TRAIN SERVICE PARALYZED BY FLOODS ON COAST

Soft Track and Washed Out Bridges Delay Traffic on Both Santa Fe and Southern Pacific Routes.

WEEK OF RAIN BRINGS GRIEF TO RAILROADS

Two Lives Lost and Immense Property Damage Reported From California, Cajon Pass Trouble Ties Up Two Lines.

(By Morning Journal Special Lensed Wire.) San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 10.—The train service on the Southern Pacific between here and Los Angeles is at a complete standstill as a result of a washout and slides on the lines of the coast and valley divisions. No train has been able to get through from here to Los Angeles by way of the coast line since Monday. Tuesday morning's trains got as far as Tejon, a little station near Los Angeles. Since then the trains in the interior have been stormbound by uncharted slides at either end of the Tejon and Ventura on the coast division there are a number of landslides that render traffic impossible. It is believed that service can be resumed before the end of the week.

The sun shone brightly in southern California today after a week of almost constant rain and storm. The floods which have caused the loss of two lives at Longport, Santa Barbara county, one in Orange county and another in Los Angeles, and entailed immense property damage, are subsiding. The railroad situation in Los Angeles today is the worst in recent years. The Southern Pacific is the worst affected. Only its eastern line is operating.

The Santa Fe reports that the landslides at Cajon Pass were cleared this morning and delayed westbound trains have proceeded nearly to Bernardino, where they are delayed again by dangerous tracks. Trains due to depart for the east this morning were annulled.

The Salt Lake road too is temporarily tied up by the Cajon Pass slide, where it uses the Santa Fe line. Westbound trains due at Los Angeles yesterday are expected tonight. Eastbound trains will be held pending their arrival.

Soft Track Delays Traffic.

San Jose, Cal., Jan. 10.—Warm sunshine and showers today following clearing weather. The snow is rapidly melting from Mount Hamilton and the Santa Cruz ranges. The coast train south last night got through only as far as San Luis Obispo, and this morning the "coaster" and the "shore line limited" were consolidated to run to Surf, with the hope of reaching through to Los Angeles.

SCHMITZ' ATTORNEY OFFERS TO FIGHT HENEY

Lawyers in San Francisco Graft Case Almost Come to Blows.

San Francisco, Jan. 10.—Just before the supreme court heard today the hearing of Mayor Schmitz for an order releasing him from custody on a writ of habeas corpus, Assistant District Attorney Francis J. Henevy and Charles F. Fairall, one of the attorneys for Schmitz, nearly came to blows over what Henevy terms an unwarranted interference on the part of Schmitz' attorney in the work of the district attorney's office. Sheriff O'Neill was seated at the end of the bar revising a typewritten copy of the returns to the writ of habeas corpus, beside him and consulting with him were Assistant District Attorney Henevy and the sheriff's attorney, T. C. West. Fairall, who had been seated some distance away, joined the group and offered the suggestion that the sheriff should stipulate in a certificate stating that the mayor surrendered himself into custody for the sole purpose of asking for the writ. Henevy explained that he did not know by what right Fairall "interfered" with instructions on such a matter.

"Oh, I'm not instructing the sheriff," said Fairall. "I was just asking you if you wanted it."

"Well, I don't know what right you have as the attorney for the defendant to offer advice to the district attorney. We don't need it," Henevy retorted with some feeling.

This caused Fairall to lose his temper and he shouted:

"Who are you, anyhow? I will put your nose and skin your face."

"No, you won't," answered Henevy, advancing toward him with clenched fists. "I am big enough to take care of you or a dozen like you."

Other attorneys looked on, and provoked any further trouble. At the request of the attorneys for Schmitz and with the consent of Henevy, the case was continued to January 11.

PLAN TO PREVENT THE EXTINCTION OF BISON

Association Would Purchase All of the Animals Now Living and Present Them to Government.

New York, Jan. 10.—Plans for the preservation of the American bison were discussed here today at a meeting of the American Bison Association. It was stated that there are 2,250 in North America, of which 1,400 are in the United States, and in view of the rapidly with which the animals have disappeared in recent years, it was argued that they will soon become extinct unless effectual steps are taken to foster them.

The society decided to make an effort to purchase practically all the remaining buffalo in this country and Canada and present them to the United States government. By so doing it hopes the government will set aside large tracts of land where the bison may be raised on a large scale.

The society decided to look into the practicability of locating several herds of buffalo on the Flathead Indian reservation in northwestern Montana and in the Crow reservation in southwestern Wyoming. Morton J. Elrod of the University of Montana will be asked to report to the society upon the possibilities of the Flathead reservation.

FREIGHT TRAIN DASHES DOWN MOUNTAIN SIDE

Santa Fe Freight Makes Nine Miles in Six Minutes Landing in Ditch—Nobody Hurt.

Bakersfield, Cal., Jan. 10.—At 5 o'clock this morning an extra eastbound Santa Fe train broke in two at Rowan, a small station near the summit of Tehachah mountain, and the rear section composed of sixteen cars, two "hog" locomotives and a caboose, dashed down the steep mountain grade to a curve a short distance from Bakersfield, where all but five cars and a locomotive are now jammed in a pile of twisted steel and splintered timbers. So far as known no one was killed, all the trainmen having jumped. From Bakersfield to Boulderville is a distance of nine miles and down this grade the heavy runaway train made the distance in the terrifying time of six minutes. Inhabitants of the mountain town were awakened by the deafening roar of the flying cars and the crash when the speeding runaway hit the curve.

JAPAN ABANDONS NAVAL VISIT TO SAN FRANCISCO

Training Squadron Will Terminate Cruise at Honolulu.

Tokyo, Jan. 10.—The Japanese government has decided that on account of the anti-Japanese agitation in the north of the United States, the Japanese ambassador to the United States has not been officially notified of the Tokyo government's decision to allow the training squadron to proceed to San Francisco.

"The visit of a Japanese fleet to the Pacific coast at this time," said Mr. Hanahara, "might occasion a renewal of the controversy, and as the Japanese government is desirous of maintaining the present cordial relations with this government it has been considering for several weeks the advisability of postponing the visit of the fleet to the Pacific coast."

Mr. Hanahara, in response to an inquiry, expressed his opinion that San Francisco would have extended a welcome to the fleet. Representative Kahn of San Francisco suggests that the government should take an advisory role in the matter.

RIGID INQUIRY OF LYNCHING ORDERED

IOWA JUDGE DENOUNCES MOB AS MURDERERS

Court Urges Indictment of Those Participating in the Hanging of Aged Wife Murderer Cullen at Charles City.

Charles City, Ia., Jan. 10.—Denouncing as mob murderers the men who last night lynched Charles Cullen, slayer of his wife and step son, Judge C. H. Kelly today instructed the grand jury to continue a rigid investigation with a view to placing the blame. He insisted that Cullen was legally entitled to full protection of the law from the mob.

The crime of which James Cullen was accused and which was doubtless committed by him," said the judge, "pales into insignificance when compared with the deliberate act of an organized mob. You may have some doubt as to the guilt or innocence of James Cullen. His case is in the hands of God. But he was murdered and every person who actively participated in the act is equally guilty of murder."

Judge Kelly already has heard testimony from a member who saw the lynching last night, among them Ensign Haper, of the Salvation Army, who invited the condemned man to pray.

MORE ARRESTS PROBABLE IN NEW YORK LIFE CASE

District Attorney Strongly Opposes Motion for Acquittal of Men For Inspection of Minutes of Grand Jury.

New York, Jan. 10.—More arrests may be made in connection with the investigation of the New York Life Insurance company, according to a statement issued by District Attorney Jerome. The announcement was made while the district attorney was opposing an argument of counsel for George W. Perkins, now under indictment in the New York Life case, for an injunction of the entire minutes of the December grand jury. Mr. Jerome said that it would be in defiance of public policy to grant such a request, as there are persons mentioned in the evidence who have not yet been arrested, but who may be at some future time. No decision was reached today, the court directing counsel for both sides to submit in duplicate of the verbal arguments.

Lewis L. Dolanfeld, speaking for Mr. Perkins, said a terrible mistake had been made in that the grand jury had misapprehended the evidence. The attorney declared that there was no evidence that a crime had been committed. He said that the facts generally surrounding the case were such as should cause the grand jury to doubt the sufficiency of the evidence on which the indictments were found. Mr. Dolanfeld said that his client had not been subpoenaed and that he had not been warned of his constitutional rights.

Mr. Jerome answered that mere denial was not sufficient to gain the inspection of the minutes of the grand jury. Mr. Jerome said that he would submit to the district attorney a transcript of his own testimony, but that the other proceedings before the jury must remain secret. "I may say in your honor," the district attorney continued, "that the evidence given before the grand jury refers to a number of persons who have not been arrested as yet, but who may be subsequently arrested. Public policy demands that this evidence should not be spread abroad. I heard all the evidence in this case, and concurred in the truth of the presentment, but not in its wisdom. The names of the men indicted were undoubtedly, but there is a vast difference between motive and intent."

INSOLVENT NEVADA CONCERN PAYS MINERS

Salt Lake City, Jan. 10.—A special issue of the Herald from Goldfield, Nev., says that every miner in the employ of the Sullivan Trust company received his pay $27,000 being distributed. The mines will be closed until the affairs of the company are straightened out. The liabilities are about $300,000, all due to brokers with whom the firm did business and the assets include 2,275,220 shares of stock, having a market value of $1,900,000. An officer of the company attributes its embarrassment to the action of the Tokyo government which has been taken on advice of the Japanese consul general at San Francisco.

attorney issued today by the court of appeals of Kentucky. The petitioners declared that Special Judge William Carnes of Williamson County was appointed by Governor Beckham to try the case of Judge Hargis and others charged with the assassination of ME. COURT ORDERS SPECIAL PANEL TO TRY THAW

Prospective Jurymen Ordered to Appear January 21.

New York, Jan. 10.—An order for a special panel in the case of Harry K. Thaw charged with the murder of Stanford White, was signed by Justice Fitzgerald in the supreme court today. The order calls for a special panel of 200 laymen for a special jury to appear in court on Monday, January 21. This action on the part of Justice Fitzgerald appears to dispose of rumors that difference of opinion between the justice and the district attorney might result in a postponement of the beginning of the Thaw trial. Evidence of this feeling was shown only a few hours before the order was signed when the justice refused an application made for such an order by the district attorney. Mr. Jerome was told at that time that a proceeding looking to the procurement of such an order already had been begun by Mr. Garvan of District Attorney Jerome, and that it should be completed before any further action was taken. The trouble was adjourned later, however, and the necessary signature was affixed to the order.

JAPANESE BARRED FROM CITIZENSHIP

Circuit Courts of United States Have Said Debarred Matter Never Carried to Supreme Court.

Washington, Jan. 10.—Naturalization authorities here say the question of whether Japanese subjects can become citizens of the United States already has been settled adversely by the circuit courts in the United States, which has declared that, not being either white persons or persons of African ancestry, they are not entitled to that privilege. The question, it is said, has never been taken to the supreme court of the United States. The decision of the circuit courts in constraining the law on this subject have been accepted by the naturalization officials as final.

Heretofore, either through misconception of the law or through ignorance, Japanese in some cases have been allowed to file declarations of intention to become citizens. The circuit orders have been given in this matter, and an effort will be made to have this practice stopped.

INDIANS MAKE TROUBLE FOR HITCHCOCK

SAY SECRETARY CAUSED THEM NEEDLESS EXPENSE

Petition Filed With Senate Alleges Undue Interference of Interior Department in Affairs of Cherokee Tribe.

Washington, Jan. 10.—David Burdick, Frank J. Boudinot and J. Henry Dick, representing the eastern Cherokee Indians today presented a petition to the senate committee...

The payment was made in connection with an effort to recover funds from the government and the eastern Cherokees contend that the sum was far in excess of the amount called for by their contract.

The Cherokee committee says concerning the employment of attorneys that after the services of the late W. B. Springer had been engaged, the Indians met with objections from Secretary Hitchcock and upon his recommendation made a new contract with the St. Louis law firm of Finkelberg, Nagel and Kirby.

A member of this firm, they say, is a brother of the son-in-law of Secretary Hitchcock.

They also declare that Mr. Springer was induced by a secret agreement to withdraw from his position as counsel and that after his death his estate received $18,000 from the money paid to the attorney.

It is also asserted that unfair means were used to secure the cooperation of Chief Boudinot in carrying into effect the contract with the St. Louis firm.

The senate committee has not taken up the petition and the members decline to give out anything concerning it or to forecast their course in dealing with it.

WANT MORE FUNDS TO UNCOVER RUINS AT CASA GRANDE

SMITHSONIAN SCHOLARS DEEPLY INTERESTED Declare Buried Village in Arizona One of Greatest of American Archaeological Treasures.

The Morning Journal Bureau, 1229 Pennsylvania Ave., N. W., Washington, D. C., Jan. 10. Acting secretary Richard Rathbun, of the Smithsonian institution, is calling on congress for an appropriation for the protection of the Casa Grande ruins in Arizona, and the continuation of investigations. In a communication on the subject submitted to the secretary of the treasury, which Mr. Shaw in turn has sent to his house, Mr. Rathbun predicts that if the investigations are completed they will result in uncovering one of the most interesting objects of antiquity in the United States, an American Pompeii for sightseers, and an object lesson for students of American archaeology and history.

This new American Pompeii will be located, Mr. Rathbun says, twelve miles from the Santa Fe railroad and eight miles from the Southern Pacific. It is located in Pinal county, Arizona, near the town of Florence. The Casa Grande group of mounds is composed of three walls of masonry buildings or compounds, now for the most part buried in the earth and much greater in extent than has been realized. With a $3,000 appropriation made by the last session, the walls of one of the compounds, 419 by 215 feet, can be partially excavated and protected.

The Smithsonian institution is seeking at this session an additional appropriation of $3,000 to carry on the work still further. Such an appropriation would make possible the excavation of a second compound, still larger than the one which will be excavated by the use of the appropriation of last spring.

It appears that next session, when the preliminary appropriation was made, it was without full knowledge of the great extent of the ruins. Since then Dr. Walter Peck, of the bureau of American ethnology, has been detailed to superintend the work of investigation and excavation and has reported that aside from the one ruin at first known to exist, other huge structures, built in remote antiquity, stand close to the one that has been partially uncovered.

CHIHUAHUA COAL SITUATION GRAVE

Can Get No Coal From Mexico Mines Because of Car Shortage and Suffering Is at Hand for the Poor.

"The commercial coal situation in Chihuahua is most critical, one at present," declared Superintendent W. F. Provence, of the Chihuahua division of the Mexican Central, in El Paso Tuesday afternoon.

"The electric light plant and the flour mill, that I know of, in Chihuahua, are using wood for fuel now," Mr. Provence continued. "There is actually no coal in the city and consumers are lucky to get wood."

"The Chihuahua division of the road has probably two months' coal supply on hand now. There are 25,000 tons of coal in the Juarez yards now and some scattered along the line, with a fair supply in the Chihuahua yards. The consumption of the division is 12,000 tons a month and our present supply on hand will not last much longer than eight weeks. We get the coal for the Chihuahua division from the Victor company, of Colorado, the San Antonio and the Dawson companies of New Mexico.

"We have a large order placed at these companies, but as we cannot get the coal on account of the car shortage, the railroads of the states have not the cars to give us and we have no cars we can lend for the transportation of the coal. If we should loan them they would probably be used for the carrying of commercial coal and we would not see them again for weeks."

SILVER CITY FOR BETTER HIGHWAYS

Business Men Moving for Formation of a Good Roads' Association— Bridges to Be Repaired.

(Silver City Independent.) A large number of local business men held an important meeting at the city hall last Saturday afternoon. Preliminary details looking to the organization of a good roads' association were arranged, and another meeting will be held at the same place next Friday evening, when it is anticipated the completion of the organization by the selection of officers, etc., will be effected. The principal business before Saturday's meeting was the consideration of ways and means for having a wagon bridge erected on the Mogollon stage road where it crosses the Gila river. After some deliberation a committee of four, consisting of Judge M. W. Porterfield, Sam Schiff, T. L. Lowe and E. J. Jones, was appointed to circulate a petition in an endeavor to secure the necessary number of names to induce a special levy by the board of county commissioners for funds to partly defray the expense of building said bridge. Contributions from other sources will also be solicited. Mr. Curran, of Mogollon, who was present at the meeting, promised that the residents of Mogollon would contribute their share of the money and more if necessary.

That sufficient interest in the maintenance of good roads has manifested itself in the proposed organization of a local good roads association is a source of much gratification to those who have the general welfare of the county at heart. A successful levy of interest in the association will be of great benefit to the entire community.

Notice is hereby given that James H. Smith, executor of the estate of Elizabeth Baxter, deceased, has filed his final report and petition for discharge as such executor in the probate court of Herkules county, New Mexico, and that the said court has set the hearing of said report and petition for a check in the forenoon of Monday, February 4, 1907, at the court house at Silver City, New Mexico, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, and that any person who has any claim against the estate of the said deceased, or who is indebted to the said estate, should appear at the hearing of said report and petition on the day and at the place above specified, and file a verified statement of such claim or indebtedness with the court, and that the failure to do so will result in the said court making its order in respect to the said estate without notice to the said person.

AMBITIOUS PLANS FOR PROPOSED HIGHWAY

El Paso People Want 100-Foot Roadway From Las Cruces To Texas Line, With an Automobile Speedway Added.

El Paso promoters of the Las Cruces-El Paso highway—projected as a part of the great scheme for a highway north and south across New Mexico—have ambitious plans for their end of the road, which they desire to build after the manner of a city boulevard.

Discussing the plans for the proposed road the El Paso Herald has the following:

One thing must be kept in mind in connection with the movement for a great highway up and down the valley—it must be planned on a broad enough scale for all time to come. We will improve what we can afford, going ahead with the work as fast as possible. But the plans should be broad. The road should be not less than 100 feet wide with space reserved for an automobile speedway separate from ordinary drive, and also for an electric railway. The automobile speedway would be used not merely by private automobile owners, but also for regular passenger, mail, express, and freight auto lines. A separate bicycle path should also be planned. Trees should be provided for along the drives by all means, and if necessary to make room, the road should be more than 100 feet wide. It will be as easy to reserve 150 feet as 100 feet right now, while the country is undeveloped. The right-of-way will not be hard to get. Let us not adopt any narrow plan in this vitally important matter.

In conjunction with New Mexico's projected scenic highways, through the most beautiful and historically interesting parts of the territory, including the pueblos, the Pecos forest reserve, the ancient petroglyphs, and the old Santa Fe trail, this Rio Grande valley boulevard will form a continuous 500-mile stretch of modern roadway unsurpassed anywhere in the world for beauty, variety and charm.

CEREMONY AT COLLEGE A NOTABLE EVENT

Many Prominent Men Take Part in Laying of Corner Stone for New Y. M. C. A. Building.

(Special Correspondence Morning Journal.) Mesilla Park, N. M., Jan. 9.—The laying of the corner stone for the Young Men's Christian Association building at the Agricultural college this afternoon, marks one more important forward step in the development of this institution which has for its object the providing of young men and young women with practical education for practical life work.

The day was ideal for a ceremony of the kind, and the attendance was large. Within a quadrangle formed by the college cadet company, gathered the faculty, the regents, the students and many visitors from New Mexico, with a number of men from El Paso. The laying of the corner stone was in charge of the Mesilla lodge of Las Cruces, and after its ceremony Mr. R. L. Young, president of the Las Cruces chamber of commerce gave an address which was greatly enjoyed. He was followed by Professor Hiram Hadley, superintendent of public instruction, who spoke long and faithfully of the success of the institution. Professor Hadley has been especially active in the Y. M. C. A. work which finally resulted in the formation of an association here under the direction of Mr. C. G. Titus, one of the field secretaries, who was among the speakers. Governor Hagerman spoke pleasingly of his pleasure in the progress of the college and his interest in the Y. M. C. A. work, giving his personal knowledge of its usefulness in other lands. Other speakers were Dr. K. E. McBride, president of the board of regents, and President Foster of the college.

OFFICIAL COMMITS SUICIDE AT NACO

Julio Ullman, Interpreter for the Government, Blows Out His Brains, During Fit of Despondency Caused by Ill-Health.

Julio ULLMAN, the official interpreter for the United States government at Naco, Ariz., committed suicide Monday evening, by placing a bullet in his mouth and firing a six-shooter in his room, and bringing a bullet into his brain. Death was instantaneous.

The cause of the suicide is believed to be despondency on account of ill-health. Ullman went to Naco from Nogales about four weeks ago. His mother accompanied him and he made her home on the American side of the line. Ullman was a young man about twenty-six years of age and spoke the Mexican language fluently. Before coming to Naco he was employed in the government service at Nogales as interpreter, but was transferred to Naco a few weeks ago when he killed himself. He came home to supper and passed directly into his own room. His mother, who lived in the front part of the house, but noticed nothing unusual in the demeanor of the young man as he entered. When she heard the shot she rushed into his room and found him lying unconscious upon the floor with the revolver at his side. The officers at Naco were notified and a coroner's jury summoned, and the result of the inquest rendered a verdict that the deceased came to his death from a gun shot wound inflicted by his own hand.

HORRIBLE FATE OF THE YAQUI'S VICTIMS

Woman Escapes From Indians After Terrible Experience Only to Die of Privation and Exhaustion.

The fate of one of the two girls captured by the Yaqui Indians during their raid on Lencho station in Sonora, two weeks ago, is now known, according to reports in the Arizona newspapers. She escaped and staggered into the town of Torin the day following the Lencho massacre. Brutal treatment by the Indians, fright and exhaustion had brought her so near death that she could not speak. Two hours after she reached Torin she died, with her terrible story still untold.

The other girl's fate is yet unknown. She had not been seen or heard of since the dreadful night that she was taken captive. It is surmised that she is still the plaything of the Indians. Her sister met a better fate, for she was among those killed and hacked with knives at Lencho.

A dispatch from Hermosillo, Sonora, says:

The pursuit of the Yaqui Indians, who two weeks ago raided the settlement of Lencho and massacred most of the inhabitants, has been practically abandoned, the soldiers refusing to locate the Indians. People other than the soldiers who went to Lencho immediately after the massacre, tell a story that differs greatly from the report of the military authorities. Lencho is less than two miles from Torin, the military headquarters of Sonora, and as the shooting was heard at Torin during the attack, the soldiers were soon on the way to the settlement.

The Indians, it is claimed by some of the people who were at Lencho, packed their plunder to a place about one mile from the station and there camped for the night. Part of their plunder consisted of seventy gallons of mesquite and six sacks of flour. They camped for the night they began an orgy which lasted till all were stretched out stupidly drunk—a condition in which all would have fallen easy victims to an attack had they been pursued.

During all that night the soldiers who could not find the Indians, said to have been camped at Lencho, a mile from the scene of the red men's orgy, and while they listened to the drunken whoops of the enemy, the Indians, they have made their way back to the station as if preparing for a battle at that place. It is reported here that the Indians have a good start, that the soldiers started out to "hunt" for them.

It is believed the girl who escaped from the Indians after having been taken from Lencho a captive, effected her escape during the carousal near Lencho, and fearing to return to the latter place, traveled to Torin, where she died. However, it is probable her experience will never be known, as she arrived at Torin too weak to speak, as a result of the fright and brutal treatment at the hands of the Yaquis, and died soon after reaching that place. Of the other girl who was taken captive at the same time, nothing has since been heard.

FIFTH AVENUE PALACE ON NEW MEXICO RANCH

The Vermejo Ranch House Finest Building of Its Class—History of Famous Property Rumored Sold to Senator Clark.

The Vermejo ranch, reported to have been sold by William H. Bartlett, the Chicago millionaire, to Senator William A. Clark of Montana, for $2,000,000, contains about 200,000 acres and is located forty-five miles west and southwest of Trinidad on the New Mexico line. It is by long odds the finest ranch in the entire west, having a house in its center built of dressed stone, which, in general appearance and inside furnishings, rivals the mansions of Fifth avenue, New York, or of Michigan boulevard, Chicago.

The ranch, which more resembles a gigantic park than a mere breeding place for livestock, contains thousands of blooded cattle and sheep. The land was bought by Bartlett from one of the three Colorado owners of the so-called Maxwell land grant, and under his watchful eye has been continuously improved and developed since its acquisition in 1879 and now it stands without a peer the country over.

The original Maxwell land grant was made by the Mexican government to two pioneers, Bartlett and his partner, in 1846. After the war with Mexico of 1848, all land owned by private individuals in the immense area ceded to this country was allowed, by the terms of the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, to remain in the title of its holders, and the Maxwell grant came under this general provision. The two men that first owned the tract of 2,000,000 acres became disatisfied with the purchase. One partner paid the other $6,000 for his share, and in turn sold the whole tract to the father of the girl he married, whose name was Maxwell. Maxwell finally died, and the land was bought up by three Coloradans, who later failed to pay taxes on it after mortgaging it for a large sum and unfortunely whose name was Maxwell. FUEL SHORTAGE STOPS CONSTRUCTION

Work on Laguna Dam Near Yuma Suspended Because Engines Cannot Run.

Work on the Laguna dam near Yuma has been suspended on account of the fuel famine, according to Howard H. Babcock, who arrived in Bisbee from Yuma, where he was one of the mechanics on the construction. Mr. Babcock stated that on each side of the dam, work has been pushed rapidly, the boilers consuming $500 worth of oil daily.

If work could be pushed steadily and without interruption, Mr. Babcock stated, the dam could be completed in two years. When finished it will irrigate 60,000 acres of the richest land in that section of the country. It will require $25,000,000 to complete the construction. J. H. White has the contract, and at present is employing over 700 laborers.

The dam will be 150 feet wide. No rock weighing less than a ton, and four feet up, is being used. Construction work has been delayed on account of inability of the company to get rock, and further, because the present Salton Sea troubles is the belief of Mr. Babcock. The Laguna dam is about twelve miles up the river from Yuma. Enough water can be diverted and distributed over this land to keep the Colorado river from doing any damage from rising. In case of a sudden rise the water can be let out into the valley, even though it is not needed, and prevent the river from doing any damage.

The Arizona Way. In Prescott, Tucson, Phoenix and elsewhere it is an open secret that the Murphys and their political following are laying plans to send from Arizona to the national republican convention in 1908.

Their efforts will be wasted entirely, and from very good and potent causes. First, Senator Foraker will not leave the delegation from his own state.

Before we can sympathize with others, we must have suffered ourselves. No one can realize the suffering attendant upon an attack of the grip, unless he has had the actual experience.

HOW THE RAILROADS BATTLE WITH THE SNOWDRIFTS

Tremendous Machines Fight Their Way Through the Banks of the Rockies.

(St. Louis Globe-Democrat.) Probably the most picturesque phase of American railroad operations is found in the manner in which the steam roads of the west battle with the giant snowdrifts of the mountain regions.

In the early days of railroad building in the region beyond the Mississippi river the familiar road was the main dependence for clearing the tracks and after every heavy fall of snow.

The wheel of the average rotary snow blower is from 8 to 12 feet in diameter and consists of a series of hollow, cone-shaped steel scoops, each equipped with a knife-like piece of metal.

There are places where the work of the rotary plow in keeping open the trail for the foot horses is augmented, on the principle of prevention, by great snowdrifts—often fences or wooden tunnels designed to keep the snow from drifting over the tracks.

by a couple of powerful locomotives, but the power for operating the great propeller is contained within the plow itself. This is supplied by an engine somewhat resembling a marine engine.

A giant rotary can force its way through almost any snow barrier at a speed of from four to six miles per hour, as a minimum.

One of the great advantages of the rotary is especially in the season of the Rockies where the cold is extreme, and that a steam-driven plow can be operated in any weather.

After a rotary has made several trips up and down a snow-banked highway the accumulation of snow is removed in the valley by the mechanical shovel form.

There are places where the work of the rotary plow in keeping open the trail for the foot horses is augmented, on the principle of prevention, by great snowdrifts—often fences or wooden tunnels designed to keep the snow from drifting over the tracks.

over the Rocky mountain division. Nowadays the rotaries cost something like $10,000 each, but even at that price they represent a great saving over snowdrifts which, aside from their first cost, eat up thousands of dollars in repairs every year.
