

12-21-1916

Estancia News-Herald, 12-21-1916

J. A. Constant

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalrepository.unm.edu/estancia\_news

---

Recommended Citation

Constant, J. A.. "Estancia News-Herald, 12-21-1916." (1916). https://digitalrepository.unm.edu/estancia\_news/252

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the New Mexico Historical Newspapers at UNM Digital Repository. It has been accepted for inclusion in Estancia News, 1904-1921 by an authorized administrator of UNM Digital Repository. For more information, please contact disc@unm.edu.

ESTANCIA NEWS-HERALD

New Established 1904
Herald Established 1898

Estancia, Torrance County, New Mexico, Thursday, December 21, 1916

Volume XIII No. 10

LOCAL MATTERS OF INTEREST

For Sale, Yearling Hereford Bulls.—The Titsworth Company, Captain, N. M.

For sale, a 4-room cottage in Estancia.—M. M. Olive, 4 miles south of Estancia.

Fine Clothes.—For an up-to-date suit, and guaranteed fit, see S. N. Jensen.

We have a fine line of Christmas toys.—Come and look the stock over.—Estancia Lumber Co.

H. F. Shelton has bought the Mrs. Pearl Richards place in the Silverton district. Mr. Fielder will occupy it for the present.

Bean and corn farm of 326 acres, 65 acres in cultivation, 10 miles west, 1 mile south of Estancia, joining my place, for rent.—A. W. Lytle.

E. M. Tatem of the Butler Auto Co., Albuquerque, was here last week and will be back again Saturday. He has a lot of auto bargains for sale at the Overland garage, opposite Dr. Amble's office.

Lost, strayed or stolen, one pair small mules, about 14 hands high, branded FGG left hip, black and brown; black has whip scar on right hip. Both horse mules. Liberal reward. Notify Abe Conner, Encino, N. M.

Superintendent Burt was here Monday from Mountainair.

C. H. Hatcher of Willard was here last Friday on business.

George Freilinger came in from his Pacific coast trip last Saturday.

We hope your Christmas will be a merry one, and the new year prosperous and happy for you.

J. J. White of Mountainair was here Monday unloading a couple of cars of beans which he had previously loaded.

Fred Belzer, the Cedarvale merchant, and C. B. Smith, a cattle man of that vicinity, were in Estancia last Friday.

Two ranches for sale, 160 acres each, well improved, running water and springs, permanent, on each.—Wm. D. Dow.

Catherine Garvin, who is attending school in Santa Fe, came down yesterday to spend the holiday vacation at home.

Raymundo Romero's mill near Torrance was destroyed by fire Thursday night of last week. There was no insurance.

George Pugh calls attention to the fact that in most cities they pay out a lot of money for street sweeping, while in Estancia it is done free of charge.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Cole came down from Moriarty Monday and will remain here till tomorrow, when they will go to San Bernardino, California, to visit a daughter.

$10 reward for return of stray iron gray work mule, unbranded, slight wire mark on breast and one foot, weighs about 900, gentle.—B. C. Barker, Estancia.

John Block has recently returned from a visit with Mrs. Virginia Block in Lincoln county. He had a great trip, visiting a number of towns in Lincoln county. Cars returned with him to spend the holidays.

C. B. Colton, who came out from Oklahoma last spring and filed on a homestead east of Moriarty and returned to Oklahoma, is now on his claim and making improvements. He was in Estancia recently on business.

Mrs. Wm. Dow was down from Taquique last Saturday. About the 28th Mrs. Dow will go to California to visit a daughter for a month or more. She will be accompanied by her son Gerald Whitman, who will remain in California to attend school.

Mrs. Fred H. Ayers is laid up with a broken leg. In alighting from an automobile Sunday one foot caught in a hole, throwing her whole weight on the other as it struck the ground, resulting in a broken bone. She is reported to be getting along all right.

August Kayser and Dee Robinson went to Santa Fe last Friday, where Mr. Kayser applied to the supreme court for release from his imprisonment for contempt on a writ of habeas corpus. It was understood that the case would be taken up yesterday.

The oldest inhabitant—in fact all the oldest inhabitants—say this has been the worst December for high winds they have seen in the valley. At present there is some snow in the mountains and foothills and extending a few miles into the valley, but there is none in Estancia.

A mistake has been discovered in the tax roll—omission of a levy required by law to be made, but which escaped the notice of everybody—the county commissioners, the state tax commission and the assessor. This will necessitate going over the roll again, and it will not be ready before the first of the year.

On Tuesday the 19th of December the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church held its regular meeting at the hospitable home of Mrs. Mason. Despite the wind a goodly number were present, and the aid quilt was made ready for the padding and quilting which Mrs. Travis generously offered to do. Mrs. Elgin and Mrs. Amble gave the program and Mrs. Brauman the thank offering. Several motions for Christmas donations were made and carried, and arrangements were made for the Aid present. The meeting adjourned to meet with Mrs. Ample on January 2nd. Then came the social season and the refreshments. The epidemic of cold went on more daily and feverishly. For modern "Ladies' Aides" it is best by odds the food ones served to ancient gods.—One who was present.

Mr. Grassham and family of Kentucky arrived the latter part of last week, and will locate west of McIntosh. Mr. Grassham is a kinsman of W. R. Ligon. Mrs. Nancy King returned last Saturday from her visit at Anclut.

WOMAN'S CLUB

The Woman's Club met at the home of Mrs. H. C. Williams on Friday afternoon with almost a full membership and seven visitors present. The president conducted the meeting. A number of very interesting current events were given in answer to roll call. Several business matters were brought before the club and discussed. Among other things the club decided to give the young folks a party during the holidays, thus showing their appreciation to the young ladies and gentlemen who were always ready to lend their assistance in raising funds to keep up the library work. The public library is being appreciated more and more all the time. Another new name was added to the club. The ladies were very busy making final preparations for Christmas.

After the business was concluded the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Berkshire, served a delicious two course luncheon, consisting of chicken salad, sandwiches, cranberry jelly, pineapple sherbet, two kinds of cake and coffee. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Burton at the club room.

The Marble Ranch

Seven miles west, 5 miles south of Estancia; 400 acres valley land, good improvements, 80 acres in good state of cultivation; 400 bushels of corn, 30 tons of feed stuff, farming machinery, and 104 head of high grade Hereford cattle. Will sell all together, or cattle and ranch separately.

For Rent.

160 acres 2-1/2 miles southwest of McIntosh, adjoining Frank Laws place on the west. Address Frank Watson, 308 Chestnut St, Atlantic, Iowa.

The Encino State bank of Encino, Torrance county, was incorporated here today, making the 9th state bank in New Mexico. The authorized capital of the new bank is $25,000, fully paid, and the incorporators are C. L. Creighton, Lovington, and W. Marshall and Bob Brown, of Encino, N. M.—New Mexico.

J. S. Clark of Fort Sumner has bought the Ogier place in Taquique canyon, and came with his family the 1st of the week. Mr. Clark is an experienced fruit grower, and will try fruit raising on his new purchase.

R. E. Pace, who several years ago bought the Jew Castana place southwest of Estancia, came in the first of the week with a car of goods and two very fine teams. He comes from eastern Oklahoma.

A number of Estancians were in Santa Fe the first of the week on business. Among them were Willie Elgin, J. P. Lanator, B. L. Hines, J. L. Strickland, Neal Jensen, Ralph Robinson, Doc Robinson and A. J. Green.

Mr. McAllister of Albuquerque arrived the first of the week to take the position of book keeper for the Estancia Lumber Co.

The M. E. Sunday school will have a Christmas tree and program on Monday evening at the church.

Pickard Walker, Ernest Green, John Shirley and Milton Berkshire, who are attending the State Agricultural College, are at home for the holidays.

Jensen & Pace have unloaded a couple of cars of beans which they had loaded.

Mrs. Booth, who has been at Abo some time, returned last Saturday.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION

Department of the Interior, U. S. Land Office at Santa Fe, N. M. December 2, 1916. Notice is hereby given that Felix Vigil, of Palma, New Mexico, who, on June 24, 1911, made homestead entry No. 015419 for sec 14, Section 15, 1/4 SW 1/4 and NE 1/4 Sec. 14, Township 8 north, Range 13 east, N. M. P. Meridian, has filed notice of intention to make five year Proof, to establish claim to the land above described, before H. A. Ballard, U. S. Commissioner, at Encino, New Mexico, on February 6th, 1917.

Claimant names as witnesses: Daniel Vigil, Atanacio Ribera, Emelicio Larranaga, Fulgencio Larranaga, all of Palma, New Mexico.

FRANCISCO DELGADO, Register. FP12-7LP1-4

NERVOUS WOMEN.

When the nervousness is caused by constipation, as is often the case, you will get quick relief by taking Chamberlain's Tablets. These tablets also improve the digestion. Obtainable everywhere. adv

Department of the Interior, United States Land Office Santa Fe, N. M., November 29, 1916.

Notice is hereby given that the State of New Mexico under the provisions of the Act of Congress of June 21, 1898, and June 20, 1910, and the Acts supplementary thereto, has made application for the following described unappropriated public lands as indemnity school lands:

List 7547, Serial 028069, N 1/4 SE 1/4 and E 1/4 SW 1/4 Sec. 6, T. 6 N., R. 10 E., N. M. Prin. Mer., containing 160 acres.

List 7562, Serial 028702, NEM of NW 1/4 Sec. 22, T. 7 N., R. 10 E., N. M. Prin. Mer., containing 40 acres.

The purpose of this notice is to allow all persons claiming the land adversely, or desiring to show it to be mineral in character, an opportunity to file objections to such location or selection with the Register and Receiver of the United States Land Office, at Santa Fe, New Mexico, and to establish their interests therein, or the mineral character thereof.

FRANCISCO DELGADO, Register. 12 14-1-11 U. S. Land Office.

GOOD FOR CONSTIPATION.

Chamberlain's Tablets are excellent for constipation. They are pleasant to take and mild and gentle in effect. Obtainable everywhere. adv

DEEP FALL PLOWING IS THE THING

During the past three weeks trips over the county have disclosed the fact that winter plowing is making good progress. While the area plowed at this time in individual fields is not necessarily large, it shows that the right idea is being incorporated by the farmers. Practically ninety per cent of the people interviewed had either begun plowing or were planning to do so in the very near future. This statement holds as true in the Spanish-American districts of the foothills as it does throughout the central portion of the valley.

Tractors are beginning to play an interesting part in the program of fall and winter plowing. Several purchases of machines have been made recently, with the sole idea of putting them to use.

Our labor problem is getting to be acute. It seems to be impossible to get men to assist in plowing the large areas which will go in next year's crops.

Most of the conditions for plowing are ideal, and permit of unusually deep plowing, where necessary horse power is available on the farm. Judging from various conversations with farmers, the idea of what constitutes deep plowing in this county is not very well settled. In some instances 4 to 6 inches was called deep plowing; in other instances, 6 to 8 inches seems to be the proper definition. Our plan is to recommend plowing to a depth of about 7 inches, with a gradual increase in future seasons. This furnishes the basis for good winter storage of moisture, by offering the necessary capacity. Some writers contend that the amount of moisture which can be stored in the ground is practically proportionate to the depth of plowing; that is, in a given season, a 4-inch plowing would store only one-half as much moisture as is stored in ground when plowed to a depth of 8 inches. While we do not claim that this statement is altogether true, it is at least worthy of consideration. Undoubtedly larger amounts of moisture can be stored in deeply plowed ground than in shallow plowed ground. If we are to seriously consider our next year's interest, we must necessarily provide as early as possible for our moisture. There is nothing particularly new about this statement, though the benefits to be derived from its application are sometimes overlooked.

The manner in which deep plowing furnishes more storage capacity for moisture is found in the following: When the soil is turned deeply and left in the rough state, it is more susceptible to fully thawing after a freeze, because of the deeper penetration of warm air, and the freer circulation of the same. Thus it will be seen, that at the time our winter snows melt, the moisture is able to penetrate the spaces and crevices and become absorbed, thereby bringing evaporation to the minimum. The snow fall is likewise less subject to blowing, and is held in the field where it can accomplish the most good.

Contrast this method with the method now practiced by some of our farmers, who leave the field as it remains after harvest until warm weather opens in the spring. Upon the first serious drop in temperature the ground freezes. Being protected by a thin blanket of more or less loose dry soil, it remains in a frozen state throughout the winter. Following snow fall, when the melting period arrives, we notice that instead of penetrating the soil, this moisture penetrates only to the frozen earth under the blanket, and thereafter forms into a vapor cloud as it evaporates from the puddles of water on the surface, or is drawn up through the now compact blanket through capillary attraction. We lose most of it. Unless the period of warm weather lasts for some time, the light snows have to fall for practical purposes, done us no good. On such fields blowing and drifting is decidedly evident.

Aside from the matter of the conservation of moisture, plowing through the fall and winter months is very advantageous. The weathering of the soil in this manner makes more available plant food. In fact, this weathering is the chief factor in the formation of plant food. Also the humus, which rests principally in the upper few inches of soil, is distributed to a greater depth and deeper root growth is consequently encouraged. Any litter which may cover the field is placed in such position that it may readily rot and add material to the plant food in the soil. Vegetable matter left on the surface of the ground oxidizes readily, and to a certain extent its most useful elements are lost to the plant world.

The matter of insect control furnishes a very desirable object for fall and winter plowing. This is a preventative measure, and as most of us have come to realize, it is the true attitude to have in combatting insect pests. The first thing to do, where possible, is to eliminate the trouble through prevention. This is the cheapest and most satisfactory course to follow. The cure is of necessity of secondary importance. This phase of the question has been previously discussed and should be well understood. Our losses from the cut worm during the last two years should furnish a most conclusive argument for fall and winter plowing.

The one objection most commonly met in advocating fall and winter plowing is that, in the opinion of some, more blowing of the soil in the spring is likely to occur. This opinion is hardly likely to be borne out in experience. We can find very little justification of the same by talking to men who have had fall plowing experience, either here or elsewhere. Assuming that the spring work be the same in either case, it seems unreasonable to believe that the fields which now remain with the loose mulch on the surface, which was left by the last cultivation and harvesting of crops, can be subject to less blowing than the fields which have been fall plowed and left in the rough. Weathering of the soil on the smooth fields also takes place, and we find the light loose particles of earth which are responsible for filling up about our fences and roads where obstruction is offered, when the spring winds blow. Even at present clouds of dust are noticeable from these fields, while the fall plowed fields are at rest.

Fall and winter plowing is now practiced in practically every successful district where crops are grown under our conditions. It seems most likely that our advances along these lines have been retarded rather by the lack of horse power and funds than a sincere question of the principles involved.

To the new comer this subject is important, and should receive earnest consideration. If this statement of the case is questioned, it is suggested that the people most successful and experienced be closely questioned before the matter is passed. Investigation will bear out the above.—Roland Harwell, County Agricultural Agent.

Lost, Strayed or Stolen.

Three yearling calves, coming two years old, 1 heifer and 2 steers, branded C lazy R connected, left hip, disappeared from my ranch 10 miles northeast of Mountainair about Nov. 20. Information regarding same will be appreciated by owner. Address J. Lewis Clark, Willard or Mountainair.

Lost Thursday a fire started in the rear of the Orla building—caught from smoldering fire in a trash pile in the adjoining yard. Fortunately it was discovered and put out before it gained headway.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION

Department of the Interior, U. S. Land Office at Santa Fe, N. M. December 2, 1916.

Notice is hereby given that Atanacio Ribera, of Palma, New Mexico, who, on June 6th, 1911, made homestead entry No. 015375, for sec 14, 1/4 NE 1/4 and NE 1/4 Section 15, Township 8 north, Range 13 east, New Mexico Principal Meridian, has filed notice of intention to make five year Proof, to establish claim to the land above described, before Register and Receiver U. S. Land Office at Santa Fe, New Mexico, on February 6th, 1917.

Claimant names as witnesses:

Tiofilo Ribera, Anatalio Garcia, Ramon Garcia, all of Santa Fe, New Mexico; Nicolas Tenorio, of Palma, New Mexico.

FRANCISCO DELGADO, Register. FP12-7LP1-4

Catarhal Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hairs Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hairs Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

G. WEIDNER REAL ESTATE Moriarty, N. M.

I have some genuine bargains in 640-acre and 320-acre ranches. Write or call.

PIANOS PLAYER PIANOS ORGANS

I wish to announce to the people of the Estancia Valley that after 25 years in the business of manufacturing, tuning and selling pianos, I am retiring from the business and will devote my entire time to stock-raising in this locality, but owing to the fact that my contracts with three of the Oldest, Largest and Best-known Piano Factories in America

will not expire for several months, I can supply these instruments to anyone interested

at practically WHOLESALE PRICES!

This will mean an actual saving of at least $100.00 on an instrument. I will not solicit any sales, but will call and quote prices on request. Yours for music and Happy Homes.

J. LEWIS CLARK

Address MOUNTAINAIR

or WILLARD

Tuning and Repairing requests will have prompt attention.

GREETING:

We wish to thank you for the very liberal patronage we have enjoyed, and wish one and all a merry Christmas.

Phone orders promptly filled.

BURRUS BROS. WE BUY HIDES

ESTANCIA REALTY COMPANY

H. C. WILLIAMS, Manager Estancia, N. M.

Estancia Valley Farms and New Mexico Stock Ranches, large and small, improved and unimproved.

We represent the New York Life Insurance Company

Write us your wants. If its farming or grazing land, WE HAVE IT

Bulk Candies

Don't buy bulk candies without seeing us. We have used great care in buying, and can sell you first class candies for less money.

KEMP BROS.

A Merry Christmas

And a prosperous New Year to everybody, is our wish.

Estancia Drug Company

DODGE BROTHERS, BUICK, CADILLAC AUTOMOBILES

FOR SALE BY

G. W. BOND & BRO. MERC. CO.

ENCINO, N. M.

Christmas Toys

We have a well selected line of Toys, Box and Bulk Candies, and in a few days will have a nice stock at right prices of

SHELF HARDWARE AND QUEENSWARE

FRESH MEATS

W. R. Meador & Co.

WILLARD

From the Record.

DODGE BROTHERS AUTOMOBILES

For sale by G. W. BOND & BRO. MERC. CO., Encino, N. M.

AN EPITOME OF LATE LIVE NEWS

CONDENSED RECORD OF THE PROGRESS OF EVENTS AT HOME AND ABROAD.

FROM ALL SOURCES

SAYINGS, DOINGS, ACHIEVEMENTS, SUFFERINGS, HOPES AND FEARS OF MANKIND.

ABOUT THE WAR

Sofia says 6,000 Albanians have defeated Italian force near Pashanina, Epiru.

Teutons have bombarded Monastir and the entire front held by the Serbians in this sector.

French, according to Berlin, have made advances on both sides of the Meuse in the region of Verdun.

Berlin claims the destruction of two entente transports in the Mediterranean by a submarine, but this the British deny.

The Greek government has accepted the demands of the entente allies contained in an ultimatum presented to the Athens government, it is reported unofficially.

Buzen, an important railroad center northeast of Bucharest, has been captured by the Austro-Germans. The retreating Russians and Rumanians are reported to be burning villages behind them.

The embassies of the entente allies at Washington reflected the view that Germany's peace proposals will not be rejected without examination but that he allies in reply probably will call for a statement of proposed terms, so they may not be presented in position of unqualifiedly rejecting peace.

Striking at the German positions between the Meuse and the Woivre rivers, north of Douaumont and north and northeast of the fortress, along a front of about six miles, the French forced back the soldiers of the German Crown Prince for a distance of almost two miles. More than 7,500 prisoners and numerous guns were taken from the Germans, Paris announces.

A Mexican camp reached the border from Villa's camp at Creel, fifty miles west of Minaca, in the Guerrero district of Chihuahua, with proposals for the United States government that Villa would refrain from further destruction of foreign life and property in Mexico on condition that the United States would not interfere in any way with his campaign against the Carranza government.

Paris reports repulse of determined German attack at Lassigny, on the front nearest Paris. Statement hints at an attempt by the Germans to score a significant success on the occasion of issuing the offer of peace. Bombardments and minor operations constitute the entire fighting on all other fronts. Germans cross Jalonitz river in Rumania and their advance remains unchecked.

WESTERN

William C. Nixon, president of the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad, died at St. Louis.

Bar silver advanced 7-8 of a cent on Friday to 76 3/4 cents an ounce, or within a half cent of last May's high record.

Andrew Rozinsky, 45 years old, a laborer, was found frozen to death, the first death from freezing in St. Louis this winter.

David Caplan was found guilty of manslaughter at Los Angeles at his second trial for complicity in the Los Angeles Times explosion Oct. 1, 1910, when twenty men were killed.

When the counts enjoined Mayor Cowboy Jim Dahman of Omaha from using the city automobile for private use his friends started a subscription, and will later present his honor with a five-wheeler.

Her two officers and twenty-five man crew safe ashore after eight hours of battering in her breaker-tossed hull, the United States submarine H-3 pounded unscathed 125 yards off shore two miles north of the Eureka, Cal., harbor entrance.

WASHINGTON

The House voted to abolish the federal sub-treasury at Chicago.

The executive budget system of Maryland, the only state with such a scheme of financial control, was given general approval in a discussion at the ninth annual governor's conference.

Miss Catherine A. Britton of Washington and Prince Alfred Zo Hohenlohe-Schillingsfurst, accredited to the Austro-Hungarian embassy, were married at Washington. They will reside in San Francisco.

The Senate elected Senator Willard Saulsbury of Delaware president pro tempore to succeed the late Senator Clark of Arkansas.

A bill prohibiting the transmission of liquor advertisements by mail to any one except licensed liquor dealers or agents was favorably reported by the House Postoffice committee.

Use of the country's schools for all branches of community work was urged by Miss Margaret Wilson, the President's daughter, before the annual convention of the American Civic Association.

Reports to the United States on food conditions abroad, say Belgian refugees, have opened a horse slaughter house at Halifax, Yorkshire, and are teaching English workmen to eat horse meat, long a staple food in Belgium.

The American Red Cross, at its annual meeting, re-elected all officers, including Woodrow Wilson as president. Robert W. DeForest as vice president, Charles L. Magee as secretary, and William H. Taft as chairman of the central committee.

FOREIGN

Archduke Charles Stephen of Austria has been selected to be regent of Poland with the prospect of election as king.

Dispatches from Petrograd state that the Russian duma has flatly turned down the proposition to consider peace.

An electric train crossing Bernina pass was buried under an avalanche. A rescuing party dug out the passengers, two of whom had died. Another train was snowbound.

The plebiscite held on the question of the sale of the Danish West Indies to the United States resulted in 283,000 votes cast in favor of the sale and 157,000 against such action.

A Zurich dispatch to the Tageblatt of Berlin, says that in response to the peace note of the central powers to the vatican the pope will issue a Christmas proclamation to all the belligerents.

The decision of the French government to prohibit the consumption during the remainder of the war of alcoholic beverages, with the exception of wines and beers, caused consternation in the liquor trade.

The Netherlands government has notified Dr. Henry Van Dyke, the retiring American minister, that John W. Garrett is acceptable to Holland as his successor. Mr. Garrett was secretary of the legation at The Hague from 1901 to 1903.

The allies require that there shall be adequate reparation for the past and adequate security for the future. That is the policy and the determination of his majesty's government.

This was the declaration of Andrew Bonar Law, repeating the words of Mr. Asquith three months ago, as he made his debut as the leader of the new government in the House of Commons.

The will of Miss Mary Helen Orr of Bobcaygeon, Ont., bequeaths her estate of $201,599 to "purposes of uplift." The sum of $10,000 goes to the Mother Christian Science church of Boston, another $10,000 in small amounts to "those building Christian Science churches," $10,000 to "those who are endeavoring to uplift the needy in Chicago, such as Jane Addams charities, United Charities and whatever may seem to need assistance," $10,000 "for any uplifting purpose" among her kin.

SPORTING NEWS

William Stringham, star punter for the School of Mines football eleven, was elected football captain of the 1917 squad at a meeting of the letter men at Golden, Colo.

The State University grid men at Boulder, Colo., chose Edwin Evans, quarterback and halfback on the Silver and Gold eleven for the last two seasons, captain of the team for 1917. Rex Cochran, the deaf mute of Colorado Springs, who finished seventh in the Littleton-Denver marathon race held early this year, has entered the Denver Athletic Club triathlon, which will be held in January.

The probability of the abolition of the Rocky Mountain conference increased when the athletic council of the University of Denver voted to do away with the national pastime.

A team of five Denver bowlers will take a trip to the coast to participate in the annual tournament of the Pacific Coast Bowling Association at San Jose, Cal., in February, if plans made by Harry Gossett are carried out.

GENERAL

Increasing apprehension over the peace situation caused one of the most tempestuous days in Wall street's tempestuous history Friday.

Under the insistent belief that peace in Europe is by no means impossible, holders of war stocks hurried into Wall Street enormous holdings of their securities. As a result the market collapsed.

The drippings from the overflowing vats of fat rendered in Wall Street, New York, from the munitions trade with warring Europe will be distributed as Christmas gifts that will break all past records.

The application for a writ of habeas corpus for David Lamar of New York, serving a two-year term in the Atlanta penitentiary for impersonating a member of Congress, was denied at Atlanta, Ga., by Federal Judge Newman.

This year's corn crop is worth $573,103,000 more than last year's; the wheat crop $83,462,000 more; oats, $96,673,000 more; potatoes, $75,071,000 more; hay, $95,250,000 more; tobacco, $72,727,000 more, and cotton, $475,378,000 more.

Yale University receives a bequest of $300,000; the art museum of Cleveland, Ohio, $100,000; the German-town dispensary and hospital, Germantown, Pa., $100,000, and the Flagler hospital, St. Augustine, Fla., $100,000 from the fortune of the late Mary Warden Harkness, widow of Charles W. Harkness, the Standard oil millionaire of New York.

An American citizen named Alfonso Leiva, formerly of Brownville, Texas, was executed in Juarez by the military Oct. 21, according to a report brought to the American side by an American who was released from the Juarez jail after being held several weeks on a minor charge.

Two more cases of measles and pneumonia terminated fatally at the base hospital at Deming, N. M., when Private Coy Tedford, machine gun company, Second Arkansas infantry and Jesse W. Williams of Company E, First Arkansas infantry succumbed.

Capt. Franz von Papen, former military attache to the German embassy in Washington, recalled some time ago at the request of the United States government, was mentioned at San Francisco by Louis J. Smith, the government's star witness against the German consul general, Franz Popp and six others indicted for alleged neutrality violations.

Although Charles E. Hughes carried West Virginia by a plurality of 2,721, the official count shows that President Wilson will receive one electoral vote from the state.

NOTICIAS DEL ESTADO

De interés para toda la gente de Nuevo Mexico.

Western Newspaper Union News Service. Nuevo Mexico.

Se cotiza el heno a $20 por tonelada en Cimarron.

Tuvo la visita de un ladrón la oficina de la compañía de luz en Gallup.

La gente de Columbus ahora tiene el servicio de correos de su nueva oficina.

Los habitantes de Stanley están muy satisfechos de su nuevo edificio de escuela.

Bruno Marquez de Albuquerque recibió una paludada en la espalda de manos de un desconocido.

Más de 3,000,000 libras de frijoles, del valor de $200,000, salieron de Mountaineer, esta estación.

Mescal Begay, un indio Navajo, fue liberado en Gallup; era acusado de haber matado a otro indio.

Los demócratas gastaron la suma de $3,146.83 durante su campaña política en el condado de San Miguel.

Las entradas procedentes de tierras de estado en 1917 llegarán a, y quizá excedan la suma de $1,000,000.

La actividad minera en Hanover al presente está sin precedente, operando ya varias compañías en gran escala.

Se reporta que W. H. Adams, que habita cerca de House, este año produjo más de 35,000 libras de frijoles.

Algunos hombres de Santa Fé han obtenido un derecho sobre un sitio para un hotel grande destinado para los turistas.

En el piso de su casta en Santa Fé encontraron los vecinos el cuerpo sin vida de la Señora Isabel Romero, de 50 años de edad.

Clovis, así como también varias otras ciudades y pueblos de la región este de Nuevo Mexico, está expuesta a una carestía de carbón.

Los habitantes de Clovis votarán sobre una proposición de emisión de bonos de $50,000 para la erección de una nueva casa de escuela.

Se espera que dentro de poco nombre el Presidente Wilson un sucesor al difunto juez Pope, juez federal para el distrito de Nuevo Mexico.

Las recetas de la oficina de correos de Santa Fé, para el mes de noviembre, fueron de casi 20 por ciento más elevadas de lo que han sido ordinariamente.

Fort Sumner va a tener una elección especial para votar sobre la proposición de emisión por $22,500 de bonos para construir una nueva casa de escuela.

Continúa minándose mineral precioso en las concesiones de Eureka en Mogollon, mas impide la expedición del producto la carencia de "trenes de burro."

Se espera en Santa Fé a Stephen T. Mather, asistente del secretario de Interior Lane. Visitará las moradas del peñasco de Pajarito y el monumento nacional de Bandelier.

El promedio de luz del sol en Santa Fé, para el mes de noviembre, llegó al grado 91, según anuncia el bureau meteorológico de los Estados Unidos. No hubo ni un solo día sin luz de sol.

El censo de escuela para 1916, ahora completado, muestra que hay en Nuevo Mexico un total de 118,236 personas entre las edades de 5 y 21 años. Multiplicando por 3/4, que es la cifra generalmente aceptada en las estimaciones, la población total de Nuevo Mexico sería de 413,826.

Se cultivaron diez mil toneladas de alfalfa en Nuevo Mexico este año.

A. A. Jones para senador de los Estados Unidos, y Robert P. Ervian para administrador de tierras, encabezaron, respectivamente, las listas democráticas y republicanas, durante la última elección según los totales publicados por el consejo de agentes electorales del estado de Nuevo Mexico.

Con la Navidad distante de solo algunos días, los directores de oficinas de correos por todo el país están sonando la llamada de "compras tonteras." Los expedidores de paquetes postales son avisados de que hagan sus inscripciones lo más pronto posible a fin de que se pueda hacer la distribución en tiempo debido.

Se inscribió, en Santa Fé, una petición de bancarrota voluntaria en el tribunal del escribano de distrito de los Estados Unidos, por Remijio Mirabal, anteriormente representante de estado para Gallup, y es una de las mayores, en cuanto a lo que se refiere al débito, que se han presentado en los últimos meses. El débito sería de $96,833.56 y el crédito de $86,844.

Se comprobó que había antes tratado escapar de la prisión cada uno de los cinco prisioneros que procuraron en Santa Fé, por un esfuerzo desesperado y extraordinario, escalar la muralla de diez y ocho pies, por medio de una escalera hecha con una frazada.

La suma enorme y sin precedente de $201,101.20 derivada de la venta y arrendamientos de tierras fue distribuida por el superintendente de instrucción pública Alvan N. White, dando a cada condado $1.70 por capita de su nuevo censo de escuelas.

El ferrocarril de la compañía del Santa Fé dará a sus empleados en Albuquerque, en regalos de Navidad, $15,000, aproximadamente. Esta suma es parte de los $2,750,000 reservados hace poco por la junta de directores del ferrocarril para distribución entre sus dependientes.

J. R. Vance y Alex Smith de McAllister, eran unos de los visitantes de negocio en House hace poco tiempo, y declararon haber acabado de cargar un carro de trigo en Melrose, obteniendo $1.81 por bushel.

STATE VOTE CANVASSED

BOARD COMPLETES COUNT OF RAILROAD VOTE.

Wilson's Plurality in New Mexico is 2,392—Jones Leads Ticket With 3,359 Over Hubbell.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Santa Fé.—The meeting of the State Canvassing Board developed a number of matters of unexpected interest.

Chief Justice Roberts, a member of the board, filed a written protest against the board canvassing the returns for legislators, saying that such a canvass would be illegal and is directly prohibited and penalized by statute, and furthermore would result in legislators presenting two certificates, one from the county authorities and one from the canvassing board, or else in two different men each presenting a certificate to the Legislature.

Assistant Attorney General Harry S. Bowman, on behalf of the Republican state central committee and on behalf of every Republican candidate on the state ticket in the legislative districts and every district attorney district, protested against the counting and canvassing of the absent railroad vote as being without warrant of law and against the constitution of the state of New Mexico. Protests were made a matter of record and the railroad vote was then canvassed.

With the addition of the railroad men's vote the official vote of the state on state and national offices complete stands as follows:

For presidential electors: García (Dem.), 33,527; Upton (Dem.), 33,647; Chavez (Dem.), 33,553; Hill (Rep.), 31,161; Ortiz (Rep.), 31,095; Hammond (Rep.), 31,033; McD. Smith (Rep.), 1,977; T. Smith (Rep.), 1,987; Crisp (Rep.), 1,999. Wilson's plurality, 2,392.

For senator: Jones (Dem.), 33,981; Hubbell (Rep.), 30,622; Metcalf (Rep.), 3,033. Jones' plurality, 3,359.

For representative: Walton (Dem.), 32,750; Hernandez (Rep.), 32,056; Eggen (Rep.), 2,052. Walton's plurality, 594.

For governor: De Baca (Dem.), 32,732; Bursum (Rep.), 31,552; Wells (Rep.), 2,124. De Baca's plurality, 1,322.

For lieutenant governor: McDonald (Dem.), 31,915; Lindsey (Rep.), 32,763; Bearup (Rep.), 2,068. Lindsey's plurality, 648.

For secretary of state: Lucero (Dem.), 32,920; Mirabal (Rep.), 31,366; Thomas (Rep.), 2,139. Lucero's plurality, 1,714.

For treasurer: Hall (Dem.), 33,653; Page (Rep.), 31,210; Phelps (Rep.), 2,048. Hall's plurality, 2,443.

For superintendent of public instruction: Swinney (Dem.), 32,402; Wagner (Rep.), 32,591; Lane (Rep.), 2,034. Wagner's plurality, 99.

For auditor: Otero (Rep.), 32,043; Sargent (Rep.), 32,616; Frost (Rep.), 3,092. Sargent's plurality, 567.

For Supreme Court justice: Field (Dem.), 32,072; Roberts (Rep.), 32,834; McDonald (Rep.), 2,024. Roberts' plurality, 798.

For commissioner of public lands: Davison (Dem.), 31,592; Ervein (Rep.), 33,458; Pendergrass (Rep.), 1,783. Ervein's plurality, 1,556.

For corporation commissioner: Montoya (Rep.), 33,063; Martinez (Rep.), 31,501. Montoya's majority, 1,562.

For attorney general: Patton (Dem.), 32,715; Clancy (Rep.), 32,481; Clark (Rep.), 133. Patton's plurality, 234.

The Senate of the Legislature will be Republican by a margin of four members, the Republicans having 14, the Democrats 10, according to the official returns.

Big Apportionment for State Schools, Santa Fé.—What is probably the largest quarterly apportionment for school purposes in the history of New Mexico was made by State School Superintendent Alvan N. White, who announced that every one of the 118,236 pupils will receive $1.75 each, of $201,101.20 for all. The apportionment by counties is as follows, the first figures showing the enumeration and the second the amount: Bernalillo, 10,787, $18,492.60; Chavez, 6,418, $10,910.60; Colfax, 5,408, $9,193; Curry, 3,042, $5,171.40; Dona Ana, 5,736, $9,751.20; Eddy, 4,025, $6,900.30; Grant, 6,948, $11,811.60; Guadalupe, 4,325, $7,357.60; Lincoln, 2,800, $4,769; Luna, 2,801, $4,761.70; Mora, 4,675, $7,947.50; McKinley, 1,355, $2,355.50; Otero, 2,847, $4,839.90; Quay, 4,220, $7,344; Rio Arriba, 5,950, $10,115; Roosevelt, 3,024, $5,140.80; Sandoval, 1,966, $3,342.20; San Juan, 1,782, $3,029; San Miguel, 8,338, $14,174.60; Santa Fé, 7,381, $12,547.70; Sierra, 1,354, $2,301.80; Socorro, 5,454, $9,271.80; Taos, 4,397, $7,474.90; Torrance, 3,029, $5,149.20; Union, 5,895, $9,868.50; Valencia, 3,641, $6,139.70.

Maddox Given Pardon, Santa Fé.—Governor McDonald pardoned Richard M. Maddox of Bernalillo county, who was sentenced in April of this year to serve two years in the penitentiary.

Silver City Girls Champions, Silver City.—By defeating the Clifton High school girls' basketball team here, the Silver City public school girls' team have captured the southwestern high school championship this year.

Report of Radium in New Mexico, Santa Fé.—That radium and potash exist in New Mexico and that the world's gold supply is on a rapid decline were statements by New Mexico scientists at the meeting of the New Mexico Association for Science.

Sheriff Stabbed at Las Cruces, Chamberino.—Deputy Sheriff Medina was stabbed in Las Cruces at the home of a Mexican, whose daughter he is alleged to have seduced on promises of marriage.

The State Canvassing Board has issued certificates of election to only those senators and representatives in districts which include more than one county. Where the entire district lies within one county, the certificate of election is issued by the county canvassing board.

State Senate.

The personnel of the Senate will be as follows:

First District, San Miguel county: Tommas Gallegos, R.

Second District, Mora and San Miguel counties: Senobia Salazar, R.

Third District, Guadalupe and San Miguel counties: John S. Clark, R.

Fourth District, Rio Arriba county: Perfecto Esquivel, R.

Fifth District, Bernalillo, Sandoval and San Juan counties: Isaac Barbo, D.

Sixth District, Rio Arriba and Sandoval counties: Emiliano Luevano, R.

Seventh District, Bernalillo county: George F. Kassarman, R.

Eighth District, Colfax county: A. V. Luce, John A. Gordon, R.

Ninth District, Colfax and Union counties: G. C. Smith, D.

Tenth District, Santa Fé county: Melvin T. Dunlavy, D.

Eleventh District, Taos county: Ramon Sanchez, D.

Twelfth District, Valencia county: Nabor Mirabal, R.

Thirteenth District, Grant, Luna, Sierra and Socorro counties: H. L. Kerr, D.

Fourteenth District, Socorro county: J. A. McDonald, R.

Fifteenth District, Lincoln, Otero, Socorro and Torrance counties: James Tully, R.

Sixteenth District, Dona Ana county: J. E. Reinburg, R.

Seventeenth District, McKinley county: John A. Gordon, R.

Eighteenth District, Lincoln and Otero counties: James A. Baird, R.

Nineteenth District, Chavez county: Jesse S. Lea, D.

Twentieth District, Eddy county: M. P. Skeen, D.

Twenty-first District, Roosevelt county: R. E. Bryan, D.

Twenty-second District, Quay county: Albert Callich, D.

Twenty-third District, Curry county: L. C. Merfeldt, D.

Twenty-fourth District, Grant county: William D. Murray, R.

House of Representatives.

The House of Representatives will be composed of 29 Republicans and 20 Democrats, as follows:

District 1, Valencia county: Narciso Francis and Jesus C. Sanchez, both R.

District 2, Socorro county: John R. Gaunt and Alejo Gurule, both R.

District 3, Bernalillo county: R. P. Barco, Felipe Armiño, and Sotelo Chavez, all R.

District 4, Santa Fé county: Patricio Calvo, Cipriano Lucero, both D.

District 5, Rio Arriba county: Manuel Sanchez, Pedro F. Salazar, both R.

District 6, San Miguel county: Basilio Griego, Pedro F. Sanchez, Jose G. Romero, all R.

District 7, Mora county: Alejandro Arriola, Frank A. Roy, both R.

District 8, Colfax county: Enrique Mares, T. F. Peter, both R.

District 9, Taos county: Clemente Mascareñas and Anatacio Santistevan, both R.

District 10, Sandoval county: Ecolastico C. de Baca, D.

District 11, Union county: Patricio Romero and C. W. B. Bryan, both D.

District 12, Torrance county: Manuel Otero, R.

District 13, Guadalupe county: J. E. Pardue, D.

District 14, McKinley county: Eleuterio Leyba, Ove B. Overton, both R.

District 15, Dona Ana county: W. H. H. Levey, John G. Livingston, both R.

District 16, Lincoln county: Ira O. Wetmore, R.

District 17, Otero county: Lee R. York, D.

District 18, Chavez county: T. H. Lewis, S. A. McElroy, John H. Dills, all D.

District 19, Eddy county: P. S. Eaves and Carl B. Livingston, G. W. Stroud, D.

District 20, Roosevelt county: G. W. Stroud, D.

District 21, Luna county: T. G. Upton, D.

District 22, Grant county: John W. Turner, Frank Vesely, both D.

District 23, Sierra county: Frank H. Winston, R.

District 24, San Juan county: C. H. Albert, D.

District 25, Quay county: Patricio Sanchez, Pablo Gomez, both D.

NEW MEXICO STATE NEWS

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

COMING EVENTS.

Jan. 8-13—Annual Farmers' Week at State College.

Feb. 19-21—Twenty-third Annual Reunion of the Scottish Rite Masons at Santa Fé.

June 14-17—Cowboys' Reunion at Las Vegas.

Hay is quoted at $20 per ton at Cimarron.

The light company's office at Gallup was burglarized.

Deuces Wild

By HAROLD MACGRATH

COPYRIGHT BY THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY

The Beautiful Adventure

By Izola Forrester

SYNOPSIS.
Forbes, the popular illustrator, sees her per-beach and milk-white complexion engage his artistic eye. He starts to leave the studio, but is interrupted by Jillson on the phone asking him to join a poker party that evening. When he gets to the street the girl has disappeared. In the evening paper he reads of a robbery in which a thief who has baffled the police for nearly a year. He goes to Jillson's room to open the door suddenly, sees no poker game in action, but instead a man in evening dress, masked, with his back to an open safe, who promptly covers him with a gun.

CHAPTER III.
A Wild Goose Chase.
At the exact moment when J. Mortimer Forbes was being apprised of the fact that this was an amazing world and that previously he had been meandering only among the foot-notes of the Great Story, an elderly gentleman and a very handsome young woman sat in a subway train which roared emptily on its way downtown. The elderly man was gray haired and he wore a closely cropped gray mustache, a style much affected by Americans living in New York. He possessed all the hall marks of a prosperous clubman. The spats spoke eloquently of the reading room and of moderately heated political arguments. Attached to his eye-glasses was a heavy cord, up and down which he continually ran his fingers; to those who knew him, a sign of perturbation.

The young woman stared with unseeing eyes at the opposite window; fine eyes, they were, blue as Russian lapislazuli, similarly streaked with threads of gold, and heavily fringed. The girl was really and truly beautiful; even the few belated ones realized this, and forgot their nightly study of the alluring advertisements. She was a tonic to the weary eyes; a tonic like the unexpected vision of green fields, crystal waters and the blue haze on the hills far away. Her hair was not the least of her attractions; it smoldered mysteriously, as if fire lay hidden in the depths of it.

"Wonder what on earth he wants," said the man, and nibbled the ivory head of his stick.

The girl did not reply. Perhaps she had not heard him.

"Some legal muddle," the elderly man complained. "Your mother's brother wasn't in his right mind."

"There's nothing for you to complain of," spoke the girl at last, without, however, turning her head.

"Can't say there is. Three millions, mostly out at 7 per cent." He coughed slightly. "He was novel-reading mad; no sane man would have drawn up such a will. It's as much as our lives are worth to keep all that junk about. Wouldn't give the stuff to the Metropolitan because they wouldn't take any stock in his claim that that ruby belonged to the Nana Sahib. Anyhow, history says that Hindu beggar died in the jungles and that he took the jewel along with him."

"Junk! How can you call all those beautiful stones junk? I love every one of them. He was right. Only one person in a thousand who visit the museums would understand or appreciate them."

"That may be, but no light-fingered gentry would be prowling about."

The beautiful young lady shrugged. She had gone over the ground so often that the subject wearied her. She loved her father, but she could not understand his utter lack of appreciation for the wonderful curios her uncle had bequeathed her, with the single stipulation that she should use them.

That the girl in the sables was unhappy was quite apparent. It was not a petulant sadness, as in having had her will crossed, as in having stumbled over some unwelcome disappointment. Her face reflected a deep sorrow from within; of a kind for which money at her age is no balm. Great peace and great sorrow have the same brushes in limning in a face; the result is generally a beatific placidity. If you looked at the girl's eyes they told you nothing, nor the droop of her mouth nor the pallor of her skin; and yet the ensemble produced a haunting sadness. It made you remember the face for days.

At Madison square the two got out, and the belated ones continued their journey, to dream of dukes and duchesses and wolds and gabled mansees.

The girl in the sables and her father hurried over to the monolith of marble and were shot up to the eighteenth floor. The suits of law offices to which they had been so strangely summoned were in total darkness. The bell rang and rang and echoed eerily through the empty rooms so mightily busy during the secular days of the year.

"Looks like a hoax."

"Perhaps we've come too late."

"Too late? It isn't nine yet," growled the father, recollecting the quiet rubber at the club he had been forced to postpone. "He phoned that it would be very, even exceedingly, important for us to be here before nine. Shall we wait?"

"Certainly." The girl began pulling down the finger tips of her gloves and twisting them. "I'm a doddering old fool!" exclaimed her father suddenly.

"Father!"

"I never telephoned his house to make sure. Why should we come down here to his offices?"

They hastened back to the elevator and went down. The elderly man stepped into a pay-station booth. Presently he emerged, wrathful of countenance.

"Never called up at all. Doesn't know what I'm talking about. A whole evening spoiled!"

"But what can it mean? What can it mean?"

Down into the dank subway again; and twenty minutes later at 9:15, the two arrived at the apartment on the third floor of the Dryden. The girl opened the door impetuously, tearing she knew not what. In the plain, ordinary safe in the living room reposed the Nana-Sahib's ruby and fifteen thousand dollars.

CHAPTER IV.
A Page From Scheherazade.
In the meantime Forbes was invited by the burglar to come in and sit down. He entered the room, thoroughly hypnotized.

"Sit down in that chair there," went on the man in the mask, indicating a fine Sheraton. Strange, that Forbes should give any particular attention to the make of the chair. "There's a good chap," came hoarsely. "I should hate to give you a crack on the head. If you're kept perfectly quiet and do as you're told, I shan't be forced to hurt you. Now listen carefully. Take out your handkerchief. Top pocket, overcoat, if you please! Now tie it over your mouth. That's the way."

Forbes was by no means a coward; but the unexpectedness of the encounter stunned him. He forgot that he had ever wanted to be an amateur detective. The burglar rose to his feet with astonishing agility. Forbes watched him, under a malevolent enchantment. He saw the man whip down from the wall a rare old priest's stole.

"Put your hands behind the chair and hold them there. The automatic's the quickest thing in the world."

A moment later Forbes felt the rough edges of the stole sink into his wrists. The ends went in and out of the spindles and the knot came under his elbows. Next, the handkerchief was given a precautionary twist. The Bokhara embroidery on the low-boy was also forced into service. This secured his ankles to the legs of the chair.

"Don't know what you came in for, for you opened the door without knocking. Never mind." The burglar slipped the pistol into a pocket. "Now, don't worry. Perhaps some time before midnight the people who live here will come to your assistance."

Then the rogue knelt before the safe again and took out an exquisite Florentine jewel-box. He did not bother to try the lock. He was evidently pressed for time. He simply wadded it up in a newspaper, tied it securely with a string he found in a work-basket, picked up his tools, his hat and coat, and paused for a moment on the threshold. Forbes could see the sparkle of his eyes through the holes in the mask. He also saw that there was a slight gasp across the knuckles of the man's left hand.

"Sorry to leave you in this fix." The man bowed briefly and went out.

Forbes heard the snap of the switch-button. Instantly he was in total darkness. Then he heard the click of the bolt. He was now locked in. Presently his brain resumed its functions; he began to think in little sparks of thought; as if permitting electric fluid to enter a wire by degrees. Jerkily. For the last ten minutes he had been as completely hypnotized as if he had been staring for hours into a Swami's crystal. His first coherent thought was one of those best left unspoken, and Allen followed. Then there was a series of hair-raising stunts by the two, which culminated in Ferning's capture.—Philadelphia Record.

Life in a Nutshell.
"Stop, look, listen." A reflective man was reading this railroad sign. "These three words illustrate the whole scheme of life," said he. "As to how? You see a pretty girl. You stop. You look. After you marry her you listen."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

FORCED TO "TREE" ACROBAT
Hair-Raising Stunts by Circus Man and Pursuing Athlete Amuse a Philadelphia Crowd.

Aerial thrillers were provided for a large crowd on Lehigh avenue, near Frankford, when Policeman George Allen, a former acrobat, gave chase to Harry Ferning of Oakdale street, who until recently was a trapeze artist with a circus. Using the Reading railway's elevated tracks for the unwritten. He had entered, picturing in his mind a familiar scene, six familiar faces; and this instead! It would have hypnotized anyone.

A blockhead! A sheep! To have allowed himself to be trussed up this way, without a single struggle, without a word! A fine detective! He strained at his hands, and then at his ankles, but desisted when the chair threatened to topple over. On the floor he would be absolutely helpless. So he sat there in the dark, mouthing at his handkerchief and trying to get his teeth into it.

The man has a freshly skinned knuckle. He would remember that when the police came. He would never be able to recall the voice, so effectively muffled behind the curtain of the mask. In evening dress, too, and wore it to the manner born; here in little old New York. And then it came upon him with the dazzlement of sunrise. The mysterious burglar of the newspapers!

He began to swear again; guttural sounds, which started in his throat and ended, bassoonlike, in his nose. Dash the door-boy, to have given him the wrong floor! Somewhere up above or down below they were waiting for him; the cards were piling, the chips clicking musically against one another. Deuces wild, if you held a king and queen of any suit, together with three deuces, you could call it four queens, or four kings, or a royal, just as you pleased. Open on anything; no weary waiting for jacks or better; something doing every minute. (It never occurred to him that the burglar had already saved him about fifty dollars!)

And when the occupants of this room returned they would doubtless, and with reason, hand him over to the police, and the deuce (wild, indeed!) would be to pay. Moreover, he would never hear the last of it. He, who had never left himself open to ridicule, would be the laughing-stock of the town.

Numbness crept into his arms and legs. He could not shift the handkerchief a solitary inch, not a fraction of an inch. Occasionally he heard sounds; the lift-door closing, someone going up or down the stairs, the rattle of a far-off elevated train, the honk of an auto horn in the street below. Beautiful situation for J. Mortimer Forbes, famous illustrator! Hours and hours and hours passed; at least so it seemed to him. Of course it was just his luck to strike a place where the people kept ungodly hours. He would not be able to work for days. The gold thread of the stole cut like a razor's edge. The beggar might have left the lights on, so that he could have found some amusement in staring at the furnishings and speculating as to the taste of the absent ones. But to sit in pure darkness (for the blinds were down) his nerves all awrack from listening and waiting, his lungs aching for the want of a deep breath—it was all mighty unpleasant.

Thank heaven! Someone was turning a key in the lock. They had come at last. He suddenly found himself blinking into the light. Over the threshold came an elderly man and a young woman.

"Good heavens!" cried the young woman.

Forbes said nothing, but his eyes threatened to fall out of his head. For the young woman was no less a person than she of the copper-beech hair; and her face was as sad and beautiful as Bellini's "Madonna" in that rickety old church by the side of that smelly old canal in Venice!

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Would Not Burn Diamonds.
You often hear of people with money to burn, but so far none has ever attempted to burn their diamonds. The reason why, perhaps, is because they will burn beautifully. "A great many people imagine that diamonds are indestructible," said a jeweler, who was placing a load of gems in his safe for the night, "but as a matter of fact, a fire of diamonds would be the briskest, prettiest thing in the world. Diamonds are nothing but coal-carbon. Put a handful of diamonds on a plate and set a light to them. They will burn with a hard gemlike flame till nothing is left. There will be no smoke, no soot, and at the end the plate will be as clean as though just washed—not the slightest particle even of ash will remain. Don't try to thaw out your cracked ice by fire."

Age of Elephants and Parrots.
Earley-Wilnot, in his "Life of an Elephant," says that these animals live one hundred years under favorable circumstances. R. Lydekker in his "Great and Small Game of India" says of the Indian elephant that its age depends upon its teeth.

Definite information as to the age of parrots is hard to find. In a work on "Parrots in Captivity" one black Madagascar specimen in the London zoo is mentioned, which was presented to the society full grown in 1831, and was still alive and well in 1881. Several others about twenty years old are mentioned.

Stood on the Bleak Little Platform.
Night. There's a dance over at Poncefired Green and everybody's gone. I meant to go, but I had to take some friends down to this train, so I don't mind making a little going since I had to earn some coming.

"Oh, could I go with you, please?" Winifred broke in. "I'd pay half, don't you know, and there's plenty of room. I'm going to the Delmars, too."

It seemed too good to be true when she found herself safely tucked away on the back seat, with buffalo robes around her and the two horses taking up the road splendidly, their hoofs throwing back a spray of light snow.

He was Gregory Ramsfeld, he told her, writer and globe trotter. He had just got back from a year at the front in Europe and he said Connecticut hills looked better to him than all the night of the pine trees stood out, their branches heavy with snow, and before them here and there in the fields were clumps of white birch and red oak, with dry leaves still clinging to their boughs. The stars shone famously up in the winter sky.

Gregory half turned in his seat and talked. They had many friends in common. He had known Rolf since they were boys back in Denver. Neither of them noticed after five miles had been covered that the horses were walking, breasting the drifts and literally wading through them, until they came to a deep bait and the driver jumped out. They couldn't go on, he said. The snow was up to the top of the fences as far as one could see. He could turn around and get them up to the old Annabelle Smith place, where there was a telephone, and they could call up Winifred.

"It's only nine-thirty," Gregory said reassuringly. "And we don't get an adventure every day. Let's go."

The Smith place was dark when they reached it, but the driver knocked lustily and finally there was a faint, frightened voice from the inner side of the front door asking who it was at that time of night. Gregory explained, with the driver's help, and they were admitted.

"But you can't get word through tonight. The wires don't work. They never do after a big storm on these here party lines," said Miss Smith, holding up a big oil lamp. "Just step right out into the kitchen and you stir up the fire, Ira. Make yourselves to home, folks. Ira can drive back and maybe telephone from the village up there."

Winifred never forgot that New Year's eve. After Ira had gone, they sat out in the cheery old kitchen, drinking tea, eating nuts and apples and mince pie, and getting fearfully well acquainted, as Miss Smith put it laughingly. Gregory carried in wood and split kindlings for morning, and locked up for the night. While Miss Smith went up to look after her old bedridden father, they sat together by the fire, and somehow talk died away. The old clock up on the chimney mantel softly struck twelve in the silence. Winifred looked up and smiled, her head leaning back on the cushioned top of the old black rocker.

"Happy New Year!" she said. "Isn't it the queerest thing, our being way up here miles from everyone we know and not knowing each other even, and starting off the new year together?"

"It's great," Gregory clasped his hands around one knee, seated on the woodbox under the big Dutch oven.

"I'm not superstitious, but after rambling for a year over there this seems awfully much worth while. You know I'd almost begun to think, if you won't mind my saying so, that there wasn't anyone like you in the world."

Miss Smith hurried through the entry way.

"Ira's back with a bigger team and he's going to take you through all right, he says. He drove over that bad spot in the roads and broke it for you. And he telephoned to Mrs. Delmar that you're coming."

It was nearly two when they reached Winifred's. All of the windows of the big country house were lighted up, and Anne herself, wrapped in a wonderful velvet and fur housegown, ran down the steps to meet them.

"Oh, my dear, my dear!" she cried when she had Winifred safely upstairs in her room. "You poor child!"

"I'm not poor," Winifred said radiantly. "I've had the most beautiful adventure of my whole life, and I'm in love. I agree with you and fate this time."

"But it isn't Gregory I want you to meet," faltered Anne. "You haven't gone and fallen in love with dear old Greg?"

"I have," Winifred laughed happily. "Both of us have. I never believed in love at first sight before, or anything like it, but I've made some wonderful resolutions for the new year this time."

"Now listen to me and the whole comedy. Anne curled up on the bed confidentially. "The man you were to marry is right down smoking with Rolf this minute. He's Madison Forbes with money, position, everything, my dear. But he didn't think you'd try to make the trip such a night, so I've been phoning madly everywhere to find out if you had arrived and where. Then I would have tried to get to you. We sent out a car and it didn't get through, and the horses couldn't either."

"Don't worry," Winifred smiled at her reflection in the triple mirror at the dressing table. "I don't give a rap about the money or position or anything. Anne. We've been right out in the primitive world together, lost in the snow, and I'd go with him to the ends of the world if this blessed old world had any ends. He said, just as we were driving in here, it was the most promising New Year's he had ever known."

Call of Friendship.
The communion of friendship is the response to the need of the hours when the insistent rush of earning a living is ended for the day and one has time to be alone with himself. For it is then that the sympathetic counsel of someone like oneself may shape and mold the possibilities of the morrow. And it must be a friend. No other will do. The friend must not relax before one in whom absolute trust is not possible. But to such a one the whole life pours itself out for comfort, counsel, rebuke. The mistakes of the day are seen in clear perspective. The untaken tasks marshal themselves without a bit of hesitancy. The unknown morrow spreads gloriously with its hope of success and victory. The soul is refreshed and the spirit is renewed. In the presence of a friend the heart opens upward toward God.—Rev. Ralph Welles Keeler, D. D.

The reason so many churches have financial trouble is because of the jilted members who think the sermon and the blessing they get is only worth a nickel.

I should entertain a mean opinion of myself if all men, or the most part, praised and admired me. It would prove me to be something like them.—Lauder.

It was a supreme test of friendship, visiting the Delmars on New Year's. Wrapped to her ears in fur, with a cap meeting her collar, Winifred stood on the bleak little platform at Byers' Corners and looked through the snowfall for anything that seemed to be a conveyance.

She had left Boston at 5:45—plenty of time to reach Winifred's in good time, Anne had written her.

"It's just a nice little run over from the Providence and Willimantic line. We'll meet you at Byers' Corners. The trains only stop there on signal or to let off visitors, and the only visitors that ever come are ours. If Rolf or I can't come over I'll send a wonderful substitute."

Evidently Rolf, Anne and the substitute had been overcome by the storm. Trains had been delayed from Boston to Providence and on the little local line they had waited again and again along the way. There had been no real need of any signal to let her off when Byers' Corners came in view. The drifts were so high that it took the train 20 minutes to get out of Byers' Corners, let alone getting in.

But again Anne had written:

"Don't feel discouraged getting to us. We live in the quaintest little village perched on the top of a hill, but it's wonderful when you get here, and we're piling on big logs for you and the latching dangles, so be sure and come. Also, I have your romance! He has come true, Win, at last, and he's all that anyone who loves you could wish for you."

It certainly was stimulating, if nothing else, both the lure of the letter and the trip itself. Winifred went around the other side of the tiny station and heard voices. A man was arguing about some way of reaching the Delmars, and the stocky driver of a two-horse sleigh demurred evasively.

"It's nine miles ordinarily up there and we've got to go roundabout by Butts' bridge tonight 'cause the roads ain't been broke through 't'other way, and then like enough we'd never make it. It's worth five dollars to drive over there, every cent of it."

"I'll pay you five," said the stranger.

"Hurry up."

"I can't guarantee to get you there, but I'll do my best. This here's the only team in town you could get to-ing for a year over there this seems awfully much worth while. You know I'd almost begun to think, if you won't mind my saying so, that there wasn't anyone like you in the world."

Miss Smith hurried through the entry way.

"Ira's back with a bigger team and he's going to take you through all right, he says. He drove over that bad spot in the roads and broke it for you. And he telephoned to Mrs. Delmar that you're coming."

It was nearly two when they reached Winifred's. All of the windows of the big country house were lighted up, and Anne herself, wrapped in a wonderful velvet and fur housegown, ran down the steps to meet them.

"Oh, my dear, my dear!" she cried when she had Winifred safely upstairs in her room. "You poor child!"

"I'm not poor," Winifred said radiantly. "I've had the most beautiful adventure of my whole life, and I'm in love. I agree with you and fate this time."

"But it isn't Gregory I want you to meet," faltered Anne. "You haven't gone and fallen in love with dear old Greg?"

"I have," Winifred laughed happily. "Both of us have. I never believed in love at first sight before, or anything like it, but I've made some wonderful resolutions for the new year this time."

"Now listen to me and the whole comedy. Anne curled up on the bed confidentially. "The man you were to marry is right down smoking with Rolf this minute. He's Madison Forbes with money, position, everything, my dear. But he didn't think you'd try to make the trip such a night, so I've been phoning madly everywhere to find out if you had arrived and where. Then I would have tried to get to you. We sent out a car and it didn't get through, and the horses couldn't either."

"Don't worry," Winifred smiled at her reflection in the triple mirror at the dressing table. "I don't give a rap about the money or position or anything. Anne. We've been right out in the primitive world together, lost in the snow, and I'd go with him to the ends of the world if this blessed old world had any ends. He said, just as we were driving in here, it was the most promising New Year's he had ever known."

Call of Friendship.
The communion of friendship is the response to the need of the hours when the insistent rush of earning a living is ended for the day and one has time to be alone with himself. For it is then that the sympathetic counsel of someone like oneself may shape and mold the possibilities of the morrow. And it must be a friend. No other will do. The friend must not relax before one in whom absolute trust is not possible. But to such a one the whole life pours itself out for comfort, counsel, rebuke. The mistakes of the day are seen in clear perspective. The untaken tasks marshal themselves without a bit of hesitancy. The unknown morrow spreads gloriously with its hope of success and victory. The soul is refreshed and the spirit is renewed. In the presence of a friend the heart opens upward toward God.—Rev. Ralph Welles Keeler, D. D.

The reason so many churches have financial trouble is because of the jilted members who think the sermon and the blessing they get is only worth a nickel.

I should entertain a mean opinion of myself if all men, or the most part, praised and admired me. It would prove me to be something like them.—Lauder.

with the driver's help, and they were admitted.

"But you can't get word through tonight. The wires don't work. They never do after a big storm on these here party lines," said Miss Smith, holding up a big oil lamp. "Just step right out into the kitchen and you stir up the fire, Ira. Make yourselves to home, folks. Ira can drive back and maybe telephone from the village up there."

Winifred never forgot that New Year's eve. After Ira had gone, they sat out in the cheery old kitchen, drinking tea, eating nuts and apples and mince pie, and getting fearfully well acquainted, as Miss Smith put it laughingly. Gregory carried in wood and split kindlings for morning, and locked up for the night. While Miss Smith went up to look after her old bedridden father, they sat together by the fire, and somehow talk died away. The old clock up on the chimney mantel softly struck twelve in the silence. Winifred looked up and smiled, her head leaning back on the cushioned top of the old black rocker.

"Happy New Year!" she said. "Isn't it the queerest thing, our being way up here miles from everyone we know and not knowing each other even, and starting off the new year together?"

"It's great," Gregory clasped his hands around one knee, seated on the woodbox under the big Dutch oven.

"I'm not superstitious, but after rambling for a year over there this seems awfully much worth while. You know I'd almost begun to think, if you won't mind my saying so, that there wasn't anyone like you in the world."

Miss Smith hurried through the entry way.

"Ira's back with a bigger team and he's going to take you through all right, he says. He drove over that bad spot in the roads and broke it for you. And he telephoned to Mrs. Delmar that you're coming."

It was nearly two when they reached Winifred's. All of the windows of the big country house were lighted up, and Anne herself, wrapped in a wonderful velvet and fur housegown, ran down the steps to meet them.

"Oh, my dear, my dear!" she cried when she had Winifred safely upstairs in her room. "You poor child!"

"I'm not poor," Winifred said radiantly. "I've had the most beautiful adventure of my whole life, and I'm in love. I agree with you and fate this time."

"But it isn't Gregory I want you to meet," faltered Anne. "You haven't gone and fallen in love with dear old Greg?"

"I have," Winifred laughed happily. "Both of us have. I never believed in love at first sight before, or anything like it, but I've made some wonderful resolutions for the new year this time."

"Now listen to me and the whole comedy. Anne curled up on the bed confidentially. "The man you were to marry is right down smoking with Rolf this minute. He's Madison Forbes with money, position, everything, my dear. But he didn't think you'd try to make the trip such a night, so I've been phoning madly everywhere to find out if you had arrived and where. Then I would have tried to get to you. We sent out a car and it didn't get through, and the horses couldn't either."

"Don't worry," Winifred smiled at her reflection in the triple mirror at the dressing table. "I don't give a rap about the money or position or anything. Anne. We've been right out in the primitive world together, lost in the snow, and I'd go with him to the ends of the world if this blessed old world had any ends. He said, just as we were driving in here, it was the most promising New Year's he had ever known."

Call of Friendship.
The communion of friendship is the response to the need of the hours when the insistent rush of earning a living is ended for the day and one has time to be alone with himself. For it is then that the sympathetic counsel of someone like oneself may shape and mold the possibilities of the morrow. And it must be a friend. No other will do. The friend must not relax before one in whom absolute trust is not possible. But to such a one the whole life pours itself out for comfort, counsel, rebuke. The mistakes of the day are seen in clear perspective. The untaken tasks marshal themselves without a bit of hesitancy. The unknown morrow spreads gloriously with its hope of success and victory. The soul is refreshed and the spirit is renewed. In the presence of a friend the heart opens upward toward God.—Rev. Ralph Welles Keeler, D. D.

The reason so many churches have financial trouble is because of the jilted members who think the sermon and the blessing they get is only worth a nickel.

I should entertain a mean opinion of myself if all men, or the most part, praised and admired me. It would prove me to be something like them.—Lauder.

with the driver's help, and they were admitted.

"But you can't get word through tonight. The wires don't work. They never do after a big storm on these here party lines," said Miss Smith, holding up a big oil lamp. "Just step right out into the kitchen and you stir up the fire, Ira. Make yourselves to home, folks. Ira can drive back and maybe telephone from the village up there."

Winifred never forgot that New Year's eve. After Ira had gone, they sat out in the cheery old kitchen, drinking tea, eating nuts and apples and mince pie, and getting fearfully well acquainted, as Miss Smith put it laughingly. Gregory carried in wood and split kindlings for morning, and locked up for the night. While Miss Smith went up to look after her old bedridden father, they sat together by the fire, and somehow talk died away. The old clock up on the chimney mantel softly struck twelve in the silence. Winifred looked up and smiled, her head leaning back on the cushioned top of the old black rocker.

"Happy New Year!" she said. "Isn't it the queerest thing, our being way up here miles from everyone we know and not knowing each other even, and starting off the new year together?"

"It's great," Gregory clasped his hands around one knee, seated on the woodbox under the big Dutch oven.

"I'm not superstitious, but after rambling for a year over there this seems awfully much worth while. You know I'd almost begun to think, if you won't mind my saying so, that there wasn't anyone like you in the world."

Miss Smith hurried through the entry way.

"Ira's back with a bigger team and he's going to take you through all right, he says. He drove over that bad spot in the roads and broke it for you. And he telephoned to Mrs. Delmar that you're coming."

It was nearly two when they reached Winifred's. All of the windows of the big country house were lighted up, and Anne herself, wrapped in a wonderful velvet and fur housegown, ran down the steps to meet them.

"Oh, my dear, my dear!" she cried when she had Winifred safely upstairs in her room. "You poor child!"

"I'm not poor," Winifred said radiantly. "I've had the most beautiful adventure of my whole life, and I'm in love. I agree with you and fate this time."

"But it isn't Gregory I want you to meet," faltered Anne. "You haven't gone and fallen in love with dear old Greg?"

"I have," Winifred laughed happily. "Both of us have. I never believed in love at first sight before, or anything like it, but I've made some wonderful resolutions for the new year this time."

"Now listen to me and the whole comedy. Anne curled up on the bed confidentially. "The man you were to marry is right down smoking with Rolf this minute. He's Madison Forbes with money, position, everything, my dear. But he didn't think you'd try to make the trip such a night, so I've been phoning madly everywhere to find out if you had arrived and where. Then I would have tried to get to you. We sent out a car and it didn't get through, and the horses couldn't either."

"Don't worry," Winifred smiled at her reflection in the triple mirror at the dressing table. "I don't give a rap about the money or position or anything. Anne. We've been right out in the primitive world together, lost in the snow, and I'd go with him to the ends of the world if this blessed old world had any ends. He said, just as we were driving in here, it was the most promising New Year's he had ever known."

Call of Friendship.
The communion of friendship is the response to the need of the hours when the insistent rush of earning a living is ended for the day and one has time to be alone with himself. For it is then that the sympathetic counsel of someone like oneself may shape and mold the possibilities of the morrow. And it must be a friend. No other will do. The friend must not relax before one in whom absolute trust is not possible. But to such a one the whole life pours itself out for comfort, counsel, rebuke. The mistakes of the day are seen in clear perspective. The untaken tasks marshal themselves without a bit of hesitancy. The unknown morrow spreads gloriously with its hope of success and victory. The soul is refreshed and the spirit is renewed. In the presence of a friend the heart opens upward toward God.—Rev. Ralph Welles Keeler, D. D.

The reason so many churches have financial trouble is because of the jilted members who think the sermon and the blessing they get is only worth a nickel.

I should entertain a mean opinion of myself if all men, or the most part, praised and admired me. It would prove me to be something like them.—Lauder.

Breasting the Drifts and Literally Wading Through.

with the driver's help, and they were admitted.

"But you can't get word through tonight. The wires don't work. They never do after a big storm on these here party lines," said Miss Smith, holding up a big oil lamp. "Just step right out into the kitchen and you stir up the fire, Ira. Make yourselves to home, folks. Ira can drive back and maybe telephone from the village up there."

Winifred never forgot that New Year's eve. After Ira had gone, they sat out in the cheery old kitchen, drinking tea, eating nuts and apples and mince pie, and getting fearfully well acquainted, as Miss Smith put it laughingly. Gregory carried in wood and split kindlings for morning, and locked up for the night. While Miss Smith went up to look after her old bedridden father, they sat together by the fire, and somehow talk died away. The old clock up on the chimney mantel softly struck twelve in the silence. Winifred looked up and smiled, her head leaning back on the cushioned top of the old black rocker.

"Happy New Year!" she said. "Isn't it the queerest thing, our being way up here miles from everyone we know and not knowing each other even, and starting off the new year together?"

"It's great," Gregory clasped his hands around one knee, seated on the woodbox under the big Dutch oven.

"I'm not superstitious, but after rambling for a year over there this seems awfully much worth while. You know I'd almost begun to think, if you won't mind my saying so, that there wasn't anyone like you in the world."

Miss Smith hurried through the entry way.

"Ira's back with a bigger team and he's going to take you through all right, he says. He drove over that bad spot in the roads and broke it for you. And he telephoned to Mrs. Delmar that you're coming."

It was nearly two when they reached Winifred's. All of the windows of the big country house were lighted up, and Anne herself, wrapped in a wonderful velvet and fur housegown, ran down the steps to meet them.

"Oh, my dear, my dear!" she cried when she had Winifred safely upstairs in her room. "You poor child!"

"I'm not poor," Winifred said radiantly. "I've had the most beautiful adventure of my whole life, and I'm in love. I agree with you and fate this time."

"But it isn't Gregory I want you to meet," faltered Anne. "You haven't gone and fallen in love with dear old Greg?"

"I have," Winifred laughed happily. "Both of us have. I never believed in love at first sight before, or anything like it, but I've made some wonderful resolutions for the new year this time."

"Now listen to me and the whole comedy. Anne curled up on the bed confidentially. "The man you were to marry is right down smoking with Rolf this minute. He's Madison Forbes with money, position, everything, my dear. But he didn't think you'd try to make the trip such a night, so I've been phoning madly everywhere to find out if you had arrived and where. Then I would have tried to get to you. We sent out a car and it didn't get through, and the horses couldn't either."

"Don't worry," Winifred smiled at her reflection in the triple mirror at the dressing table. "I don't give a rap about the money or position or anything. Anne. We've been right out in the primitive world together, lost in the snow, and I'd go with him to the ends of the world if this blessed old world had any ends. He said, just as we were driving in here, it was the most promising New Year's he had ever known."

Call of Friendship.
The communion of friendship is the response to the need of the hours when the insistent rush of earning a living is ended for the day and one has time to be alone with himself. For it is then that the sympathetic counsel of someone like oneself may shape and mold the possibilities of the morrow. And it must be a friend. No other will do. The friend must not relax before one in whom absolute trust is not possible. But to such a one the whole life pours itself out for comfort, counsel, rebuke. The mistakes of the day are seen in clear perspective. The untaken tasks marshal themselves without a bit of hesitancy. The unknown morrow spreads gloriously with its hope of success and victory. The soul is refreshed and the spirit is renewed. In the presence of a friend the heart opens upward toward God.—Rev. Ralph Welles Keeler, D. D.

The reason so many churches have financial trouble is because of the jilted members who think the sermon and the blessing they get is only worth a nickel.

I should entertain a mean opinion of myself if all men, or the most part, praised and admired me. It would prove me to be something like them.—Lauder.

bling for a year over there this seems awfully much worth while. You know I'd almost begun to think, if you won't mind my saying so, that there wasn't anyone like you in the world."

Miss Smith hurried through the entry way.

"Ira's back with a bigger team and he's going to take you through all right, he says. He drove over that bad spot in the roads and broke it for you. And he telephoned to Mrs. Delmar that you're coming."

It was nearly two when they reached Winifred's. All of the windows of the big country house were lighted up, and Anne herself, wrapped in a wonderful velvet and fur housegown, ran down the steps to meet them.

"Oh, my dear, my dear!" she cried when she had Winifred safely upstairs in her room. "You poor child!"

"I'm not poor," Winifred said radiantly. "I've had the most beautiful adventure of my whole life, and I'm in love. I agree with you and fate this time."

"But it isn't Gregory I want you to meet," faltered Anne. "You haven't gone and fallen in love with dear old Greg?"

"I have," Winifred laughed happily. "Both of us have. I never believed in love at first sight before, or anything like it, but I've made some wonderful resolutions for the new year this time."

"Now listen to me and the whole comedy. Anne curled up on the bed confidentially. "The man you were to marry is right down smoking with Rolf this minute. He's Madison Forbes with money, position, everything, my dear. But he didn't think you'd try to make the trip such a night, so I've been phoning madly everywhere to find out if you had arrived and where. Then I would have tried to get to you. We sent out a car and it didn't get through, and the horses couldn't either."

"Don't worry," Winifred smiled at her reflection in the triple mirror at the dressing table. "I don't give a rap about the money or position or anything. Anne. We've been right out in the primitive world together, lost in the snow, and I'd go with him to the ends of the world if this blessed old world had any ends. He said, just as we were driving in here, it was the most promising New Year's he had ever known."

Call of Friendship.
The communion of friendship is the response to the need of the hours when the insistent rush of earning a living is ended for the day and one has time to be alone with himself. For it is then that the sympathetic counsel of someone like oneself may shape and mold the possibilities of the morrow. And it must be a friend. No other will do. The friend must not relax before one in whom absolute trust is not possible. But to such a one the whole life pours itself out for comfort, counsel, rebuke. The mistakes of the day are seen in clear perspective. The untaken tasks marshal themselves without a bit of hesitancy. The unknown morrow spreads gloriously with its hope of success and victory. The soul is refreshed and the spirit is renewed. In the presence of a friend the heart opens upward toward God.—Rev. Ralph Welles Keeler, D. D.

The reason so many churches have financial trouble is because of the jilted members who think the sermon and the blessing they get is only worth a nickel.

I should entertain a mean opinion of myself if all men, or the most part, praised and admired me. It would prove me to be something like them.—Lauder.

CANADA AGAIN A PRIZE WINNER

Highest Premiums Awarded at Many Exhibitions.

The Fall fair season is past and a retrospect of them shows that Western Canada is stronger than ever in the matter of exhibits, and has taken more than her usual share of the prize money. From Western Canada to Texas is a long look, from Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba to the southwestern corner of Texas is several days' journey, but the enterprising farmers from this new country to the northwest were wide awake to the possibilities that waited them at the International Dry Farming Congress held at El Paso, Texas, a few weeks ago, to bring to the attention of those in that far-off corner what the land of Western Canada could do in the production of grains and roots from its soil. And what did these farmers do? The first thing was to carry off the first prize and sweepstakes for wheat. That was a foregone conclusion for it has now become an established fact that nowhere else in the world is there grown wheat of the high character and market value of Western Canadian wheat. The same may be said of oats, of barley and of rye. But when it came to notice that Western Canada took first prize for alfalfa, it was then that more special attention was given to the products from Western Canada. It showed that in that country there lies the opportunity for supplementing the wonderful native grasses, so full of nutrition that with the tamed varieties, among them being alfalfa, the cattle with no other food were fattened and fitted for the shambles. Western Canada's worth was proved as probably the greatest mixed farming portion of the continent. When the steers from the Western Canadian prairies reach the Chicago stockyards they bring the top price and outweigh those from other places where grass fattening is the process. But it was not only in grains that Western Canada carried off the highest honors at the El Paso exhibition. Potatoes, parsnips, beets, carrots and rutabagas also took the highest honors. In root production this country is becoming favorably known.

The question often arises as to markets. There is always the highest price awaiting the producer, and as soon as the Hudson Bay Railway, now about completed, reaches the Bay, there will be an additional outlet for the product of the farm. The Pacific coast route, via the Panama canal, will give another outlet of which full advantage may be taken. With virgin land selling at from $15 to $20 per acre, and improved farms at reasonable prices and on easy terms, there is no better opportunity for the man with limited means and a desire to secure a home at the least cost in a country where he can soon become wealthy,

Estancia News-Herald

Published every Thursday
J. A. CONSTANT, Editor and Owner.

Entered as second class matter January 11, 1907, in the postoffice at Estancia, N. M., under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1907.

Subscription $1.50 per year in advance

E. A. Mattingly has unloaded a car or two of beans which he had previously loaded, having decided to hold the beans in hope of getting a better price than is offered at present.

Stop That Ache!

Don't worry and complain about a bad back. Get rid of that pain and lameness! Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Many grateful people have used them and know how effective they are. Here's a typical case.

J. M. Vickrey, plumber, 1004 N. Eleventh St., Albuquerque, N. Mex., says: "I don't hesitate to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for backache and other kidney trouble. In my case, they brought immediate relief from backache. I know of another case where Doan's Kidney Pills brought positive relief from backache, due to weak kidneys."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Vickrey had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. adv

PROFESSIONAL DIRECTORY

W. H. MASON
Physician and Optician
REFRACTING A SPECIALTY
Office North Main St., Estancia, N.M.

C. J. Amble
Physician and Surgeon
Treating of Eyes and Fitting of Glasses a Specialty.
Office opposite News-Herald Printing Office ESTANCIA, N. M.

Chas. F. Easley Chas. R. Easley
EASLEY & EASLEY
Attorneys at Law
Practice in the Courts and Land Dept. Land Grants and Titles Examined.
SANTA FE, N. M.

FRED H. AYERS
Attorney and Counselor at Law
Office hours 9:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.
ESTANCIA, NEW MEXICO

C. E. Ewing
DENTIST
ESTANCIA - NEW MEX.
sometimes out of town first of week, but always in Estancia office Fridays and Saturdays. Office in Ayers building

W. DRAYTON WASSON
Attorney at Law
Will practice in all Courts of New Mexico
ESTANCIA - NEW MEX.

SALINA RANCH
dealers in Live Stock
Range, Estancia Valley near Salt Lake
Lucia, N. M.

Mary E. Woodall, Postoffice, McIntosh, N. M. Range six miles west of McIntosh. Brandleft-shoulder

MONUMENTS
Largest stock of finished work in the state. Designs and samples upon application.
Bowers Monument Co., ALBUQUERQUE, NEW MEX. 215 E. Central

R. B. COCHRANE
Shoe and Harness Repairing
All work guaranteed
Shop on North Main Street
Estancia, New Mexico

SEE THE NEW BABY OVERLND before buying. Electric lights, electric starter, visible oil feed, 3 1/2 horse power, best on market for money. $715 delivered. J. A. BEAL, County Manager, tainounhMair, N

DR. GEORGE H. BUER
Physician and Surgeon
General Practitioner
Phone Commercial Hotel
Mountaineer, N. M.

LUCY
Special Correspondence.
C. H. Collins is doing nicely under Miss Hubbard and Dr. Buer's care.

Special Correspondence.
Frank Thomas sold his ranch last week to Charles Lubojasky of Plainview, Texas. Mr. Thomas and family were shopping in Williston, N. D., Saturday.

PROGRESSO
Special Correspondence.
Fine weather at this writing.

Special Correspondence.
Mrs. M. J. White has just completed a large new barn on her ranch.

PLEASANTVIEW
Special Correspondence.
Mr. McDonald of District 22 passed through Estancia on Friday.

Special Correspondence.
Miss Horgan has been on the sick list. She had come from the mountains Sunday.

Special Correspondence.
Mrs. J. G. Darrah will leave Friday to visit her old home in Kansas.

Special Correspondence.
Mrs. J. G. Darrah will leave Friday to visit her old home in Kansas.

Special Correspondence.
Mrs. J. G. Darrah will leave Friday to visit her old home in Kansas.

Special Correspondence.
Mrs. J. G. Darrah will leave Friday to visit her old home in Kansas.

Special Correspondence.
Mrs. J. G. Darrah will leave Friday to visit her old home in Kansas.

Special Correspondence.
Mrs. J. G. Darrah will leave Friday to visit her old home in Kansas.

Special Correspondence.
Mrs. J. G. Darrah will leave Friday to visit her old home in Kansas.

Special Correspondence.
Mrs. J. G. Darrah will leave Friday to visit her old home in Kansas.

Special Correspondence.
Mrs. J. G. Darrah will leave Friday to visit her old home in Kansas.

Special Correspondence.
Mrs. J. G. Darrah will leave Friday to visit her old home in Kansas.

Special Correspondence.
Mrs. J. G. Darrah will leave Friday to visit her old home in Kansas.

SCOTT'S EMULSION OF NORWEGIAN COD LIVER OIL

usually stops a stubborn cough or chest cold when ordinary specifics fail.

It helps strengthen the lungs and throat—adds energy to the blood—and gives the system the force to help resist disease.

Use SCOTT'S Refuse Substitutes

Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J.

NETTIE WAGNER. Song, I've Been Good, by Primary. Reiteration, Santa Fe, by Jewel Hunter. Reiteration, The King of Clubs, by Wagner. Song, Memory quotations by advanced students of school. Exercises and Glee, by six boys. Reiteration, Merry Xmas, by Nettie Wagner. Song, Christmas Belle. Santa orders.

NEGRA
Special Correspondence.
C. D. Hogue returned last week from Texas. C. B. Hamrick has returned from the mountains where he has just finished a piece of work.

MOUNTAINAIR
From the Independent.
A new postoffice is to be opened shortly, rather than an old postoffice is to be revised under a new name.

Special Correspondence.
Mr. Mitchell, and the Kaiser people, from Davenport, Iowa, have over 1000 acres of claims grouped together and are spending large sums of money to develop them.

MORIARTY
From the Moriarty Messenger.
Mrs. J. G. Darrah will leave Friday to visit her old home in Kansas.

SCHOLLE MINES
The Kathleen Consolidated Copper Co., with offices at Willard and Estancia, and mines at Scholle, has been incorporated with authorized capital stock of $250,000.00, with $5,000 paid in, divided into 250,000 shares of par value of $1.00 each.

Notice of Foreclosure Suit
In the District Court of the Third Judicial District of the State of New Mexico, within and for the County of Torrance.

Notice of Foreclosure Suit
In the District Court of the Third Judicial District of the State of New Mexico, within and for the County of Torrance.

Notice of Foreclosure Suit
In the District Court of the Third Judicial District of the State of New Mexico, within and for the County of Torrance.

Notice of Foreclosure Suit
In the District Court of the Third Judicial District of the State of New Mexico, within and for the County of Torrance.

Notice of Foreclosure Suit
In the District Court of the Third Judicial District of the State of New Mexico, within and for the County of Torrance.

Notice of Foreclosure Suit
In the District Court of the Third Judicial District of the State of New Mexico, within and for the County of Torrance.

Notice of Foreclosure Suit
In the District Court of the Third Judicial District of the State of New Mexico, within and for the County of Torrance.

Notice of Foreclosure Suit
In the District Court of the Third Judicial District of the State of New Mexico, within and for the County of Torrance.

Verde extension stock at Jerome, Ariz., three months ago, and sold his holdings for $15,000, showing that copper stock is a good investment.

Copper is now 38 cents a pound, and it has been worked profitably when it was only 8 cents.

Chas. Schawbe, the multi-millionaire steel magnate, in vested last week $500,000 in copper property without any ore in sight.

Chas. Schawbe, the multi-millionaire steel magnate, in vested last week $500,000 in copper property without any ore in sight.

Chas. Schawbe, the multi-millionaire steel magnate, in vested last week $500,000 in copper property without any ore in sight.

Chas. Schawbe, the multi-millionaire steel magnate, in vested last week $500,000 in copper property without any ore in sight.

Chas. Schawbe, the multi-millionaire steel magnate, in vested last week $500,000 in copper property without any ore in sight.

Chas. Schawbe, the multi-millionaire steel magnate, in vested last week $500,000 in copper property without any ore in sight.

Chas. Schawbe, the multi-millionaire steel magnate, in vested last week $500,000 in copper property without any ore in sight.

Chas. Schawbe, the multi-millionaire steel magnate, in vested last week $500,000 in copper property without any ore in sight.

Chas. Schawbe, the multi-millionaire steel magnate, in vested last week $500,000 in copper property without any ore in sight.

Chas. Schawbe, the multi-millionaire steel magnate, in vested last week $500,000 in copper property without any ore in sight.

Chas. Schawbe, the multi-millionaire steel magnate, in vested last week $500,000 in copper property without any ore in sight.

Chas. Schawbe, the multi-millionaire steel magnate, in vested last week $500,000 in copper property without any ore in sight.

Chas. Schawbe, the multi-millionaire steel magnate, in vested last week $500,000 in copper property without any ore in sight.

Chas. Schawbe, the multi-millionaire steel magnate, in vested last week $500,000 in copper property without any ore in sight.

Chas. Schawbe, the multi-millionaire steel magnate, in vested last week $500,000 in copper property without any ore in sight.

Chas. Schawbe, the multi-millionaire steel magnate, in vested last week $500,000 in copper property without any ore in sight.

Chas. Schawbe, the multi-millionaire steel magnate, in vested last week $500,000 in copper property without any ore in sight.

Prince Albert gives smokers such delight, because —its flavor is so different and so delightfully good; —it can't bite your tongue; —it can't parch your throat; —you can smoke it as long and as hard as you like without any comeback but real tobacco happiness!

On the reverse side of every Prince Albert package you will read: "PROCESS PATENTED JULY 30th, 1907"

That means to you a lot of tobacco enjoyment. Prince Albert has always been sold without coupons or premiums. We prefer to give quality!

PRINCE ALBERT

the national joy smoke

YOU'LL find a cheery howdy-do on top no matter how much of a stranger you are in the neck of the woods you drop into. For Prince Albert is right there—at the first place you pass that sells tobacco! The lippy red band with a nickel and the tidy red top for a dime; then there's the hand-some pouch and the self-sufficient tin humidors and the hand-crysal glass humidors with spruce-mustone top that keeps the tobacco in such hang-up trim all the time!

TOBACCO IS PREPARED FOR SMOKERS UNDER THE PROCESS DISCOVERED IN MAKING EXPERIMENTS TO PRODUCE THE MOST DELIGHTFUL AND WHOLESOME TOBACCO FOR CIGARETTE AND PIPE SMOKERS.

in goodness and in pipe satisfaction is all we or its enthusiastic friends ever claimed for it!

It answers every smoke desire you or any other man ever had! It is so cool and fragrant and appealing to your smokeappetite that you will get chummy with it in a mighty short time!

Will you invest 5c or 10c to prove out our say-so on the national joy smoke?

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO CO., Winston-Salem, N. C.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION
Department of the Interior, U. S. Land Office at Santa Fe, N. M.

Notice is hereby given that Daniel Vigil, of Palma, New Mexico, who, on May 17th, 1911, made homestead entry No. 01929, for 2 1/2, 3 1/2, 4 1/2, 5 1/2, 6 1/2, 7 1/2, 8 1/2, 9 1/2, 10 1/2, 11 1/2, 12 1/2, 13 1/2, 14 1/2, 15 1/2, 16 1/2, 17 1/2, 18 1/2, 19 1/2, 20 1/2, 21 1/2, 22 1/2, 23 1/2, 24 1/2, 25 1/2, 26 1/2, 27 1/2, 28 1/2, 29 1/2, 30 1/2, 31 1/2, 32 1/2, 33 1/2, 34 1/2, 35 1/2, 36 1/2, 37 1/2, 38 1/2, 39 1/2, 40 1/2, 41 1/2, 42 1/2, 43 1/2, 44 1/2, 45 1/2, 46 1/2, 47 1/2, 48 1/2, 49 1/2, 50 1/2, 51 1/2, 52 1/2, 53 1/2, 54 1/2, 55 1/2, 56 1/2, 57 1/2, 58 1/2, 59 1/2, 60 1/2, 61 1/2, 62 1/2, 63 1/2, 64 1/2, 65 1/2, 66 1/2, 67 1/2, 68 1/2, 69 1/2, 70 1/2, 71 1/2, 72 1/2, 73 1/2, 74 1/2, 75 1/2, 76 1/2, 77 1/2, 78 1/2, 79 1/2, 80 1/2, 81 1/2, 82 1/2, 83 1/2, 84 1/2, 85 1/2, 86 1/2, 87 1/2, 88 1/2, 89 1/2, 90 1/2, 91 1/2, 92 1/2, 93 1/2, 94 1/2, 95 1/2, 96 1/2, 97 1/2, 98 1/2, 99 1/2, 100 1/2, 101 1/2, 102 1/2, 103 1/2, 104 1/2, 105 1/2, 106 1/2, 107 1/2, 108 1/2, 109 1/2, 110 1/2, 111 1/2, 112 1/2, 113 1/2, 114 1/2, 115 1/2, 116 1/2, 117 1/2, 118 1/2, 119 1/2, 120 1/2, 121 1/2, 122 1/2, 123 1/2, 124 1/2, 125 1/2, 126 1/2, 127 1/2, 128 1/2, 129 1/2, 130 1/2, 131 1/2, 132 1/2, 133 1/2, 134 1/2, 135 1/2, 136 1/2, 137 1/2, 138 1/2, 139 1/2, 140 1/2, 141 1/2, 142 1/2, 143 1/2, 144 1/2, 145 1/2, 146 1/2, 147 1/2, 148 1/2, 149 1/2, 150 1/2, 151 1/2, 152 1/2, 153 1/2, 154 1/2, 155 1/2, 156 1/2, 157 1/2, 158 1/2, 159 1/2, 160 1/2, 161 1/2, 162 1/2, 163 1/2, 164 1/2, 165 1/2, 166 1/2, 167 1/2, 168 1/2, 169 1/2, 170 1/2, 171 1/2, 172 1/2, 173 1/2, 174 1/2, 175 1/2, 176 1/2, 177 1/2, 178 1/2, 179 1/2, 180 1/2, 181 1/2, 182 1/2, 183 1/2, 184 1/2, 185 1/2, 186 1/2, 187 1/2, 188 1/2, 189 1/2, 190 1/2, 191 1/2, 192 1/2, 193 1/2, 194 1/2, 195 1/2, 196 1/2, 197 1/2, 198 1/2, 199 1/2, 200 1/2, 201 1/2, 202 1/2, 203 1/2, 204 1/2, 205 1/2, 206 1/2, 207 1/2, 208 1/2, 209 1/2, 210 1/2, 211 1/2, 212 1/2, 213 1/2, 214 1/2, 215 1/2, 216 1/2, 217 1/2, 218 1/2, 219 1/2, 220 1/2, 221 1/2, 222 1/2, 223 1/2, 224 1/2, 225 1/2, 226 1/2, 227 1/2, 228 1/2, 229 1/2, 230 1/2, 231 1/2, 232 1/2, 233 1/2, 234 1/2, 235 1/2, 236 1/2, 237 1/2, 238 1/2, 239 1/2, 240 1/2, 241 1/2, 242 1/2, 243 1/2, 244 1/2, 245 1/2, 246 1/2, 247 1/2, 248 1/2, 249 1/2, 250 1/2, 251 1/2, 252 1/2, 253 1/2, 254 1/2, 255 1/2, 256 1/2, 257 1/2, 258 1/2, 259 1/2, 260 1/2, 261 1/2, 262 1/2, 263 1/2, 264 1/2, 265 1/2, 266 1/2, 267 1/2, 268 1/2, 269 1/2, 270 1/2, 271 1/2, 272 1/2, 273 1/2, 274 1/2, 275 1/2, 276 1/2, 277 1/2, 278 1/2, 279 1/2, 280 1/2, 281 1/2, 282 1/2, 283 1/2, 284 1/2, 285 1/2, 286 1/2, 287 1/2, 288 1/2, 289 1/2, 290 1/2, 291 1/2, 292 1/2, 293 1/2, 294 1/2, 295 1/2, 296 1/2, 297 1/2, 298 1/2, 299 1/2, 300 1/2, 301 1/2, 302 1/2, 303 1/2, 304 1/2, 305 1/2, 306 1/2, 307 1/2, 308 1/2, 309 1/2, 310 1/2, 311 1/2, 312 1/2, 313 1/2, 314 1/2, 315 1/2, 316 1/2, 317 1/2, 318 1/2, 319 1/2, 320 1/2, 321 1/2, 322 1/2, 323 1/2, 324 1/2, 325 1/2, 326 1/2, 327 1/2, 328 1/2, 329 1/2, 330 1/2, 331 1/2, 332 1/2, 333 1/2, 334 1/2, 335 1/2, 336 1/2, 337 1/2, 338 1/2, 339 1/2, 340 1/2, 341 1/2, 342 1/2, 343 1/2, 344 1/2, 345 1/2, 346 1/2, 347 1/2, 348 1/2, 349 1/2, 350 1/2, 351 1/2, 352 1/2, 353 1/2, 354 1/2, 355 1/2, 356 1/2, 357 1/2, 358 1/2, 359 1/2, 360 1/2, 361 1/2, 362 1/2, 363 1/2, 364 1/2, 365 1/2, 366 1/2, 367 1/2, 368 1/2, 369 1/2, 370 1/2, 371 1/2, 372 1/2, 373 1/2, 374 1/2, 375 1/2, 376 1/2, 377 1/2, 378 1/2, 379 1/2, 380 1/2, 381 1/2, 382 1/2, 383 1/2, 384 1/2, 385 1/2, 386 1/2, 387 1/2, 388 1/2, 389 1/2, 390 1/2, 391 1/2, 392 1/2, 393 1/2, 394 1/2, 395 1/2, 396 1/2, 397 1/2, 398 1/2, 399 1/2, 400 1/2, 401 1/2, 402 1/2, 403 1/2, 404 1/2, 405 1/2, 406 1/2, 407 1/2, 408 1/2, 409 1/2, 410 1/2, 411 1/2, 412 1/2, 413 1/2, 414 1/2, 415 1/2, 416 1/2, 417 1/2, 418 1/2, 419 1/2, 420 1/2, 421 1/2, 422 1/2, 423 1/2, 424 1/2, 425 1/2, 426 1/2, 427 1/2, 428 1/2, 429 1/2, 430 1/2, 431 1/2, 432 1/2, 433 1/2, 434 1/2, 435 1/2, 436 1/2, 437 1/2, 438 1/2, 439 1/2, 440 1/2, 441 1/2, 442 1/2, 443 1/2, 444 1/2, 445 1/2, 446 1/2, 447 1/2, 448 1/2, 449 1/2, 450 1/2, 451 1/2, 452 1/2, 453 1/2, 454 1/2, 455 1/2, 456 1/2, 457 1/2, 458 1/2, 459 1/2, 460 1/2, 461 1/2, 462 1/2, 463 1/2, 464 1/2, 465 1/2, 466 1/2, 467 1/2, 468 1/2, 469 1/2, 470 1/2, 471 1/2, 472 1/2, 473 1/2, 474 1/2, 475 1/2, 476 1/2, 477 1/2, 478 1/2, 479 1/2, 480 1/2, 481 1/2, 482 1/2, 483 1/2, 484 1/2, 485 1/2, 486 1/2, 487 1/2, 488 1/2, 489 1/2, 490 1/2, 491 1/2, 492 1/2, 493 1/2, 494 1/2, 495 1/2, 496 1/2, 497 1/2, 498 1/2, 499 1/2, 500 1/2, 501 1/2, 502 1/2, 503 1/2, 504 1/2, 505 1/2, 506 1/2, 507 1/2, 508 1/2, 509 1/2, 510 1/2, 511 1/2, 512 1/2, 513 1/2, 514 1/2, 515 1/2, 516 1/2, 517 1/2, 518 1/2, 519 1/2, 520 1/2, 521 1/2, 522 1/2, 523 1/2, 524 1/2, 525 1/2, 526 1/2, 527 1/2, 528 1/2, 529 1/2, 530 1/2, 531 1/2, 532 1/2, 533 1/2, 534 1/2, 535 1/2, 536 1/2, 537 1/2, 538 1/2, 539 1/2, 540 1/2, 541 1/2, 542 1/2, 543 1/2, 544 1/2, 545 1/2, 546 1/2, 547 1/2, 548 1/2, 549 1/2, 550 1/2, 551 1/2, 552 1/2, 553 1/2, 554 1/2, 555 1/2, 556 1/2, 557 1/2, 558 1/2, 559 1/2, 560 1/2, 561 1/2, 562 1/2, 563 1/2, 564 1/2, 565 1/2, 566 1/2, 567 1/2, 568 1/2, 569 1/2, 570 1/2, 571 1/2, 572 1/2, 573 1/2, 574 1/2, 575 1/2, 576 1/2, 577 1/2, 578 1/2, 579 1/2, 580 1/2, 581 1/2, 582 1/2, 583 1/2, 584 1/2, 585 1/2, 586 1/2, 587 1/2, 588 1/2, 589 1/2, 590 1/2, 591 1/2, 592 1/2, 593 1/2, 594 1/2, 595 1/2, 596 1/2, 597 1/2, 598 1/2, 599 1/2, 600 1/2, 601 1/2, 602 1/2, 603 1/2, 604 1/2, 605 1/2, 606 1/2, 607 1/2, 608 1/2, 609 1/2, 610 1/2, 611 1/2, 612 1/2, 613 1/2, 614 1/2, 615 1/2, 616 1/2, 617 1/2, 618 1/2, 619 1/2, 620 1/2, 621 1/2, 622 1/2, 623 1/2, 624 1/2, 625 1/2, 626 1/2, 627 1/2, 628 1/2, 629 1/2, 630 1/2, 631 1/2, 632 1/2, 633 1/2, 634 1/2, 635 1/2, 636 1/2, 637 1/2, 638 1/2, 639 1/2, 640 1/2, 641 1/2, 642 1/2, 643 1/2, 644 1/2, 645 1/2, 646 1/2, 647 1/2, 648 1/2, 649 1/2, 650 1/2, 651 1/2, 652 1/2, 653 1/2, 654 1/2, 655 1/2, 656 1/2, 657 1/2, 658 1/2, 659 1/2, 660 1/2, 661 1/2, 662 1/2, 663 1/2, 664 1/2, 665 1/2, 666 1/2, 667 1/2, 668 1/2, 669 1/2, 670 1/2, 671 1/2, 672 1/2, 673 1/2, 674 1/2, 675 1/2, 676 1/2, 677 1/2, 678 1/2, 679 1/2, 680 1/2, 681 1/2, 682 1/2, 683 1/2, 684 1/2, 685 1/2, 686 1/2, 687 1/2, 688 1/2, 689 1/2, 690 1/2, 691 1/2, 692 1/2, 693 1/2, 694 1/2, 695 1/2, 696 1/2, 697 1/2, 698 1/2, 699 1/2, 700 1/2, 701 1/2, 702 1/2, 703 1/2, 704 1/2, 705 1/2, 706 1/2, 707 1/2, 708 1/2, 709 1/2, 710 1/2, 711 1/2, 712 1/2, 713 1/2, 714 1/2, 715 1/2, 716 1/2, 71