Dear Jimmie:

I will be happy to be with you on Wednesday, December 7, during my week with the Glendale congregation. It will be a pleasure to ~~once~~ again enjoy the Christian hospitality that you and Vivian offer so admirably to those who come into your home. Remember with extreme pleasure my last visit with both of you.

Thank you so much for your recent notes. I don't know of anyone who writes with greater personal encouragement to me than ~~to~~ you. Please remember that the things you say to encourage me are accepted well and mean a great deal, especially when the going gets a little rough.

I am looking forward to a great meeting with Fred. He will receive a copy of this letter so that we will have no mix-ups about the date itself. Thank you so much for the invitation. I will look forward to seeing you during the week of December 4.

Faternally yours,

John Allen Chalk
