KILLING MILK BACTERIA

No Objection to Pasteurization When Properly Done.

Seems Probable That Within Few Years Supply for Large Cities Will Be Thus Treated—Three Processes Now in Use.

There is no valid objection to pasteurization when properly performed and the process makes safer even the most carefully handled and inspected milk. It seems probable that within the next two years a large proportion of the milk supply in the large cities will be pasteurized. There is already a marked tendency in this direction.

Before the value of pasteurization as a hygienic measure was as well recognized as it is today, it was practiced in secret by a number of milk dealers as a means of preserving milk and preventing it from souring. Its commercial value in this respect is undoubtedly great, but its chief function is the destruction of disease-producing organisms. Proper pasteurization should destroy about 99 per cent of all the bacteria in the milk, although when the bacterial count of the raw milk is low the reduction may be somewhat smaller. The efficiency of the process, it is pointed out, cannot

The kinds of bacteria that remain alive after pasteurization depend on the temperature to which the milk is heated and the species of bacteria which are in the raw milk. Three processes of pasteurization, known respectively as the flash process, the holder process and pasteurization in the bottle, are now practiced in this country. In the flash process the milk is raised quickly to a temperature of about 180 degrees F. or more, held there for from 30 seconds to a minute, and then cooled quickly. In the holder process the milk is heated to a temperature of from 140 degrees to 150 degrees F. and held there for half an hour. When pasteurization in bottles is practiced, the raw milk is put into bottles with water-tight seal caps, which are immersed in hot water and held for from 20 to 30 minutes at a temperature of 145 degrees F. In this way the pasteurized milk is not subjected to any danger of reinfection. On the other hand, the seal caps must be absolutely tight and this involves increased cost. In general, it may be said that the holder process is coming into greater favor than either of the others. This process permits of the use of lower temperatures which, for various reasons, is highly desirable.

RATE OF SEEDING FLAX CROP

Where Rainfall is Not More Than Twenty Inches Twenty Pounds to Acre is Recommended.

Where the annual rainfall is not more than 20 inches, flax need not be sown at a greater rate than 20 pounds to the acre. This should be reduced to 15 pounds under drier conditions. Where the rainfall is more than 20 inches, a slightly higher yield may be obtained if 25 pounds are sown to the acre. The sowing of more than 25 pounds to the acre on nonirrigated land does not pay.

SHALLOW PLOWING IN FAVOR

Loose Soil Conserves Moisture—Kills Weeds and Puts Land in Much Better Condition.

Water moves slowly through a loose soil and a loose soil will, therefore, serve as a mulch and conserve moisture. This is one of the reasons for shallow cultivation. Killing weeds, putting the land in better physical condition and furnishing modes of entrance for oxygen and nitrogen are other reasons. Failure to cultivate properly is one way of farming at a loss.

Santa Fe, N. M. July 5th:
 State Land Commissioner, Robert P. Ervien, today made public what are regarded as final figures for this season on the acreage of the State's leased grazing lands planted to crops by leaseholders, under the permit of the State Land office to plant crops on such lands during the period of war without additional rental. A total of 22,441 acres are shown as in crops on grazing leases, the figures including returns up to July 1st. It is not expected that any material additions to the acreage will be made this season although assurances received from several hundred holders of grazing leases indicate that large acreages will be broken during the autumn, either for planting to winter wheat, or in the preparation for cropping in the season of 1918.

The Land Commissioner's permit to farm grazing leases did not issue until April, when the movement for increasing food production in New Mexico began.

While the land office was ready with the permit early in the movement, it was still too late for many leaseholders to change their plans for the season, or to secure equipment and labor for breaking raw land. Because of the short notice the result obtained is regarded as satisfactory for a first season, and information reaching the land office from all over the state is that probably double the leased acreage now in crops will be broken this fall for planting in 1918.

With the permit to farm, the Land Commissioner issued to all leaseholders an urgent to adhere as closely as possible to the recommendation of the state agricultural college experts and plant only corn, beans, sorghum and other forage crops, and potatoes where climate and soil conditions were suitable.

How closely the grazing lease farmers have followed this advice is shown by the fact that of the 22,441 acres actually in crops more than half are planted to the big four, corn, beans, forage crops and potatoes.

Every county in the state, except Bernalillo, is represented in the returns on planting done by grazing lease holders.

The returns show 4426 acres in beans, chiefly New Mexico Pintos; 3433 acres in corn, 3777 acres in sorghum, 1146 acres in kafir, 2378 acres in milomaise, 2291 acres in wheat, 1361 in Irish potatoes.

The remainder of the acreage is divided among Barley, Oats, millet, cowpeas, Feterita, Sudan broom corn and truck.

THOSE AWFUL GRAMPS

Suggestions that may save Much Suffering

Marysville, Pa.—"For twelve years I suffered with terrible cramps. I would have to stay in bed several days every month. I tried all kinds of remedies and was treated by doctors, but my trouble continued until one day I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for others. I tried it and now I am never troubled with cramps and feel like a different woman. I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly and I am recommending it to my friends who suffer as I did."—Mrs. GEORGE R. NAYLOR, Box 72, Marysville, Pa.

Young women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands have been restored to health by this root and herb remedy.

Write for free and helpful advice to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Only women open and read such letters.

Too Much for Him.

"Conscription has, maybe, saved the country," growled the strapping young soldier, "but what I object to is the company it drives a man into. I am a practical plumber by trade, an honest workman, yet I'm compelled to suffer the society of such professionals as a lawyer, a minister, and an auctioneer."

"Not a bad selection, Jock," remarked his friend. "Oh, maybe no in a way; but when the minister and the lawyer start an argument on Egyptian law in the middle of the night across half a dozen beds, with the blessed auctioneer as umpire, what chance has even a practical plumber of stoppin' the gas leak?"

FRECKLES

Now is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots. There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as the prescription ointment—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots. Simply get an ounce of ointment—double strength—from your druggist, and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than one ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

SEA SOLDIERS GOOD SHOTS

There is a Story From Vera Cruz That Tells of the Marksmanship of Uncle Sam's Marines.

The marines know how to handle a rifle; 50 per cent of the force are qualified, listed shots. There is a story from Vera Cruz that tells of good shooting and a sure eye, Henry Reuterhald writes in the Youth's Companion.

Our bluejackets were marching up the street from the plaza between rows of low two-story houses. A well-dressed Mexican, with a newspaper over his knee, was sitting on the balcony of his house, apparently intent on watching our sailors advance; but hidden under the paper he held a big revolver, and as our men went by he fired. The bullets were striking, but our officers could hardly suspect a well-dressed Mexican, reading a paper and looking peacefully on from his own house, of being the sniper.

Dropping his paper, the Mexican went inside to reload. When he came out again on the balcony the glint of the gun caught the attention of Lieutenant Colonel Neville on horseback in the plaza, 1,000 or more yards away. Through his eight-power fieldglass the colonel saw plainly the flash of the shots under the newspaper.

"Get him," he said, turning to his orderly. The man raised his rifle, pressed the trigger—and the Mexican fell out of his chair.

"Got him, sir," said the marine.

Recess Was Called.

A real estate agent was testifying in court recently in a case involving the exchange of a picture show for a farm. It was contended that the theater was not worth what it was represented, owing to its locality. The attorney asked the witness to state what the surroundings of the theater were. "Next door to it was a shoe shining place," he answered, "then came a garage, and next was a saloon, and that's as far as I got." When the excitement subsided, the judge observed that that was a good place to stop, and the customary midsession recess was called.—Indianapolis News.

Rush Collection of Tax Arrears.

Deal May Bring New Railroad.

Silver City.—Negotiations are said to be under way which may result in the Jackling interests, which own the Chino Copper Company, acquiring control of the Victor-American Fuel Company coal properties at Gallup. If the deal goes through it may ultimately mean the building of a railroad due south from Gallup to Santa Rita and Hurley, opening up a virgin section in western New Mexico rich in agriculture, live stock raising and mining, and give the Mogollon mining camp a railroad.

Half Million Bushels of Wheat.

Glovis.—In spite of the dry weather of the last thirty days, which has naturally cut the wheat crop somewhat short, elevator and grain men are predicting that Curry county will produce a half million bushels of wheat this year. This estimate is based on the first threshing that is taking place in the county, the yield being found to exceed the expectation. The wheat, though of short straw, has a well filled grain and is running heavier than would be expected.

Big Increase in Bean Crop.

State College.—That there will be something like a 500 per cent increase in bean acreage in Valencia county this year over any previous year, is the information obtained from J. G. Hamilton, county agricultural agent, who makes this estimate after having made a number of trips over the county. The Valencia county farmers are determined this year to fight the bean beetle, which in former years has caused an annual loss to bean growers ranging from 10 to 100 per cent.

Villistas Must Stand Trial.

Deming.—The nineteen Mexicans, alleged followers of Francisco Villa when the Mexican leader raided Columbus, March 9, 1916, must stand trial on charges of murder. This was announced by Judge Raymond R. Ryan of the Sixth judicial district of New Mexico, when he overruled a motion to quash the indictments brought against the nineteen, who were brought out of Mexico by Gen. Pershing.

AMERICAN RED CROSS HOSPITAL UNITS FIRST TO ANSWER NATION'S CALL FOR HELP ON EUROPE'S BATTLEFIELDS

Organized in Peace Times, These Groups of Surgeons, Nurses and Privates Are Showing the Allies That Uncle Sam Is Prepared to Aid Them Fully in One Department at Least—This Community Must Do Its Part—We Must Give Our Time, Services, Money.

If the American Red Cross had never done anything else than organize, equip and supply the base hospitals which are now backing our armies, it would have justified its existence. Of course it has done, and still is doing, countless great things for America and for the world; but its accomplishment in the line of base hospitals is just now of prime importance.

As briefly as it may be defined, a base hospital is an institution which cares for the sick or wounded soldier from the time he is sent back from the firing line, until he is able to be removed to a hospital in his own country.

It is almost unbelievable, but nevertheless a fact, that until the American Red Cross took hold of the task a year ago, no nation in the history of the world had ever organized a base hospital until after war had been declared and the fighting begun, and the wounded men lay writhing on the ground.

Always, of course, there have been a few army surgeons with each regiment, who patched up the slightly wounded and got them back into the firing line as quickly as possible. Also, of course, there have always been in all countries some sort of hospital system for the care of the sick and wounded when they get home.

But always the intermediate institution, for the care and transportation of the sick and wounded between the front and the home hospitals, was missing. This has invariably led to a terrible congestion of wounded on the battlefields, where thousands suffered needlessly, lost arms and legs that might have been saved, or died when a little care would have preserved them.

Col. Jefferson Randolph Kenn, U. S. A. Medical corps, director general of military relief of the Red Cross, has likened the former organization to a bridge of which the end spans were complete, but the middle span—the base hospitals—was entirely lacking.

When a man is wounded in battle, the method of caring for him is this—modified, of course, by varying conditions:

He lies on the field in No Man's Land between the lines, or in the trench until he is able to drag himself away, or the stretcher bearers can reach him, and carry him to one of the little first-aid stations. These are always very near to the fighting lines—sometimes in a part of the trench where the men are fighting.

There an army surgeon stanches the flow of blood, puts a dressing on the wound to keep out infection, binds on requires an operation, he is in the hands of the best surgeons of the land, with the finest surgical tools to do their work. And the hospital has an ample supply of wound dressings, pads, splints, hospital gowns, surgical shirts—all the thousand and one things a first-class hospital must have.

That is the service which the American Red Cross has provided for the American soldier before our country was at war—before a single American ship or unit of the American army was headed for Europe. Thirty-six of these hospitals—enough to care for the wounded of an army of a million men—have been made ready to the last strip of bandage and the last enrolled stretcher bearer. Several of them are now in France, helping to care for the wounded of the allies, and ready to care for the American soldiers who are sure to fall into their hands before many weeks.

Each of these base hospitals calls for the services of 23 surgeons, 2 dentists, 75 Red Cross nurses and 150 privates, including orderlies, ambulance drivers, stretcher bearers and clerks.

The permanent minimum equipment of each hospital consists of three carloads of beds, mattresses, scientific apparatus, operating room paraphernalia, and all utensils. Units going to Europe these days, however, are taking double or triple equipment.

The consumable supplies of each hospital consists of 85 crates of bandages, wound pads, splints, fracture pillows, dressings and hospital supplies of every kind to the number of 42,482, all made up to army standard, packed, boxed and labeled so that surgeons and nurses can put their hands on them in a moment.

Now—from this it might seem that the Red Cross has done everything needful, and that there is nothing more to do for the base hospitals but to wait until the wounded begin to stream in, and give them the benefit of all this foresight.

Not so. It has been established that the supplies of bandages and splints and wound pads and gauze in a base hospital last through just about four days of heavy fighting. Then, unless there were a great store of supplies to draw from, the hospital would find itself with 500 wounded on hand, and no dressings for their wounds.

Here, again, is work for the Red Cross. All over the land, wherever supplies were made for these 36 base hospitals, are women trained in making hospital supplies. It is for these women not only to stand ready to furnish other supplies, but to train still splints in case of broken bones, and makes it possible for the patient to be moved to the little field hospital a short distance from the fighting line.

After wounded soldiers received first aid in the trench dressing stations they are carried back by Red Cross workers under fire to waiting Red Cross ambulances in which they are conveyed to a field hospital. Thence they are removed to the base hospital.

This field hospital is usually a tent—sometimes a hut or a barn or even a space in the open air sheltered by a hill or a clump of trees. It is really little more than an enlarged first-aid station, with a capacity for not more than 125 wounded, who lie on the ground on tarpaulins. There are no beds, and seldom any cots.

From the field hospital the wounded are taken, as rapidly as possible, to the evacuation hospitals, still farther from the danger zone. Each evacuation hospital cares for the wounded from three field hospitals. This, too, is an emergency station, and has no permanency. It is a collection station for wounded, where the worst cases may be given a little more attention than has been possible before.

As rapidly as the motor ambulances, the hospital trains, the hospital ships, or other agencies, are able to work, the wounded are taken from these collecting stations to the base hospital, located at the army base some distance to the rear.

Here, for the first time, the wounded man finds himself in a real hospital, in the hands of surgeons and nurses who have the time to give him his hurts every possible care.

He is put into a real bed in a real hospital, supplied with X-ray, bacteriological and pathological laboratories, a diet kitchen presided over by skilled cooks, and with surgeons and nurses drawn from America's most highly trained to wait on him. If he other women to take up the work; for when the Americans begin to fight there will be no stopping the stream of wounded until the war is won. And the Red Cross cannot afford to let a single fighting man die for lack of a bandage or a splint. Is our community doing its part?

In France right now the supply of gauze and linen is so low that they are reported to be using old newspapers to stanch bleeding wounds. That must never happen to an American soldier. And unless the American people get behind the Red Cross with all their strength and in all their numbers, and train themselves to turn out supplies for their hospitals, it may happen.

It would be the irony of fate if a soldier from our own town—perhaps your own family, or mine—were to get gangrene in his wound, perhaps lose an arm or a leg or even his life, because we folks here had failed to furnish the dressings for his wound.

Red Cross Stretcher Men.

After wounded soldiers receive first aid in the trench dressing stations they are carried back at night usually by Red Cross stretcher-bearers under fire to waiting Red Cross ambulances two or three hundred yards to the rear. They are conveyed then to the field hospital several miles back, and as soon as conditions permit, the patients are removed to a base hospital 40 or 50 miles behind the firing line.

The Red Cross now has more than 1,200 regularly organized chapters in the United States, with considerably more than 2,000,000 members.

Little Jennie had been eating very heartily, but she asked for another piece of cake.

"Jennie," said her mother, "I don't believe I ought to give it to you. You're about as full as a little girl can possibly be. Another mouthful, and you'll surely burst!"

"But, mamma, my neck's left yet!" said the little girl, persuasively.

WAS OVERRULED BY HIS SON

Sir Edward Carson Tells How the Young Man Got Into the British Navy.
Sir Edward Carson introduced a personal note into a speech which he made the other day when he was the guest of the British Empire Producers' organization, at the Savoy hotel, says the London Chronicle.

"I remember," said Sir Edward, "when a little son of mine came to me and said 'Father, I want to join the navy class at school.' I said, 'What rubbish! You are going to be a lawyer.' He told me plainly that I was wrong, and I explained to him how much better it would be to make money in the Temple than lose it at sea. He said, 'You don't seem to recognize the importance of the navy; it is the great connecting link between the mother country and the colonies.'"

"I replied, 'Well, if you put it on that high plane, I must alter my views.' He is now commanding a submarine, and only yesterday, in my capacity of first lord of the admiralty, I had to read an account of an attempt of one of our destroyers to sink his submarine."

Self-Evident.
"Please, lady," begged the very dirty tramp at the back door, "can you help a poor man that lost his job three weeks ago and ain't been able to find no work since?"
"What sort of a job was it?" asked the lady.
"I was workin' in a soap factory."
"Well, it's plain to be seen that you were not discharged for dishonesty."

The Proper One.
"I am going to put a patch on fortune."
"Then make it a potato patch."

COLORADO MAN GAINS 16 POUNDS

Gave Up His Farm and Went to Colorado Springs for Treatment.

WAS UNABLE TO WORK

Works All Day Without Tiring Now and Says He Feels Like a New Man Since He Started Taking Tanlac.

"I have taken three bottles of Tanlac and have actually gained sixteen pounds," was the remarkable statement made by Charles H. Mair of 814 Arcadia street, Colorado Springs, recently.

"For a long time," he continued, "my stomach has been in a bad fix and for the last five years it has given me all sorts of trouble. What little I managed to eat seemed to do me harm instead of good and for the last two years I have lived mostly on milk and toast and even then I suffered from indigestion. Gas would form on my stomach and bloat me up and make me miserable. I was also very nervous and would just toss and roll all night unable to sleep. I fell off in weight from one hundred and fifty-five to one hundred and twenty-eight pounds and kept going down and getting weaker every day. Finally I got in such a bad shape I couldn't work, so about a year ago, I sold my farm in Portage, Wisconsin, and came here to Colorado Springs and was under treatment for a long time without getting any better.

"I commenced to feel better almost at once after I started taking Tanlac and by the time my first bottle was finished, the indigestion was gone and I was feeling like a new man. When I had taken three bottles I could eat anything I wanted without having a sign of trouble and I could hardly believe it, but I weighed sixteen pounds more than when I started taking it. My strength had increased a hundred per cent and I went back to work and I am never bothered with the trouble any more at all, and can work all day without getting tired. I can certainly recommend Tanlac because I believe it's worth its weight in gold."

There is a Tanlac dealer in your town.—Adv.

What Did He Mean?

Until three o'clock this afternoon Warden Hanley of the Tombs prison was a perfectly contented warden, says a New York correspondent. He had been told twice during the morning that a man with a frock coat and a silk hat had called to see him, and as the man was to return at three o'clock, Mr. Hanley cut short his tour of the prison and returned to his office. He found that the caller had called, fumed and finally left this note: "Thirty years ago my father, who was of medium height and undoubtedly punctual, was employed as a heat denunciator in a metal mill in Pittsburgh. For years, or at least for a considerable time, he told no one. However, it was common rumor. Now, after all these years, does it seem that a man would deliberately take any such action? What would be his motive? I ask you as a humanitarian to discuss this with no one. Merely use it for your own information and proceed likewise. I leave for Pittsburgh at four o'clock, but trust you implicitly.—A Friend." At a late hour Warden Hanley, having read the note through 92 times, was reading it through for the ninety-third time.

REPUDIATE THE COAL PRICE PACT

SECRETARY BAKER, AS DEFENSE COUNCIL HEAD, DECLARES $3 IS EXORBITANT.

NO POWER TO FIX PRICES

SECRETARY OF NAVY DANIELS WILL BUY FOR GOVERNMENT AT $2.33 AT MINES.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Washington, July 2.—Secretary of War Baker, as president of the Council of National Defense, repudiated Saturday an agreement fixing a tentative price of $3 a ton for bituminous coal reached at a conference here Thursday between coal producers, Secretary Lane, a member of the Defense Council, members of the council's coal preparation committee, and the Federal Trade Commission.

Neither the council nor its committees, Secretary Baker said in a letter to W. S. Gifford of the council, has power to fix prices. He added that the price of $3 at the mines suggested for bituminous coal is "exorbitant, unjust and oppressive."

Secretary Daniels, another member of the council, earlier in the day said the agreement would in no way affect coal purchases for the navy. The navy, he said, will continue to buy from the mines at $2.33 a ton, leaving a price to be determined after the Federal Trade Commission has ascertained production costs.

In his letter to Mr. Gifford, Mr. Baker asserted that he believed no members of the Defense Council disagree with him as to the limitations on the powers of the council and its committees and as to the effect of the action taken. The fact that the conferences were attended by members of the council and of the trade commission, he declared, gave no legality to the agreement.

The price-fixing agreement was reached after 400 operators called here by the coal production committee had adopted resolutions authorizing their committees to give assent to such maximum bituminous prices as might be named by the secretary of the interior, the Federal Trade Commission and the coal committee.

Save the Babies

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. There can be no danger in the use of Castoria if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher as it contains no opiates or narcotics of any kind.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

VIVID DESCRIPTION
OF FIRST-AID WORK
BY RED CROSS MEN

An American Pictures Scenes in Subway Dressing Station Near Trenches.

SURGEONS LABOR ENDLESSLY

Captain, Priest, Private and German
Laid, All Dying, Get Tender Care
From Overworked Hospital
And Ambulance Aids.

The work of the Red Cross surgeons and stretcher bearers at the front in France was never more vividly illustrated than in a recent letter forwarded to America. It was written by Philip G. Mills to Mr. Elliot Norton, head of the Volunteer Motor Ambulance corps which Mr. Mills was serving.
The communication was private, but was made public because of the clearness with which it sets forth the scenes amid which the surgeons and ambulance workers labor, day after day. The text follows:
"Tonight I am sitting in a small underground cellar of a public building, acting as a sort of timekeeper for the cars (ambulances) going up to our turns to the wounded man, gently feels his nose, lifts up his closed eyelid, and at his nod the stretcher is again lifted and the wounded man is carried into the operating room, and soon after into the little room of sorrows.

"An answer to my eager question, the surgeon shakes his head.
"Nor a chance."
"A brancardier and I gather the soldier's belongings from his clothes to be sent to his wife, but even we have to stop for a few minutes after we see the photograph of his wife and their two little children.
"An hour later, as our night's work is slackening up and several cars have driven up and been unloaded, the infirmer comes in from the little room and gets something to the brancardiers. Two of them get a stretcher, and in a moment the "blessed" from Belleville" comes past me with a sheet over him. They lay him down at the other end of the room and another brancardier begins rolling and tying him in burlap for burial. As I look he changes to a shapeless log. Then, out to the dead wagon with it.
"Soon after, I go into the little ward again to see how the others are coming through the night, and am glad to see them all quieted down. Even the little German seems in less pain, though his breathing still shakes the heavy bed he lies on.
"Through a chink I see that day is beginning to break, and I hear the chief's car coming in from the nap, and know that the night's work is over."
This is not a sketch from the imagination of a novelist—it is the actual

Red Cross surgeons and orderlies give first aid to wounded in little underground dressing stations in the front-line trenches. War records show that as many Red Cross men are killed by enemy fire as regular soldiers in the trenches. Red Cross field service is not a pastime.

SUNDAY SCHOOL EFFORT

In a recent news item from Phoenix, reference is made with some pride to the status of the Arizona state lands and the income therefrom. The article shows that Arizona last year enjoyed an income of $132,000 from leases, and that of the total of lands granted by congress 2,653,000 acres have been selected. Doubtless this is a good showing for Arizona, because the administration of a huge land grant, like those given of Arizona and New Mexico by congress, cannot be brought into shape for successful production without vigorous effort and active business administration.

IT IS THE PEOPLE'S WAR

The great fact that stands out above all the rest is that this is a people's war for freedom and justice and self-government among all the nations of the world, a war to make the world safe for the peoples who live upon it, and have made it their own.
Woodrow Wilson.

A ONE HUNDRED
PER CENT PEOPLE

It is a pleasing coincidence that the Red Cross campaign for $100,000,000 which immediately following the conclusion of the Liberty Loan campaign, resulted in an oversubscription of practically the same percentage as the oversubscription to the loan.
The American people are well over 100 per cent patriotic as well over 100 per cent generous.
LIBERTY LOAN BUYERS
The oldest purchaser of Liberty Loan Bond is Mrs. Louisa K. Thiers, of Milwaukee, Wis., who is 102 years of age and a real daughter of the Revolution, her father having served in the Continental Army which won our independence.
The youngest subscriber to a Liberty Loan Bond is Miss Florence Estelle Rogers, of Medford, Mass., whose father purchased her a bond when she was 8 hour old.

What promises to be a very important and interesting meeting of the executive board of the New Mexico Cattle and Horse Growers' association will be held in Carlsbad, N. M. July 13 and 14.
