Dear Mrs West

Received your most welcome letter today
and as always I
was very glad to hear from you. If any one has ever
brought sunshine in
a person's life you
have mine and I shall always be in debted to you for your kindness. This letter, as always, leaves me in the best of
spirits + good health.
Have ever tomorrow

is Sunday and I sure wish I could attend Church services but I will be with you all
in spirit anyway.

We are having some
regular spring weather
and if any one considers to a bird sing
or look at the trees
budding and still doubt that there is a God
I dont see how.

My son is now only 5 years old but to me
he seems like a little man already and at times I fear he is too

wise for his age, yes
his mother is still living but she and I are separated, you see she left me while I was over seas in 1944. I guess for a time it worrried me until I didn't know what I
was doing.

How ever Mrs West
I would like to explain that my mother is still living and has stuck
by me through all of this. I guess the story about my mother
was printed by mistake

because I never knew my Mother until I first went into the service in 1937 but I have grown
to love her very much since that time. In case you would like to write her you will find her address inclosed

I am humbly grateful that the Brothers & Sisters of your church enjoyed my last letter to Bro. Lloyd.
And maybe my small
voice will be heard
by some needy soul
however my main subject is still with the young people and I wish you would ask all of them to read 1. + 2. Book of Corinthians for I feel sure they will gain a vast understanding of the sins of this world through them. I wish I were only wise enough

so that I could convey my thoughts for them
through my writing to you, but as it is I hope they will understand what I am trying to say well I guess I will close for this time and I hope & pray that God

will guide you in your work that you are doing Please as soon as I load forward carefully to your letter.

Your friend
Alongd E. Jones

Dear Mrs. West,

Received your letter yesterday and was very glad to hear from you as always your letters help a lot to cheer me up. Thanks a lot for the booklets you sent and I have already gave them to Carly and I'm sure he will get a lot of good out of them.

Yes Mrs West quite a few of my family have obeyed the Gospel including myself but as it is already known I should off
