FRANCE, CONFIDENT OF SUPPORT OF THE POWERS, EXPECTS KAISER TO YIELD

ITALY STANDS WITH FRANCE IN MOROCCO

POWERS TO SIT UPON WILHELM

Britain Sends Big Fleet to Cadiz Bay.

FRENCH CONFERENCE DELEGATES ARE INSTRUCTED TO STAND PAT

As Crisis Approaches Moral Advantage of France Is Strengthened, Germany's Position Weakens.

Paris, Jan. 7.—The public uneasiness over the Moroccan conference has undergone a distinct improvement. This is due mainly to the confident attitude of the officials of the foreign office who consider the selection by the Italian government of the Marquis Visconti Venosta to head its delegation as strengthening the position of France. It is evident that the officials hold the view that if France can secure the support of great powers having tangible interests in the Mediterranean and Morocco it will be difficult for Germany to stand against the force of this moral influence.

The martial tone of the press has considerably diminished, and the sensational branch of it no longer prints alarmist reports of frontier preparations. Nevertheless the public and press continue pointing, though with greater calmness toward the imperative need of completing military preparations.

Now that the French delegates are preparing to start for Algiers, there is evidence of the greatest firmness in upholding the French position, the essential feature of which is that France through her proximity to Morocco, which is analogous to that of the position of the United States toward Cuba and through her vast Algerian borders, is justly entitled to have a privileged position in Morocco.

Germany while yielding much has never clearly yielded the claim of France to special position in Morocco. If the French position is upheld, the conference, it is expected will charge France with police, customs and other duties. Against this Germany will seek international control of police, customs and other matters, thus giving all nations, including Germany the same status in Morocco as that of France.

The French delegates will start without the slightest thought of yielding or in compromising the essential principles of France's position and therein lies the danger of the Franco-German outlook.

The Berlin correspondent of the Temps says that Germany, following the action of the United States and Great Britain is sending a squadron to Algeria. The paper says that France thus far has not ordered a squadron to the neighborhood of the conference. It adds that the British squadrons comprising the channel, home and cruiser squadrons will rendezvous in Cadiz Bay near Algiers, in the middle of February.

ITALY'S DELEGATES AIM TO CONCILIATE ENEMIES

Rome, Jan. 7.—Premier Fortis today received Marquis Visconti Venosta who was accompanied by Marquis Sangiuliano, foreign minister. The three discussed at length the attitude to be taken by the Italian representatives in the Moroccan conference. Italy's delegates will go to the conference with full moral and diplomatic authority animated only by a desire to conciliate different interests.

Rose Would Have the Streets of Tucson Run Blood Like Warsaw

Man Who Made Milwaukee Famous Speaks to Small Crowd of Artists

Special to the Morning Journal. Tucson, Ariz., Jan. 7.—The anti-statehood meeting held last night under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, fell far short of expectations. The opera house with 800 seating capacity was but comfortably filled, there being no more present than at the joint statehood meeting, which clearly established nearly an equal division of sentiment in Tucson's fifteen thousand population. Mayor Rose of Milwaukee, was the principal speaker. Several others participated. The only reasons advanced by the speakers against jointure was that New Mexico's greater population would control, resulting in making Arizona a public institution into New Mexico and levying a tax on Arizona's mines, also creating a state so large in area as to be difficult to govern. Rose counseled "resistance to the consummation of the great crime by boycotts if necessary, even if the streets of Tucson should be made to run blood like Warsaw."

BIG RAILROAD FIGHT ON

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 7.—Armed guards, injunction proceedings and a condemnation suit, have been introduced into the controversy between the Western Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads, over the plan of the Western Pacific to place its terminus on the Oakland side of San Francisco bay, between the Southern Pacific's broad gauge and narrow gauge moles. The Western Pacific has laid a mile of preliminary track on a strip of reclaimed land, the title to which is a matter of controversy between the state and Southern Pacific. This unexpected move gave the Western Pacific possession of the fill. The Western Pacific next went into the superior court of Alameda county and asked to have condemned a strip of land running across the lands owned by the Southern Pacific. The Southern Pacific followed this by obtaining a temporary injunction restraining the Western Pacific from further track laying operations. The hearing of all suits was set for January 12. Pending the hearing, the Western Pacific has placed seven armed guards on the strip of filled land to protect its temporary tracks.

Strenuous Russian Celebration.

Washington, Pa., Jan. 7.—The celebration of Russian Christmas by miners of that nationality at the Meadow Land Coal Works, four miles from here, caused a race riot this evening between Russians and Italians in which one man's skull was fractured, a woman with a baby in her arms was knocked down with a brick and others received serious injuries. About 200 men engaged in the rioting. Coal and iron police are patrolling the settlement tonight.

KANSAS NOW BLOCKADE AT WOBBLING LAST BROKEN

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 7.—A distinct earthquake shock with a motion from north to south lasting from twenty-three seconds to one minute in duration, was felt in western Missouri, eastern Kansas and southern Nebraska about 6:17 o'clock this evening. The territory affected extends from Nebraska on the north nearly to Oklahoma and the Indian Territory line on the south, and from Salina, Kansas, on the west to Kansas City, St. Joseph and Joplin, Mo., on the east. With the exception of knocking plaster from the walls at some points in Kansas, no damage was reported, although persons ran to the streets in some places, in fear their houses would tumble in.

New York Jews to Parade.

New York, Jan. 7.—Arrangements were made today for the parade of more than 200 Hebrews through the streets of the east side, January 22, in honor of the memory of those killed during the riots in St. Petersburg a year ago. The parade will mark the first anniversary of the massacre. A mass meeting will be held after the parade.

BULLET HOLE IN HEAD OF CHICAGO MAN

Mysterious Killing Near Colorado Springs.

SUICIDE PROBABLE BUT VALUABLES ARE MISSING

Faithful Horse and Dog Guarding Bloody Corpse of E. C. Wilson When Found.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Jan. 7.—The dead body of E. Crane Wilson, a wealthy Chicago man, was found upon the highway seven miles east of this city this evening with a bullet hole in the head. The indications point to suicide, although the gold watch and chain he wore are missing. Wilson had been staying at the Alhambra hotel in this city for over a year, and left the hotel this afternoon on horseback. His only companion was a greyhound. This evening two well known citizens of this place found the body as they were driving in from their ranch, and telephoned the coroner. The latter went to the scene and found the body of Wilson lying at the side of the road flat on his back. A bullet had entered his head three inches back of the right ear and lodged under the left eye. Wilson's pet horse was standing by his side and his greyhound still guarding the body when the officers arrived. A bullet wound on the right side of the horse's neck had caused some suffering to the animal, and indicates that Wilson had first attempted to kill his horse and then kill himself.

Wilson's revolver was found on the ground with but two cartridges fired and three loaded. His gold watch and chain and all the money was missing, but a pearl shirt stud and pearl cuff buttons were still on the body. It is believed Wilson should have had something over $100 in cash, as he paid his hotel bill yesterday with a check for $150, receiving over $100 in change.

DECEASED WAS WELL KNOWN CHICAGO BUSINESS MAN

Chicago, Jan. 7.—Mr. E. C. Wilson was for many years a well known business man in this city but for the past four years he has lived in Colorado, having gone there for his health. At the time of his death he was a stockholder in the company of Wilson Bros. His family still occupy the homestead at 4613 Drexel Boulevard, this city.

BATTLESHIPS IN COLLISION

New York, Jan. 7.—While the battleship squadron under command of Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, was proceeding to sea today, the battleships Kearsarge and Kentucky ran aground in the harbor off the west bank light house. The Alabama and Illinois were following next in line and before they could alter their course, the Alabama collided with the Kentucky, striking her a glancing blow. The Illinois just got clear of the tangle and proceeded down the bay, anchoring outside the bar with the flagship, Maine.

Millions in Cotton Burn.

Chester, S. C., Jan. 7.—A fire that started in the warehouse of the Eureka mill tonight has already destroyed 1,500 bales of cotton, resulting in a loss of $300,000 and threatens to spread to an adjoining warehouse in which are stored two or three thousand bales of cotton.

HADLEY TO MAKE MR. ROGERS TALK

New York, Jan. 7.—Attorney General Hadley of Missouri tonight said he would probably ask for a hearing in the supreme court in this city on Wednesday or Thursday to determine whether H. H. Rogers and the other directors of the Standard Oil company must answer questions at the hearing before Commissioner Sanborn regarding the control of the oil companies operating in Missouri. "I confess," he said, "that I did not have much home when I came here that the Standard Oil directors would tell about the Standard Oil control of the Waters-Pierce Oil company and two other companies operating in Missouri, but since they have appeared in answer to subpoenas, I shall make the best effort I can to have them tell the facts."

CONFIDENCE GAME WIPPED IN THE BUD

Two Smooth Crafters Are Arrested in Albuquerque.

LOCAL MEN HOLD THE SACK FOR NEARLY HUNDRED AND FIFTY

Pose as Agents of "National Commercial Travelers"—Get $1,000 Along the West End.

The above is a copy of the blanks used in one of the cleverest little confidence games ever worked in the southwest. The enterprising crooks who have been coming money with the ingenious graft are now safe behind the bars of the Albuquerque jail. They were arrested yesterday by City Marshal McMullin upon complaint of Attorney O. N. Marron, who represents several of the local victims of the bunco artists and others elsewhere. For the men have been operating all the way from San Francisco to Albuquerque, and it is thought that altogether they have secured from one to two thousand dollars by their game. They secured in Albuquerque not more than $142.

The men are well appearing individuals and have been stopping at the best hotels in the country. They were arrested here at the Alvarado. Their plausible manner and extremely plausible game has enabled them to deceive the most astute business men in the southwest, including Habbit brothers of Flagstaff, the Arizona Lumber and Timber company of Flagstaff, the American Lumber company of this city, the Southwestern Brewery and Ice company, the Surety Investment company and many others.

It is evident from these names that Messrs. Gray and Morris, among the smoothest crooks in the country, and few business men, even the most wary, would be proof against their wiles. They are very glib talkers. Their game is to walk in on the unsuspecting business man and tell him that they are representing a big company of commercial travelers which secures reduced rates for traveling men and that the proposition is open to any company which will assist in paying the expenses of the securing of the concession. They proceed to show the business man where the rate has been secured in the east and in the west and that now only the Southwestern Passenger association remains out of the list of concerns who have adopted the interchangeable mileage system, and that they will be in as soon as the committee calls on them. The crafters show the business man who has several traveling men on the road, where he can save an immense amount in a year and avoid paying exorbitant rates for the transportation of agents. The business man can get in the concern for a small sum, which covers the dues of the company, and of course he gives generously. The committee's chief stock in trade was the list of prominent business men who had previously signed the petition. When these names were shown local business men, there was nothing whatever to excite a suspicion of crookedness and they went readily into the net of the representatives of the "National Commercial Traveler."

Gray and Morris got some $142 out of the affair. All of this amount but $85 has been recovered and they have wired for money to square this amount. But several others who were bilked in the Arizona towns have also wired to the attorney in the case. (Continued on Page 8, Column 2.)

DOMINICAN TREATY HAS THE FLOOR

President Anxious for Action by Senate.

TREATY WITH CUBA COMES UP DURING THE WEEK

Senators Anxious That Rights of Americans on Isle of Pines Be Recognized, Tariff Bill Precedes Statehood.

Washington, Jan. 7.—The senate will begin the week with consideration of questions between this country and San Domingo. The subject will be brought up on Tillman's resolution calling upon the president for information relative to the status of affairs since the flight of Morales and if the senate does not take up that resolution Royner will address the senate on the general Dominican question. It is Tillman's intention to press his resolution and unless it is accepted by the senate he probably will talk on it, if not tomorrow, then on some other day during the week. With the subject once opened up considerable debate may be expected for the republican senators are prepared to defend the attitude of the president in the Dominican matter. It is not expected that the treaty with Morales will be presented for some time, but the republican senators say they have no intention of letting it go by default. The president, it is pointed out, is anxious for action and prefers rejection to failure to act. His friends in the senate cite the course of events in the present revolution. The financial affairs of the country are less disturbed than in previous uprisings, as sustaining the president's attitude toward the little republic. On the other hand the revolution has had a tendency to solidify the democratic senators against the agreement, and if they hold together they may be able to defeat ratification. Gallinger, chairman of the merchant marine commission, has given notice of his intention to call up the commission's shipping bill tomorrow, and if it does so, that measure being unfinished business, will supplant the Dominican question. If through courtesy, however, he should give way to the senators to discuss other questions, he will bring up the shipping bill later. When the commission's bill is taken up, Gallinger will open the debate on that measure. He will be followed later by Lodge in support and by Mallory in opposition to the bill. The measure will probably be before the senate some time, but Gallinger will urge a vote as soon as possible. It is expected a treaty with Cuba relative to the Isle of Pines will be discussed during the week. This treaty is in the hands of Foraker and he will make an effort to secure action at the first practical moment. The treaty will not be ratified without the approval of the senate. Several senators expressed themselves as of the opinion Americans on the Isle of Pines should acquire some rights as such under promises made them by representatives of their government. Many Pennsylvania people are on the island and Penrose has announced his intention of aiding them in maintaining their status.

There is no expectation of being able to take up the railroad rate question for several weeks, but the senate leaders say the consideration of that subject will not be unduly postponed. They are already discussing the possibilities of the final adjournment of the session and a conference on that subject with Speaker Cannon has been held. The speaker assured the senators that it would be possible to get all the appropriation bills in front of the house by the first of June. In that event adjournment by the 10th of the month may be possible, for the senate managers express confidence that the railroad, statehood and Philippines questions will have been disposed of by that time and it is not their intention to permit other subjects to hold them in the session late in the summer. The emergency appropriation bill which the senate expects to receive from the house toward the end of this week will carry a much larger amount than usual. Ordinarily only pressing deficiencies are provided for in this bill, others being left for the general deficiency bill, the last important measure to be considered before adjournment. It has been found, however, that this plan tends to delay and the present policy is to get important items on the early bill, leaving only the new and small deficiencies to be taken care of on the last bill.

PHILIPPINE BILL KEEPS AHEAD OF STATEHOOD MEASURE

Washington, Jan. 7.—After contemplating the plan to displace the Philippine tariff bill with the statehood measure in the house this week, the leaders arrived at the conclusion just before adjournment Saturday that the present order of business should not be disturbed, and the list of speeches which is to occupy at least the first half of the week on the revenue measure will be unrestricted. Payne, in charge of this bill, estimates that the discussion on this next week will occupy the first three or four days. After the Philippine bill has been disposed of the statehood bill, which the com-

Committee on territories has still in preparation, will be brought forward immediately and that question discussed and acted upon without interruption.

THE RUSSIAN CHRISTMAS PASSES OFF QUIETLY

St. Petersburg, Jan. 7.—Fine snow falling down from a cold sky furnished ideal weather for the Russian Christmas so far as St. Petersburg was concerned.

The Engineer "Forgot."

Corey, Pa., Jan. 7.—To an engineer's failure to remember orders is attributed the wreck on the Philadelphia and Erie last night when three men were killed and twenty-one injured.

All Quiet on North Coast.

Washington, Jan. 7.—A dispatch to the navy department from the commanding officer in Dominican waters with a station on the northern coast of the island of Santo Domingo, reports that "All is quiet."

Slippery Rails Cause Tragedy.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 7.—The snow tonight rendered the street car rails slippery and caused two accidents.

Samuel Griffin, a brother of Walter D. Griffin, member of the house of delegates, slipped in front of a car and was ground to death.

Four Firms Come Through.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 7.—Four firms, whose printers have been out on a strike have signed the new eight-hour wage scale and the two men affected will return to work tomorrow.

Floods Devastate Mexico.

Mazatlan, Mexico, Jan. 7.—According to Ignacio Fuent, government director in the town of Alamo, the people of that town and the surrounding territory are facing starvation.

Boycott Squeezing Americans.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 7.—Unless the Chinese boycott on American goods is removed within the next thirty days the plant of the Centennial Milling company, with a capacity of 2,400 barrels of flour per day, and that of the Hammond Milling company, with its daily capacity of 2,000 barrels, will be forced to practically close down.

French Senators Re-Elected.

Paris, Jan. 7.—The election for one-third of the membership of the senate has resulted in the return of most of the former senators.

The American Girl.

WHAT MAKES HER POPULAR. The American girl is admired and liked at home and abroad because she is the happiest, usually the healthiest and friendliest of girls.

Dr. Pierce, the specialist in women's diseases, of Buffalo, N. Y., advises simple exercises for women, preferably in the outdoor air.

If a woman suffers from a headache, a backache, a sensation of irritability or twitching and uncontrollable nervousness, something must be wrong with the head or back, she naturally says, but all the time the real trouble very often centers in the womanly organs.

BAD NAVAJOS DOING TIME IN FEDERAL PRISON

Six Men Who Captured Perry Sentenced.

BURTON DENIES BEING TAKEN BY MAN-WHO-NEVER-TALKS

The six Navajo Indians who were the ringleaders in the capture and detention of Agent Perry at Fort Defiance not long since, and who were placed in confinement at the post, are now in the United States prison at Alcatraz island, San Francisco.

These six Indians are thought to be among the most intractable on the reservation and their latest escapade is only the culmination of a long series of offenses. It will be remembered that these are the redskins who held Mr. Perry for several days and threatened to take his life unless he promised that one of their number be given immunity from prosecution on account of an alleged attempt upon a little white girl.

The troops were called out from Fort Wingate to aid in restoring order and putting a scare on the bad Indians. There was considerable uneasiness among settlers on the reservation and nearby for a week or so, as the Indians had their war paint on and were ripe for any kind of trouble.

Three of the Indians were sentenced to two years each, while the other three received a year each. It is thought the removal of these men from the reservation will eliminate a prolific cause of trouble among the Navajos.

Burton Denies He Was Captured.

In the story of the recent Navajo trouble which appeared in the Gallup Republican an account was given of the braggings of one Navajo Soyatqih (the man who never talks). This Indian in order to give courage to a few of the hostile inclined Navajos, told of his capture of Charles Burton, formerly superintendent of the Keams Canyon Indian school.

Mr. Burton, seeing the account of his own capture in the Republican, makes an emphatic denial of the yarn told by the Navajos and brands the Indians as untrustworthy.

This Navajo, who it seems has the wrong name, is head of a very bad band of Navajos living northwest of Keams' Canyon.

The Man Who Never Talks is not well liked among the Navajos around Keams' Canyon, though he never gave me trouble but the one time, and he gave up his men then.

Very respectfully, CHARLES E. BURTON.

Close to Zero in Omaha. Omaha, Neb., Jan. 7.—The coldest weather of the winter so far in Omaha was experienced tonight.

Abuquerque Has Found It Hard to Shake Off.

Hard to bear, harder to get rid of, is any itching skin complaint. Eczema or Itching Piles. Doan's Ointment relieves and cures all itching of the skin.

Abuquerque people endorse this statement: A. M. Whitcomb, nurseryman, corner Eighth and Tjivas streets, says: "In my estimation there is no ointment for the purpose that it is used that can equal Doan's. There was a spot below my knee which annoyed me for ten years. Unlike eczema it did not spread out, but at times it itched so exasperatingly, particularly after I went to bed or sat by the stove, that I scratched it until it smarted before relief came.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

SPENT FIFTY-FOUR YEARS IN THE CAB OF A LOCOMOTIVE

Remarkable Career of Santa Fe Veteran.

"DAD" RUST TELLS OF HIS STRENUOUS CAREER ON RAIL

Topeka, Kas., Jan. 7.—Forty-four years in the cab of a railway engine is part of the life history of Henry G. Rust, of 809 Monroe street, Topeka, who three times a week mounts the right side of a Santa Fe passenger locomotive and opens the throttle that starts the monster overland train with its precious cargo, on its way from Topeka to Marceline, Mo., and while he is Mr. Rust he is not yet Rusty.

The story of Mr. Rust's experiences sounds like the experiences of Kit Carson, the celebrated frontiersman. For he began railroading when the business was in its infancy and has stayed with it at each new step until he is now one of the veteran engineers in the west.

"I began my railroad career," said Mr. Rust, with emphasis on the "said" re-er, "back before the war on the 10th day of September, 1857. I fired my first engine on the Toledo & Cleveland road between the two cities from which the line got its name. It is now a part of the Lake Shore system. The engine was an old wood burner with inside connections and the cab had no back board and no curtains. I had to walk a narrow slab of iron about five inches wide around the side of the boiler to oil the valves and to open and shut the cylinder cocks by hand. The old machine weighed forty tons, about one hundred tons less than they weigh now.

"I fired there until the war broke out when I enlisted on Mr. Lincoln's first call for troops. The call for 75,000 men to go to the front came on the 15th of April, '61, and I enlisted the next day. My regiment participated in seventy-six battles and skirmishes, of which I was in sixty-five. I was at the battle of Winchester where Stonewall Jackson got the only killing he ever had—my brother fell dead at my side—Harrison Landing, Antietam, Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, the Wilderness and Spotsylvania Court House. At Chancellorsville I was wounded in the hand and was shot through the leg at Spotsylvania.

Tobacco Saved His Life. In the battle of Fredericksburg a musket ball struck me right on the vest pocket and would undoubtedly have gone clear through my abdomen had it not been for two plugs of tobacco that I had in my blouse that I had confiscated. It was natural leaf and I had two plugs folded in my pocket so that they made four thicknesses. The bullet penetrated three thicknesses and drove the fourth into my body. That was the end of my war experiences, but those plugs of long green saved my life; tobacco stayed by me then and I have stayed by it every since and it has been a great solace to me through many a lonesome hour. I was mustered out in July, '64, and the next summer I took my place on the road again. From there I went to the Michigan Southern where I fired till the first day of January, '67, when I received my promotion to locomotive engineer as a New Year's gift. After being on several other roads in different parts of the country I went to the Nashville & Decatur with headquarters in '68 and it got so that the Kukulux would get out in the swamps and flag my train to take a man off and hang him so often that I got disgusted and quit. I then went to the Michigan Central where I remained for seven years, from '69 to '76. Then I went to the Lake Erie & Western and then I was on the Chicago & Alton for two years and in '79 I went to the Wabash with headquarters at St. Louis. Stayed there till they kept me on duty one time for sixty-five hours without intermission and as I was pulling in I fell asleep after I had whistled for the station and fell to shut off; ran into the back end of a train and upset a couple of cars. The general superintendent informed me that their locomotives were not made for sleeping coaches and so we dissolved partnership.

In the fall of '80 I went to the Texas Central and then to the Texas Pacific, away out on the staked plains. The Spaniards called it Llano estacado. The water was so light that we couldn't keep it in a jug with the cork in—it would eat up the flues in the boilers in two or three weeks and I decided that life was too short for that, so I came north and took charge of a little road as master mechanic at Dubuque, Ia., for two years, and then to the south again to Jackson, Miss., on the Illinois Central, where I ran an engine on construction work in the Yazoo valley and in September, '87, George Hackney, superintendent of motive power of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe wrote for me to come to Topeka.

When He Came to the Santa Fe. I came, passed the necessary examination and was sent out on the Great Bend extension in charge of a construction train. From there I was brought back to Topeka, and eighteen years ago last Tuesday a Santa Fe train into Lexington Junction, over the Wabash, as one line there was not completed yet. Worked on construction there until our line was finished and on the 29th of April, 1888, the first vestibule train that ever ran into this western country came through there from Chicago. It was a big thing then and maybe you think the Santa Fe people were not proud—everybody turned out to see it. It was lighted by electricity from a dynamo in the baggage car.

Then I ran trains between Fort Madison and Kansas City until the 1st of January, '95. I was transferred to Topeka to run between here and Marceline, where I have been running for seven years next month. I had never had a serious accident by running into any one and had never had an accident that destroyed over $500 worth of property until the 29th of October. Just passed I had the great misfortune to be the engineer in charge of Santa Fe train No. 1 when it was wrecked just east of Kansas City. And I will say that though it is forty-eight years since I began railroading, I'm still good for thirty more if they will let me run.

As an evidence of Mr. Rust's seniority he has been accorded the honorary title of "Dad," a degree which corresponds to that of Ph.D. among philosophers, except that it carries with it even more dignity for it is won by merit only and never by "pull," and in addition it can be worn by only engineers in three divisions at a time. No other man can have it while the present bearer lives.

SUN AND SNOW

Sometimes Help the Hair to Go. In any changeable climate the hair is apt to become brittle and to break off stubby here and there. This makes a hair dressing almost a necessity, especially to ladies. In using a hair dressing why not get the best, one that combines with it the efficiency in killing the dandruff germ, the germ that eats the hair off at the roots, causing what is called falling hair and in time baldness. Newbro's "Herpicide" is that kind of a hair dressing. You have no idea how delightful your scalp will feel, and how stylish your hair will appear, after an application or two of Herpicide. It is certainly a wonderful innovation as a scalp anti-septic and hair-dressing. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. B. H. The Second Week of the Mark-Down Sale Will Be Enlivened by Many Additional Price Concessions

And the best evidence that our sale has no equal is to observe those who leave their homes with the intention of pricing and "looking around" before buying. Many change their minds the moment our stock is inspected—good judges of merchandise who cannot resist the temptations. Many, we admit, follow their inclination to "look around," BUT ALL COME BACK, and what is noteworthy is that those who have posted themselves are those who are easiest to please—those who have been elsewhere are most profuse in their praise of our stocks and our prices. There's a moral to this incident by which others can, may and will profit.

MONDAY MORNING, JANUARY 8, 1906.

The Distance Bugaboo

THE anti-joint statehoodites of Arizona are sending circulars to members of both houses of congress, in which they advance what they consider a very strong argument against jointure, namely, the great distances between different parts of the proposed state and the proposed capital at Santa Fe. The arguments they make are deceptive, and have no merit in point of fact. For instance, it is as far from El Paso, Texas, to Austin, the capital of that state as it is from El Paso right up to Denver through New Mexico and above the centre of Colorado. It is much farther from Sacramento, Cal., to San Diego, than it is from Phoenix to Santa Fe. It is also much farther from the west line of Nebraska to Lincoln, the capital of that state, than it is from Phoenix to Santa Fe, and as well said by a member on the floor of the house during the statehood debate last congress, New Mexico and Arizona combined, are in these days of railroads, telegraphs, telephones, wireless transmission of intelligence, and improved postal facilities and improved modes of travel, much more accessible to each other than was a state as small as Maine thirty years ago.

Then, too, it is a great error to say that the two territories of New Mexico and Arizona are separated by any insurmountable natural barrier. In the first place the Continental divide is nothing but a plateau. New Mexico itself is about a mile high, so the low hump that forms the divide is traversable anywhere, because it so approaches more than a hundred miles wide gently sloping away on each side. The isolated mountains occurring in places on this low hump in no way detract from the truth of this statement. There are much worse divides in both New Mexico and Arizona than the Continental divide, east and west of it. The Continental divide is from 20 to 125 miles east of the Arizona line in New Mexico and cuts no figure at all in the way of dividing the territories. In fact the Continental divide itself except in rare places can be crossed by a wagon, and there is probably not five miles of the actual dividing line between the two territories that cannot be crossed in an automobile or buggy. This statement can be verified.

When the new railroads building and in contemplation are constructed, New Mexico and Arizona will be accessible to each other within a very few hours. Not more than a ten hour ride will be required to go from the centre of population of either to that of the other.

Merely a Coincidence

A LITTLE animal which the dictionary calls "Mephitis Americana" secretes a peculiarly foetid liquor, which it emits as a means of defense when driven into a corner. The Santa Fe New Mexican is endowed with the same power, which it uses in the same way, and in answer to a Journal argument in favor of statehood it emits the following:

"In its issue of yesterday, the Albuquerque Fakir Journal prints such senseless twaddle in answer to Chairman Bursum's letter to Judge A. A. Freeman, stating that there was absolutely no truth in fact or any substance in Judge Freeman's assumption or assertion, if you please, that a deal had been entered into by the president of the United States and between Messrs. Luna and Bursum on the part of the republican organization of New Mexico to support joint statehood that no sensible answer can be made. Twaddle as silly as the editorial in the Fakir Journal is unanswerable by a respectable newspaper or by decent and self-respecting citizens. The only thing to do with it is to ignore it. The paper being convicted of uttering lies, falsehoods and of publishing foolish newspaper rot, the Albuquerque joint statehood gang is really in bad shape. This is satisfactory to the decent and respectable citizens of New Mexico."

And the reader will bear in mind the fact that the foregoing is not an isolated case, but is merely a fair sample of the "argument" commonly used by the Santa Fe paper in its opposition to the statehood movement, and religiously repeated by its two or three weekly satellites in different parts of the territory. Sensible people need not be told that when a paper gets down to such stuff as that quoted above its case is thoroughly desperate.

AN effort is being made to prove that the closing of saloons on Sundays by the authorities of St. Louis is promoting intemperance. To support this extraordinary charge the statistics of delirium tremens are invoked, and they appear to show that the number of cases has greatly increased since the Sunday-closing act was enforced, upon which the San Francisco Chronicle remarks: Many queer things have been said about the water of St. Louis. Some have asserted that it is more like a thick paint than a potable beverage, and strangers have declared that they preferred a dry rub down to bathing in it; but the intimation that it is worse in its effects than John Barleycorn goes further than any charge heretofore made. If St. Louis get up another exposition it should not fail to dwell on the wonderful qualities of Mississippi water.

THE Arizona Gazette says the eagle is the national bird, but the ostrich is the Arizona bird. And another Arizona paper rises to remark: "The ostrich is the bird which sticks its head in the sand, elevates its gable window to the breeze, and thinks it is hid; and this is the Gazette's conception of a bird for Arizona." And doesn't the attitude of most of the Arizona papers toward the cause of statehood prove conclusively that the Gazette chose better than it knew in the selection of the ostrich? Take, for instance the editorial drive which those papers have printed about their own "superiority" to the people of New Mexico, and you will find that if there ever was an unmistakable and unclouded gable end exposure, they have made it, and with their heads in the sand.

THE Foraker amendment for the statehood bill provides that each territory shall have the right to vote separately on the question of merger or jointure and if the majority of either state should vote against jointure the merger shall fail. This is certainly fair. It is referring the matter to the people where it belongs, but it is said that Colonel Frank Murphy is opposed to such a bill because he fears that both territories will give a majority for the merger. Well if they do, this will be the will of the people. Let the Foraker amendment go into the bill; it will give the people a chance to express their preference for or against joint statehood.—Tucson Star.

HERE is warning to the head of the family against the danger that may lie in the failure to assert himself. A Chicago mother kept her boy away from school, against requirements of the education laws and the protests of the father. The latter, however, was prosecuted and fined $25, the court holding that he was the culpable one in failing to establish himself as the authoritative head of his household. There we have one court, at least in which the old man can't get off under the Adam's plea that it was the woman's fault.

IF MR. ROOSEVELT will kindly cast an eye over this way he will observe that we are taking his advice so literally that we can't build school houses fast enough to keep up with the demand. What's the first prize, please?

Solos

by the Second Fiddle

It now transpires that "Slavo" thought all along that typewriter was a cash register.

"The Statehood bill is up," says the Roswell Record. The Record might have added the words, "in the air."

As far as can be learned that Brackett resolution in the New York legislature didn't remind Mr. Depew of another joke.

General Flingham has dismissed Police Captain Mutt because he didn't know whether there were nine or ten gods of war.

Two German experts have invented a new explosive and the proletariat has started up a brisk correspondence with them.

Not a Bit.

The Albuquerque Joint Statehood League is worrying greatly about the Hamilton-Beveridge bill.—The Almanac.

Champ Clark says regarding the position of the 6. O. P. on the tariff that the republican party holds a bob-tail flush. Champ is as picturesque in his verbiage as in his appearance.

The Trinidad Chronicle-News under the heading "In the boudoir" tells how to take a mud bath properly. The Santa Fe Almanac could doubtless give us some pointers on how to administer a mud bath.

Lanky Break.

The Springer Stockman suggests that Fitzsimmons should have consulted Dr. Osler as to the age limit before his last fight and taken chloroform instead of the licking.

Twaddle as silly as the editorial in the Fakir Journal is unanswerable by a respectable newspaper or by decent and self-respecting citizens. The only thing to do with it is to ignore it.—The Almanac.

And the elderly fossil proceeds to ignore it daily to the tune of several columns per diem.

The President in a Fix.

The president is practically billed for a joint debate with himself. As a member in good standing of the Brotherhood of Firemen, he is practically pledged to oppose the attitude he has taken as president of the United States on railway rate legislation.—Tucson Citizen.

While There's Life There's Hope.

In going through a pile of New Mexico papers we admit that a demagogue editor often feels lonesome and discouraged, but when the territory becomes a state and democrats have a fair show to make themselves heard there will be lots more democratic papers.—Roswell Record.

LITTLE BOY KILLS HIS CHUM WITH A TARGET RIFLE

Deplorable Tragedy Last Evening in Highlands.

CLAUDE DRAGOIE SHOT DEAD BY BERT YEAGER

Heart-Broken Youngster Declares Pet Dog Jumped on Gun and Snapped Trigger.

Claude Dragoie, a boy 13 years of age, was shot and killed with a 22-calibre target rifle in the hands of Bert Yeager, a 12-year-old chum last evening at about 7:30. The accident occurred at the Yeager home at 308 North Broadway.

Claude Dragoie is the son of M. Dragoie, who conducts a grocery store at 402 North Broadway. His residence is next door at 304 and the Yeager home is at 308, a door farther to the north. Little Bert is a son of Mrs. Louise Yeager, whose husband died in this city last July. She is keeping house for a brother, W. O. Galbreath, a conductor on the coast lines of the Santa Fe.

Claude and Bert have been inseparable friends and as Bert is the possessor of a bull pup named "Dudie," and a target rifle, the boys are in each other's company daily.

All of the people of the neighborhood were at the residence of C. A. Grande, which is across the street from where the deplorable accident happened, preparing the Grande home for the wedding of Miss Rose Grande and John Silva, Miss Ella Dragoie, sister of the boy who was shot was to have been the bridesmaid.

About 7:30 little Bert Yeager came over to the Grande home screaming, "come over to my house quick, I am afraid Claude is dead."

Contemplation smogged and the whole party rushed to the Yeager home where they found the Dragoie boy, insensible with a bullet hole in the ball of the left eye. Medical aid was at once called and the boy was taken in the Strong ambulance to the hospital, where two surgeons tried to save his life. There was no hope, however, as the bullet had penetrated the brain, ranging upward from the eye, and he passed away in a few minutes.

The two families are heart-broken over the sad affair. No blame is attached to any one for the unfortunate accident. Mrs. Yeager states that the boys have frequently played with the rifle, which was a Christmas gift to Bert, but that she has taken the gun from them several times. The boys had been playing with the weapon for some time and neither of them knew it was loaded. The story as told by the Yeager boy of the shooting is as follows:

Says Dog Pulled the Trigger.

"Claude came over to my house as we were playing with the rifle. Claude had cocked it, and was pointing it first at my eye, and then at my other eye, nose and mouth and had said that was four times he had shot me. Then I took the rifle and was pointing it at him and had stopped to put some coal in the stove. I had a chunk of coal in my left hand and the rifle in my right and had caught the gun, by the barrel, when my dog, "Dudie" came over to play and jumped up on my right arm near the rifle. I guess one bit Claude in the left eye and he never said a word, only groaned. He was sitting in the rocking chair over there," designating the spot a few feet from the stove, where he was kneeling while telling the story. "Dudie" done it, but she is a dog and don't know," and the little fellow's eyes filled with tears.

The body of the little boy will be taken home this morning from the undertaker's and the funeral arrangements will be made today. A pall of gloom has overspread the neighborhood, where a few hours ago all was happiness in anticipation of the wedding of two of the young people.

THE EXTREME COLD DELAYS WORK ON IRRIGATION PROJECT AT ZUNI

John B. Harper, superintendent of irrigation, and J. T. Newhall, foreman of the work on the Zuni irrigation project, who were in Albuquerque last week have opened temporary offices on lower San Francisco street, in Santa Fe. On account of the extreme cold, work on the project has been abandoned until the weather moderates and remains warm. All of the employees on the work, a large number of whom were Indians, have returned to their homes. At the time of closing down only about 150 men were at work, as others had quit on account of the cold.

The work on the dam was commenced in February, 1894, and will be finished the coming summer. It will irrigate about 10,000 acres. The dam is near the Zuni pueblo, is south of Gallup and about twelve miles from the Arizona line.

The weather remained good until December 20th, and then it began to snow. It has not moderated since and the temperature has been as low as 16 degrees below zero. A watchman has been left at Black Rock to look after the property of the government, which is doing the work.

What part of this paper do you suppose is the most interesting to the person who is eagerly looking for a furnished room or boarding place? Is your ad in that part of the paper?

ARIZONA COAL DEALERS THREATEN SANTA FE COMPANY

Railroad Is Now Delivering the Goods.

GALLUP FUEL NOW WARMS THE POOR MINERS' FEET

The Bisbee coal famine is broken. Gallup coal is being burned in Bisbee homes and the cold, tired copper miners can now warm their wet feet with the heat from coal dug in McKinley county. The Douglas International American tells the story of how the coal dealers of the big copper camp ended their troubles by bringing the Santa Fe to time. Up to a few days ago the coal dealers could not buy Gallup coal because it could not be transported to Bisbee, the road saying that it had no cars. The Bisbee dealers investigated and re-investigated, and found that the road was not so short of cars. Legal proceedings were threatened and now Bisbee is getting the Gallup fuel.

The International says Bisbee coal dealers would appear to have brought the Santa Fe railroad to time. As much is indicated by the fact that the dealers have received notice that a good many cars of coal are en route to them from New Mexico.

Several cars have been received during the week and the famine that prevailed for a time may now be said to be practically through with for the present.

During the interim telegrams and letters have been going between the railroad people and the coal dealers of the city pretty thick. The dealers led off with a letter sent by Buxton & Smith to the Santa Fe freight department giving notice in well chosen and firm words that if the road persisted in refusing cars for the transportation of coal from the New Mexico mines to Bisbee there would be legal action taken to compel them to afford the service and also to recover money loss sustained through the refusal of the road to get coal to lines entering Bisbee. Their stand put the matter in a different light to the railroad people. They immediately replied with protestations that their refusal to handle coal from the mines billed for Bisbee was because of the fact that they did not have the cars to spare for the traffic.

The coal dealers did a little quick investigating, at the conclusion of which they replied to the Santa Fe response with a declaration that they were aware that the railroad was not so short of cars that it could not handle the coal traffic without crippling itself. Back from the railroad came response that it was not the immediate shortage of cars that was bothering them, but the belief that if they sent their cars onto the Southwestern the road would seize them when unloaded to handle coal from the Dawson field, and that a shortage of cars on the Santa Fe would result. Again the coal men investigated, and no cause for the fear expressed by the Santa Fe. The result of this investigation was wired to the Santa Fe freight department.

No further excuses for refusal of Bisbee coal traffic have since come from that road. On the other hand, coal is coming, all of which is highly satisfactory to the local dealers, who much prefer coal to a law suit. The latter they had determined upon in the event that the railroad insisted in its first position; which has generally been assigned to difficulties it has on with coal men of New Mexico.

The body of the little boy will be taken home this morning from the undertaker's and the funeral arrangements will be made today. A pall of gloom has overspread the neighborhood, where a few hours ago all was happiness in anticipation of the wedding of two of the young people.

NEW MEXICO ITALIAN CLAIMS COUNTRYMAN STOLE HIS WIFE

Because Gregorio Persican, a young and good looking Italian, is said to have stolen the wife of Pete Mullezi, of Dawson, New Mexico, the two had a woful engagement on the street in Trinidad and as a result both appeared in the police court and were fined $10 each for disturbance. They paid their fines, and as Mullezi seems to be rather agitated over the alleged larceny of his spouse, the officers are looking for more trouble between the two.

The Trinidad Advertiser says the wife was found in the rooming house over the Grand saloon, and it is said that Persican rented the room for her. All the parties come from Dawson, N. M. Mullezi was carrying over $1,000 in his pockets.

It seems that Mullezi recently decided to take a trip to the old country with his wife and Persican said he did not care to remain in Dawson after their departure and accompanied them to Trinidad, saying he would remain here.

When they reached Trinidad on the Santa Fe, Persican invited Mullezi to take a final drink at a nearby saloon.

When Mullezi returned to the train after bidding Persican farewell he could not find his wife. By the time Hoehne reached he decided that she missed the train and was lost in Trinidad, so he returned here. In company with officers he made a search of the Italian rooming houses. He found Persican at the New Metropolitan hotel and Persican denied any knowledge of his wife's whereabouts. Late the woman was discovered at the Grand and Persican was identified by the proprietor there as the man who rented the room for the woman.

Persican and Mullezi had a heated verbal engagement at the time, but as no charge could be registered against any of the party the police dropped the case. Yesterday Police Captain Bowlden found the two having a hot and heavy argument on Commercial street and took them into custody.

It is said that Mrs. Mullezi is partial to the dashing Persican and the outcome of the case is being watched with some little interest.

So There.

The Douglas International American says:

"We agree with the Tucson Citizen that Arizona is not for sale and that if the joint statehood bill gives to the Arizona should refuse to accept it. But the bill does not appropriate $5,000,000 for school purposes to the new state, as stated in the Tucson Star, nor any other sum, except the donation of public lands."

GEOLOGISTS WILL HOLD ANNUAL MEET IN ALBUQUERQUE

President Tight Presents Advantages of This City.

BRANNER OF STANFORD FOLLOWS LOCAL MAN AS PRESIDENT

It is quite probable that the Cordilleran section of the geological society of America which has just closed a meeting at Berkeley, California, will hold the annual meeting for 1907 in Albuquerque.

This information is received from President W. G. Tight, of the University of New Mexico, the outgoing president of the western branch of the National Geological organization. President Tight returned early yesterday morning from California where he visited Los Angeles and other points after the meeting at Berkeley.

"It was decided to hold next year's meeting at Palo Alto," said President Tight to the Morning Journal yesterday, "and for the following year I recommended as strongly as I knew how that Albuquerque be selected for the meeting place. I am quite confident that the suggestion will be adopted if other circumstances, railway rates etc., are favorable. The proposition met with the immediate favor of the gentlemen at the meeting."

The Cordilleran section of the geological society includes some of the best known geologists of the west and the selection of Albuquerque as the convention point will bring into this city between fifty and a hundred of the leading specialists along this line in the country.

The meeting at Berkeley was attended by about forty members and according to President Tight was a highly interesting and successful one.

Dr. Branner, of Leland Stanford University, was chosen as president to succeed Dr. Tight.

The latter read to the society a most interesting paper dealing with the glacial period in the Mississippi basin and the valleys of its tributaries, presenting an entirely new and original working hypothesis which is said to have excited unusual interest not only among the members of the society but in the scientific world generally.

"Pleistocene Phenomena in the Mississippi basin" was the subject of the paper. The following somewhat technical abstract appears on the program of the meeting:

The present hypothesis proposes that prior to the earliest ice invasion of the Pleistocene the drainage of the upper Mississippi basin was to the northward. The early ice movements in retreating this basin were forced to advance against the general slope of the basin and hence the ice front advanced upon a rising plane. This process of frontal impounding of the drainage waters with the development of extensive frontal lakes and accompanying sluggish action of the ice front, poorly developed moraines, extra-marine drift, and sluggish movement of the gravel trains from the margin of the ice. A new outlet to the basin was developed along the line of the middle Mississippi section which became well established as the upper Mississippi drainage developed, with the early recession of the ice. Later ice invasions into the basin followed the established gradients, developed into extensive lobate forms, produced only local and minor frontal lake phenomena, almost no extra-marine drift, show characteristic development and vigorous action of streams discharging from the ice front.

Beside the above paper, President Tight lectured to a popular audience in Berkeley on his famous trip through the Andes, the lecture being illustrated with stereopticon views.

Among the other geologists who appeared on the program were W. D. Knight Smith, E. W. Hilgard, C. Merriam, E. L. Furlong, A. R. Eskie, A. Knopf, Andrew C. Lawson, C. K. Gilbert, F. B. Laney, J. P. Smith, W. O. Clark and Ralph Arnold.

WORK ON HONDO RESERVOIR IN PECOS VALLEY GOING FORWARD RAPIDLY

The work on the Hondo reservoir is being pushed as rapidly as the conditions will allow. Wood, Bancroft & Hoy, a contracting firm of Omaha, began work on December 23rd on the last embankment. According to the contract this work must be finished in six months from that date.

After this work is completed the government force will take up and complete the rip-rapping. The Roswell Record says that advertisements have been issued calling for bids for the canal and laterals. The contract will be awarded the latter part of the month, or the first of February. An engineering corps under Engineer Schlect is now in the field staking out the work.

From the conditions of the work it is safe to say that water will not be turned on during the coming year to time to allow the growing of any crops. It is possible, however, that water may be secured in time to permit a little fall planting, but even this cannot be assured.

The work on the reservoir is being well done, and when completed it will hold sufficient water to irrigate from 15,000 acres up to 20,000, depending on the amount of the flow of the Hondo.

WARREN POST AND AUXILIARIES HOLD INSTALLATION

CEREMONIES FOLLOWED BY BANQUET AND SOCIAL EVENING

G. K. Warren post, Grand Army of the Republic, and its two auxiliary organizations, the Ladies of the G. A. R., and the Woman's Relief corps, held a big meeting Saturday night at which all three bodies installed their officers for the ensuing year.

Past Department Commander E. S. Stover installed the following officers elected by G. K. Warren Post to serve during the year 1906:

John G. Caldwell, past commander; Joseph N. Warner, senior vice commander; Edward Johnson, junior vice commander; W. W. McDonald, adjutant; H. W. Turner, quartermaster; Rev. Thomas Harwood, chaplain; Leverett Clarke, surgeon; E. M. Lavelle, officer of the day; William Stanley, officer of the guard.

John A. Logan Circle No. 1, Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, installed the following officers:

President, Caroline Coleman; senior vice president, Anna Myers; junior vice president, Rachel L. Johnson; chaplain, Harriet P. Winston; secretary, Etta B. Allison; treasurer, Mary A. Caldwell; conductor, Jessie Boyd; assistant conductor, Alice Hayward; guard, Nellie Richter; assistant guard, Pearl Keogh; musician, Cora Jackson.

The installing officer was Post Commander John G. Caldwell of the Grand Army of the Republic. Mrs. A. M. Whitcomb was in charge of the installation ceremonies for the G. K. Warren Women's Relief corps No. 1, when the following were inducted into office:

President, Isabel Warner; senior vice president, Loantha Denham; junior vice president, Addie Musgley; treasurer, Emma C. Whitson; chaplain, Martha Mulligan; conductor, Josephine Strain; guard, Ella Graham; assistant conductor, Josephine Strain; assistant guard, Bessie Graham.

HAMMER CLUB PRESENTS ITS PRESIDENT WITH HANDSOME MEDAL

The Hammer club of Albuquerque held its first annual banquet at the Sturges Saturday evening. The spread was a most excellent one, but outside of this the affair was hardly worth mentioning. There were several speeches and toasts, but invariably the speaker would get his hammer and would proceed to "knock" when it would be necessary for President Fred Miller to rap him to order.

The principal event of the evening was the presentation of a beautiful (leather) medal to the president of the club, Mr. Fred Miller, the well known tonorial artist. The medal is manufactured from an especially tough piece of cow-hide, suspended from solid brass chains and on the surface is affixed a solid steel hammer, the official insignia of the noble order. The medal is inscribed: "Our Noble President of the Hammer Club, Fred Miller, Champion Knocker."

President Miller's eyes were suffused with tears, when with deep emotion in his voice, Past Noble President Nathaniel Greene made the presentation. Mr. Greene stated that Mr. Miller's reputation as a knocker was well known throughout the territory and that the medal was but a slight token of the esteem in which he was held by his brother hammersmen. This is quite an honor to Mr. Miller, as there are a number of accomplished hammer throwers in Albuquerque.

Mr. Miller said that he did not wish to "knock" but that he believed the presentation was all a "job" that had been framed up by his brother members of the Hammer club, even though he appreciated the token of the esteem in which his brothers held him.

It was quite late when the bountiful repast had been fully discussed and after singing a stanza of that beautiful old anthem, "Bang, Bang, Bang, Goes the Hammer on the Anvil," an adjournment was taken.

The newly organized Hammer club while not large as yet, promises to become one of the leading and most popular fraternal orders in the city. Its membership is increasing by leaps and bounds.

It is understood President Miller is soon to have a life-size photograph taken in full regalia including the medal and he is making arrangements to present each member of the club with one. Mr. Miller is deeply sensible of the high honor which has been bestowed upon him.

O. N. Marron, to protect their interests and take whatever steps he may deem necessary to recover the money which they paid and to punish the criminals who got it. So it looks as if the firm of Gray and Morris were in for much trouble.

Worked Everything in Sight.

They have successfully worked every town of any consequence from San Francisco to Albuquerque and were to have left for El Paso Saturday night, but El Paso juckly escaped.

The bunco gentlemen came to the city on Wednesday last, and after enjoying a good business for two days, proceeded to get drunk. They had money, and the best was none too good for them, while the money lasted, but it finally got short. They went out and "raised the wind" by cashing a draft for $10, later getting another one cashed at the same business house for $20. The business man in question grew suspicious of the men and on Saturday afternoon, he went for Marshal McMullin. More investigation proved that the men were the rankest of frauds and the gentleman who cashed their drafts for them told them to "come in" or he would have them arrested for circulating bad paper.

"All we have is two tickets to El Paso and $2.50 to eat on until we get there," said Gray, who is the business manager of the firm.

"Cash the tickets and dig up that money or in you go!" insisted the business man.

They marched to the depot and cashed the tickets and turned over the $20.

"Give me that silver!" commanded the Albuquerquean.

They produced the $2.50 and kept the ten cents.

"Now what else can you give me for security?" inquired the easy one of Albuquerque.

"All we have is one overcoat and two scarf pins," said Gray, and the jewelry was turned over.

Night Marshal Kennedy had charge of the men Saturday night, but at a late hour released them. They went to a leading hotel, promising to get plenty of money and make all shortages which might exist good on Monday morning when the bank opened.

Yesterday they were again taken in custody by the marshal and locked up, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. They will probably be given a hearing in Judge Crawford's court today.

Injured in the Big Press.

G. Monk, a boy who has been employed as helper on the Duplex perfecting press at the Journal office, met with an accident Sunday morning while the paper was being run off. He had climbed up on top of the press to remove an obstruction, and was climbing down. The pressman who was at the starting lever called to the boy to "look out," as he was about to start the machine. He understood the boy to say "all right," the press started and caught the boy's left foot in the machine, badly mashing the great toe. He will be laid up for some time.

Head of Bughouse Resigns.

Dr. W. H. Ward has resigned his position as superintendent of the Arizona Insane Asylum, though it will not take effect until next spring, probably about April 1st. Though the fact was not given publicity until yesterday, the doctor's action is in no manner sudden or surprising to those who are entrusted with the secrets of the administration.
