REVENUE FRAMERS NAME LUXURIES FOR HEAVY TAX

Automobiles, Piano Players, Phonographs, Cosmetics All Come Under Class; Tobacco Increase Discussed.

Washington, July 30.—A 10 per cent tax on gross sales of manufacturers, producers and importers of automobiles, piano players, graphophones, sporting goods, cosmetics, patent medicines, cameras and similar articles, was tentatively agreed upon today by the house ways and means committee.

Public Tobacco Tax. The treasury department has recommended doubling the present rates on tobacco. The committee wants more revenue than this would yield and will decide the increase on the floor.

Chairman Kitchin said tonight: "The committee also had under consideration a tax on admissions to theaters, operas, moving picture shows, etc. The committee favored doubling the tax on admissions and club dues to impose a 1-cent tax on all admissions where the maximum charge does not exceed 5 cents."

Under the present law the tax on automobiles, trucks, motor vehicles, graphophones, phonographs, talking machines and records, sporting goods and cameras, sold by the manufacturer or producer or importer, is 2 per cent.

AMERICANS STAND AT TIP OF WEDGE DRIVEN BY ALIES INTO GERMAN LINE

and the line moved forward across the grain fields directly through the barrage. On a nearby hillside the chief staff officers watched the operation. They saw shells fall in some cases leaving long gaps in the line, but the troops never halted.

Infantry Bears Brunt. On through the barrage the Americans went into the German positions attacking fiercely the machine guns and infantry detachments. The barrage died away, the Germans leaving the waste of resistance to the men they had failed to protect with their heavy guns.

The Germans were "mopped up" and the Americans held their new line just east of the forest.

Not a few prisoners were taken but here and there a few were rounded up and brought in. Sergeant Louis Loetz of Sioux City, Ia., contributed fourteen. He attacked eighteen Germans who had become separated from their command, killing four of them and capturing the others.

BOLSHEVIKI ACCEPT GERMANY'S TERMS

Washington, July 30.—The German Russian commission, considering the Brest-Litovsk treaty, have agreed upon the general terms of the covenant, according to Swedish press reports received today at the state department.

The situation in Moscow is becoming more critical daily. Wholesale prices have been made and the jails are so crowded that other buildings are being used for the confinement of prisoners. It also is reported that the Bolsheviki have decided upon the dissolving of the red guard and beginning the reorganization of a new army.

This is interpreted to mean that the Bolsheviki are carrying out their announced plan of conscription and the forcing of the czar's officers into their old positions with the army.

OFFICIAL STATEMENTS

GERMAN

Berlin, July 30 (via London).—The German official communication of today dealing with the fighting north of the Ourcq and southwest of Rheims Monday says the allied forces, including French, British and Americans attacked in strength but were thrown back with the heaviest of losses over the entire battle line.

The communication says the heaviest attacks were launched against the Hartennes - Fere - En - Tardenois front, but that the assaulting waves broke down at or before the German lines and some times under counter attacks. From Fere-En-Tardenois eastward the allied thrusts likewise were unsuccessful, while repeated attacks southwest of Rheims were everywhere repulsed with heavy losses.

The text of the communication follows: "There has been lively reconnoitering activity during the night. Partial attacks by the British in the region of Merris and on both sides of the Aisne were repulsed."

"The enemy launched attacks with strong forces against our new lines north of the Ourcq and on our positions on the wooded heights southwest of Rheims. The French, British and Americans were thrown back on the whole of their attacking front with the heaviest of losses."

"The main weight of the enemy's attack was directed against the Hartennes - Fere - En - Tardenois front, where during the morning and afternoon the enemy stormed our positions and again in dense waves. His assaults broke down before and at our lines, times under our counter attacks."

"In the afternoon the enemy extended his attack beyond Fere-En-Tardenois eastward. They were just as unsuccessful as partial attacks he launched in the morning at the Bois de Meuse. Southwest of Rheims the enemy renewed his attacks as many as five times at isolated points between Chambréchy and Vrinny, keeping up violent partial attacks until late in the evening. He was repulsed everywhere with sanguinary losses."

"In Champagne south of Mont Fiestel we drove the enemy out of trenches which he had occupied since his thrust of Saturday and captured an enemy point of support northeast of Perthes."

FRENCH

Paris, July 30.—Northwest of Fere-En-Tardenois the allied troops in local fighting Tuesday advanced their line and also retained the ground captured in the region of Serzy, notwithstanding several German counter-attacks, according to the French official communication issued this evening. Attempts by the Germans to retake the village of St. Euphrase, southwest of Rheims, failed, although the enemy made a slight advance to the west of the village.

"On the right bank of the Ourcq some local fighting enabled us to advance on the height to the northeast of Fere-En-Tardenois."

"In the region of Serzy we maintained our gains, in spite of several reactions of the enemy. Southwest of Rheims the Germans attacked on both sides of St. Euphrase. All their efforts to capture St. Euphrase failed, in spite of a slight advance made on the village. There is nothing of importance to report from the rest of the front."

BRITISH

London, July 30.—Australian troops have captured the village of Merris, southwest of Ypres, according to Field Marshal Haig's report from British headquarters tonight.

"During the latter part of the night our patrols of the first Australian division, who had entered German positions about Merris, successfully established themselves east of the village, which they surrounded and captured. One hundred and sixty-nine prisoners and a number of French mortars and machine guns were taken by us in the course of this enterprise. Our casualties were light. A few additional prisoners were captured by our patrols during the day in the Sierpe forest. The hostile artillery has shown great activity today against our new positions at Merris."

ITALIAN

Rome, July 30.—The war office communication issued today follows: "On the whole of the front there has been reciprocal artillery fighting. In the Giudicaria and Val Arsa hostile parties were repulsed. Along the Piave our reconnoitering patrols brought back enemy arms and material. Thirteen hostile aircraft have been brought down."

"In Albania the systematization of our lines of resistance has been completed and our troops on the Senini and west of Osmun and Devoll have lessened their pressure against the enemy."

GUARD OF HONOR FOR FRENCH OFFICERS

Denim, N. M., July 30.—Accompanied by a guard of honor composed of American officers and soldiers, the bodies of Lieutenants Herbert and Jagou, of the French army, will be taken to Washington, D. C. tomorrow for burial in Arlington national cemetery until the end of the war.

The two French officer-instructors at Camp Cody were drowned Friday night when their automobile was overturned by flood waters in White Water creek, near Silver City, N. M. Sergeant Ernest Picard, their chauffeur, was also drowned.

LOUISIANA BUSINESS MEN AID THE FARMERS

Verde, La., July 30.—On three days each week business men and they employes here desert their counters and offices for the plow and hoe and take to the surrounding fields to assist the farmers with their crops. This is owing to the shortage of farm labor and was suggested by the local council of defense. The plan has proved a success.

Where'll We Send Kaiser

Bill? Here's a Few Places

It's time to begin thinking about where we're going to send Kaiser Bill, for his days are numbered. Napoleon died on the island of St. Helena, shown on this map, but Napoleon was not H.N., and Wilhelm has a lot more coming to him than Napoleon had.

The English are talking of sending the Kaiser also to St. Helena, but there are better places for him than that. For instance, there's Laurie Island, in the South Orkneys, which is the southernmost inhabited spot on the globe. Nobody lives there but a party of Argentine meteorologists, who maintain a station there.

Or we could give him a barrel of water and a supply of hardtack and maroon him in Graham Land, which is nearer the South Pole than Laurie Island and somewhat chillier. The chilliest spot on the globe, though, is Verkhoyansk, Siberia, which is at the other end of the world. It's colder there than Medicine Hat, for it was 99 degrees below zero there in 1892, which is the world's record for low temperature. If America insists on having the Kaiser, we might send him to the upper Yukon, where it was 86 below last winter.

Where'll we send him? What do you think?

LIST GIVEN OUT OF AMERICANS IN GERMAN PRISONS

Washington, July 30.—Names of two officers and five enlisted men of the American expeditionary forces held as prisoners in Germany were announced tonight by the war department. The death in a German hospital of Private Jerry A. Brown, Columbus, O., previously listed as missing in action, also was announced.

The names of the officers and men held prisoner, their home addresses and the prison camps where they are held follow: Capt. John W. Morris, Washington, D. C.; at Rastatt. Capt. Elmer J. Prepper, Philadelphia, at Cassel.

Private George M. Williams, Henderson, Ky., at Lumburg. Private John Walter Jones, Oxford, Ala., at Remagen. Private Charles L. Locke, Cincinnati, at Giessen.

THINK KINGSBERRY VICTIM OF REVENGE

El Paso, July 30.—Friends of Tom Kingsberry, foreman of the Palomas Land and Cattle company in northern Chihuahua, believe he was killed by friends of Jose Ynez Salazar, the revolutionary leader under Villa and Orozco. Salazar was shot and killed at the Nogales ranch, which is the headquarters of the Palomas company.

Two weeks ago Kingsberry started for the Nogales ranch on horseback and has not been heard of since. His horse and saddle have not been found and no trace can be found of his body.

According to Kingsberry's friends here, the feeling against the Palomas company's employes was bitter because of Salazar's death there last year, and they fear Kingsberry has been murdered by Salazar's friends in revenge.

NEGRO ESCAPES FROM JAIL, CAPTURED LATER

Socorro, N. M., July 30.—A negro, held in jail on a charge of having robbed a jewelry store here, escaped at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The negro asked the jailer if he might go into the yard with some trash. The request was granted and when he reached the yard he broke into a run and escaped. He was caught an hour later two miles south of this city.

EARL OF LICHFIELD FOUND DEAD IN PARK

London, July 30.—Thomas Francis Anson, the third earl of Lichfield, director of the National Provincial bank of England, the bank of Australia, was found dead today in the grounds of his estate at Shugborough, Park Stafford, with a gunshot wound in the head. Lord Lichfield was born in 1856.

VILLA EXPECTED TO ATTACK CHIHUAHUA

El Paso, July 30.—An attack upon Chihuahua City by Villa forces is expected, according to an American who arrived here today from the Mexican state capital. He said the federal forces were not strong and that Villa men had appeared in the suburbs of the city during the past week.

Tobacco Supply Increase. Washington, July 30.—About 250,000,000 pounds more tobacco were on hand July 1 than was held on that date last year, a canvass just made by the census bureau shows. Aggregate stocks of leaf tobacco amounted to 1,386,049,368 pounds.

LAS VEGAS COWBOYS TAKE PART IN WILD WEST SHOW AT CAMP

East Las Vegas, N. M., July 30.—Several Las Vegas cowboys took part in a wild west exhibition given by the veterinary department at Camp Lee, Petersburg, Va., July 4.—Salem Curtis, Jr., who last year was declared the best all-round "hand" at the Las Vegas Cowboys' reunion, had charge of the great roping, and Montana Jack Ray, champion trick and fancy roper of the world, who made the Las Vegas rodeo in 1917, made a big hit with his hump hurling. Ben Staud was another Las Vegas boy in the contest. He got hurt bulldozing a steer, but not badly. Cowboy sports had never been seen in the south before, and they made a great hit with both soldiers and civilians. Over 25,000 was made on the afternoon's program, one-half of which went to the veterinary boys' mess fund and the other half to the home service department of the Petersburg Red Cross. One of the stunts done at Petersburg was the cowboys' night shirt race, invented in Las Vegas, in which the boys are required to ride to wardrobe boxes in the center of the arena, don night shirts placed there and remount and ride back to the finishing line. The wild mule race, which was originated in Cheyenne, also was one of the fun-making events.

HOTEL PROPRIETOR AT ROY IS ARRESTED CHARGED WITH ARSON

El Paso, July 30.—A list containing names of 102,000 persons whom Jacob Simon Herzog, who calls himself "George Graham Rice," apparently regarded as prospective purchasers of stocks has been seized by federal officials who arrested him last night on a charge of using the mails to commit fraud, the authorities announced today. The persons mentioned lived in various parts of the country.

Herzog, who has been involved, officials stated, in other promotion enterprises which resulted in his conviction for criminal offenses, is held on a charge of accepting money for stock of the American Car and Foundry company which he did not deliver to the purchasers. The federal grand jury today began consideration of his case.

STUDY POSSIBILITY FOR SUGAR MAKING

El Paso, July 30.—Two investigators from the department of agriculture arrived here today to investigate the possibilities of the Sotol plant for sugar making. Samples of sotol were sent to Washington by County Farm administrator Roland Harwell and the government is preparing to make an investigation of the sugar making possibilities of the desert growth.

Recovers Stolen Automobile. East Las Vegas, N. M., July 30.—The touring car of County Commissioner Fidel Ortiz, left in front of a store on the plaza Sunday night, was stolen by joy riders. It was found Monday by Chief of Police Murphy, overturned near the stockyard, a mile and a half from where it was taken. Some time ago several punishment was meted out under the state law to boys who stole A. A. Sena's car to joy-riding, and since that time the craze for driving other people's machines has subsided here.

PROPAGANDA FAILS; GERMAN MONEY LOST

New York, July 30.—That Germany spent $50,000,000 to $50,000,000 for propaganda in this country "and got nothing for it," was a declaration by George Sylvester Viereck, alleged pro-German publicist, in testimony given at the inquiry here into Tautou activities in the United States.

As a witness in the investigation, Viereck declared that if a string of influential newspapers had been bought with German money, "we could have arranged that America would never have entered the war."

VILLARD MAY SELL N. Y. EVENING POST

New York, July 30.—Oswald Garrison Villard, president and chief officer of the Evening Post, today authorized the following statement: "The current reports that the ownership of the Evening Post may be changed are correct. I have given an option to Rollo Ogden, the editor, and to other editorial and business associates with whom I have been in close co-operation for twenty-one years. As the option has not yet been exercised, it is impossible to give further details at the present time."

ANXIETY OF FOE SEEN IN DESPERATE BATTLE

Great Importance Placed On Retention of Line South of Vesle Spurs Teutons to Furlous Effort.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—The second battle of the Marne has entered a new phase. Both French and German official statements tonight reflected the increased fury of the fighting, indicating to officials a new crisis is approaching.

It was not clear whether the enemy had reached a line on which he proposed to halt. The general trend of his present front along the irregular line that now forms the bottom of the Aisne-Marne salient was regarded by most observers as not representing positions of such tactical importance as to themselves to a determined effort to bring the allied forces to a halt.

German Are Determined. The intensity of the struggle and the vigor with which picked German troops have been hurled forward in local counter-attacks showed conclusively the importance the German high command attaches to holding fast, for the moment at least. The reaction appeared to center in the American spearhead striking at the center of the enemy position. It was quite evident that the Germans regarded this thrust as menacing.

Officers based their views on reports coming from London, Paris or the fighting fronts. These told of repeated attacks and counter-attacks, but a summary of all reports seemed to show that the Germans had failed to relieve their situation, although the rapidity of the advance was reduced. Seray Is Battle Center.

Last accounts indicated the American positions southeast of Fere-En-Tardenois had been retained. The fiercest fighting of the battle appeared to have taken place here with the village of Seray as the storm center.

If the American spearhead is further advanced this, coupled with French and British flank operations to the east and west, would create a situation that might well force further German withdrawal to escape envelopment on one side or the other of the American thrust.

Whether the enemy's resistance is along a definite line or is merely a screen behind which he is struggling either to prepare strong defense positions along the heights of the Vesle or to organize reserves could not be told.

The report that seventy-one German divisions had been concentrated in this section led to speculation as to the answer the Germans are planning to the striking victory General Foch has thus far achieved.

Secretary Baker said today that he favored announcement of the specific units engaged in the operations at the battle of Seray or the crossing of the Oureq.

MAN UNDER BOND HELD FOR ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE

SOCORRO, N. M., July 30.—E. J. Cockrain, who is said to have been implicated in the killing of Clay Cooper west of Magdalena some weeks ago, and who is under $10,000 bond as an accomplice, was arrested by Under-sheriff Baca here tonight by complaint of Cooper's widow.

According to the officials Mrs. Cooper learned that Cockrain was attempting to leave the state. She reported the fact here and when the man, accompanied by a man named Lapham, the state's chief witness in the case, appeared here in a wagon tonight they were detained. Additional bond has been asked for the men.

LOANS TO ALLIES PASS SIX BILLIONS

WASHINGTON, July 30.—In announcing today that credits given to allied governments by the United States have reached $6,492,040,000, treasury officials explained that secrecy would be maintained concerning the disposition of this money as a means of withholding information which might be valuable to the enemy.

The allies are getting about $10,000,000 a day from the United States. The treasury today advanced $100,000,000 to France, $5,000,000 to Belgium and $2,000,000 to Serbia.

NUNES WOULD PLEAD GUILTY TO MURDER

SOCORRO, N. M., July 30.—Stephen Nunes, who is charged with the killing of Ahlena Berela near Quemado thirty days ago, appeared in court here today and withdrew the plea of not guilty he filed upon his arraignment, substituting for it a plea of guilty.

Being under charge of first degree murder, however, the judges declined to pass sentence and it is probable that the plea or the charges will be changed.

FLIPS FROM THE FILLUMS

SESSUE HAYAKAWA in Paramount Pictures

Appears today for the last time at the "B" Theater in "Hidden Pearls."

AT THE THEATERS TODAY.

"B" Theater—Repeating "Hidden Pearls," with Sessue Hayakawa as the star; also the reel of "Current Events."

Cristal Opera House—Dark. Lorie Theater—Viola Dana comes to the Lyric today as the star in "Opportunity," also a reel of "Ford Weekly."

Pastime Theater—Max Marsh proved a drawing card yesterday, and she appears again today in "All Woman," the management will also repeat the comedy, "I Love Charles Albert."

AT THE "B"

At the "B" theater, today for the last time, Sessue Hayakawa appears as star in his latest Paramount photoplay, "Hidden Pearls," from the story of Beulah Marie Dix. Much of the action takes place out of doors, and the scene is laid in a remote South Sea island, of which Hayakawa is ruler, being the son of a native princess, last of her line, and an American pearl trader.

Falling in love with an alluring native maiden on his first visit to the island, Hayakawa proceeds to fall in love with her, the flashy, snobbish American girl, whom he has formerly almost worshipped.

Being called upon to portray this sudden and violent change of sentiment by a twist of the story, it is needless to say that the popular Japanese player has responded nobly to the call. Director Melford, who has directed Hayakawa with Fanny Ward in the Paramount picture, "The Coca," is responsible for a generous share of the success of the production as is the splendid cast.

AT THE LYRIC.

A fight that violated none of the boxing regulations of New York state was "pulled off" at the Metro studio in connection with Viola Dana's photodrama, "Opportunity," which will be the attraction at the Lyric theater today. "Opportunity" is a screen version of Edgar Franklyn's novelette of the same name which originally appeared in the All-Star Weekly. It has been directed by John H. Collins.

Not a cent was charged for admission even to the "ringside" seats, in this contest before the camera, and

VIOLA DANA - Metro Star

The antagonists were amateurs. A preliminary bout was fought between Willie Jerome and "Kid" Murray, to the satisfaction of the four hundred persons present as actors and spectators, but the real piece de resistance was the star bout between Joe Kearney and Bill McGarry. The keenest interest in the bout was shown by all present, but it was cruelly interrupted when Director Collins called for "action" by the star, and Viola Dana was obliged to commence the scene which put an end to the fighting in the ring, and centered attention on one of the "ringside" boxes, where many of the most interesting scenes in the picture take place.

AT THE PASTIME.

"The gladdest and the saddest face on the screen," which the amiable Mae Marsh is said to possess, comes to delight the admirers of the Goldwyn star in "All Woman," by E. Lloyd Sheldon, at the Pastime theater for the first time today.

In a role replete with great dramatic opportunities, in which the winsome charm of the airy star is afforded wide scope, Mae Marsh promises to give the screen world a sensation. The originality of the play, its gripping human qualities and its steady, certain development up to the moment of the powerful climax leave nothing to be desired. "All Woman" is not just a photodrama, but a compelling example of what Goldwyn is doing to dignify and strengthen the literature of the silent drama.

As the working girl who inherits neither money nor vast estates, but a mountain hotel, Mae Marsh is said to exhibit the most appealing phase of her undisputed talents. When she discovers that it is not a luxurious holiday home which she has become owner, but a resort of evil reputation, Miss Marsh portrays all the pangs of girlish disillusionment. From that moment until the last scene in the play the story of "All Woman" gains in steady, cumulative power until the chance is given the girl from the city to reach a moment of glorious self-sacrifice for the man she loves.

40 MOTORS IN CORTEGE AT JARAMILLO FUNERAL

Funeral services for Ruperto Jaramillo, 52 years old, prominent rancher and politician of Valencia county, who dropped dead at his home in Coyote Springs Sunday morning, were held in Sacred Heart church at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

The funeral cortege, consisting of forty motor cars, left the home in Coyote Springs at 8 o'clock and arrived at the church at 9:30 o'clock. The Rev. Father Cordova officiated. A Spanish judge of which Jaramillo was a member furnished pallbearers and officiated at the grave. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery on South Broadway.

Two motor cars were required to transport the many handsome floral offerings to the cemetery. Many of the motors contained prominent citizens of Peralta, Los Lunas, Socorro and other cities where Jaramillo was well known.

HUNS DIDN'T PAID CENSUS FIGURES VIEW OF WRITER

One Familiar With Situation Gives Interesting Account of How Germany Is Getting Her Cannon Fodder.

(By Frederick W. Wyle, an American Journalist, formerly The Daily Mail Correspondent in Berlin.)

Germany's apparently inexhaustible supply of man-power is common knowledge, as the Huns themselves boast it—becomes one of the increasingly mysterious problems of this endless war. Where does it come from? An American gentleman named Dr. George Usher is reported to have told the United States senate that "Germany had falsified her population statistics for twenty years preceding the war." In 1914 she had 68,000,000 inhabitants instead of the 68,000,000 she was supposed to have. Hindenburg gave this information to my daughters when they were visiting him in 1915," says Mr. Usher.

It is indeed, if true, an explanation of the man-power mystery. As an editor once said to a reporter who told him he knew positively that the world was coming to an end next day, it is important—if true.

The faked census story, of course, is not true. We have all heard it, and been eager to believe it. I lived in Berlin for thirteen years. Somehow I find it difficult to believe the systematic swindling would not have leaked out in Germany. The Huns are glib and a hyper-critical race. Before the war turned them the social democrats were no respecters of official secrets.

They specialized, on the contrary, in lying. They had a lively interest in knowing how many people there were in Germany. If there had been 68,000,000 there could have been 148,000 democrats in the Reichstag. Instead of 148,000, there were 148,000 Americans taking American young ladies, charming as the Misses Usher doubtless are, into his confidence on a matter of such overwhelming importance.

No. Personally I find the explanation of the Huns' seeming bottomless well of man-power in the premises of the Hindenburg "mass levy" law of 1916.

1. Every male German, from the completion of his 17th to the completion of his 60th year, is, in so far as he has not been summoned to service in the armed forces, liable to patriotic auxiliary service during the period of the war.

2. Patriotic auxiliary service consists, apart from service in government offices and other official institutions, in agriculture, in the raising of the sick, and in organization of every kind of an economic character connected with the war, as well as in other undertakings which are immediately or indirectly of importance for the conduct of the war or provision of the requirements of the people.

Every man up to 60 a soldier—in the trenches, in the shell factories, on the farms, in the hospitals, or on actual war work of some kind—therein it strikes me, is mainly to be found the solution of the German man power puzzle.

The Kaiser faces us in superior strength because the German war machine does not allow one solitary scrap of useful human strength to be wasted, except on the business of war. Conscientious objectors and exempted-for-the-asking are unknown in Germany in either peace or war.

I am assured that Ludendorff employs thousands of one-legged or one-armed men in the field. They have been taught to work machine guns, where are counted other kinds of work, he has discovered that they can do, even though crippled. I only chronicle it as a well-authenticated and significant bit of information.

Although German generals have commanded on many fronts, they have often directed the operations and slaughter of non-German divisions. Austrians, Hungarians, Turks and Italians have been driven into dozens of battles by Mackensen, for example, but these have not sapped German man power.

The most persuasive estimate of Germany's remaining fighting material that I have seen—published early in June in a prominent provincial newspaper—fixes the Huns' available man power at 6,000,000. The estimate is based on a total number of Germans mobilized since 1914 at 12,000,000, of whom half are said to have been definitely put out of action.

Writing early in 1917, Mr. Gerard estimated that Germany then had 6,000,000 available fighting men. Allowing for "attrition" of 5,000,000 during the intervening sixteen months the estimate above mentioned—that we have to meet and beat 6,000,000 Huns—impresses me as one that is fairly corroborated by the astute American ambassador's "inside" figures.

Let us allies watch out for one menace—that Germany, benefitting from allied procrastination in Russia, may mobilize arms and lead into battle against us the limitless man power of Russia. To me that is the most portentous possibility which the future holds. (By the International News Bureau, Inc., Boston, Mass.)

CEASELESS FIRE FROM BOTH SIDES RAISES INFERNO

Reuter Correspondent With Americans Says Entire Battle Area Swept by Constantly Increased Artillery Hail.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)

London, July 30.—The Reuter correspondent with the American army on the Aisne-Marne front sends the following under Tuesday's date: "Yesterday was a day of ceaseless fighting, in which little actual progress could be made, the enemy offered a most determined resistance and brought up fresh troops, but although he delayed us for a day, my conviction is unaltered that the Germans have no intention of standing this side of the Vesle."

Throughout yesterday the enemy's machine gun fire scarcely ceased, even when apparently more of our men were on the open. The first sweep every bit of cover where they might be expected to be, and during the morning was strongly backed by artillery, whose fire slackened in the afternoon, except at this hour when our attack on Seringes is in progress.

Guard Divisions Onset. "It was plain that the guard division had been utterly charmed by the loss of Seray the previous evening after four times having retaken it. Therefore it was no surprise when, shortly after dawn, they launched a fresh attack from both sides of the southern angle of the Vesle forest. The attack was backed by field guns and with a raged barrage on our second line and batteries, the enemy's gun positions above Cierges being well placed for a flanking fire, which the holders of Seray found most trying."

"They were forced to withdraw from it and fall back across the river. The enemy was permitted a few unpleasant hours of occupation during which he did his best to improve the defenses and dauntly brought some field guns to the brow of the hill above. But these apparently found the price of their daring much too high and the American gunfire too accurate, for their disappearance was more rapid than dignified."

Meurey Farm Fight. "As they fell back what one hopes may have been the last American attack on Seray developed. The guards apparently had been shaken by their exploit and though in a few instances they stayed to face the bayonet, the fighting was less desperate than the day before."

"Shortly after they recaptured Seray, the Americans who forced the passage of the Oureq overnight, advanced up the narrow valley, dividing the hill behind Seray and after a fight in which the bayonet and the rifle butt were almost alone used, took Meurey farm, about a mile up the valley."

"This was preliminary to an attack on Seringes. The enemy held Seringes in great strength. The village was also protected by machine gun nests on either side. The attack was an almost incredible affair for the coolness with which it was carried out and for the mere fact that it could be done under such conditions.

Shells Plough Earth. "The assaulting troops formed upon the south side of the Oureq on open ground. The enemy opened up on them a heavy fire of artillery and machine guns along the slopes east and west of the river. The ground in front of the advancing lines was ploughed by the enemy's fire and the advance was obscured by clouds of dust from the corn fields through which they were marching. Nevertheless the men forded the river with drill-like steadiness."

"It was a wonderful performance for any troops, astounding for troops so recently blooded, and as fine a feat as any to which the American army has been put."

Some Flew, Others Die. "The men went steadily up the slopes, silenced one after another the German machine gun nests, and swept on to the top of the hill, then, wheeling eastward, stormed the village. It was a fierce fight. There was no asking or giving quarter. The enemy was stout-hearted and the Americans, glad to find him so, they wanted that sort of a finish to their ordeal. Some of the Germans fled into Neales forest. The remainder are where they will remain—in the village."

"The last success of the day was the capture of hill 212, above Seray, which now can be held on much security terms."

"So, once more, the line is re-established, although the Germans are still apparently holding the pocket at Cierges, from which it seems nobody has yet turned them."

WOMEN WHO FACINATE

The art of fascination and attractiveness in women is founded on good health. Women who drag through long hours, days, weeks and sometimes months of suffering with headaches, backaches and dragging-down pains soon wear the tell-tale expression of woe and misery. If every such woman would only turn to that good old-fashioned root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, to alleviate such ailments it would surely prove the greatest aid to health and consequent beauty that she has ever known.

Huns Cry "Kamerad" to Iowans; Then Open Fire

With the American Army on the Aisne-Marne front, July 29 (by the Associated Press).—The crossing of the Ourcq river was effected by the Americans on Sunday in brilliant style in the face of great difficulties, the Germans having destroyed the bridges and placed their artillery and machine guns in advantageous positions to resist the passage.

The Franco-American forces had planned to cross the Ourcq before daylight on Sunday. The Americans repeatedly started to advance during the night but as often were held back by the fire of the enemy machine guns and heavier pieces.

During one of the lulls in the German firing, Captain Allen T. Hupp, of Corning, Ia., worked his men up to the center of a field, the slopes of which led to the Ourcq. Just then the Germans resumed their fire in full force. Immediately Hupp and his men dug in and held on where they were until daylight.

Meanwhile the German artillery had been quieted somewhat by the heavier artillery of the allies carrying out counter battery work.

Choosing an opportune moment, Hupp's men dashed to the river, jumped in with a splash and waded across, cheering as they went.

Corporal Chris Berthelsen of Sioux City, was among those of the first wave to cross the river. They immediately went after the machine guns on a hill on the north bank of the Ourcq. The fire which they opened on the enemy next at that point was so intense that the Germans raised a white flag.

Anticipating a nice bag of prisoners, the Americans rushed up, only to be opened upon again by the enemy machine guns as they approached. Then the Americans let loose with the full weight of their fire against the Germans, who again raised the white flag. Twenty Germans were killed and nine captured in this operation.

SIR ERIC GEDDES SAYS SEA PATROL PROVES SOLUTION OF SUB PROBLEM

Conditions a Year Ago Threatened to Cut Off England From Food Supply, First Sea Lord Declares.

INCREASES IN NAVIES OUTDISTANCED U-BOATS

Vast Tonnage in Merchant Ships Still Being Lost, but Sea Vipers Are Being Destroyed More Rapidly.

FIRST REPORTS HOLD IN TEXAS PRIMARY

London, July 30.—Sir Eric Geddes, first lord of the British admiralty, gave the house of commons today a review of the naval situation and particularly defended the policy of starting national ship building yards in discussing the ship building program in connection with the navy estimates.

The first lord compared the situation today regarding tonnage with that of a year ago. Then the net loss in tonnage, he said, was 550,000 tons monthly. Submarines then were not being destroyed as fast as the Germans were building them, and the merchant ship yards were short of men and material. Four hundred thousand tons net loss monthly was the British deficit. Every yard that could take naval work had been put on naval building.

GAINS ARE RECORDED.

Gradually during the year, he said, the position had changed in many directions. Instead of losing tonnage the world's net result in the last quarter had been a gain roughly of 190,000 tons a month. The allied and neutral world was as well off on June 30 as on January 1, 1918. This result, he declared, had been obtained by reduced sinkings and increased build-ups.

The reduced sinkings had been arrived at, he said, by a greater productive effort devoted to war-ships and small craft of an anti-submarine character. Nothing was included of commandeered or acquired tonnage in this result.

Fearing Outcome.

"The problem of a year ago was considered by many almost incon-

Phoenix, Ariz., July 30.—From twenty-five to fifty skeletons were found in three caves on an Indian reservation twenty-two miles southwest of the city today. An investigation by the sheriff's office of one of the caves was not completed today. Eight skeletons were found intact in the farther recesses of this cave and skeletons were seen in the other two caves but they were not examined. The search will be continued tomorrow.

The skeletons were those of adults and children, one of them being less than two feet in length. It had on a dress the bottom of which was trimmed with lace. Spoons and cups were scattered about. The nickel-plated furnishings of some of the spurs were but slightly tarnished. The clothing of the skeletons was but little worn. The shoes of one showed no signs of wear.

CONFEREES TO FIX CUBAN SUGAR PRICE

New York, July 30.—The price to be paid in the United States for Cuban sugar next year has been referred to representatives of the two governments for determination at a conference of American and Cuban sugar interests to be held in Washington, according to a statement issued here today by George M. Walsh, chairman of the international sugar committee.

While the international sugar committee recognized the need of meeting the increased cost of production in Cuba, shown in a brief filed with the committee by Cuban representatives to amount to more than half a cent a pound, Mr. Walsh's statement said that "on account of divergence of views of the members of the Cuban mission from the views of the members of the international sugar committee as to the price, it was decided to refer the question to both governments in the hope that an early and mutually satisfactory adjustment of price may be made."

Dehydration Principle in Food Is Satisfactory Aid to Conservation

U. S. Food Administration.

Three methods of drying fruit and vegetables.

- (1) The gas oven is an ideal drier, the ventilation is perfect.
- (2) The material is being dried.
- (3) The cover head is tilted with vegetables which dry from surplus heat passing up from the stove.

The principle of dehydration particularly as applied to fruits has been known throughout the ages; but application of that principle in a thoroughly satisfactory way is a very recent development. Dehydrated foods are natural products from which the water only has been removed. If the water is restored the product returns to a condition so closely approaching that of the fresh that when cooked it is in all respects comparable with the fresh. No chemicals are added in the new process—no sulphur, bleach or dye to imitate the natural color.

These products have been found to have the same nutritive value as the fresh and they are perfectly unaltered, when properly cooked, in physical texture and taste. Army officers have investigated these dried products carefully for barracks and camp rations, and considering them from all points of view, testify almost unqualifiedly in their favor. Dietitians in hospitals commend the healthfulness, uniformity, and palatability of the dehydrated foods, even for infants. The civilian population has found properly dehydrated foods practically as good as the fresh vegetable for which they are substituted and more economical. The Subsistence Division of the Quartermaster's Department of the Army has purchased several thousand tons of dehydrated products for use in France.

Dehydration reduces bulk from one-third to one-fifth and weight from one-sixth to one-twelfth. This process will conserve great quantities of vegetables and fruits that would otherwise go to waste. It will, through the use of mechanical devices, eliminate waste from trimming, packing, curing, avoid unnecessary handling, and be an enormous saving in tonnage, and at the same time lose nothing in attractiveness and palatability.

Properly dried products keep indefinitely, if excluded from moisture, as germs of decay cannot grow on dry material and chemical changes take place in it with extreme slow-

COAL SHIPMENTS BEHIND SCHEDULE SHORTAGE FEARED

Unusual Demands From Oversea Causes Diminished Supply in New England; State's Board Takes Action.

Washington, July 30.—Increasing demands for coal from overseas and for the emergency fleet, army, navy and other government operations threaten the New England fuel supply for next winter. Shipments to New England are behind the schedule figured on the ratio of production necessary to supply the needs of the district, it became known.

Bituminous coal production in Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia, the three states assigned to supply the New England district, was on July 13 at a ratio of 77,000,000 tons for the coal year beginning April 1, while production on that date should have been at the rate of 91,600,000 tons. Out of the allotment for New England, coal must come also for the emergency fleet, army, navy and other government operations.

These facts were brought out at a conference attended by Chairman Harwich of the war industries board, Chairman Hurley of the shipping board, representatives of the railroad administration and Fuel Administrator Garfield.

J. J. Storrow, fuel administrator for all of New England, is said to have represented at the meeting that the situation in New England would not permit any cutting of the allotment. This was in response to a suggestion that his territory had been granted a greater allotment than needed.

William McQuillan had boarded at the Tualatin hotel in Hillsboro Ore., for twenty years. So when the proprietors decided to get out of business McQuillan bought the hotel so he could keep on living there.

There are 100,000 Smiths listed in the allotment and allowance files of the war risk insurance bureau.

HONESTY IS CHIEF TRAIT OF ITALIANS

Headquarters Italian Army, July 30.—Italy ought to be called the country of unlocked doors, said E. C. Thwaites, of Milwaukee, who is now in charge of the American Red Cross work on a large section of this front.

"I think honesty is the chief trait of the Italians," he said. "The best proof of this general statement is that I never lock my hotel door anywhere in Italy, nor do any other Americans after they have been here a few weeks. We go away from our hotels, perhaps for days at a time, leaving our doors unlocked and all our personal belongings at the mercy of the first comer, and yet we never dream of locking anything, either through hotel servants or transients."

"Out on the front you can leave your automobile standing anywhere you will like, with your overcoats or any other belongings, and be sure that nothing will be disturbed. At that there may be plenty of poor fellows about who would most gladly accept any small present."

MILLION TONS OF STEEL NEEDED IN SCHWAB PROGRAM

Requirement of Emergency Fleet Corporation Includes Reserve Supply To Be Ready Next November.

Washington, July 30.—Steel requirements of the shipping board for the next three months call for 1,000,000 tons, an increase of 250,000 tons over the regular monthly schedule for that period. This increase is desired so as to provide a reserve of 1,330,000 tons by November.

The requirements, it was learned tonight, were placed before the steel manufacturers of the country by Director General Schwab of the Emergency Fleet corporation, at the meeting held yesterday in New York.

The reserve stock is regarded by Mr. Schwab as a stimulus to production and plans have been made to keep it intact. Allocation of the present reserve of 1,989,000 tons is fairly good, according to the shipping board officials, although several Pacific coast yards are still in need of steel.

The steel schedule of the shipping board calls for delivery of 250,000 tons monthly, but it was said that request has been made by Mr. Schwab that deliveries during August, September and October be increased approxi-

WEDNESDAY, JULY 31, 1918

THE GERMAN-TURKISH BREAK

The breach in relations between the central powers and the Ottoman empire may not, in its present status, be regarded as any real advantage to the allies.

The Turkish army is in a large part officered by Germans and even if there were a serious difference between the Constantinople government and the Berlin war office, the Ottoman would be almost powerless in his opposition to Germany.

A significant condition, however, hinted in yesterday's dispatches, was the dissatisfaction existing among the young Turk party.

A revolt against the German sway in their country could easily develop strength enough to be a real menace to Germany in the Balkans. It is in the Balkans that German arms, and more particularly, German diplomacy, have achieved their greatest successes.

One can't blame von Hindenburg for dying or getting sick; probably the Kaiser isn't feeling any too chipper himself.

BRITISH-AMERICAN PULPITS

The solidarity of the American and British peoples which is now finding many forms of expression in its origin ethical. Its first expression was a common moral repugnance awakened by the rape of Belgium by Germany.

Out of that moral repugnance came the common affirmation that for nations even nominally Christian to stand by with folded hands while these things went on would be to surrender the hope of a Christian civilization for the world.

The world which is to be made safe for democracy must also remain possible for Christianity, for a world without that hope is what is meant by a lost world.

The task of the moment is to maintain at the high level of its origin the moral solidarity of the English speaking peoples, and in this task a natural leadership falls to the Christian churches of Britain and America.

A feature of the session was the presence during the third meeting of Sir Robert Borden, prime minister of Canada; Mr. W. M. Hughes, prime minister of Australia; Mr. W. F. Massey, prime minister of New Zealand; Mr. W. F. Lloyd, prime minister of Newfoundland, and other ministers of the overseas dominions of the British empire, who were presented by Mr. Lloyd George.

On behalf of the Supreme War Council, M. Clemenceau and Signor Orlando tendered to these representatives the thanks of the allied nations for the very great services rendered on the battlefield during the war by the dominion troops.

The Supreme War Council considered the present situation of the war in all respects in conjunction with General Foch and other military advisers, and came to important decisions in regard thereto.

Among those present during the session were M. Clemenceau, Mr. Lloyd George, Signor Orlando, M. Pichon, Mr. Balfour, Lord Milner, Baron Sonnino, General Foch, Sir Henry Wilson, Field-Marshal Sir Douglas Haig, General Pershing and the permanent military representatives at Versailles.

It is a formidable array of statesmen and soldiers, and one wonders what may be the emotions of the German general staff when it reads the names.

MINOR REVERSES

Yesterday's dispatches brought word of the first setback to American arms since the Sammies took their place on the fighting front. Heretofore reports have been only of victories, some important, others less so, but all told of successes.

It would be foolish for anyone to expect nothing but triumphs from our men in France, although there are those who do. No one doubts the fighting qualities of the Americans, but at the same time, no one doubts the fighting qualities of the Germans, at least no one who thinks logically about the war.

A number of young men who have been in minor engagements, and seen a few prisoners, perhaps, have written home that the Germans were not much good as fighters. Set that against the fact that the Germans have stood off the world for four years and there is but another conclusion self-evident.

England and France long ago passed the stage of looking on the enemy with contempt as to his fighting ability, and America, no matter how much we may despise the tactics employed by Germany, must recognize the power the country has displayed in the past and may still display, although there is no reason to doubt that that power is rapidly ebbing.

America must be ready, if times do come, to accept unwaveringly reverses to our arms. France and England have withstood them for four years; some of them so overwhelming that any but the most tenacious and steadfast peoples would have weakened.

The Americans being driven out of two positions yesterday is nothing to worry about.

The next river north of the Aisne is a tributary to the Rhine.

AMERICA'S WAR AIM

This time last year it was still in doubt whether, with all its zeal and resources, America might not be doomed to the helpless watching of a struggle in which she could exert no powerful influence.

We need to keep both these aspects of American intervention in mind. America will make war as powerfully and skilfully, when she has got into her stride, as any of the nations now at war, but she makes it with a definite purpose, which president Wilson has declared to be the "absolute disinterested" one of ending the conditions which cause war, and making the world "safe for democracy."

It is something new in the history of the world and in the history of warfare that a nation should pledge the whole of its resources and send its men by the million across thousands of miles of sea for a purpose which the chief of its state declares to be "absolutely disinterested," to be a world purpose and not a national purpose.

There are cynics who say that the thing cannot be believed of so shrewd and business-like people as the American, and who therefore cast about for all manner of indirect commercial or economic motives. They are profoundly mistaken. It is these ideal war-aims and no others that are leading the American people in the west and middle west as well as the east, and rousing them to unheard-of efforts and enthusiasm.

And it is the American impulse which will best help Europe through the last stage of this struggle and enable the allies to turn it finally to account for the good of the world.

SUPREME WAR COUNCIL

The supreme War Council has held its seventh session. It offered its earnest congratulations to the Italian army and people on their memorable defeat of the Austro-Hungarian army.

In their judgment, this victory, gained at a critical period of the war, has been an invaluable contribution towards the eventual success of the allied cause.

A feature of the session was the presence during the third meeting of Sir Robert Borden, prime minister of Canada; Mr. W. M. Hughes, prime minister of Australia; Mr. W. F. Massey, prime minister of New Zealand; Mr. W. F. Lloyd, prime minister of Newfoundland, and other ministers of the overseas dominions of the British empire, who were presented by Mr. Lloyd George.

"YANKEE KID." The fiery story of a plucky boy from Louisville, Kentucky, who overrode all barriers, ran away to war when he was fourteen and experienced all its horrors and wonders.

CAPTURED BY GERMAN RAIDERS. Captain Cameron, whose bark, the Beluga was captured in the Pacific by the German sea raider Wolf, describes the capture as follows:

RUSSIAN INDUSTRIAL LOSSES. A Reuter message from Petrograd April 11, says the commissariat of commerce has issued a summary of what Russia has lost by the peace treaty of Brest-Litovsk.

FRANCIS CHANGE REPORTED. Washington, July 29.—Unconfirmed reports reached the state department today that Ambassador Francis has moved his headquarters from Volodga to Archangel.

TRAMP. I answered, "Have a look, and I'll handed him the binoculars. After studying her for a while he said: 'By God, Captain, I don't know her nationality, but she carries the largest crew I've ever seen.'"

Food Sleuth at Artesia Finds Honest Patriotic Soda Dispenser

(By W. M. Todd.) Artesia, July 29.—Centuries ago a cynical old chap, Xylept Diogenes, went about in the night time with a tallow candle looking for an honest man.

It appears that some one, through erroneous information, or reason best known to himself, reported to the state food inspector that a certain dispenser of soda fountain libations here was not only wasteful of sugar in the manufacture of his syrups but that he was constantly violating the government food regulations.

This information brought an inspector here as quick as he could come. Going to the soda fountain proprietor's place or business here was informed that the proprietor was in the back room making syrups. Permission granted, the inspector entered the room just as a batch of fresh syrups was being mixed.

Noticing that no sugar was entering into the mixture, the inspector remarked with a feigned air of ignorance that he had supposed that syrups required sugar, to which the proprietor replied that he used no sugar, but used honey instead.

Later on, the inspector returned to the imbiber and explained everything. He said the man he had come to quiz the highest kind of a compliment, and congratulated him upon his honesty and patriotism.

A Talk With Kerensky (By William Colley.) London, July 10.—It was an interesting experience to meet and talk with Alexander Kerensky.

"I arrived in London last week," Kerensky told me. "It is not for me to say at the moment how I escaped detection. It is sufficient to say I had exciting experiences from my sojourning place near Moscow until I reached the port of embarkation on the north."

"I ultimately got safely on board and landed at a northern port in your country a week ago. I came to London two days later, and was here walking freely about with my friends quite unknown."

"The week-end in London was perfectly delightful." Here he hesitated. His voice was a most noticeable quality, metallic and resonant. His pauses are most eloquent and meaningful.

"I have been hunted. I have been ill, and at the point of death. I have come not to beg nor complain, but in obedience to my duty as a patriotic Russian and as a man, to use all my power to tell the allied powers the truth of Russia and Russian feeling as it is today."

"Our army was the first to faint. We know we were being beaten. We were sent to the western powers. Alas! They were unheeded."

"When the revolution came it could not immediately revise the spirit of the army and repair the neglect of years. It could not battle successfully with the insidious German intrigue."

"Today Russia is under ruthless restraint." I answered, "Have a look, and I'll handed him the binoculars. After studying her for a while he said: 'By God, Captain, I don't know her nationality, but she carries the largest crew I've ever seen.'"

"I snatched the glasses out of his hand. Sure enough; by that time her rails both forward and aft were black with men in the regulation men-of-war jumpers. Even then I did not think of her being a German."

"Suddenly she changed her course, heading to pass directly under my stern. At the same moment she broke out the German Imperial navy ensign at her jack staff. I knew that the day marked a crisis in the lives of any of us who were American or British born. And then, like a stab at my heart, the thought of my wife and child left me numb and cold."

"Then we're going below to change our frocks," said she. "It won't do for Juanita to meet strangers at sea in her overalls, looking like a boy."

"So they hurried down, thinking of their looks above everything, as the sea always does, and I suppose being spoken at sea is the nearest to a social affair you'd find. The steamer was getting closer by this time and her hull was plainly visible. To all appearances she was the ordinary black painted dingy looking ocean tramp. I studied her intently through the glass, trying to discern something about her that would show her nationality."

"Mr. Buckert, my chief officer, came along to where I was standing. 'Can you make her out?' he asked. 'She's either a British or a Jap'

After its shameless exhibitions had caused it to be reported to the magistratus of the town of Aschaffenburg for bringing women of a certain class there under the fraudulent pretence of giving theatrical performances, the "Berlin Stage Society," as it was then called, had fled to Dresden.

The behavior of the company there was denounced as "a scandal without parallel." It was indeed a shameless degradation of art to the purpose of immorality as well as an infamous deception of the public.

We call on the authorities to take immediate steps to stop this so-called "performance" and effectually to prevent these people from visiting other towns.

PASTORS CHOSEN AS AUXILIARIES TO 4-MINUTE MEN

Lawrence Lee and C. M. Hots, state and local chairmen of the four-minute-men, respectively, last night appointed Albuquerque clergymen as four-minute speakers with authority to present the government's messages to their congregations. Dr. Alonzo Bright of the Methodist church, and the Rev. E. P. Atwood of the Baptist convention of New Mexico, were appointed by Mr. Lee for special work in the districts they cover for their respective churches. The other ministers who have local work entirely were appointed by Mr. Hots. The clergymen were given the privilege of presenting the four-minute messages in any way they see fit. Some will probably make their four-minute addresses as a prelude to their sermon, while others, it is thought, will probably deliver a four-minute talk at some time in the service prior to the regular sermon.

The first four-minute talks by the clergymen will be made at the churches Sunday, the subject matter being "The Mobilization of Man Power." The action of the clergymen and the four-minute-men last night is only the carrying out of a plan which has already been endorsed by the various churches of the state. The meeting last night was held at the Y. M. C. A. and Mr. Rogers entered the employ of the Wright Clothing company as one of the clerks. While at Globe, Mr. Rogers was the head clerk of the largest clothing store of that town. Judge M. C. Alchem and wife of Socorro spent yesterday in Albuquerque. From here the judge went to Santa Fe where he will occupy the supreme bench for a short time in the places of judges who failed to qualify for certain cases. He then will return here on business.

Russell Edgar arrived in the city yesterday from the Jemez Springs. He will return to the spring today with Col. W. S. Hopewell. Russell has gained quite a reputation as a fisherman, and when out on trips with others usually gets a few more to his credit than his companions. Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Griego and the latter's mother, Mrs. Albert Ruiz, with D. R. Patterson, of Gallup, are in the city after a stay of ten days at the Jemez Springs. They will return to Gallup tomorrow. Yesterday Patterson enlisted in the navy service at the local recruiting office. Ernest A. Davis, who recently left for San Antonio, where he is to become a member of the army truck corps, was presented with a handsome wrist watch and belt case. He is exalted ruler of the Elks lodge here. Mrs. Davis was presented with a handsome bunch of American Beauty roses.

PORTALES WOMAN FACES SUGAR HOARDING CHARGE

That a prominent woman of Portales, N. M., probably will be brought before food administration officials here for a rehearing on a charge of "hoarding" in the purchase of sugar, was a statement yesterday of the state administrator. The administrator says the food hoards are in possession of facts that lead them to believe the woman has been systematically hoarding sugar and that she purchased the sugar under the guise of canning. The charge is that she has purchased 200 pounds "for canning" and that she has canned only fifty-five quarts of fruit, when it is said, should not require more than twenty-five pounds of sugar.

SENATOR UPTON PAYS VISIT TO ALBUQUERQUE

"Uncle Jimmy" Upton of Deming, N. M., was a guest of Albuquerque business men yesterday. "Uncle Jimmy" is recognized throughout the state as one of the leading cowmen and ranchers and has the further distinction of being a "Democratic War Horse." He attended the constitutional convention of the state and formerly was a member of the territorial council. It is whispered among prominent democrats of the state that Mr. Upton may be offered the nomination for governor.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

Graham S. Ogden, 25 years old, died at his apartment in the Highlands at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning. He is survived by a wife, a small daughter, his mother and a sister. The body was prepared for burial by Strong Brothers and will be sent today to New Orleans, La., for funeral services and burial.

EMPLOYMENT BOARDS ANNOUNCED HERE BY LABOR OFFICIALS

The United States employment service here yesterday announced the final appointment of the state organization committee and local labor community board. Some difficulties were experienced in getting talent for the appointments but these will be ironed out at a meeting here Saturday. The appointments of each division follow:
State organization committee—J. H. Wagner, chairman; H. B. Karr and George A. Kaseman.
Local labor community board—George P. Mahoney, chairman; James Volow and George A. Kaseman.

FINANCE CORPORATION TO AID SOLVENT BANKS

R. L. Van Zandt, governor of the federal reserve bank of Dallas, Tex., has issued a formal statement in which he explains the actions of the war finance corporation toward solvent and well organized banks and trust companies. The statement as presented to the Morning Journal follows:
Following the announcement in today's newspapers to that effect, I take pleasure in officially advising you that in order to assist the banks in this district to extend credit freely to deserving farmers and craftsmen where necessary to insure the preservation of their essential industries in locations where drought has seriously impaired their productivity, the war finance corporation of the United States is willing to make advances under Section 7 of the war finance corporation act, to solvent and well managed banks and trust companies in this federal reserve district, whether or not members of the federal reserve system.

A STUDY IN "PINK" AT THE "ECONOMIST"

All day yesterday the east show window of "The Economist" was besieged with admiring femininity. "The Economist" trimmer, Mr. MacGregor, has indeed done himself proud in this bewitching display of silk underwear and negligee accessories, and many are the compliments paid this store and the decorator for the rich and artistic display. The Journal advises the ladies of Albuquerque, when downtown today, to take a peep at this truly beautiful and wonderful "pink" window.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express to our many friends and relatives for their devotion during the long illness of our daughter and niece Hazel, and our thanks for their many attentions. Their sympathy in our bereavement will do much to alleviate our sorrow. We wish to thank them too for their many beautiful floral offerings.

SCHOOL BOARD REJECTS BIDS FOR BUILDING

The building program of the board of education of Albuquerque schools is indefinitely postponed. This action was taken at a meeting of the board yesterday, when bids were received on the construction of a new grade building in the south part of the highlands and on sub-contract work. The board received two bids, on the main construction work and several for sub-contract work. The estimated cost of the building, as announced by the board was $36,000. The cost, as figured from the various bids, would be, at the present time, from $76,000 to $92,000. Following a short discussion the board rejected all bids, a right that was reserved in the request for bids.

The problem of housing the increased number of students is a serious one. At best only makeshift arrangements can be made. The additional pupils will be housed in annexes to the schools and in the library building. "We can't spend that much money," one official said last night. "So we will ask the people as a patriotic measure to be content with our plans, which, I assure you, will be made to the best of our ability. Of course we will not be so well equipped without the building, but still we will be able to handle the pupils."
