business because no one could say what the interstate commerce commission might do, and that some of the most important shippers of the country already have made it plain that they are not in sympathy with any move which may mean a rate increase. It was pointed out also that although President Wilson has expressed his belief that such a rate increase should be granted if the evidence can be given the commission, he can tell how the next election is coming out and that there can be no possibility of an increase before next March or probably later.

Attention was called, too, to the fact that the commission's bill has been held that it cannot consider wage increases in dealing with proposed rate increases, although legislation by congress might relieve that difficulty. The principal arguments against the idea of a permanent commission for the prevention of a settlement of strikes was that it would amount to a return to the old system of arbitration and that while President Wilson might be entirely willing now to back such legislation he might not be in a position to do so when it was proposed. Representatives of the lumberheads who heard of this plan yesterday were plainly amazed.

Not Insistent.

The railroad presidents were understood to be insistent upon the commission idea for the settlement of future disputes and the main difficulty has been the working out of operating plans under an eight-hour day and of giving assurance to the presidents and managers that they will not be asked to pay a freight rate increase. Presidents and managers agreed that the operating plan presented one of the most complicated they have ever undertaken. There seems to be a general opinion that the commission idea must be granted, but roads which now are operating on only a narrow margin of profit or on which the physical difficulties are almost insurmountable, are not so insistent. This effort has been to complete in the eight hour day experiments on other lines of operation as a test case, etc., which would make it too expensive to be profitable.

It has become known that in their conference with President Wilson the executives mentioned that they were in favor of the eight hour day, but it was expressed in several instances that eventually must be extended to other railroad employees, and in those other lines of industry, an estimate of the ultimate cost has been given.

President Wilson is said to have taken the position that the freight increase will be temporary because the weight of public opinion will back the eight hour day and will also back any plan to give the railroads the revenue to provide for the added expense.

Cost of Eight-hour Day.

Statements were issued last night by President Johnston of the Missouri, Paul and Northern Pacific, and P. R. Abraham, general manager of the Atlantic Coast line, emphasizing the railroad view of the additional cost to them of an eight-hour day. Johnston said for the railroads to accept anything which would reduce them to about 25 percent more annually would seriously affect their credit. He pointed out that in 1905 the railroads earned 2.85 per cent on their investment; in 1915 the rate was 1.85; in 1914, 2.94 per cent and in 1915 1.64 per cent. Double a large increase in earnings the past year he added, incomplete returns show a probable rate of 1.14 of about 2 per cent. If the standard rate for a day of 10 miles is retained it will mean an increase for railroads on his road from a minimum of $4.25 per day to $7.18 per day.

Outlaw Executed.

[By Evening Herald Special Wire.]

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 25.—The Carriera customs guard at El Paso, Chihuahua, about 1700 miles across the river from Juarez, killed with a half dozen Mexican outlaws early today, according to a report received by General Francisco Gonzalez in Juarez. One prisoner was taken and was executed by the soldiers here, it was stated. The outlaws had also desert.

Plague Figures Lower.

New York, Aug. 25.—During the twenty-four hours ended at 11 a. m. there were only two reported deaths and about four new cases, the lowest number in a month of epidemic plague. Yesterday there were thirty-one deaths and ten new cases.

GREAT NAVAL EXPERT.

Henry Reutershan, Co-Editor of Paramount Photographs.

The one man who has succeeded in becoming one of the highest authorities on naval matters—Henry Reutershan—has cooperated with the editors of the Paramount Photographs, the "man behind the scenes" ever since his inception, bringing to the attention of the American public the grave need of naval reconstruction.

His thoughts which have been repeated on the screen have done wonders to bring the real status of naval affairs before the American people.

PUTNEY ADDRESSES 'FIRST ASSEMBLY OF VARSITY YEAR'

Largest Gathering Ever Held at Rodey Hall Hears Impressive Program Including Music; President's Reception Friday Night.

The largest attendance that was ever gathered in Rodey hall was present this afternoon to hear the address of Robert E. Putney on the occasion of the first assembly of the varsity year, for the term 1916-1917.

The program was an impressive one well in keeping with the dignity of the gathering.

Following a presentation of the faculty into the hall and up on to the platform the president E. N. Butler delivered an invocation, which was a highlight of the night's program. When he had concluded, Dr. Lorey Yost played three charming violin numbers and Dr. Boyd made some special announcements, the most important of which was an expression of the desire to meet every student at the present reception to be held next Friday evening.

It was then announced that the plan of holding the varsity assemblies at ten o'clock each Tuesday had been abandoned and that in the place assemblies would be held at the hall on the president. The new plan he said would enable the students to find a great many more prominent visitors to the city than the old one.

After a piano solo by E. Stanley Miller, Dr. Boyd introduced Mr. Putney.

PUTNEY TALKS OF DEEP REALITIES OF LIFE.

Mr. Putney's address came to something of a surprise to those who have known him even intimately, but always as a business man of driving energy and practical accomplishment. He was a choice into the things of life. Yet in his remarks to the varsity students today upon "The Spiritual and Moral Part of our Daily Lives," Mr. Putney went deeply, although simply and in clear and everyday language, into the high-level realities of living, the comprehension and the powers beyond the reach of the mind. It was a powerful, direct appeal to young people to learn early in life the real lessons of practical morality and to acquire habits of thought and mastery which will permit the domination of the spiritual in daily living.

The speaker did not hesitate to point out that the field was a new one for him, in so far as his appearance as a speaker is concerned, but he showed quite as clearly that it was no new field in his own mind or in his own daily life, and this it carried weight and made a deep impression not only on the students but on all of the audience.

LET OUT OF JAIL IN ORDER TO JOIN GUARD ON BORDER

Four Men Promise to Enlist If Freed, and the Sheriff's Office Decides to Take Them at Their Word.

Four men who have been serving sentences in the county jail for various offenses, were released today to join the national guard. The men requested that their terms be ended, as they were anxious to get into the service.

Undersecretary Dick Lewis thought it would be a good thing to let them out, and accordingly they were examined by Dr. Hurd this morning.

Colonel M. L. Stern will accompany them to Columbus tonight or in the morning. They were on their terms of thirty days or longer, he men are C. J. Copeland, W. H. Wells, Ben Cloud, and J. C. Campbell.

'Battle' Is Expected.

Washington, Aug. 25.—Movements of the two fleets in the naval war game on the Atlantic coast were not disclosed today but the positions of the fleets indicate a battle cannot be long delayed. Navy officials were inclined today to believe that an intercepted message received by yesterday saying the British transports had been sighted was a false one sent out by Admiral Helm, commander of the defenders, in hope of outwitting Admiral Mayo.

WESTERNERS GIVE ROSY FORECAST TO G. O. P. CHIEFTAINS

Say Oregon, Washington and California Will Surely Cast Electoral Votes for Hughes; Show Thinkers Tariff Principal Issue.

[By Evening Herald Special Wire.]

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Washington will give Hughes and Fairbanks a plurality of 700,000 votes by 1920, say New Jersey, Idaho, Oregon and California, who will give their electoral vote to the Republican national ticket, according to the opinion of Congressman Albert Johnson of Tacoma and Congressman W. E. Humphreys of the Seattle district and a candidate for United States from Washington who were visitors at the western leadership national campaign headquarters today.

Former secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw believes the tariff is the principal issue in the present campaign. He recently completed a speaking tour of this state.

"I find the people far more interested in the subject of industrial protection than in the subject of foreign tariff handling," he said. "I have spoken in nine states and covered a wide range of territory. In my judgment the tariff is the issue."

TIME IS THE TEST.

The Testimony of Albuquerque People Stands the Test.

The test of time is what tells the tale. The public soon finds out when misrepresentations are made, and next alone will stand the test of time.

Albuquerque people appreciate merit, and thirty months ago heard the same publicly endorsed Eugene Kelly Pills. They do still. Would a doctor make the statement which follows unless he was convinced that the article was just as represented? Below is testimony as the sufferer from kidney ailments is looking for.

Mrs. E. Adair, 227 S. Fifth St., Albuquerque, says: "I had pains in my back which ran down my sides. When I was on my feet or walking around, I didn't feel the trouble, but the minute I sat down the pain began. One box of Doan's Kidney Pills brought relief. I know that Doan's Kidney Pills are just as good as they are claimed to be." Testimonial given Aug. 21, 1917.

On May 25, 1917, Mrs. Adair said: "I see Doan's Kidney Pills constantly as I find need of them, and I always get them and sure relief."

Price 50c. At all druggists. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the name that Mrs. Adair has twice publicly recommended. Former-McBurn's, Inc., Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y.

JAMES SELIGMAN BANKER DIES AT 93.

James Seligman, one of the founders of the banking house of J. and W. Seligman & Company, confident of prosperity and half a half century one of the nation's leading figures, died at Long Branch, N. J., at the age of 93. He was a member of the legislature that attended old age in the summer home in Ocean Grove. Although Mr. Seligman for twelve years had been out of the active affairs of his firm in Wall Street, New York, few at Wall Street's present leaders lacked an intimate acquaintance with him. He was one of the most striking men of the street, tall, commanding, with a fine white square jaw. In his relations with his fellow workers he was popular because of his unswerving integrity, his personality and his broad democracy.

James Seligman from his beginning was identified with the New York branch. Through his activity in the New York stock exchange and in the gold bond market and provided it is not known to those who have known him in his power. He became an intimate friend of President Grant. In 1859 he came to this country from Barmen, Germany. James was among the youngest of eight brothers, most of whom eventually came to America. None of them who arrived here had little more than enough to get just over the garden, but in a few years by thrift and perseverance they entered the stock market and commission business. The Civil War brought opportunities that enabled the brothers to flourish. It was in the Seligman name were established in London, Paris, Frankfurt and New Francisco. One or more of the brothers has in charge of each branch, each of them held in respect in each of the firms. For forty years this organization remained compact. The power of each house grew until as a whole it represented one of the biggest enterprises in the banking field.

University Stag Will be Snappy Affair.

Tomorrow night, at the university gymnasium, the varsity Y. M. C. A. will hold its first stag party of the season. It is planned to have every man in the university present, and some special features have been arranged.

The official outbreak will be discussed and held by various last week's stars, and Coach Hutzler will outline the plans for the coming games.

There will be plenty of snap on every level, and everybody is advised to be prepared for a "hot time." If the men on the hill are not disappointed, there will be little chance for their being that way after Saturday night.

Mr. Stephenson of the Y. M. C. A. will address the students on the topic, "Some Stars I Have Known." Galt, president of Los Angeles, member of the national student Y. M. C. A. committee, will arrive Saturday evening in order to be with the fellows on the hill. Mr. Stephens is "the wire," and all should keep him. Refreshments will be served. There is charge also. Social, Pryor 23, University athlete, Carl D. Hooten, center, and Thos. M. Smith.

DOIRAN CONNECTED BY RAIL WITH THE PORT OF SALONICA

That Is Probably Why It Was Chosen as Point of First Attack by Allies in Great Offensive on Balkan Front.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—Doiran, the town at which the French-British forces from Salonika began their long-expected drive recently, is described in the following war geography bulletin issued by the National Geographic Society:

"Situated on the frontier between Serbia and Greece, and only about ten miles south of the Bulgarian boundary, Doiran, also known as Poljanovo, is forty miles northwest of Salonika on the southern shores of the almost circular lake of the same name. It was doubtless chosen as the point of first attack by the allies because it is connected by rail with Salonika, the road from the Greek port to Constantinople here making a great loop to the northwest and then returning eastward by way of Seres, an important town about forty-five miles northwest of the Salonika base of operations.

"Lake Doiran, nesting under the southern declivities of the Belasitzka mountain range, in precisely Lake Prasas mentioned by Herodotus in his description of the Paionians living in houses built over the edge of the water, fits in a measure the modern folklore to him in this vicinity. The women of present-day Doiran are not as famous for their industry, however, as were their noted fore-runners, of whom the Greek historian relates a typical story to the effect that Doiran seeing a beautiful Paionian girl carrying a pitcher of water on her head, leading a horse to drink, and at the same time snubbing the immediately ordered his Thracian general to send two tribes of these Paionians into Asia in order that they might settle a similar spirit of thrift among the Persians.

An Ancient Route.

"Eight miles west of Doiran is the Vardar river, which rises in the Shar mountains, flows through the Uskup plain and enters the Gulf of Salonika, thus constituting for hundreds of years the principal route from central Europe to the Aegean sea. Between the Vardar and the Struma river (to the east) extend the Belasitzka mountains, a range some fifty miles in length, forming part of the southern boundary of Bulgaria.

"The name of these mountains will always be associated with one of the most harrowing episodes of the middle ages, for it was at the battle of Trajan that Emperor Trajan the Bulgarian, who had conquered practically all of the Balkan peninsula and whose power extended from the Danube to the Bosphorus, met defeat at the hands of the redoubtable Byzantine emperor Basil II, surnamed Bulgaroktonos (Slayer of Bulgarians). Basil had laid the foundation for his success a quarter of a century previously when he rode out in front of his troops at Abydos and challenged his rebel general, Bardas Phocas, to single combat. Phocas, whetting his horse preparatory to accepting the challenge, fell from his charger and when picked up by his soldiers was found to be dead.

"During the battle of Trajan in 1014 Basil captured 15,000 Bulgarians. He divided the whole number, leaving but one eye to every hundredth man, spared to this extent in order that he might act as a guide for the host of warriors thus returned to their camp. When Samuel beheld this helpless army of his mutilated subjects marching toward him he fainting and two days later died of grief. With him died the Slavonic empire of the Balkans and for a century and a half thereafter the Bulgarians were subject to the Byzantine emperors.

Buffalo Skull Given to the Protectors of Game in This State

First Weeks, forest ranger at Pecos, N. M., has presented to the Antiquarian and Natural History Association an especially fine buffalo skull. The gift is in connection with the official collection of the association and they will give "Remember the Buffalo." It will be shown at the next annual meeting. Buffalo skulls are said to be very scarce at these days and good specimens have a high value. In former years they would be sold up to $100.00 in the market. The Pecos was the buffalo country, western hunters, although some old timers claim they were found west of the Pecos in a few places.

WALL'S KEYNOTE SPEECH

SENATOR Albert B. Wall's keynote speech, as chairman of the Republican state convention, was a disappointment to thoughtful Republicans in the convention. It was disappointing as have been the campaign speeches of Charles E. Hughes up to this time. It brought forward no issues save those of vague generalities. 'Triumphant Americanism' cannot by any chance be made into a campaign issue in New Mexico, any more than it can be made into a campaign issue in the nation. No more is preparedness an issue in the vague way in which Republican issue manufacturers have handled it to date. Protection is an old story to New Mexicans that it is not likely to arouse enthusiasm.

At a matter of fact, Senator Wall, ordinarily a brilliant, eloquent speaker, covered a lack of issues, state or national, likely to be useful to New Mexico Republicans in their campaign with that same brilliant eloquence. He produced, from a party standpoint, just three strong points. It is worth while for all New Mexico citizens to go into these three points with some care.

First, Senator Wall told the convention that the Republican campaign managers had said the Republicans of the nation looked to New Mexico Republicans to produce one United States senator who would stand behind a Republican president, who he asserted would be elected. He said, in so many words, that it did not make much difference who the senator might be, so long as he is a Republican. In fact the senator made it even stronger than that. His words were clear-cut and unmistakable. He said the Republicans of this nation did not care whether New Mexico Republicans should send to be a member of the United States senate Thomas H. Catron, Herbert F. Raybolds—or Frank A. Hubbell. All they want up there is one Republican vote from New Mexico. They do not care, he indicated, about the character or fitness of the man who casts it. New Mexico voters may take that frank declaration and think over it for awhile. It is worthy of careful thought. It may shed some light on whether or not the Republicans of this nation are any more worthy of being entrusted with the national government than are the New Mexico Republicans with a state government. If the Republican party does not care who or what it gets into the seats in the senate, then should the All Wise Providence who looks to the welfare of the nation be kind to America.

Second, Senator Wall served notice upon Spanish Americans and Anglo-Saxons in the Republican convention that any man who sought to make a campaign upon the issue of the blood flowing in his veins, whether Spanish blood or Anglo-Saxon blood, he was doomed to certain defeat. In other words the speaker asserted that use of the race issue to secure nomination or election meant defeat for the man who used it. And in the convention sitting before him Senator Wall looked straight into the faces of more than one man now occupying a place upon the Republican state and congressional ticket who deliberately, skillfully and successfully, have made their campaigns for places on that ticket on the race issue, and who, it is reasonable to suppose, propose now to make their race for election upon the same basis. Did the senator know just what he was saying when he doomed these men to defeat. That is something for everybody in New Mexico to think over.

Third, Senator Wall threw down the gauntlet to the Democrats upon the conduct of the campaign. He warned them not to attack Republican candidates, because if they did the Republican candidates and their friends would attack in return. In other words, Senator Wall admitted in the most broadly tacit way the fact that the Republican candidates whose names he knew as he spoke, were subject to attack upon their records, and he was playing that old and well worn game of throwing the bluff. He asserted that the Republicans must not conduct a defensive campaign this year, thus admitting that defense would be necessary. He declared the Republicans conducted a "gentlemanly campaign" in the first state election, but that speaking for himself he would not conduct a "gentlemanly campaign" if the Democrats assailed his candidates.

The Democratic party now has the Senator's gaze of battle. It is warned that Frank A. Hubbell and H. O. Bursum and the balance of the crew making up the Republican state ticket must not be attacked, or Senator Wall will attack the Democratic candidates yet to be named, with as he stated, the records.

Thus we have, from the mouth of the man at the head of the Republican party, the issues that party will put forward in the coming state campaign. They may be summed up in these words:

"We have some candidates whose records are subject to attack. We propose to elect them because the Republicans of the nation who do not care who they get in the United States senate, so long as he will vote with the rest of the Republicans there, need the senator from New Mexico. If you dare attack our candidates, we will attack yours. Triumphant Americanism! Protection! Preparedness! Three Rousing Cheers."

It is indeed a keynote—a keynote to the whole Republican system in New Mexico and in the nation. "We want the jobs and we must pull together to get them. The people must let us alone. The Democrats must let us alone, because to get by we absolutely must be let alone on our records."

In its indeed, a frank statement of the issues in this campaign as the Republican leader see them.

DR. BURSUM'S ACCEPTANCE

H. O. Bursum, the Republican candidate for governor on his second round, made a speech of acceptance to the convention which the Herald prints today as a matter of news and in which the readers of the Herald are likely to be deeply interested. Mr. Bursum makes a statement of policies and principles for which he will stand if elected, which is a commendable statement—in so far as it goes. He is for better schools, better roads, the rights of the people, good government, the development of the Rio Grande valley and the development of the

CANDIDATE BURSUM ASSERTS PEOPLE OF STATE TIRED OF A DO-NOTHING POLICY

In Speech of Acceptance Republican Nominee Says Not One Sentence of Constructive Legislation Proposed by McDonald.

CHARGED THAT KITCHEN CABINET RAN THE STATE

Burkhart, Barth and McCanna Named as Leaders in "Government by Few;" Criticizes Sheep Board; Makes Promises.

Santa Fe, N. M., Aug. 25.—Following is the text of the speech of acceptance of Holm O. Bursum, Republican candidate for governor, at the convention of the convention:

I am not unmindful of the high compliment you have paid me and the expression of confidence which you propose by selecting me as your candidate for governor. I accept that trust and shall expend every energy to the utmost of my ability toward assisting in carrying the Republican banner to victory. With a united party, aggressive and constant devotion in behalf of our cause, we have every reason to feel confident that on the 17th day of November next, at the state election, everyone is for those things. Everyone who has ever been a candidate for office has always been for them. Mr. Bursum went further than that. He said that the mistakes are not only in the past and mistakes we will make in the future, and those mistakes can only be rectified through experience.

The Democratic administration has been so completely negligent in the supervision of our state making institutions and in some cases they have not only failed to see that the law was observed but have actually aided in an attempt to bolster up unworthy institutions at the expense of the taxpayers. In Las Cruces the citizens who are so patriotically supporting the Democratic officials in the First State Bank was solvent. They were told this in the face of the fact that the governor's traveling auditor's force well knew that the bank was hopelessly insolvent and the treasurer of the Agricultural college was pursuing in state money with one hand and pocketing it with the other. Up to the present time there is still $75,000 property of Agricultural college, which as yet has not been recovered and we await with patience, and I hope, a satisfactory degree of interest for some defense of these methods pursued by the Democratic administration of this state. The office for political banks has long passed and even though such banks may be substantial contributors to the campaign funds of a political party, no party can continue to command the confidence of its people who will pay political debts with the people's money.

Livestock Boards. Under the Republican administration for the past twenty years the administration of the cattle and sheep sanitary boards were absolutely non-existent. They were regarded as dealing with industries vital to the prosperity of the state, and officials on those boards were selected only with reference to their fitness, capacity and loyalty to the state. We may remember that Governor McDonald was elected as a member of the sheep sanitary board, to administer the affairs relating to the sheep industry, and the Honorable Solomon Luna, who was the leading sheep raiser of New Mexico, on account of his peculiar fitness and knowledge of that industry, was also chairman of the sheep sanitary board. Under the Democratic administration Governor McDonald has seen fit to retain for all practical purposes for the supervisory authority of the sheep industry of this state a man wholly untrained in the sheep industry. There can be no defense of this action except the payment of a political debt at the expense of the sheep raisers of New Mexico, and one of the first acts that Governor McDonald did, after assuming the office of governor, was to request the resignation of Honorable Solomon Luna as the head of that sheep sanitary board. As to the cattle sanitary board, we have no criticism to make. We may remember that Governor McDonald was a practical cattle raiser and that in maintaining the high standard of efficiency with reference to the cattle sanitary board, he did not forget his own personal interests.

We are advised that Governor McDonald is a great friend of Mr. McDonald. That in the selection of political leaders which come to the office for his signature and approval that Mr. McDonald always commands immediate and prompt action, while others who are so fortunate are compelled to suffer indefinite delays in obtaining action with reference to such matters, even though approved by the state land commissioner.

"Let the People Rule." Five years ago Governor McDonald shouted from the housetop the doctrine "let the people rule." But since his induction into office he evidently forgot that slogan and became converted to the doctrine of a government by few.

During his administration it has been Burkhart, Barth and McCanna who have been the leaders in the administration of the state. Burkhart has furnished the state close of the polls the Republican ticket from top to bottom, as nominated in this convention, will be triumphant.

This is Republican Year.

This is a Republican Year. The voters of the United States look to the Republican party for a constructive policy, for such action as will promote the progress and prosperity of the whole people. This is not natural. After nearly four years of Democratic administration the Democrats have been found wanting in statesmanship, in stability and in vision and American citizens throughout this land feel humiliated at the results caused by the vacillating, unstable, changeable, peace-at-any-price policy of Woodrow Wilson. Never in the history of the world has there been a more complete foreign lands for the rights of American citizens. The present chief executive of the nation has been on all sides of all questions and while the people might be informed as to his policy of today, they would be perfectly safe to assume that his policy of tomorrow would be the reverse. Vacillation and uncertainty in the policies of government are calculated to create distrust and distrust means industrial depression. No nation can prosper without absolute confidence in the stability of the administration of the government. Here in this state we have had nearly six years of Democratic rule. The people are tired and restless of the do-nothing policy of Governor McDonald. During these five years not one sentence of constructive legislation has been proposed by your chief executive. Under the constitution of this state the legislature and the executive are constituted as the law making body of the state, the accepted theory being that there should be cooperation and consultation between the executive and the legislature. Yet during these five years not one ounce of the spirit of cooperation has been exhibited by the chief executive of this state. The policy of Governor McDonald has been to shrink and shrink every responsibility. He has been content to draw his salary and sit back on his dignity, finding fault with that which others have done and to exercise his prerogative of the veto.

Constructive Policy.

My friends, no progress can be made, no new development can be expected, either in government or in industry, except by and through a constructive policy. It is only through this sort of a policy that mistakes are averted. Mistakes we have made in the past and mistakes we will make in the future, and those mistakes can only be rectified through experience. The Democratic administration has been so completely negligent in the supervision of our state making institutions and in some cases they have not only failed to see that the law was observed but have actually aided in an attempt to bolster up unworthy institutions at the expense of the taxpayers. In Las Cruces the citizens who are so patriotically supporting the Democratic officials in the First State Bank was solvent. They were told this in the face of the fact that the governor's traveling auditor's force well knew that the bank was hopelessly insolvent and the treasurer of the Agricultural college was pursuing in state money with one hand and pocketing it with the other. Up to the present time there is still $75,000 property of Agricultural college, which as yet has not been recovered and we await with patience, and I hope, a satisfactory degree of interest for some defense of these methods pursued by the Democratic administration of this state. The office for political banks has long passed and even though such banks may be substantial contributors to the campaign funds of a political party, no party can continue to command the confidence of its people who will pay political debts with the people's money.

County Agents Needed. Our agricultural interests should be encouraged. No country should be without a county agricultural agent. The state should see to it that this is done and that the science of proper cultivation and farming are made available to the farmers of the state and more of them. We cannot expect to construct boulevards within the immediate future, but our state owes it to every county to have such roads, facilities as will permit citizens to travel and transport business without undue hardships. One flagrant case in point is the county of San Juan one of the richest counties in natural manhood. Summers Burkhart political advice and Peter McCanna has furnished the officers of the party and the withdrawal of the party from the office of Peter McCanna. Peter McCanna is an enterprising gentleman. He runs an up-to-date real estate establishment in Albuquerque. He should amend his sign and say "Real Estate and Democratic Officers Furnished for the State Administration."

Now, my friends, if I am elected, I intend to devote the best that is in me towards promoting for the state of New Mexico a constructive policy, a policy which will promote the welfare, the development, the growth and the prosperity of the state. This is a state of wonderful natural resources that needs the highest and best management that a state government can properly lead in the Rio Grande valley, between White Rock and the Elephant Butte reservoir, a distance of approximately 200 miles, is a valley that has as rich soil as the sun ever shone on. Large areas of that land is water logged. It is deteriorating day by day. It is in need of drainage and a proper system of irrigation. It needs the aid of the state in providing adequate and proper legislation which will, with the aid and encouragement of the state authorities, reclaim the great valley and make it an asset of the state to the extent of millions of dollars, not only in taxable value, but in annual production, and thereby substitute property in lieu of poverty.

Too Much Sectionalism.

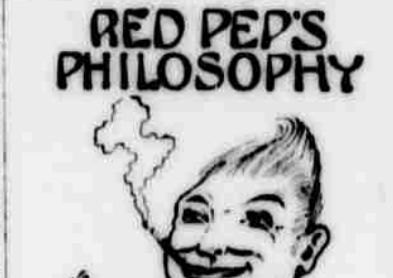

One of the great obstacles of a commensurate industrial growth in keeping with our valuable resources and possibilities is the lack of harmonious action throughout the whole state. We lean too much towards sectionalism, the north and the south, and the east and the west do not present a united front. We have need of providing such legislation as will encourage the mobilization of the resources over the whole state of New Mexico in the shape of an annual exhibition. To that end the north and east, the south and the west must all be reached with an eye to the future. In such a manner and by such means as will make it possible to have a united spirit in behalf of industrial growth and a greater New Mexico.

If I am elected governor I shall be my purpose to increase the efficiency of our state institutions. The present system is too heavy. It is one that makes possible the practice of peanut politics.

If I am elected governor I shall be my purpose to do all within my power to elevate the standard of citizenship. Alvarado Luna once said that a Republican should never be a Republican until he has been a Democrat. I shall favor the granting of further opportunity to the youth of this state, whereby every boy and every girl, whether poor or rich, intellectual or uneducated shall have an equal chance to obtain at least an education which will benefit them in after life and equip each one as an American citizen in every sense that word implies. I would favor a plan whereby every boy and every girl should have a proper training for the defense of our country. With the good government, preparedness we should be ready to meet whatever the status in our share of the work. Such preparation would be beneficial to our young men in after life and would place us in a proper relation with our federal government.

County Agents Needed.

Our agricultural interests should be encouraged. No country should be without a county agricultural agent. The state should see to it that this is done and that the science of proper cultivation and farming are made available to the farmers of the state and more of them. resources, more water than any other county, and as good land as the sun ever shone on, but citizens are compelled on account of lack of road facilities to do nearly all their business with the state of Colorado. This condition of affairs must be rectified since the state is not doing its duty to its citizens. The road laws, as they now stand, need modification. There is a lack of system, conflict of authority, lack of harmony in their administration, a lack of proper cooperation with the direct representatives of the people. These laws need modifying. They were modified at the last legislature and it was generally understood that Governor McDonald had agreed to sign the bill. The bill passed during the latter days and the pocket veto was taken advantage of by Governor McDonald presumably in the interest of increasing Democratic patronage throughout the state.

Appropriations Unscientific.

One system of appropriations by the legislative branch. It was largely a haphazard way of doing business. We should have a budget system. Competent authority should investigate necessary prior to consideration of appropriation. I am also a believer in the short ballot. I believe in the short ballot because it fixes responsibility. The voters, however, would require constitutional amendments. I shall favor such amendments. The question of taxation is one that is always with us. It is a very complicated question, some improvements were made during the last session of the legislature. We have in this state a public spirited tax association. It shall in my desire to promote equitable and efficiency with reference to taxation, and to that end I shall be glad at all times to receive and consider not only with the taxpayers' association but all others who may be sufficiently interested to lend advice in the premises.

Notice to the Public

The Morning Journal and The Evening Herald, respectively find it necessary to raise their subscription rates. This action is made imperative because of the following facts:

The price of print paper purchased in carload lots heretofore has been $1,000 a car at the factory.

Owing to difficulty in securing pulp, the factory price now is $2,500 per car, and the indications are that the price of print paper may go even higher.

Instead of playing even on their circulation, or taking only a small loss, at the recent prices of subscription, the advance in print paper becomes bankrupting. Hence both The Journal and The Herald announce the following subscription rates effective on and after September 1:

The Albuquerque Morning Journal, by the year, in advance $7.50
By the month 70c
The Albuquerque Evening Herald, by the year, in advance $6.00
By the month 60c

Whenever normal conditions are restored and circumstances will justify it, the prices above quoted will be reduced proportionately.

TRY IT! SUBSTITUTE FOR NASTY CALOMEL

Starts your liver without making you sick and can not salivate.

Every druggist in town—your druggist and everybody's druggist—has noticed a great falling-off in the sale of calomel. They all know the same reason. Dodson's Liver Tonic is taking its place.

Calomel is dangerous and people know it, while Dodson's Liver Tonic is perfectly safe and gives better results. A prominent local druggist, Dodson's Liver Tonic is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle costs 50 cents, and if it fails to give you relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, you have only to ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tonic is a pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine, no dizziness, sick headache, acid stomach, or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work! Take Dodson's Liver Tonic instead and feel fine, full of vigor and ambition.

Gallup Postmaster.
Gallup, N. M., Aug. 23.—C. L. Langridge has been named by President Wilson to succeed Postmaster E. A. Wetherill at the Gallup postoffice. As soon as his appointment is confirmed he will assume the duties of the office, as Mr. Wetherill has already tendered his resignation and is anxious to be relieved of the duty. He has arranged to enter the Indian trading business on the reservation.

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Fowler returned this morning from California, where they have been spending the vacation months.

Batch of Automobile Cases in City Court

Lawson Lee was fined $10 for speeding in police court before Judge McCallin this morning. Leslie Elton was placed under a suspended sentence of $5 and costs for leaving the muffler of his auto open, and Nic Napoleon was placed under a similar sentence for speeding. The case of the Sander arrested for driving a car with the muffler open, and of E. Williams charged with speeding, was carried over until tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. All five arrests were made by Patrolman Verica on West Copper avenue last night.

ALL PEOPLE ALIKE IN THAT THEY HAVE SINNED, SAYS JETER

Largest Week-night Congregation so Far Drawn by the Evangelist to the Central Avenue Methodist Church Last Night.

The largest week night crowd was out at the revival at the Central Avenue Methodist church to hear Evangelist Jerry Jeter last night in "The No Difference in that we have all done one thing; that is, sinned. Mr. Jeter was drawing deeper and deeper than at any other service. There is a difference in that some are rich while others are poor; some are educated while others are ignorant; some live in a mansion, while others dwell in a tent or a cottage; some ride in autos while others walk or ride in rickshaws. There are different nationalities, but there is no difference; and that is where we have all sinned, in knowing no difference for it enters the palace and the hut. It has affected all people."

Mr. Jeter has the larger faculty of living twice his truths with deep humility, wit, and in fact, extraordinary that gives him every sense and sentiment of the human heart. Sometimes his congregation are laughing out right, while the next moment they are weeping or are following him in breathless suspense as he tells some thrilling story. He showed last night that there is no difference in that all have sinned, come short of the glory of God, sinned of sin, wounded by sin, sold under sin, that all must repent, all must appear before the judgment seat, all must die and that all can be saved by calling upon Christ.

The subject tonight will be "The Lord's Supper." Mr. Jeter has been asked to repeat this great sermon to the same congregation in other cities. Mr. Jeter will speak to a large number of those who are staying at the hotel and at night. Mr. Jeter will speak on the 30th against the Holy Ghost.

Paul Pressinger, globe traveler from Saxony, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon, coming from the south. He started on a 12,000-mile journey when he was 12 years and 6 months old. He is now 25. He has learned seven languages.

Presinger carries thirty-five pounds of baggage with him, including a silk tent. His car is no blanket. He has a large stock of all styles of shirts and trousers and a pair of expensive forty-four button, besides three suit cases.

Presinger had to cancel his plans for a visit to Canada and Australia because of the war. He will go to Florida which he loves here. If he can get work as a sales or representative or of some other kind, he will work a while before leaving the city, so he is nearly out of money.
