AN ULTIMATUM IS SENT TO NICARAGUA

Washington, Dec. 2.—The first step of the United States towards backing up the declaration of Secretary Knox regarding the Nicaraguan trouble was taken today when the Secretary of the Navy sent urgent orders to the commanders of the Cruiser Albany and the gunboat Yorktown, now at Magdalena Bay on the coast of lower California, to proceed forthwith to Corinto, a coast port of Nicaragua.

Washington, Dec. 2.—An ultimatum was given yesterday afternoon by the United States to the Nicaraguan government and was accompanied by the delivery of passports by Secretary of State Knox to E. Felipe Rodriguez, charge de affairs of the Nicaraguan legation. This has caused great rejoicing among the sympathizers of the Nicaraguan insurrectionists.

The strength of the note and its personal tone are the subjects of comment in diplomatic circles. It is generally recognized that the United States has decided the time has come to put an end to any further attacks on American lives and interests in Central America. The fact that President Zelaya is apparently to be held personally responsible for the shooting of Groce and Cannon adds sting to the matter.

Concealed in the vigorous note of Secretary Knox is seen a warning to the Central American republics that they must behave and that the United States intends to see to it that the family of the western republics lives harmoniously.

Knox's document is one of the most scathing issued from the State Department in years and is believed by diplomats to be epochal.

The newspaper men who visited the Nicaraguan legation last night were not permitted to doubt that Secretary Knox's ultimatum had fallen upon the complacency of Senator Rodriguez with profound effect. Senator Rodriguez met the visitors at the door and his protestations of amazement at the action of the State Department were delivered in a torrent of mingled English and Spanish to the accompaniment of sounds floating down the stairway, which indicated that the Nicaraguans on the floor above were endeavoring to forget all international complications.

Rear Admiral William W. Kimball left Washington today for Philadelphia to take passage on the Prairie. It is believed he will take command of the naval forces operating against Nicaragua. He will probably proceed to Corinto.

Troops For Nicaragua.
Washington, Dec. 2.—The troop ship Prairie with about seven hundred marines on board for Panama and possibly for service in Nicaragua, received orders to sail from Philadelphia this afternoon.

NEW SKETCH OF NEW FIRST NATL. BUILDING.
Upon his arrival in Roswell a few days ago, I. H. Rapp brought a new sketch of the new building that is to be erected by the First National Bank on the present site of that institution. Mr. Rapp was selected as architect for this job about six months ago and had offered one preliminary sketch showing a building covering only a part of the lot. The present plan calls for a building 50 by 198 feet and it a two-story beauty. The detailed plans for the new building have not been completed. The preliminary sketch is now at the First National Bank.

BIG STRIKE IS WORSE

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 2.—The railroads affected by the switchmen's strike began the first real attempt today to restore normal traffic conditions between the Great Lakes and the Pacific Coast. Local warehouses were open today and the roads accepted limited freight. There was, however, no noticeable improvement in conditions in the Twin Cities.

This morning in Minneapolis all the big flour mills were shut down, throwing five thousand out of employment. At the head of the lakes, in Duluth and Superior, unless conditions improve immediately all the range cities will be in danger of a food and coal famine. The jobbing houses in Duluth have already begun laying off men.

In Montana the conditions are even worse. The big Boston and Montana smelter at Great Falls is practically closed. As this smelter makes the ores of the amalgamated properties at Butte those mines will be affected throwing thousands out of employment.

In the Pacific Northwest freight shipments are locally tied up although an attempt is being made to move two trains on the Northern Pacific. These trains were made up by assistant train masters and superintendents. The Great Northern steamer Minnesota arrived at Tacoma with thirty-four thousand tons of freight last night. Much of it was intended for quick transportation, but it cannot be taken care of.

The pickets of the striking switchmen reported today that about one hundred strike breakers were brought into St. Paul today and distributed about the various Twin City yards. The railroads would not admit that strike breakers were brought in.

Seattle, Dec. 2.—The Great Northern and the Northern Pacific are employing non-union switchmen today. The officials say the freight train service will be restored within a week and that they have assurances there will not be sympathetic strikes by other classes of employees.

KING EDWARD DIS-SOLVES PARLIAMENT

London, Dec. 2.—The House of Commons by a vote of 349 to 134 today accepted the resolution of Premier Asquith to the effect that in rejecting the government's budget bill the House of Lords had committed a breach of the constitution and usurped the rights of the House of Commons.

London, Eng., Dec. 2.—Premier Asquith announced today that the government had advised King Edward to dissolve parliament and His Majesty had accepted the invitation. The Premier added that if the Liberals were returned to power the first act of the government would be the re-enactment of all taxes for which provision was made in the budget rejected by the House of Lords.

All the preliminaries to the big political fight were cleared away this afternoon at Sandringham where King Edward had a meeting with the privy council, during which he signed an order proroguing parliament until January tenth, 1910. This is a mere formality as the present house will have been dissolved before that time.

The center of interest today is in the House of Commons where Premier Asquith on behalf of the government replied to the action of the Lords in withholding their consent to the budget.

Asquith, when he arose to speak, was given a wild demonstration. He said the budget represented the deliberate work of an overwhelming majority of the representatives of the people. The whole fabric had been overthrown by the body which admittedly had no power to increase or decrease a single tax. With such emphasis the Premier declared the House of Commons would prove unworthy to its traditions if it allowed a single day to pass without making it clear it did not mean to break this grave indignity and arrogant usurpation of its rights. Parliament is closing without a financial act and until fresh provision could be made the necessities of the state could be supplied only by borrowing. It was obvious the action of the House of Lords would create the largest deficit yet faced. The Premier then announced the King had accepted the advice of the government to dissolve parliament.

Arthur Henderson, the leader of the labor party in the House of Commons, announced the government would have the hearty support of the laborites.

It is understood that parliament is to be dissolved so as to permit the holding of the elections between January tenth and twenty.

The prorogation takes place tomorrow.

REPORT OF SEC. OF WAR

Washington, Dec. 1.—Comprehensive and complete reorganization of the army establishment of the United States is the principal recommendation contained in the annual report of Secretary of War Dickinson for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1909, made public today. More officers, closer cooperation with the militia of the various states and a general readjustment of the locations of the various army posts are some of the crying reforms urged upon the attention of Congress. The present distribution of the troops of the regular army, in the opinion of the Secretary of War, is not only illogical but offers a serious menace.

At the time of the last reports from the military departments which were received in October, it was found that the regular army numbered 71,840 men with 4,209 officers, making a total force of 76,049, a net increase during the year of 3,421. The figures do not include the 3,485 men of the Hospital Corps.

Of the active officers of the army, the report calls attention to the fact that 709 are detailed to special duty, nearly half of these, or 345, being distributed among the various schools of instruction of the regular establishment or acting instructors in state educational institutions where a feature is made of military training. While there were no serious breaches of military discipline during the year, Secretary Dickinson declares "that there can be no doubt that the discipline and efficiency of troops were lowered by the continued absence of so many company officers and the resulting frequent changes of company commanders."

The remedy for this condition, the report declares, may be found in increasing the number of officers and in the passage of legislation empowering the Secretary of War, whenever the occasion demanded, to appoint retired officers to active duty temporarily. Under existing law a retired officer cannot be made subject to orders, but his return to active service is entirely voluntary. In putting forward the need for some such authorization, Secty. Dickinson says:

"While it is true that the duties performed by these officers are in the main, of great importance to the army or of material benefit to the country, the number of officers so separated from their regular duties with troops, has now reached a point where it is beyond question that the efficiency and discipline of the army are suffering therefrom. On June 30, 1909, more than a third of the captains of the Mobile army were absent from their proper commands on detached service, of such a nature as to cause them to be absent for some time. Including those captains who were temporarily absent from their proper commands, on detached service or otherwise, it is believed that less than one-half of the companies of Mobile army were commanded by captains."

The report also advocates more strenuous physical tests. President Roosevelt inaugurated an annual test to determine the physical fitness of officers, compelling them to ride ninety miles in three days or to walk fifty miles within the same time. This, in the opinion of Secretary Dickinson should be changed so as to compel officers to under take a certain amount of prescribed exercise each week, the amount to be certified by the commanding officers in their monthly reports.

Co-operation of the regular army with the militia of the states is strongly urged. The Secretary outlines a plan to accomplish this. He would have the country divided into a number of territorial and tactical districts so that the militia may be conveniently combined with the regular troops stationed in those districts into permanent brigades, divisions and corps for instruction and tactical organization.

In conjunction with the headquarters of these combination divisions, the report advocates the establishment of supply depots, which can be drawn upon for the equipment of an army in time of need. At such depots supplies would be carried sufficient to outfit any additional volunteer force, up to a moderate number, that might be hastily recruited to complete the organization of an army corps.

Attached to the headquarters, also, the report declares there should be stationed a young and active officer of the regular army, whose duty it would be to instruct and direct the

THE PLANS OF ARCHITECT RAPP SELECTED TODAY.

Later:—Rapp and Brothers were given the honor of having their plans selected late this afternoon, the vote standing two to one for Horsford & Nelson.

All day the county commissioners have been hearing the specific propositions of the various architects who want the task of designing and directing the construction of the new county court house. At 2:30 this afternoon the commissioners called for written statements as to what they would do, and at 3:30 only one of these had yet come in. The consultants, as well as the public, hope for a decision this afternoon.

The morning was occupied in hearing verbal propositions from the architects. The contest had narrowed down to three contestants, Nelson & Horsford, Rapp Brothers and Kaufman & Son. Mr. Rapp was heard first. He said that his building could be built with plumbing, heating and wiring for from $116,000 to $120,000, but this did not include the furnishings. This could be built of re-enforced concrete, stone, or brick of any kind with stone trimmings. He stated that he would be in the city much of the time to give the construction his personal attention, and would charge five per cent of the contract price. His plan called for a building of the Italian Renaissance style instead of the Spanish Mission, as stated yesterday.

Horsford & Nelson offered to give surety bond that their building could be put up for $118,000 and said that it might go as low as $115,000. This to include everything except furnishing and material of stone, brick and stone, or brick of the best quality and any kind desired. They stated also that by cutting down the tall cupola $2,000 could be shaved from the cost. They stated that J. M. Nelson would be on the ground practically all the time and that they would pay for a superintendent of construction if the commissioners wanted one. They ask five per cent.

Kaufman & Son offered to give bond that their building would not cost over $120,000, complete without furnishings. They offered to employ a superintendent, also, and to charge five per cent.

BIG FIGHT FOR FRISCO

New York, Dec. 2.—Tex Rickard's bid for the heavy weight championship fight between Jack Johnson and James Jeffries was accepted this noon.

The world's championship fight will be held in San Francisco before a club organized by Tex Rickard of Ely Nevada, and Jack Gleason, of San Francisco. The fight will probably take place on the Fourth of July, 1910. The joint bid made by Rickard and Gleason was for a purse of $101,000 and two-thirds of the moving picture receipts.

In view of the fact that James Corroth and the management of the Sunshine Athletic Club at Colma controls certain patents on the moving pictures it is thought that Rickard and Gleason will likely enter into some arrangement with him whereby the fight may take place at the Colma Bateau.

LaFollette Opens Campaign.
Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 2.—The progressives of Wisconsin have determined upon a positive course for a determined fight in the senatorial campaign which begins here in earnest today under the leadership of Senator LaFollette, assisted by United States Senator Moses E. Clapp, of Minnesota.

Senator Clapp is known as one of the fighting progressives of the Senate and is one of the best rough and tumble debaters in either house. He is the man who gave one of the finest tributes ever paid to Senator LaFollette when he called attention to his record in the senate in his speech before that body on March 3.

"The speech of Senator Clapp will be particularly timely," said Francis E. McGovern, because it will serve as an antidote to the recent speech of Mr. Aldrich. The subject of the address of Senator Clapp will be "The Progressive Movement in Congress," and delegations have come from many places in Wisconsin to hear it."

Our governors come and go, but "Bull" hangs on forever.

Curry's private business is not pressing enough for the people of New Mexico. Why wait until March?

Did you ever see a nicer day anywhere at any time of the year than was today in Roswell? And we have plenty more days just like this one all through the winter.

That yellow streak in the Albuquerque Journal has developed and grown until it has complete possession of the new Gang organ from top to bottom.

The sum of an eighth of a million of dollars has been offered two bruisers to stand up before each other for an hour or two and see which one can do the other the most damage.

Ex-Governor M. A. Otero came out in Denver in a tirade against prohibition. After that little episode here in Roswell a year or two ago nothing else could be expected of "Gilly."

We have seen enough of the plans of the new court house to know that whichever set is adopted the building will be a credit to the county, in so far as the plans themselves count.

If our respected delegate to congress wishes to make his mark with the people of New Mexico as a truthful man he will hand in his resignation poco pronto. Now just watch him.

The man who is pleased all the time with everything and everybody is not apt to make a very deep impression on the world's history. It is generally the man who sees faults and faults in our judicial system, is doing us a great injustice, inasmuch as we have nothing to do with creating or maintaining our judges.

The New Mexican believes it to be very unfortunate that the report of Secretary Ballinger has spread abroad the belief that New Mexico has 470,000 people when it has nothing near that number. The New Mexican is right. When the census shows but a part of that number another blow will have been delivered at New Mexico, and perhaps that was the reason for the Secretary of the Interior placing the number at the high figure he did.

Secretary Wilson's report on the agricultural products of the country gives striking evidence of what a great country we really have. The total value of the products of the soil is simply amazing, reaching the enormous total of almost nine billions of on record. The fear of dives in the suburbs is one often advanced but in reality very often proves to be an idle threat. The average man does not walk a block out of his way to get a drink; it is the temptation of the open door when he passes from and to work or business that lures the boy and the young man and the grown persons to take the drink that leads to the taking of another. Of a thousand frequenters of saloons in Santa Fe not a hundred would go to Tesuque or Agua Fria or even to the suburbs to quench their thirst if saloons were closed in the city. The saloons on the outskirts would soon have to close for lack of business, if the county authorities strictly enforced the law.

And the New Mexican is exactly right.

Church and Labor Meeting.

New York, Dec. 1.—A sociological conference at which the church and labor interests may meet on common ground was commenced in New York today under the auspices of the department of church and labor of the Presbyterian Church. The Reverend Charles Steple, superintendent of the department, made the following announcement as to the purpose of the gathering:

"It has frequently been said that the Presbyterian Church has no great leaders in social reform. It may be true that the Presbyterian Church has been busy about other matters which seemed more pressing at particular periods in its history, but the Presbyterian Church, as compared with other denominations, has undoubtedly done its part in the task of securing social justice. However, there is a growing social spirit in the Presbyterian church to which there has not been given a chance for definite expression. Quite a number of our leading ministers have suggested from time to time that those who believe in the social mission of the church should get together for a frank discussion of the problem, so that we may come to some agreement as to the policy of our church with regard to these matters. The department of church and labor has, therefore, assumed the responsibility of calling this conference, and it is earnestly hoped that the interest manifested in New York will justify the calling of other conferences in the Middle West and on the Pacific Coast.

"The plan in a general way is to have a number of brief papers presented by Presbyterian ministers or laymen who are experts on particular problems, each paper to be followed by a full discussion. It is hoped that the three days spent in conference will result in a definite social program for the church, which may at once be put into operation."

What Taft Wants.

Washington, Dec. 2.—According to several men of prominence who have been advising with the President since his 13,000 mile jaunt around the circle, Senators, and Congressmen gathering for the approaching session are not looking forward to the meeting with great delight, except in instances where the national legislators are in harmony with President Taft's views. One by one the measures upon which Mr. Taft is determined some action shall be taken has leaked out, and when arranged in one program they are of sufficient scope to arouse interest throughout the country. While the President is confident that he will not secure all that he hopes for during the coming term, he has made a program so extensive that the measures he urges will be sufficient to keep Congress busy for the rest of his administration.

Here they are as arranged by one of the statesmen close in the confidence of Mr. Taft.

Increased powers for the Interstate Commerce Commission, so that it shall have authority to regulate the issue of railroad securities on a sound basis; to determine the proper classification of freight; to bring into its own record complaints of discrimination in rates; to compel connecting carriers to form through routes, and to fix and apportion rates among carriers.

The prohibition of railroads from holding stock in competing roads, the authority for railroads to make rate agreements with the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and the creation of a new court to pass on appeals from the decisions of the Interstate Commerce Commission in fixing rates.

The compulsory adoption by the railroads of additional safety devices. The creation of a central bank of issue, controlling the treasury reserve and prepared to guard against currency stringency.

Postal savings banks. An amendment to the Sherman Anti Trust law making it apply only to trade monopolies and not to railroad combinations.

The adoption of the income tax amendment to the United States Constitution, such tax to be resorted to only in national emergencies.

Temporary suspension of the agitation for further revision of the tariff. Ship subsidies for the development of the merchant marine.

Federal legislation against the boycott as well as governing the issuance of injunctions.

Further conservation of national resources.

Forest preservation. Internal waterway improvements, but strictly according to the merits of each project considered in its national bearing.

Legislation imposing restrictions upon the transfer of water-power sites to private control, and providing for the fishing of rentals and the regulation of rates to be charged.

Reforms in the mineral land so that the surface of the land and the coal and other mineral deposits shall be treated separately, with leases on the royalty system or sales to miners.

A Congressional commission to investigate the law's delays in the Federal courts and to devise a system for securing quick and cheap justice in the Federal courts that shall serve as a model for the States.

IN THE SOCIAL WORLD.

Miss Hollie Kinsinger gave a pink and white five hundred party Tuesday afternoon at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Kinsinger, at the corner of Kentucky avenue and second street, in honor of her guest, Miss Moore, of Cleburne, Tex. The color scheme was nicely carried out in decorations, refreshments and place and score cards, even the shed lights being in accord.

The guests were met at the door by Miss Louie Ogle and in the receiving line were the hostess, the guest of honor, Mrs. Kinsinger, Miss McCuistion, of Paris, Texas; Miss Saunders, Miss Whittle, of Amarillo, and Mrs. Norvell. Upon their arrival the guests were served punch by Miss Clara Ogle and Marie Kinsinger.

When all the guests had arrived the games were started and an interesting afternoon followed. Mrs. Norvell won the prize, a beautifully illustrated book, "O Promise Me." Miss Moore won the guest prize, a pair of silk hose, and Miss Lucy Seay received the consolation favor, a college picture. The refreshments were most delicious and concluded a very happy afternoon.

Mrs. James F. Hinkle entertained at her home on Missouri avenue Tuesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. John I. Hinkle, of Hagerman, who plans to leave soon on an extended visiting trip to California. About thirty ladies were in attendance and the affair was in the nature of a conversation and sewing party. The Hinkle home looked attractive in decorations of carnations. The afternoon was spent in a pleasant manner and nice refreshments were served.

Miss Ruby Saunders will entertain a party of young people Saturday night at her home on South Hill in honor of her guest, Miss Whittle.

The regular semi-monthly dancing party will be given Friday evening at the Elks' club to which all Elks and their lady friends are invited.

The social season at the Roswell Commercial Club will be formally opened tomorrow night with a party for all members and their lady friends. Cards, dancing and refreshments will be the features. The patronesses are to be Mesdames C. E. Mason, W. A. Johnson, Morris Price and C. M. Rathbun and Miss Maud Tannehill.

Invitations have been received here to the Elk Memorial which will be conducted at Carlsbad next Sunday goes after them who makes improvements. Such men are often called knockers, although in reality they are public benefactors.

It has been suggested to the Record that plans are being considered for the formation of a home fire insurance company. The idea is to keep at home much money now leaving the city.

And the cementing of the irrigation ditches goes steadily forward. The day will come when there will not be an uncemented irrigation ditch in the Pecos Valley, and it will pay, too.

The Santa Fe New Mexican believes the Albuquerque Journal is not a very ardent supporter of the new governor to be. How could it be when it does not know as yet what there is in it for the Journal.

Some of the newspapers of New Mexico are asserting that Collier's Weekly, in attacking the people of New Mexico on account of alleged dollars. To most of us that means litigious figures and is the most valuable of all crops. The day when "Cotton is King" has passed and it is now Corn that occupies first place, producing almost two billions of dollars every year.

The people who own England are the land owners and they are strenuously objecting to paying their proper share of the burden of supporting the government. Their feeling finds its expression through the House of Lords, for it is the nobility that constitutes the great bulk of the heavy owners of land. All this merely emphasizes the value of land. It points out the lesson to be learned in the United States, and that is to acquire land while it is cheap. Of course the best land is in the Pecos Valley and he who buys today and holds for but a few years need care nothing for financial cares in the future.

The great power in the cabinet today is one Hitchcock, Postmaster General. He is the same man who managed Mr. Taft's campaign a year ago, and we must admit he did it too effectively to suit us. But it may be noticed that whenever matters of importance are under consideration, it even though it be regarding the policies of another department of the government than his own. Mr. Hitchcock is the man who is building up the Taft machine against the day when Teddy comes home from Africa. He is the Big Stick of the present administration.

A FLIMSY BUGABOO.

Commenting on the proposition advanced in Roswell to have but two saloons here at not less than ten thousand dollars license each, and certain other alleged reforms in regard to screens, tables, chairs, etc., the Santa Fe New Mexican, the leading Republican newspaper of the Territory, says that such a scheme will not work. The story that the saloons would be removed just outside the city limits and become mere dives in case prohibition carries in the city, the New Mexican characterizes as a "flimsy bugaboo." That paper also says:

"The New Mexican believes that communities that desire to abolish the saloons should do so as a matter of protest and placing themselves

Fear American Buyers.
Paris, Dec. 2.—The very important Polostaff sale which takes place today at the Galleries Petit has attracted wide attention and agents of the leading American collectors have arrived here in large numbers to bid for the famous treasures, of which the series Boucher tapestries form the most important part. The series is known as "Les Amours des Dieux," and they were executed at the royal manufactory of Beauvais about the middle of the eighteenth century under the directions of Bessier, Ondry and Charron, after cartoons by Francois Boucher.

Each of these tapestries is in a perfect state of preservation and is surrounded with a border wrought to represent a frame. In the centre of the border and above the arms of King Louis XV. and the fleur de lis of France.

The larger tapestries are about ten feet high and about twenty feet long. The smaller ones are about ten feet square.

A VERY BUSY MAN.

Charming Experience With an Over-worked Irish Watchmaker.

I fell in with a delightful man at a little town in County Fermanagh. I wanted a little thing done to my watch, and I asked him how long it would take to do it. He assured me that he was driven to death with work and was up till late every night trying to get ahead, but that he would try to find time to mend my watch some time before 7 o'clock, when he nominally closed. Then he followed me to the door of his shop and began to ask me questions about America. He pointed out different passersby and told me their life histories. And every once in a while he would say: "I've not had a day off for nearly a year, not even bank holiday. Never a minute for anything but work. I've an order now that's going to keep me busy, except for the time I'll give to your watch, all the rest of the day. And dinner eaten in my workshop to save time."

I bade him good day and didn't go near there until 7 o'clock in the evening. I found him outside the shop discussing the strike of the constabulary at Belfast with a neighbor.

"Awfully sorry, sir, but I've been so busy today that I've been unable to finish that job. It'll not take over twenty minutes when I get to it. Can you come in the morning?"

Next morning I was at his shop at 9 o'clock, and he was just taking down the shutters. Said he worked until 10 o'clock the night before, but seemed farther behind than before. If I'd come up into his workshop he'd fix my watch while I waited.

Up there he had some photographs to show me that he had taken a year ago and had only just found time to develop. We talked photography for twenty minutes, and then he fixed my watch in a jiffy when he got to work.—From "Just Irish," by Charles Battell Loomis.

A VOTE OF THANKS.

The Way Dwight L. Moody Handled the Question in England.

Possibly the most novel response ever made to a request to return a vote of thanks to a chairman was that made by Dwight L. Moody during his first visit to England.

He had attended a meeting at which the Earl of Shaftesbury was chairman. The duty of proposing a vote of thanks was assigned to him and the announcement made:

"Our American cousin, the Rev. Mr. Moody of Chicago, will now move a vote of thanks to the noble earl who has presided on this occasion."

The whole thing was quite out of Mr. Moody's line. English formalities might or might not have come gracefully from his lips had he attempted them, but he did not. With an utter disregard of conventionality he burst upon the audience with the bold announcement:

"The speaker has made two mistakes. To begin with, I'm not the Rev. Mr. Moody at all. I'm plain Dwight L. Moody, a Sunday school worker. And then I'm not your American cousin. By the grace of God I'm your brother, interested with you in our Father's work for his children."

"And now about this vote of thanks to the noble earl for being our chairman this evening? I don't see why we should thank him any more than he should thank us. When at one time they offered to thank our Mr. Lincoln for presiding over a meeting in Illinois he stopped it. He said he'd tried to do his duty and they'd tried to do theirs. He thought it was about an even thing all round."

That opening fairly took the breath away from Mr. Moody's hearers. Such a talk could not be gauged by any known standard. Mr. Moody carried his English audiences with him from that beginning to his latest labors.

Who He Was.

At the crossing of the river Styx Death met a stranger with a grin on his face.

"Who are you?" demanded Death.

"I am your manservant," replied the stranger.

"My manservant!" repeated Death, somewhat puzzled to know what the new arrival meant.

"In other words, the valet of the shadow of Death," chortled the stranger.

It is perhaps superfluous to add that before journeying hence the stranger had been a professional jokesmith.—New York Times.

Three Meals at Once.

"Now, Mary," said her mistress, "you must come to the door of the drawing room and say, 'Breakfast is ready, and supper is ready, but dinner is served.'"

The newly corralled domestic inwardly digested the concise instructions and that evening convulsed the guests who were awaiting the announcement of dinner by stepping between the portieres, dropping a courtesy and repeating, "Breakfast is ready and supper is ready, but dinner is ser-ved!"—Philadelphia Ledger.

Badly Expressed.

"The human monstrosity!" said a young lady attending a fair with her sweetheart. "Threepence! Wouldn't you like to have a look at that, Herbert?"

"No, dear," answered Herbert, anxious to bestow a neat compliment; "I am quite content to look at you."—London Mail.

NEWS OF THE CENSUS

Washington, D. C. Dec. 2.—The general instruction to supervisors of the census have been issued by U. S. Census Director Durand. They embrace the scope of the census, the period of enumeration, the duties of the supervisors, the formation of enumeration districts, the appointment of enumerators, the employment of interpreters, the compensation and allowances of supervisors, the penalties for nonperformance of duties, and conclude with a personal paragraph intended to promote prompt and whole-hearted co-operation.

The instructions point out that there is nothing in the census act making women or persons under 21 years of age ineligible for appointment as enumerators. It is stated that a considerable number of women were employed in both the Eleventh and Twelfth censuses. It is suggested that it is undesirable to employ enumerators who are too immature, either in experience or appearance. The supervisors are cautioned to exercise their judgment in each individual case.

It is suggested, as they are particularly likely to be good enumerators, that the supervisors employ crop reporters of the U. S. Department of Agriculture; officers and leading workers in farmers' organizations, live-stock associations, cooperative creameries, etc.; progressive farmers and their sons and daughters who have attended agricultural college or agricultural experiment stations; physicians; former enumerators; school teachers and substitute teachers; college and high school students, persons who have passed federal, state, or municipal civil-service examinations for clerical positions or for mail carriers; substitute letter carriers; local state, and municipal officers; and particularly town and village clerks and recorders.

The supervisors are cautioned that in no case should any person who is directly or indirectly concerned in the assessment of property for taxation or in the collection of taxes be designated as an enumerator.

The instructions call attention to section 19 of the Census Act and state it provides that all appointments shall be made solely with reference to the fitness of the appointees and without reference to political party affiliations.

The supervisors are informed that after proper enumeration districts have been established it will be their duty to designate a suitable person in each district to perform the actual work of enumeration. The Director is emphatic upon this point and says it is their most important duty. They must exercise the greatest possible care to secure competent persons. Their success as supervisors and the success and value of the census as a whole are, he states, absolutely dependent upon the thoroughness, accuracy, and promptness with which the enumerators perform their duties.

The instructions state that the enumerators should be active, energetic persons of good address. They must be thoroughly trustworthy, honest and of good habits. They must have at least ordinary education, and be able to write plainly and with reasonable rapidity. In general, preference should be given former enumerators, if they are at present physically able to perform the duties.

It is hoped, the Director states, that in many cases they will be able to secure the services of persons who do not care for the positions on account of the pay involved, but who are willing to do the work in the public interest.

While not required by law, the enumerator should live in the district he is to canvass. Only in case a competent resident can not be found should a selection be made of a person living elsewhere.

The instructions state that in order to determine the fitness of enumerators Director will at a later date provide for an examination, the form of which will be prescribed by him, and the examination papers themselves will be passed upon by the Census Bureau. This examination will be of a practical character, consisting chiefly or wholly of the filling out of a sample schedule of population from data furnished, and, in the case of enumerators whose work will be in rural districts, the filling out of a sample schedule of agriculture. Applicants who are unable to pass this examination will be rejected, and it will be necessary for the supervisors to designate others. The utmost precautions will be adopted by the Director to obtain an examination in such a way that the number will be unable to pass this examination will be as small as possible. You will later be fully informed as to this examination.

The circular states that applicants should understand that their entire working time will be required during the period of enumeration, and if they accept such appointment and qualify they can not, under the law, "without justifiable cause," refuse or neglect to perform the duties of the position. Having assumed the office they cannot retire at their own pleasure. The supervisors are advised to have in view substitute enumerators.

It is stated that in enumeration districts where the population is largely of some particular foreign nationality, the supervisors ought to be able to obtain members of that nationality with sufficient intelligence and education to act as enumerators. The employment of such persons as enumerators will also tend to dispel any prejudice that may exist against the census among the foreign population. It would also reduce the cost of the employment of interpreters.

The supervisors are informed that the regular form of application for appointment as enumerator; a circular setting forth the duties and qualifications of enumerators; a blank form to contain the designated names and a circular stating precisely the rates of compensation to be paid enumerators, will be furnished later on.

Applications should be addressed to the individual supervisors and not to the Census Bureau. It is understood that the filing of applications will be permitted to continue until about January 15. The population and agricultural schedules will not be forwarded to the supervisors until a few weeks before the enumeration begins. It is estimated more than 65,000 enumerators will be employed, of which number 45,000 will carry both the population and farm schedules.

Jeffries to Box in New York.
New York, Dec. 2.—Jim Jeffries will appear here tonight at a special show at the Anby Athletic Club in a three round bout with Sam Berger, and three extra rounds with Jack McCormick, of Chicago, who once knocked Kid McCoy. The contests are simply exhibition tests, and will be interesting in interest by a wrestling match between Frank Gotch, the world's champion, and Dr. Roller.

Cost of Cotton Speculation.
New York, Dec. 2.—The board of managers of the New York Cotton Exchange is expected to take action today endorsing the plan recently proposed by members of the Exchange to increase the cost of speculation in cotton. It is planned to raise non-members' commissions from $15 to $20 per hundred bales, and floor brokerage from 75 cents to $1.

OWL BAND BENEFIT AT ARMORY LAST NIGHT.

A crowd of nearly 700 hundred people were out to the minstrel show put on by some talent at The Armory last night as a benefit for the Owl band. The affair was accorded a very fair degree of success as about fifty dollars was netted the band as its share of the proceeds. The show was a pleasant surprise to many, even its director, Mr. R. A. A. Chase, who declares it to have surpassed even his hopes on the night of the rehearsal.

The program opened with an overture by the band, outside the house, following which came the spectacular introductory number, "A Day in the Cottonfield," for which special scenery and wiring had been provided. This sketch was especially good. Then came a guitar solo by Mr. Green of Cincinnati, which was also good. Then came solos by Messrs. Dicken, Elliott and Rucker, with jokes, hits, etc., followed by a selection by the double quartette, Messrs. Fraser, Armstrong, Pope, Rucker, Elliott, Hamilton, Barlow and Hoffman.

The stage setting was exceptionally good, the band being elevated at the rear and in front were the double quartette, six black-faced entertainers. The company was well costumed and this part of the minstrel was of high merit.

Songs were sung by Stanley Norvell, the Apollo Club, Drew Pruitt, John Cummins, Capt. Barlow, J. C. Hamilton, Mr. Cronk, Walter Paylor, G. W. Dalbey, and the entire company. All the songs were good and the musical part of the show was considered its best by many. Will James Gimic put on a lighting picture drawing act that interested many. The dancing act of Messrs. Bush and Cronk was one of the hits of the evening. The show concluded with the farce, "The Clockmaker," by Messrs. Rickamore, Eveman, Sain and Snock.

Educators in Session.

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 2.—Noted leaders in the industrial, financial and labor world are gathered here for the third annual convention of the National Society for the Promotion of Industrial Education which opened today in the Auditorium.

Governor Davidson will preside at a banquet to be given tonight in honor of the delegates and addresses will be made on "The Economic Value of Industrial Education," by President Van Hise of the University of Wisconsin, George Martin of Boston and President Humphreys of Stevens Institute of Technology. Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Willett N. Hayes will speak on "National Legislation."

Milwaukee, according to the dean is pre-eminent among the northwestern cities in the education of factory and industrial employees by the university, some employers going so far as to pay the tuition of their men in order that they may take up draughting and mechanical sciences as well as the literary features of education.

Jeffries in the Garden.
New York, Dec. 1.—James J. Jeffries and his all-star combination of pigs and athletes will blossom out in all their magnificence at the big garden in Madison Square this evening. This will be Jeff's last appearance in the metropolis before he goes into training for his match with J. Johnson. He will make a tour of the West with his "all-star combination" before settling down to active training. There are rumors afloat that Jeff is none too confident of his ability to get the big end of the purse in his fight with the big back, and he is taking care to cop all his coin in sight while his reputation is good.

This will make the specific proportion from Chicago from these points 14c, instead of 5 cents and the rate from Chicago to New York 15 cents.

A Handsome Woman

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points nature has given her. No woman need have sallow skin, dull eye, blotchy complexion, who pays proper attention to her health. Where constipation, liver derangements, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, sallow skin, a constant tired feeling—mean that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help. They act in a natural way. They do not irritate the bowels, but tone up the liver and stomach to fulfill their proper functions. So mild and safe in their action, they are highly recommended by the best medical authorities. They can be relied upon to relieve biliousness, indigestion, constipation and dizziness. militia organizations in the corps district. Such an officer, it is pointed out, could issue no orders to the militia, but it is declared he should be given power to supervise the equipment and instruction of the volunteer troops of his district and be held responsible for their mobilization and general condition.

It is proposed to submit the adoption of such a plan to the governors of the several states. If the states announce their willingness to co-operate with the War Department steps will be taken toward putting the plan into action.

The matter of a general re-arrangement of the various army posts occupies a prominent place in the report. The Secretary of War expresses his conviction that, as now situated, the army posts do not meet the requirements of the service, many of them being isolated and difficult of access. The majority of these posts, he points out, sprang into existence because in the early days of the West the regular army largely used for the protection of settlers from the Indians. The Indians have long since ceased to be a menace to the whites, and the posts have outlined their usefulness. The army authorities now set forth that tactical and strategical necessities require the locating of such army headquarters near the large cities, in close proximity to centers of transportation, and with a view to co-operation with the militia.

"Hence, the three requirements," says Secretary Dickinson, "economy, possibility of rapid movement and training of the militia—would all be met in the most effective manner if the troops were stationed in or near the principal cities; and this is the course which the General Staff believes should be pursued."

During the fiscal year three 5 inch and 28 rapid fire guns were added to the sea coast defenses of the United States. It is also declared that the coast defenses in the country's insular possessions are in a forward state of construction. Special mention is made of the increasing efficiency in marksmanship shown by the men who serve the guns in the seacoast batteries and also in the field artillery of the army. Praise also is accorded the men of the regular army for excellent records made with small arms.

Among a great number of other matters touched upon in the report, Secretary Dickinson speaks briefly but approvingly of the aeroplane and dirigible balloon as engines of war. He adds, however, that because of the necessity for rearmament he will submit no plan to Congress this year for an appropriation to admit of the purchase of a proper aeronautical equipment for the army. He adds, however, that "the fact must be recognized that all first-class powers except the United States are providing themselves systematically with aerial fleets, Germany and France being notably in the lead."
