yield was about two-thirds of a bale to the acre, much more than in almost any cotton district of Mississippi or the older cotton-growing states.

Some fields in the lower part of the county yielded enormously, several growers obtaining a bale and a half to two bales to the acre. Rules for estimating yields are that sixty-five matured short staple bolls will make a pound of cotton and that land when planted in rows three and a half feet apart and the plants two feet apart will yield one bale to the acre if the plants average forty bolls.

A few years ago a substantial beginning was made in this vicinity in planting cotton on a commercial scale and the industry has grown rapidly and will undoubtedly continue to grow. The good returns from last year's planting will lead to the planting of nearly twice as much the coming season in this section.

The Fulton county grower plants his seed in the spring with the knowledge that natural conditions are all in his favor, and what is most important of all, no boll weevil, that destructive agent which plays havoc with the cotton crops of other cotton growing sections of the South.

The growing of cotton is a wonderful industry. And the manufacture of cottonseed products is a highly important industry. Hulls of cottonseed make an excellent fattening for cattle. Cottonseed meal is one of the richest and most fattening of all stock foods. It is used in large quantities throughout the northwest for fattening sheep.

Cottonseed cake is another product of the seed. Some factories make it into balls about the size of an English walnut, and in the northwest it is scattered over the snow where the sheep are feeding. Strange as it may seem, cotton is really being turned into wool by the use of cottonseed cake, for records show that a herd of sheep fed on this by-product of the seed will produce from fifteen to twenty per cent more wool than when fed with ordinary sheep food.

Just as cottonseed meal puts wool on sheep, the hulls of the seed, combined with a little meal, puts flesh on cattle.

In Fulton we have an excellent gin and growers bring their cotton from far and near to be ginned and baled.

EVANS DRUG COMPANY, FULTON, INCORPORATES
In the list of charters granted Kentucky corporations by Secretary of State, Mrs. Emma Guy Cromwell, the following appears: "Evans Drug Company, Fulton, $25,000; W. W. Evans, Harvey Boaz, Charles B. Holloway."

The company has been conducted as a partnership since its organization about three years ago, when Walter Evans left Mayfield and took charge of the business in Fulton, and it has expanded and is now operating two stores.

Fulton-Hickman Road

Work Will Actually Begin About April, Says Judge Nugent.

Judge Chas. Nugent was in Fulton Wednesday night enroute home from Paducah where he had a telephone communication with N. D. Todd, chief State Highway Engineer, predecessor of J. S. Boggs, at Frankfort. He states that as soon as details are worked out, which means as soon as Congress passes on roads, Fulton-to-Hickman road contracts will be let, said road to be federal aid. Judge Nugent said all plans and specifications have been properly approved and signed by McGabreth, the Federal road engineer of Kentucky, and we are sure to get a road from Fulton to Hickman, and no doubt actual work will begin in the early spring.

Judge Nugent is greatly enthused over road building in Fulton county, and is a live wire on the job. He has worked overtime to get Fulton county out of the mud, and there will be no let up until every road in the county has a hard surface free from dust and mud. The Fulton-Hickman road is only a beginning of the road building program.

The people of Fulton county are fortunate in having such a man at the helm—one who is capable of handling big things as well as smaller affairs. No wonder the people want to hold him in office.

Chamber of Commerce Banquet

Usona Hotel, Tuesday Evening, February 10, 8 O'clock

- MENU.
- Celery
 - Queen Omelette
 - Pimento Cup with Crab Meat
 - Chicken Salad, Mayonnaise Dressing
 - Cold Boiled Ham
 - Imported Cream Cheese
 - Sweet Mixed Pickles
 - Eskimo Pie
 - Coffee
 - Chancellor Cigars

Next Tuesday night will see the end of the drive for new members of the Chamber of Commerce, and at that time will occur one of the greatest meetings that has ever been held in Fulton, if the prognostications of the leaders of the contest are anywhere near correct.

The new members will considerably outnumber the old ones and the contest for membership will long be remembered in Fulton as one of the most earnest and thorough that has been known here, and the old members will not soon forget the efforts that they have been compelled to put forth to keep their particular team from being beaten.

The program committee has not given out just what it has prepared for the event, but it is known that there will be a band present and that Editor C. P. J. Mooney of the Commercial Appeal and Mr. Pelley of the Illinois Central System have been cordially invited to be present and address the members, and there will, of course, be a number of local speakers, so that the meeting will be one of intense interest from the opening of the program.

One thing that the committee has given out and that is that the doors will be open at 8 o'clock and that the eats will be served when the doors are opened so that there will be no time lost, and it is particularly requested that everyone be promptly on time as there are expected to be present over three hundred, and it will take some time to see that every one is accommodated.

Remember, too, that this is the time for the regular election of officers to serve for the ensuing year.

John Thompson

Popular Fulton County Man Will Make the Race for Sheriff

We are authorized to announce the candidacy of John M. Thompson for the office of Sheriff of Fulton county, subject to the action of the Democratic primary election in August.

John Thompson needs no introduction by us to the people of this county. Every man and woman in the county knows him. He was born and reared two miles northwest of Fulton and resides there now. His neighbors say there is not a better man on earth. He is just a plain, progressive farmer, honest as the days are long. He is asking the voters to elect him their sheriff, fully realizing the responsibilities of the office.

If elected, he says he will be loyal to the trust, and will do his utmost to serve the people to the very best of his ability.

Yes, John Thompson is capable of making the people a real sheriff if elected. His popularity was demonstrated in the last election when he was beaten by only a few votes. In this race eleven candidates were entered. He is not only popular in his home precinct but throughout the entire county.

John is a thoroughbred Democrat and has always been found working for the party's best interest. During the campaign he will try to meet each voter personally. He will appreciate your vote and support and asks that you consider his claims.

DIVORCED FROM HUSBAND BUT STILL IN LOVE

But Separation is Only Formal, Explains Miriam Cooper

"It's great to be divorced and still be in love with your husband." Pretty Miriam Cooper, one of the twinklers in the all-star cast of "The Broken Wing," a Preferred Picture, to be shown at the Orpheum Theatre, Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 9, and 10, makes this surprising statement and then puts a big string to it by saying that she isn't really divorced, except in a professional way, and that she is still eating breakfast, dinner and sometimes lunch with her director-husband, R. A. Walsh.

To put the matter plainly, Miss Cooper is now making her bow in a Tom Forman production, not because she doesn't believe her husband is one of the very best handlers of a megaphone in the world, but because she wants to try her wings under someone else so that she will absorb all the ideas on screen art that she is able to cram in her charming head.

GUY HALE

Popular Young Hickman Man Wants to Serve as County Court Clerk

In the announcement column of this paper will be found the announcement of Guy Hale, candidate for the office of County Court Clerk of Fulton County, subject to the action of the Democratic primary in August.

Mr. Hale is a man who has always been conscientious and untiring in every duty entrusted to him. He is a Democrat of the Jeffersonian type and has always worked for the party's best interests. He has never asked any favors or compensation of the party, but comes before the people with clean hands asking for your vote and support in the August primary election.

As is generally recognized, the office of County Court Clerk, of this or any other county should be occupied by a man of merit, one in whom the people have the utmost confidence. Mr. Hale is well qualified for the office he seeks. Many years he has acted as manager of the Hale Lumber company, of Hickman, a position requiring extraordinary clerical ability, much of which is found in the routine work of clerk.

He stands high in Hickman's business circles and is well known throughout the entire county.

He expects to be able to see practically all the voters of the county before election day, so in the meantime he will consider it a favor if you will wait until you have an opportunity of seeing him before you make up your mind. He will appreciate your vote and support for the Democratic nomination for County Court Clerk, on August 1, 1925.

ENTERTAINED

Mrs. Guy Gingles entertained the Neighborhood Sewing Club at her home last Wednesday. A very enjoyable afternoon was spent and a delicious salad course was served. All declared Mrs. Gingles a charming hostess.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH
O. J. Sowell, Pastor

All the services went over fine Sunday in spite of the unfavorable weather. Good crowds enjoyed the music and sermon both morning and evening. Mrs. J. M. Culver gave a beautiful solo for the morning service and the pastor preached on, "The Hope of the World." There is a hope in the heart of every individual, but the hope of the world; for the more abundant life—is Christ. The topic for the evening address was, "Is Religion Necessary?" There can be only two answers for this great universal question—yes, or no. If it was necessary for Christ to sacrifice His life in order that the world might have a way of life, then it is necessary that every human being under the sunshine of His smile to accept and follow the great commandments to gain the victory of eternal life. Christ's teachings are positive, and a man can only find life through Him. Morality will never save anybody, and a man may be religious and not be a Christian.

The Junior Endeavor is doing some fine work under the direction of Mrs. Culver. We believe it is very necessary that the youth of our churches be taught the art of expressing themselves concerning the great truths of the Bible.

The India Gordon Circle met with Mrs. Ben Evans last Tuesday. The meeting was very interesting and inspiring. Mrs. Lou Bensinger was the leader.

The Official Church Board met in the City National Bank Monday evening. Many things of great importance were discussed. The Board has been doing some fine work in the leadership for a greater Christian Church in Fulton.

The Woman's Missionary Society met with Mrs. Geo. Beadles on Carr street Monday afternoon. A good meeting was reported. The Woman's Society of this church has gained recognition throughout the state for its great work during the past year.

The pastor baptized two fine young ladies Sunday night after the Church service.

Some of the young people from Mayfield were present for the service on young people's night.

Mr. Paul Pickering has returned home, after undergoing an operation in Paducah. Mr. Pickering has the prayers and best wishes from the members of the church.

Mr. Clarence Pickering has returned from a business trip in Arkansas.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Brown attended the concert given in Memphis by the light Victor artists, last Friday night.

Mrs. O. J. Sowell has returned from a six weeks' visit with her friends and relatives in Oklahoma.

Rev. and Mrs. Sowell attended the concert given in Memphis by the Victor Artists last Friday night.

Radio Perfection

M. F. DeMyer, well known jeweler of Fulton, while attending the Jewelers' Convention in Kansas City fifteen years ago, was first attracted to wireless by a small set exhibited at the Convention, and on returning home, ordered a small mineral set which he installed in his jewelry store to keep in touch with correct time. This was only the beginning. He has experimented with it in every way, changing wiring, etc., until today we find him building radio sets to order, using the highest grade parts in assembling with as many sets of tubes as desired. In fact, he is making a specialty of building radio sets that do the work to perfection, with ease of operation, clearness of tone, appearance and all around performance.

One of the outstanding achievements of the DeMyer set is connections are made without an amplifier.

You don't have to know anything about radio to operate this set. Even a child can tune in on the station desired.

Radio fans say DeMyer sets are the marvel of today, even though you have never operated a radio receiver you get the real thrill and joy of radio the first time you try one of these sets.

All batteries and wiring of DeMyer's sets are concealed in a handsome cabinet. The size of the cabinet is 22 inches long, 10 inches wide and 10 1/2 inches high. The finish of the cabinet can be made to match your home furnishings if desired.

Mr. DeMyer makes a two-tube set pulling a loud speaker that is perfection within itself and the delight of every one who uses it.

Years of experience in radio work, using the finest of materials, and the most skillful workmanship, all combine to make DeMyer sets easy to use. Sets made to order are priced at $35 and up, installed complete in your home.

You who have deferred buying a radio set, waiting for some one to produce just your combination of price—need wait no longer.

By calling at Mr. DeMyer's home, 408 Park avenue, you can have the pleasure any evening of enjoying the sweetest music, the finest lectures and get in touch with various programs given throughout the United States.

Fulton, Route Seven

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor McKinney are better at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Allen are the proud parents of a baby boy.

On last Saturday afternoon at the home of Esq. McDade, Mr. Luther Donohue and Miss Marie Brashears were married in the presence of a few friends. The wedding was a surprise to all. Both parties are deaf and dumb. They attended school at Knoxville, Tenn. Mr. Donohue had charge of the boys' department in that school but resigned recently. He hopes to get a position in the shoe factory at Union City. The writer wishes them a prosperous journey through life.

The little granddaughter of Mr. Geo. Boulton, who has been dangerously ill, is improving. They have dismissed the nurse.

Mr. Walter Brashears has one of his homes advertised for sale.

Route 7 will lose one more of its settlers. We learn that Mr. Joe Hazlerigg is to have a sale February 5, and he and his brother Grover will occupy the home of Miss Cuba Edwards in South Fulton. Mr. Hazlerigg will make a good citizen.

Quite a number of our people are shipping their tobacco and report good prices. Much of the weed has been delivered. No effort has been made to start the new crop. Soon the axes will be ringing, fires crackling and plant beds under canvas.

POOL SALES OVER 75,000,000 LBS.

Sales of 1924 Crop Far in Excess of Deliveries, Smith Says

Hopkinsville, Ky., Jan. 30.—Sales of the 1924 crop by the Dark Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Association are now in excess of 75,000,000 pounds. Including deliveries of Thursday, receipts had reached a total of 27,600,000 pounds. C. K. Smith, head of the sales department stated today that practically all the 1924 crop could be sold from the receiving floors if farmers would complete their deliveries early.

An effort is being made this year to avoid the expense of pricing and if the crop is received while buyers are active, only a small part of the crop will be priced and stored. Some graders of the 1922 and 1923 crops are active and sales of a number of hogsheads are reported this week. December sales of the old crop were 1,300 hogsheads.

All available men in the accounting department are now engaged in making up the payment on 26 grades in the Dark Fired district on which a full settlement is soon to be made. These grades are of the 1922 crop.

GOING UP

Of all the pictures that have been thrown on the screen there was never one like "Going Up." Nor one that could beat it for laughs. Other films may disclose a fresh surprise every other minute, but no other hero of comedy was ever before forced to pilot an airplane through dizzy and terrifying "stunts" to win the girl. Never before were so many unexpected thrills and explosions of mirth crowded into one hour of joyous entertainment. At the Orpheum theatre, Thursday and Friday, Feb. 12 and 13.

Mr. Stansbury has accepted the position of teacher of the Boys' Bible Class in the Church School.

Mrs. A. C. Boyd is able to resume the partial management of her home. She is planning for her return to the hospital in early March for a course in X-Ray treatment, probably covering a period of a year.

The Rector's first sermon on the practical things of life and their Christian use, delivered last Sunday evening at the Episcopal Church was well received by a good audience for the rainy evening.

The contest between the Reds and Blues in the Church Sunday School is already having good fruit. Several new scholars have been added to the enrollment and the attendance is greatly increased. We hope for the increase in the regular attendance of our pupils, as well as the getting of additional new pupils.

The Woman's Guild met with Mrs. Don Taylor on Fourth street last Monday.

Clara Elizabeth Boyd, the young daughter of the Rector, has been out of school for the last with a light attack of chicken-pox.

Mr. Frank Fleming went to Washington, D. C., where he was successful in procuring a position with the Federal Government Department of Prohibition Enforcement. He will be required to do office work at the various points of central enforcement. He was immediately sent to the Philadelphia office for a few weeks. Mr. Fleming is capable and we predict he will give a good account of himself in his new position. May success attend him.

Mrs. Lizzie Milton Kilgore and daughter, Anna Katherine, are now located at the Mrs. Ryan Boarding house.

Dr. A. C. Boyd conducted Chapel exercises and addressed the student body, last Thursday morning at the Carr Institute and Senior High school on the subject, "The Building of a Man." The address was well received.

"ROUGH RIDING" LIVES UP TO ITS TITLE

First of Buddy Roosevelt Western Series Abounds in Dare Devil Feats of Equestrianism

Aptly named is "Rough Riding," Buddy Roosevelt's latest action picture, in which this daredevil hero takes all sorts of hazardous chances on his horse, "Pardner." Up hill and down, never changing his pace, yet ever galloping onward through mire and stream, over boulders and through forests—ever on the go until he overtakes his enemy—this in substance, is only part of Buddy Roosevelt's accomplishments in "Rough Riding."

It is an action picture if there ever was one. It will be shown at the Orpheum theatre today. It's a star and production that grips, holds and fascinates. You must not miss it for it is decidedly one of the finest westerns ever shown at the Orpheum theatre.

SCENE OF BATTLE IS NOW A MUSEUM

The Alamo in Charge of Texas Women.

San Antonio, Texas.—The Alamo—the shrine of Texas liberty—is the best-loved historical building in Texas. Wrapped in its grey cloak, it stands here amid the bustle and bustle of modern city life. The word "Alamo" is a Spanish name for the cottonwood tree, a species of poplar whose wood is noted for beauty of texture. These trees grow along the creeks and rivers of Texas. The Alamo was erected in a grove of cottonwoods.

The building now known as the Alamo was the church in the Mission San Antonio de Valero. It stands on the east side of Alamo plaza in the center of San Antonio, with its carved stone face toward the setting sun. Its front bears the date of 1757, probably the date of its dedication.

The foundation stone was laid on May 8, 1744. It is understood that the mission was founded on the Rio Grande river in 1703, was moved twice, then finally brought to San Antonio, by order of the viceroy of New Spain, the Marquis de Valero, in 1718, a number of years before the revolution.

The church was built of stone, and there are evidences that it once had twin towers, though at the time it was besieged by Gen. Santa Anna they had disappeared and the dome had partly fallen. At the time the Alamo was rehabilitated, a new roof was put on; but it still retains the old dirt floor.

Famous Battle.
During Texas' war with Mexico in 1836, the Alamo, containing 181 men under the command of Col. W. B. Travis, and including Bowie, Crockett and Bonham, was besieged by Santa Anna with a large force. Col. Travis sent messengers with a call for help which failed to come. He then made his famous speech to his men and asked those who agreed to remain with him and defend the fort to the last to step over a line which he drew on the floor with the point of his sword.

Every one, with the exception of a man named Ross, who made his escape, stepped over the line to Travis. Bowie had to be lifted across the line. On March 6, Santa Anna stormed the fort. The brave defenders were overwhelmed.

After the siege the Alamo was in ruins until 1849, when it was partly restored by Maj. Babbitt, acting quartermaster of the Eighth Military department, for offices and a storehouse. Texas having been admitted into the Union, it was thus used until the Civil war when the Confederate forces took it over. After the war, the United States government again used it until a quartermaster's depot was built on Government hill.

Daughters of Republic.
The state afterward purchased the Alamo for $20,000. The Daughters of the Texas Republic have charge of the relics and mementos within its walls. They have put up bronze tablets containing the names of the 181 men who made the heroic stand.

The Daughters of the Republic bought the ground, now inclosed by the vine-covered arched walls on the right of the Alamo and once a part of the mission, for $75,000 and later sold it to the state for $95,000. They made a walled garden of this spot with wide iron gates opening toward the Alamo. Many southern plants, vines and flowers grow there. Six pecan trees, now bearing, were sent as a gift. A peach tree stands within the iron gates. The ivy that runs over the stone archways was brought from Mount Vernon. A granite shaft—a gift from Japan to commemorate a similar battle fought at Marischino in their own country—is within the garden.

Mystery City Found in Wilds of Sumatra

The Hague, Holland.—A romantic story of the discovery of an ancient unknown and uninhabited fortress city comes from Sumatra, one of the largest islands of the Dutch East Indian archipelago.

According to the Sumatra Post, J. L. Hiemstra, a forestry official, journeying in the upper Langkat region, reached a point beyond which the native guides were reluctant to proceed. They talked of a nearby silent city which they had once seen from afar, but never dared approach, as they imagined it to be haunted by evil spirits.

Hiemstra, however, pushed on with a small party and eventually reached a sheer wall of rock of great height and some miles long, with natural bastions and inaccessible except at three points, by one of which the explorers entered.

They came upon a veritable maze of intercommunicating alleys, passages, chambers and cave dwellings. In the center of this fortress town was found a large open space with one huge solitary tree. There were inscriptions in strange characters, and remains of what seemed ancient tombs. Silence brooded over the place, and although traces of wild mountain goats were observed, not a human soul was seen.

Who the ancient rock-dwellers were and why they abandoned their impregnable stronghold remains a mystery.

FOOTPRINTING LAST WORD IN ACCURACY

Proves Infallible Means of Identification.

New York.—"Footprinting is my trade," said Mary E. Hamilton, director of the New York police department's bureau. "But it is a fact that will last as long as I do. I hope it will last as long as the world." The head of the police department of New York made this remark to Ada Patterson, who tells the story in the Police Magazine. Mrs. Hamilton has furnished an apartment next to her own home for desperate, unmarried mothers who might otherwise become human waste. Frantic, betrayed girls with the dawn of motherhood in their may ring her doorbell at any hour and find sympathy and a room in the little waiting apartment that is a twin of Mrs. Hamilton's home. Twin in shining neatness and care and livableness. We were talking of these distraught, despairing visitors, of the pallid faces and the midnight ring at the door, when Mrs. Hamilton mentioned footprinting.

"It is the last word in accuracy in the detection of criminals," she said. "Commissioner Richard E. Enright, who is a progressive, forward-looking official, deeply interested in fingerprinting not only for detection, but for personal protection, approves footprinting."

Origin of Footprinting.

"It came into the department in a strange way. A beggar was brought in. His hands were gone. His arms were mere stumps. How should we secure means of identification in his case? There were no birthmarks. Comparatively few persons have them. The only thing to do is to take his footprints," said some one. The beggar's foot was smeared with the ink used in fingerprinting. He was told to step upon a sheet of white paper. There was a complete print. By that simple act the perfection of methods of identification had been reached. A criminal may twist his fingers and prevent a perfect print. But the sole of the foot is uncompromising. The footprint is a masterpiece.

"Footprinting has the widest application to the problems of life and the police; for hands may be maimed and manipulated, but the soles do not change. So long as the feet remain, the footprint is an infallible means of identification."

"It solves the problem of the unfortunate stricken suddenly by amnesia or aphasia. If every person were footprinted at birth and records made of the footprints the footprints would answer the sad old question, 'Who am I?'"

Possibilities.

"Footprinting would prevent the hospital blunders of mixed-up and missing babies."

"It would make complete and accurate beyond doubt the identification of the dead."

"Potters' field would dwindle to a mere record of poverty rather than mystery. The appalling record of the burial of 250,000 unknown dead a year in New York city would be raised."

"It would have caused Charley Ross to be found—and Lillian McKenzie."

"There would be no more lost children?" I asked.

"If lost they would be quickly found," returned Mrs. Hamilton. "And here would be no possibility of mix-up identities. No two footprints are alike and they never change. What mother could say with certainty, 'If my child were lost today I would recognize him in 12 years?' The woman who is not sure whether a child is her own or another's is the saddest sight in a world crowded with sad spectacles. Yet it is a common one. Nothing in nature changes so wholly as does a babe that is growing up. A mother's heart may tell her the truth, but she has no sure means of proving it."

Chloroform Fatal

Decorah, Iowa.—Mrs. Jesse Smith, Milwaukee, a sufferer from insomnia, is dead here from an overdose of chloroform which she used to induce sleep. Telling her sister, Mrs. Charles Oyarcecker, that she intended to take a nap, Mrs. Smith poured some chloroform into a towel which she pressed to her nostrils. She died ten minutes later.

Probably Flapper

Hanover, Pa.—A pack of rats recently invaded the cafe of John Michael, Railroad street, and ate up $30 worth of chewing gum. The rodents passed up cheese, sweets and pastries on the same counter. Early possessors said they saw rats coming from a sewer grating in an effort to get rid of the gum.

26 Months on Way

Detroit.—Twenty-six months ago Louis R. Grosslight, pawn broker, No. 72 Monroe avenue, sent to Chicago a business letter which requested an immediate reply. The answer was delivered to Mr. Grosslight by the postman recently and the postmark revealed it was mailed in Chicago at 11:30 a. m. Sept. 23, 1922.

Kills Huge Owl

Tacoma, Wash.—A great owl that had long been killing poultry and wild game near South Bend, Wash., recently was caught and slain as a result of the pluck of Mrs. W. A. Wilson. The bird measured 4 feet 5 inches across the wings.

POULTRY

ARTIFICIAL LIGHT IS STIMULUS TO HENS

The use of some form of artificial lighting is a stimulus to laying hens because it offers more hours of day light and increases food consumption. Its use is now generally accepted not as a proposition of fooling the fowls, but of lengthening the days and partially duplicating spring conditions.

There is some criticism of the use of lights due to the apparent bad results on the health of the birds that is often noticed in the winter.

Some poultrymen feel that if hens are fully matured by fall and are bred to lay no artificial stimulation is needed. Egg production from some flocks will bear out this attitude, but where comparative tests have been made between flocks lighted and unlighted there is no evidence to prove that lighting causes a greater chance for contracting disease.

Lighting offers an opportunity for greater food consumption, making possible the manufacture of more eggs," says Prof. A. G. Phillips of Purdue university. "Late maturing pullets may be pushed by lighting in October. With pullets maturing early, a fall molt may be delayed and high-priced eggs obtained. In such a case there is usually a let-up in production followed by a molt in December or January.

Where pullets mature normally in October and are in good condition of flesh, it may not be profitable to light them until November or December or possibly not at all. When eggs are wanted in January from the older hens that have molted in the fall, the use of lights may be applied between January 1 and 15.

An easy time to turn on the lights is at 4:00 a. m., using an ordinary alarm-clock alarm key to connect the switch. The extra feed offered at this time should be grain consisting of corn, wheat and oats and it may be scattered in the litter the night before. At 7:30 or 8:00 a. m. more grain should be fed. A mash hopper containing 50 pounds bran, 50 pounds flour middlings and 20 pounds tankage, should be open all the time. About three times as much grain as mash should be fed when lights are used.

Sprouted Oats Will Aid Health of Winter Flocks

Green feed during the winter months will encourage egg production and promote the health of the flock. Cabbage or sprouted oats are especially recommended.

Sprouted oats have the advantage of being easily available on most farms. Trays for sprouting oats, made about two inches deep and two feet square with bottoms of plaster lath, are convenient. The trays are supported on an upright frame or rack provided with cleats so that the trays will slide in and out. A four-inch space is allowed between trays.

A rack five feet high will accommodate ten trays or enough for two or three hundred birds. The sprouter is kept in a furnace room or other place where the temperature is 60 to 70 degrees.

Two or three pounds of dry oats are soaked over night and placed in a tray each day. They can be sprinkled frequently and allowed to grow from one-fourth to one inch in length before feeding.

Maturity in Seven Months

About seven months are required for a chicken to grow to maturity. During that period of growth its feed goes to the making of bone, flesh and feathers. When it becomes mature its feed goes to the making of eggs. If a bird matures and commences laying in the fall she will continue laying all winter if properly cared for. Birds that are still growing when cold weather comes will usually commence laying late the next spring.

Poultry Notes

Provide plenty of clean nests for the laying hens.

Grade your eggs for uniformity in size, shape, and color.

Keep out the cracked, dirty, small, and very large eggs for home use.

Gather the eggs in a well-padded pall or basket and reduce breakage.

Use only sound, strong, standard packages and pack the eggs properly.

Sell eggs to a buyer who pays for quality or buys on a graded basis. When your eggs are of best quality and the buyer purchases them on a case-count or "nest-run" basis, you get less than they are worth.

Keep the nests clean and market clean, fresh-looking eggs. It spoils the sale of eggs when they are marketed in an untidy condition.

Use the small, dirty and cracked eggs at home. They have a lower market value but are entirely satisfactory for immediate home use.

Keep the eggs in a cool, clean, fairly dry place until marketed. Heat causes deterioration in quality and evaporation of moisture from the egg. Dampness causes the eggs to mold.

VALUE OF FORGETTING

We hear much about the value of a good memory—the ability to store up and carry the valuable information in the recesses of one's brain. A clear and vigorous memory is no doubt a great blessing to any one fortunate enough to possess it, but the vessel which will carry rosewater will also carry deadly poison. A memory which gathers vivid impressions may haunt and torment its possessor with pictures which it were better to forget.

It is well to remember the things worth remembering—things which bring pleasure or serve a valuable purpose—but in every life there is much that is not worth remembering and there may be some things that are a positive detriment.

The man who can easily and quickly forget the ugly, the painful and the unpleasant things has a great advantage over the man who cannot. The forgetter drops heavy and unnecessary burdens and makes his journey through life easier and more enjoyable than the man who remembers with pain and sorrow.

The world is full of unpleasant and regrettable things. It will always be so. Every landscape has its blurs and unsightly nooks and corners. There is no need to fasten one's gaze upon these. There's beauty in the sky line—in the purplish distance; there is music in the prattle of the child and the whisper of the night wind. There is inspiration in the examples of faith, heroism, fidelity and sacrifice which may be seen on every hand.

These are the things which make life worth living—make human effort and human struggle worth while. These are the things worth remembering. The best thing to do with the bad things is to forget them.

WILL THE ENVIRONMENT OF THIS TOWN KEEP YOUR BOY HERE?

Fulton may never be a Chicago or a New York, but it can be made to grow. If you have the impression that those cities grew entirely because of their geographical location, you are wrong. That helped, but it took conscientious work and perseverance to make them grow and keep them growing. There isn't a man in this town who would want to see it become a town of tenements. This town is a better place in which to live. You get the rain, the sunshine and the fresh air here, while in these big cities you get rain, little sunshine and practically no fresh air. If your boy talks of going to the city, advise him otherwise. Keep him here in his own home, where environments are good and pure. If you want your children to cheer up when shadows of time begin creeping into your life, make this town so good your boy will want to stay here. Show him the old home is preferable to the big city as a place in which to live.

JUDGE RYAN TELLS ABOUT ROADS FOR WESTERN KENTUCKY

In a speech before the meeting of Fiscal Courts of Kentucky, held at Paducah, Judge G. W. Ryan, of Cadiz, made the following interesting address on a highway system for Western Kentucky:

"It is very easy for a man to tell how to get roads, but it requires a great deal of time, work, and money to build them," he declared.

Judge Ryan also expressed the opinion that there is too much mileage in the primary road system.

"What good does it do to add 8,000 miles to the primary system when not a soul but what knows it will be impossible to build half of it? A road system should be arranged so as to go through the main localities of the state," he said.

Economy is a great need, Judge Ryan said. "We have reached a place where somebody should say, 'let's stop and live within our state income.' I think the same rule should apply in public business as in private business. The same business sense applied in public business will be effective.

"My county is collecting $2,000 less in general expenditure funds than last year and pays into the state treasury more than $2,000 more than she did last year.

"If the drain on county revenue continues, the little outlying counties won't be able to function, because they can't finance themselves," he declared.

"The counties are being stripped of funds, and funds that ought to go into the county treasury are going into the state treasury to take care of state debts.

"I don't think it is right for the state road department to gobble up all the funds from the counties. Why not let the funds go to the county authorities for administration under a well regulated system?" he asked.

"I sometimes wonder when those higher up say that graft and waste is in the county government if they do not pull a black curtain over their faces?"

Judge Ryan said that perhaps western Kentucky could prevail upon the legislature to believe "that the local county governments are not dens of thieves and cut-throats. I have as much faith in the officials of west Kentucky as in the state officials.

"Why should we allow the legislature to drain the funds of the county and cripple the efficiency of county government? It is wrong and ought not to be done," he continued.

BRIEFLETS

"Keep to the middle of the road," is ancient advice, but today it is only the road hog who does it.

A stiff upper lip is as commendable as a loose tongue is objectionable.

People who hit the high spots when young often spend their old age in the low ones.

The fellow who recognizes the goodness of others is merely responding to the same qualities in himself.

And yet there is one advantage in keeping prices up a little longer. We can wear last summer's suit without being termed too cheap.

The brainiest man in this town would probably be the last one to look in a glass to find him.

Newspaper editors learn many secrets they are not supposed to know. But don't worry. They also learn to forget the things it is not best for them to remember.

Some people come into this life with a wail, go through it with a growl, and slide out with a snarl.

The devil knows his own, but we strongly suspect that he is averse to an intimate acquaintance with some of them.

Lesson for February 8

CHRIST'S INTERCESSORY PRAYER

LESSON TEXT—John 17:1-25.
GOLDEN TEXT—Holy Father, keep through thine own name those whom thou hast given me, that they may be one, as we are.—John 17:11.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Praying for His Friends.

JUNIOR TOPIC—What Jesus Prayed For.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Christ's Prayer for His Disciples.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Christ's Intercessory Prayer.

I. His Prayer for Himself (vv. 1-5).
Fully conscious that the hour of His crucifixion was at hand He prayed to the Father saying, "Glorify thy Son, that thy Son also may glorify Thee." His coming into the world had as its supreme mission the glorification of the Father. In order that the Father might be glorified it was necessary that the Son should be glorified.

1. To Him Had Been Given the Power to Give Eternal Life to God's Chosen Ones (vv. 2, 3). Eternal life is knowledge of and a right relation to the true God and Jesus Christ. Thus we see that eternal life is a relationship and not an entity.

2. He Declared That He Had Finished the Work Committed unto Him (v. 4). The definite work which He came to do was to give eternal life to the chosen of God.

II. His Prayer for His Immediate Disciples (vv. 6-19).
1. Their Preservation (vv. 6-10). He did not pray that they would be taken out of the world but that they might be kept from the Evil One. It is not the divine will that we go to heaven at once when we believe because:

(1) Christ needs our ministry. Those who have been made partakers of the divine life are His representatives in the world.

(2) We need His grace strengthened and developed in us. Heaven is a prepared place and only those who have been prepared for it can be admitted into it.

(3) The world needs us. Christ declares that the disciples are the light of the world, the salt of the earth (Matt. 5:16). Only as the light of the Lord shines forth through the disciples can the people in the world find their way.

2. Their Sanctification (vv. 17-19).

(1) Sanctify means: First, to set apart; that means then that the disciples were to be set apart to do the specific work of representing Christ.

(2) To cleanse; those who are set apart as His representatives need the special cleansing grace to make them vessels fit for the Master's use.

(3) The Instrument used (v. 17). They were to be sanctified through God's truth. God's truth is His Word.

(4) The purpose (v. 18). They were sanctified in order that they might be qualified for His service in the world.

(5) Jesus' own sanctification was for that purpose (v. 19). He is the grand example.

III. His Prayer for His Future Disciples (vv. 20-26).

1. Their Unification (vv. 20-23). His great concern was that all believers should be united.

(1) The grand pattern of this spiritual union is the union that exists between the Father and the Son (v. 21).

(2) The incentive making possible this union (v. 22). The vision of the glory of God in Christ (11 Cor. 3:18) is the grand incentive which unites the believers.

(3) The purpose (v. 23). The supreme objective in the unification of the believers is to convince the world that God sent Jesus Christ to save it.

2. Their Glorification (vv. 24-26). The disciple of Christ enjoys fellowship with the Father and the Son and fellowship with his fellow believer, but he also looks forward to the time when he shall be glorified.

(1) "I will that they be with Me where I am" (v. 24). There is a present glory enjoyed by believers.

(a) They are now children of God although it does not yet appear what they shall be.

(b) They now possess eternal life and therefore shall never perish. While there is the present glory, Jesus wants His disciples to be with Him in Heaven. He said, "Except a grain of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone." We can reverently say that unless the believer is taken to Heaven Christ will be lonely.

(2) "Behold my glory" (v. 24). The believer shall share the ineffable glory of Christ (1 John 3:1-3).

What is the Chamber of Commerce?

The Chamber of Commerce is the voice of the city. It reflects the ideals of the community.

It expresses the aspirations of the people. It gives direction to the aims of the Citizenship.

It combines the efforts of those who think in terms of helpfulness.

It reduces unorganized elements to an organized unit. It speaks in defense of the good name of the city.

It defends the city against the trader.

It is the spotlight that reveals activities that are worthy. It pleads in behalf of the voiceless.

It is the center of worth while enterprise.

It is the magnet that draws the outside world to your midst. It is the clearing house of civic pride.

It is the power house of progress.

It is a composite picture of a city as its citizenship would have it.

THE FULTON CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Will Give You Advice and Protection—A Busy Organization

The Memphis Chamber of Commerce Journal recently had an editorial which is in part as follows:

"The Chamber of Commerce knows a good deal more about what is going on in the city than the average person suspects. Business men would save themselves embarrassment and money if they would consult the Chamber of Commerce about schemes that are presented to them." It then goes on to tell how an organization went into Memphis and tried to tie up the merchants in a promotion contract that was only a money maker for the outsiders, and how the Chamber of Commerce got on the track of the schemers and tipped off the members of the C. of C., and so saved them from getting into a "jam."

The Fulton Chamber of Commerce has done the same class of work a number of times in the past year, and has saved the merchants of this city a good many hundreds of dollars by either declining to endorse fake advertising schemes introduced by outsiders or by letting the members know of such schemes in time to prevent their being taken in.

On two or three occasions some of the members have been "stung" but it was due to the fact that they failed to communicate with the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and so did not know that the solicitor had either been turned down by the Chamber of Commerce, or else had carefully evaded the organization so as not to be hampered by its investigations and refusal of its sanction.

If the members would remember and ask any stranger who appears with some new idea on advertising or cooperative scheme if the Chamber of Commerce had passed on it, they will save themselves and their fellow members a considerable amount of time and money. It does not take long to telephone the secretary and he will do the rest.

This is just another instance of the benefits of cooperation of the members of the community, and shows how much the community depends, and must depend on the mutual aid of its citizens.

Even if you are not a member of the Chamber of Commerce, you can always "tell your troubles" to one who is a member or to the secretary, particularly the latter, for that is his job and it is up to him to see that the idea is put before the proper committee or the next meeting so that the interests of the community at large may be properly looked after.

Of course, it would be much more pleasant if you were a member and could bring the matter before the members yourself, and just a mere mention of the fact that you would like to be a member, in almost any gathering of business men these days, will bring forth a number of application blanks and fountain pens.

BOOST, BROTHERS, BOOST!

We cannot all be president
 And boss the village board,
 We cannot all become the gent
 Who wins a mayor's reward,
 We cannot all become the guy
 Who rules the highest roost;
 But one thing we can do, say
 I—
 That's boost, my brothers,
 boost!

Fulton is just as good a town
 As anywhere you'll hit;
 There's naught on earth can keep it down
 If we keep boosting it.

Let's trade at home, let's let a yell
 By local pride produced;
 There's one thing all can do as well—
 That's boost, my brothers,
 boost!

When any fellow starts to knock
 This town in any way,
 Our dads to dig, our maids to mock,
 Our Government to flay,
 Just take the knocking one asirle

And, ere your hold is loosed,
 Just whisper gently, "Darn
 your hide,
 Now boost, you knocker,
 boost!"

Culver Ice Cream Co.

During a recent visit to the Culver Ice Cream company's plant we found it the cleanest, neatest and most attractive establishment of the kind we have ever seen. It is doubtful if there is another ice cream factory in the South that will equal it in point of scrupulous cleanliness and general attractiveness; and what makes this popular Fulton concern doubly interesting is the delicious ice cream and frozen fruit salads manufactured here.

The product is a favorite in Fulton and it is used in families, hotels, drug stores, and restaurants in large quantities. Its fame has extended all over this section and large quantities are shipped daily to cities and towns in West Tennessee and Southwestern Kentucky, winter and summer.

The plant is equipped with modern appliances for manufacturing ice cream and only the very best and purest ingredients are used.

Ice cream is a most wholesome and palatable food and should be eaten freely, especially during the summer months. The quality turned out by the Culver plant is absolutely pure, hence its great popularity.

The plant is situated at 406 Main street and the public is invited to call there and inspect the premises at any time during business hours.

Mr. John M. Culver is the manager of the business. He came to Fulton some years ago from Clarksdale, Miss., and established the business and it has been a success from its inception, due largely to his indomitable pluck and energy. Mr. Culver is one of Fulton's most popular young business men and a member of the City Council, and the company under his management is one of our most successful industries.

The Culver Ice Cream company also has a branch business at Dyersburg, with an enviable reputation for the delicious products turned out.

ABOUT ROSES

PREPARING TO GROW ROSES, OR LAYING THE FOUNDATION

Having chosen the location and decided upon the size and shape of your beds, you are next ready to prepare the soil. After all, we don't think so much about soil and climate, as the care and skill of the cultivator. If you are successful, I would rather plant a 15-cent rose in a dollar hole than plant a dollar rose in a 15-cent hole. Now ample drainage is one thing that must be provided, if you are to court success. "Wet feet" are no more conducive to health and happiness for roses than for children. Examine your soil; if there seems a need, provide drainage. Remove the soil from your bed to the very bottom, probably two feet or more, then cover the bottom with a layer of 4 or 5 inches of small stones, cinders or any good drainage material that will readily "take" the water from above. The soil is seldom so retentive as to require tilling to take the water away and, indeed, nine times out of ten, no artificial drainage at all will be needed.

As to soil, the good loam so often found directly beneath the sod is excellent, but is greatly improved by being broken, even pulverized, to a depth of at least 18 inches, and thoroughly mixed with about one-third its bulk of rotted manure. Fresh manure must never be allowed to touch the rose roots.

Not all roses like the same soils. The Hybrid Perpetuals, for example, love a heavy clay or loam; so do the heavier growing climbers; whereas the Teas, Hybrid Teas and the like, revel in a lighter soil and a warmer one, with less than 50 per cent clay or loam, and more sand or leaf-mold.

It is difficult to give the roses too rich soil. If your soil is light and sandy, and you cannot well replace it entirely, it may be greatly improved by mixing a little clay or rich loam with it when trenching. If your soil seems too heavy, it can be made lighter and more open by adding sand, or even coal ashes. To be good for roses, the soil must be such as will not quickly transmit to the roots sudden surface changes of temperature. If it be possible, after the soil in your bed has been prepared, give it time, say two or three months, to settle before planting your roses.

KENTUCKY BRIEFS

Salysville—Information has been received at Salysville that Benny Patrick, who lives on Cow Creek in Magoffin County, assaulted his wife with an ax seriously, if not fatally, injuring her.

Pineville—More than $2,000 was raised for the Kentucky Children's Home Society building fund in a campaign just closed in Pineville. Miss Ida Cozart, representing the home, was in charge of the local drive.

Ashland—The ordinance permitting the lending of a sum of $54,000 to the Ashland Board of Education from the fund in the city treasury, passed the Board of Aldermen after a three-day discussion of the matter. Mayor William Salsbury vetoed the loan.

Edmonton—The 9-year-old son of Gus Parke, farmer, who lives six miles south of here, was kicked by a mule his brother was leading and instantly killed. He was the youngest child of Mr. Parke and was said to have been striking the mule with a switch when kicked.

Danville—The fundamentals of cooperative associations, the spread of the movement, its prosperity and the pending legislation affecting it were discussed by Walton Poteat, secretary of the National Council of Cooperative Marketing Associations, at the marketing school held at the Court House.

Owensboro—Leo Jesse, 25, drowned when he fell from the rigging of the U. S. S. Clairmont at the Mare Island Navy Yard, in California, according to a message received here by his mother, Mrs. C. R. Jesse. The body of the young man had not been recovered, according to a telegram from the commanding officer of the ship.

Whitesburg—Because of the heavy traffic as a result of mine activity throughout the Elkhorn-Howard field, train service is severely hampered on the Eastern Kentucky Division of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad and in most cases passenger trains are being operated from three to four hours late. The congestion has become serious within the past few days.

Paris—Richard, the 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Jones, of Bourbon County, was seriously burned about the head and body, when his clothing caught fire from an open grate. Although suffering severely from the burns, physicians say the child will survive, as it did not inhale the flames. The child's mother was burned about the hands and arms while extinguishing the flames.

Paris—Ben Woodford, Bourbon County tax commissioner, has completed the assessment for Bourbon County, which shows an increase over the last assessment of $976,163, due mainly to the increased valuation placed by the State Tax Commission on tobacco stored and held by the Burley Tobacco Society and the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company, in Bourbon County. The raise was $10 a hoghead.

Whitesburg—Gordon Adams, 25 years old, Bottom Fork Creek, was sentenced to fifteen years imprisonment for the killing of Dan Stivers, 98, last May in Letcher County, after a jury had found him guilty. It was the fifth penitentiary sentence imposed on him during the present session of the Circuit Court. A. O. Stump, Commonwealth's Attorney, prosecuted the case, and Adams was defended by A. J. Kirt of Jenkins, Ky.

Owensboro—Announcement was made that the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Geary, formerly the M. V. Monarch property, just east of Owensboro, would be converted into an infirmary. It will be known in the future as "Camillus Heights," named for the founder of the Red Cross. The home is one of the most beautiful in Western Kentucky, and was built by the late M. V. Monarch, a noted distiller of Davless County, and at the time was the finest home in Western Kentucky.

Mr. Sterling—Testimony was finished in the Sheppard murder trial and the proof was very conflicting. Speeches for the defense were made by Henry Watson and W. B. White, and for the state by Herbert Moore, of Winchester, and Commonwealth's Attorney W. C. Hamilton. The addresses for both sides were bitter, as much of the proof was contradictory. After the instructions were read by Judge Prewitt, the jury took the case. Sheppard is charged with the murder of Sant Seay, in this county.

Maysville—Ebert Slayback, who played with the local team in the old Bluegrass League, signed a contract to play with the Norfolk, Va., club the coming season.

Haxian—Fire thought to have been caused by defective wiring gutted the Cassinus Confectionery, a three-story frame building in the business district here. The loss on the building, stock and fixtures was estimated at $3,000, partly covered by insurance. A modern brick building will be erected on the site, W. S. Hensley announced.

AUDIT SHOWS ROAD DEFICIT

REPORT OF ACCOUNTANTS ON HIGHWAY BOARD MADE PUBLIC

The Statement of Condition in June, 1924 and Revised January, 1925, Presented to Gov. Wm. J. Fields. Showed a Deficit of $3,919,865.07.

Frankfort, Ky.—Report of the detailed audit of the Department of State Roads and Highways by Humphrey Robinson & Co., Louisville, public accountants, was personally presented by W. C. Montgomery, chairman of the State Highway Commission, and R. W. Owen, commissioner, to Governor Fields.

The report was for the four years ending June 30, 1924, and covered sixty-four pages, bound and dated January 27, addressed to the governor.

The statement of condition on June 30, 1924, and revised January 15, 1925, showed a deficit of $3,919,865.07.

"In the four years ended June 30, 1924, 212 road and bridge construction projects were awarded," the report declared. "With the exception of fourteen of these, we found satisfactory evidence that all were awarded to the lowest bidders. Out of these fourteen exceptions, no bid tabulations were found on hand in seven instances, and we could not be positive that these seven projects were awarded to the lowest bidders; on the other hand, we can not state that this was not done."

"In five of the other seven instances the minute book recites good and sufficient reasons as to why these contracts were not awarded to the lowest bidders."

In the four years surety bonds were required from the successful bidders on all contracts, the report stated.

GAS INCREASE DISAPPROVED

Raise To 20 Cents Per Gallon Arouses Owensboro Official.

Owensboro, Ky.—Owensboro citizens were led to believe a few months ago that the days of 20-cent gasoline were gone forever. However, they learned when they drove their limousines and jitneys to the gas stations recently that a uniform price of 20 cents a gallon prevailed in Owensboro.

The city of Owensboro went to the expense of paying $200 for a large tank, which it loaned to an independent station, which began operations on bulk the alleged gas combine. At that time gas was selling at twenty-three cents a gallon. The new company cut to 19 cents. In a few days the other companies cut to 17 cents, much to the delight of motorists, who were led to believe that the days of cheap gas were returning. The new company opened a second station on the strength of the popularity gained by bringing down the gas price in Owensboro.

Then all of the gas stations had placards out announcing gas at 20 cents a gallon.

Commissioner Henry Cline, who led the fight for cheap gas in Owensboro, announced that he will have an immediate investigation of the latest rise in the price of gas. The independent dealer says "short stocks and low supply" resulted in the increase. Commissioner Cline has about decided to recall the city's $200 tank that is loaned out and establish a municipal gas station.

Open New Cable Line

Louisville—A new high-speed cable direct to the Azores and Spain has just been opened by the Western Union Telegraph Company for cable traffic to those places. It was announced here by John L. Strohm, superintendent of the Western Union at Louisville. The cable, which is the first to connect directly the United States and Italy, will be 4,704 nautical miles long, or about 5,422 land miles. The laying of a final section has begun, which will run from Malaga, Spain, to Rome, Italy.

Ex-Mail Chief Fined

Letchfield—Carl H. Boone, 32 years old, former postmaster at Letchfield, Ky., was fined $750 by Judge Charles H. Moorman on a charge of extorting money from his employees. Boone, who pleaded guilty following his indictment November 27, is alleged to have asked money from attaches at the Letchfield postoffice to "help pay" for mailer service and office fixtures.

School Teams Named

Hopkinsville—Edwin Willis, William Porter and Mary Perkins Trimble have been selected by the Hopkinsville school to represent the institution at the State debating and declamatory contests to be held in Lexington in May. The Hopkinsville team won the State debating contest last year.

Magoffin Pastor Quits

Salysville—The Rev. William Savage, pastor of the Salysville Christian Church, has resigned his charge and will go to California. It is announced. The Rev. Mr. Savage caused a sensation in his church in his farewell sermon when he accused members of his church of marital infidelity, operating punch boards, using profane language and other unbecoming conduct. He will visit Hopkinsville before going West. The Rev. Mr. Savage is from Wales, British Isles.

I. C. Employees Solicit Business

We are glad to note the activities of the employees of the Illinois Central in the solicitation of business for their company, which shows the good relationship that exists between the employes and the company.

The employes of course, realize the more business their company obtains, the more men it will be able to employ, and that the extra work will be made more or less permanent if the business is increased sufficient to demand it.

During the year just closed, 1924, the employes of the Tennessee Division obtained the following additional business for their company:

Routing orders on 2,820 car load shipments. These are cars that no doubt would have moved via some other line, but for the activities of the I. C. employes; there were 3,891 carloads of freight procured which was new business, and 798 passengers that would have perhaps used some other line.

All of the above was obtained by the employes of the Tennessee Division, and does not cover the system.

Never before in the history of industry, have employes taken such interest in their company as the present-day employe, and it is indeed gratifying to see such peaceful relationship exist between employer and employe. Democracy is a wonderful thing, not only for nations, but for industries as well, and is rapidly gaining headway in the industrial world.

Motor Car Equipment for Illinois Central Electrification

The Illinois Central Railroad has awarded contracts for supplying the cars and motor equipment for operation on its suburban passenger cars in the forthcoming electrification of its Chicago terminal, about which appeared an article in The Advertiser some time ago.

The decision of the Illinois Central to undertake electrification of its Chicago terminal lines was made two years ago. After a very extensive investigation of the Engineering problems on the road in October, 1922, a plan was announced of 1,500 volt direct current electrification. The contract just awarded is one of the final steps in the consummation of this improvement. The direct current system operating at 1,500 volts with overhead conductors, was adopted. The tend 28 miles south of Chicago, area to be electrified will extend 28 miles south of Chicago, and will include 37 route miles of suburban line, over which a heavy traffic is carried.

The electrified section will be completed and in operation by July, 1926, according to the present plans. The electrified lines will be those now operated by steam locomotives between Randolph Street terminal, Chicago and Matteson, Ill., Kensington and Blue Island on the Blue Island branch and between 67th street and South Chicago on the South Chicago branch.

I. C. Employees Enjoy Opera

Employes of the Illinois Central and members of their families to the number of 3,500, from all points on the system, but principally from the general offices and divisions adjacent to Chicago, attended a special performance at the auditorium theatre, Chicago, given by the Chicago Civic Opera company on Sunday evening, January 18. The entire house was reserved by the railroad and the audience was confined to employes and their guests. The opera presented "Aida."

OWNS SMALLEST TORAH IN WORLD

Philadelphia Man Found It in Ancient Tomb.

Philadelphia.—A Hebrew Torah, said to be the smallest in the world, is in the possession of Benjamin Braverman, a trainman of this city.

Although it contains only 695 pages and measures less than a quarter of an inch in thickness, the tiny volume is complete with the 38 books of the Torah. The book is one and three-sixteenths inches long and eleven-sixteenths of an inch wide.

Braverman, who lives at 4908 North Marvyn street, said that he found the Torah in its little brass case in the tomb of Ben Kalba Sabba in an old burial ground about a mile north of Jerusalem while on a boyish ramble more than fifteen years ago. Braverman is a native of the Holy City and has been in the United States about ten years.

Ben Kalba Sabba, according to Jewish records, was a rich and prominent man of Jerusalem who flourished about the year 70. He obtained his name from the fact that any one who came to his home hungry as a dog (kalba) went away satisfied (sabba). He was one of the three rich men of Jerusalem, the other two being Nakdemon Ben Goryon and Ben Zait-ha-Keset, each of whom had in his storehouses enough to provide the besieged city with all the necessities of life for ten years. But as these three favored peace with Rome, the zealots burned their hoards of grain, oil and wood, causing the terrible famine which swept Jerusalem at that time.

According to Braverman, the tomb of Ben Kalba was a spot of great interest to members of the Jewish race who made pilgrimages to Jerusalem, and contained many relics of the first century after Christ. The miniature Torah was probably dropped by one of these visitors, he believes.

The "smallest Bible" is printed in the Hebrew language in microscopic type which cannot be read with the naked eye. Under a strong magnifying lens, however, the type stands out remarkably clear-cut and bold, and one who understands the language can read it very easily.

Congress to Let Oldest Lighthouse Go to Ruin

Barnegat, N. J.—The lighthouse bureau, United States Department of Commerce, has practically abandoned all idea of restoring historic Barnegat lighthouse on the Jersey coast. This is one of the oldest lighthouses in America. The board plans to substitute a steel tower to serve navigation.

Apparently, efforts of those living in the vicinity of Barnegat and of the New Jersey state officials to have the Federal government restore this historic landmark have failed. If the state legislature does not provide funds for its preservation it will be but a few years before it will fall into the sea.

Robert Engle, member of the New Jersey state board of commerce and navigation; W. T. Sherman, engineer of the board, and Edward W. Appleby of Asbury Park, son of Representative T. Frank Appleby, who has shown much interest in the old lighthouse restoration, held a conference with Assistant Secretary of Commerce J. Walton Drake to learn the government's position in regard to the lighthouse and to urge the department to take steps to restore it to first-class condition.

Congress appropriated $100,000 to restore the old lighthouse. Mr. Drake said it would cost $117,000 permanently to restore it, so it was decided to build a steel tower, costing $6,000 instead.

Coast University Adopts New System of Exams

Berkeley, Cal.—A new system of examinations has been adopted by Prof. Warner Brown of the psychology department of the University of California.

This department had used the essay form, requiring the student to write at length on several questions. Doctor Brown did not deem this a fair test and so he formed a combination of tests.

One of the new methods requires the pupil to supply one word to make a sentence complete. In another he must choose among several alternatives. A third consists in giving him a number of statements, and asking him to tell of each whether it is true or false.

According to Doctor Brown, this type of test gives the student more choice of questions, because more ground is covered in less time. He says it exposes knowledge of a subject rather than the mere ability to state things.

"Keep Your Head Cool, Feet Warm." His Words

Leyden, Holland.—There occurred recently the two hundredth anniversary of the death of Dr. Hermann Boerhaave, of Leyden in reiterating for the two hundredth time the famous message he left to his heirs.

The doctor's executors found among his possessions a sealed book entitled "The Deeper Secrets of Medicine." His fame had been such that all Leyden was keenly interested and eager for the promised revelation. The book was sold, unopened, at public auction, for a large sum. It contained in 14 words, the doctor's advice to the world: "Keep your head cool and your feet warm. Then you will defy all doctors."

PARIS TO HAVE WORLD EXHIBIT

Erect Buildings for Display of Decorative Arts.

Paris.—A city going up within a city. Such is the sight confronting visitors to Paris when they look over the great buildings being erected between the Champs Elysees and the Esplanade des Invalides to provide shelter for the international exhibition of decorative arts, from April to October, 1925.

Situated on both banks of the Seine, the exhibition grounds will cover an area of 70 acres. It has been found necessary to extend the private stalls across the beautiful bridge of Alexandre III, which serves as a connecting link over the Seine, and the most modern bridge in Paris with houses built upon it will resemble an ancient structure of the days of the Romans or the Middle ages.

Modernism will be the essential condition upon which articles will be admitted. All copies of genuine antiques will be banished. A special pavilion has been set aside for the exhibits of electrical dynamos and motors.

The industries invited to participate in the exhibition have been divided into five groups: Architecture, furniture, decoration, arts of the theater, street and gardens, and tuition.

Architecture has been subdivided into the following exhibits: Art and industry in stone, art and industry in wood; art and industry in metal; art and industry in ceramics, and art and industry in glass.

Furniture and household necessities will be shown in wood, leather, metal, glass, textile and paper. Under this head will be exhibited books, toys, musical instruments and scientific apparatus.

Decoration exhibits will comprise garments, dresses and accessories, perfumery, flowers and jewelry.

Everything pertaining to the theater, street and gardens and tuition will be shown under the last two groups.

All the great perfumery houses in Paris have combined and will occupy the same pavilion.

German Railways Adopt Yankee Efficiency Ways

Dusseldorf.—The German railway administration is introducing American efficiency methods.

The bureaucracy, inherited from imperial times, is giving place to business methods. Various subordinates, such as divisional chiefs, are being given much wider latitude of decision and their initiative is thus being strengthened.

By way of reducing operating expenses, the administration is negotiating for the acquisition of sawmills, steel works, etc., in which much of the equipment needed is to be made.

The change of spirit is most noticed in connection with advertising methods. A comprehensive scheme has been mapped out for popularizing travel on the railways of the reich through folders, maps, moving picture films, and travel agencies maintained in foreign centers.

So long as the railway system was merely a department government, there was little done to make active propaganda for the roads. A trained advertising staff is now at work to change this.

Just as soon as the railway administration is on its feet financially, more comfortable cars are to be constructed and put into service.

California to Restore Another Spanish Mission

Oakland, Cal.—Mission San Jose, a picturesque California landmark, 30 miles south of here, is to undergo its first restoration since 1791.

The mission contains historic records and an ancient graveyard, with monuments bearing the names of some of the men who opened the gates to Western civilization.

After the complete restoration of Carmel mission, in Monterey county, in which the famous padre, Junipero Serra, is buried, San Juan Baptista mission, in San Benito county, was rehabilitated. The San Jose mission is next on the program.

There are 21 Spanish missions in California, separated from one another by about 35 miles—a day's journey in the old times.

The preservation committee is headed by Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover and Joseph R. Knowland, Oakland publisher.

New Discovery Expected to End Abscessed Teeth

Toronto, Ont.—What is called the greatest advance in dentistry in 100 years is announced from the Royal College of Dentistry here as the result of research work carried on at the University of Toronto and clinical experiments by Toronto dentists.

Briefly, the result of this discovery is expected to be that no longer will there be any danger of abscesses forming at the roots of teeth. The essence of the discovery is the use of copper amalgam as a permanent filling for the root canals of the tooth. Copper amalgam has been used as a filling for teeth before, but not until now was it known to have germicidal effect.

It is stated that when a nerve in a tooth has been destroyed the cavity can be filled with copper amalgam and there will be no danger of an abscess or gathering forming at the root of the tooth.

An Unfortunate Difficulty.

An unfortunate difficulty happened Tuesday afternoon out on the W. J. Lowe farm, 4 miles south of Fulton, when it is alleged that Troy Sneed, a former tenant on the place, hit Mr. Lowe with a hammer, knocking him down, and then hit him with a stick, painfully bruising him up.

Sneed was a tenant on the Lowe farm last year and had moved to another place some five miles distant. He had his crop of 8 acres of tobacco in two barns on the Lowe place, in which it is said Mr. Lowe held an interest and landlord's lien. On Tuesday Mr. Lowe learned that Mr. Sneed was figuring on moving the tobacco from the premises and hired a taxi and rushed to the scene where he found his former tenant in the act of moving said tobacco. A discussion ensued, terminating in the above results.

We understand Sneed was arrested and placed under bond. His trial will probably come up before Esq. McDade, of Obion county, Tenn., Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 10th.

It is reported that Mr. Lowe is getting along as well as could be expected and able to be up.

FULTON PUBLIC LIBRARY OF WOMAN'S CLUB

Boy Scouts are receiving particular consideration from the Board of Directors of the Fulton Public Library as at its last meeting selected 24 new books, all of which are recommended by Franklin K. Mathews, Chief Scout Librarian, and all are especially recommended for the reading of boys of scout age.

The Board made a selection of a number of other books to be ordered immediately, consisting of late novels and non-fiction. These books have been carefully selected with a view of making the Fulton Library as attractive and helpful as possible.

The new books will be especially helpful to the younger readers in their school work, but at the same time the older readers have been considered, and the novels included in the list will be of interest to that class of readers.

The number of books issued in January of this year shows a decrease of 92 as compared with last year, but that seems to be largely due to the readers of school age not having as much time to read as they formerly had, due to the need for more concentrated study.

A noticeable feature of the records of the two months, is the showing of a much larger number of country residents making use of the library, showing that the farmers have come to realize that the Fulton library furnishes them with good reading at no cost to them except when the books are kept out overtime.

The management of the library is very much gratified at this increase of out-of-town readers and hopes that its report for the coming year will show that the farm residents have realized that the library is not solely for the use of the town people.
